A country may also restrict its trade by the use of export duties, or an export embargo. The effect of an export duty is to raise the price of the commodity just as soon as it crosses the border. So far as trade goes the effects of the two species of duty are identical, though, of course, different Governments do the collecting. Long ago it was thought that taxing foreign goods was taxing the foreigner, but it was soon discovered that the importer and consumer really paid the tax; the foreigner at the same time lost because the duty cut down his sales, and if he was sufficiently keen on the business he might even assume part of the duty himself. An export duty likewise has a two-fold result. The foreigner, who is in this case the buyer, may pay part of the tax, but it is very probable that the exporter will, if he wishes to keep up his sales, suffer part of the loss himself. Instances where one country has a monopoly of a product, or where a second furnishes the only market, are exceedingly rare. Modern industry is skilful at contriving substitutes.

The United States and Canada are so close together that they have a great natural advantage for mutual trade, as against other countries. Pennsylvania and Virginia coal is nearer the Ontario market than are the coalfields of Nova Scotia or Alberta, while Ontario and Quebec's paper mills are nearer to New York and Chicago than the Washington forests. Any competition that comes from Europe is due chiefly to specialization or other peculiar factors in the producing countries.

But this commerce between the United States and Canada is watched on both sides with great jealousy. Each country has an import tariff of no mean proportions, designed to give domestic producers an advantage in the home market. The United States, as the bigger nation, and one which has developed large scale production as it has no where else been developed, has had little fear of Canadian manufactures, but has nevertheless guarded its home markets carefully against foreign goods irrespective of origin. As its own raw materials have become more and more scarce in proportion to the demands of the growing population, the United States has come to regard Canadian primary produce as feed for its industrial machinery rather than as competing with its own raw materials. The insistency of the demand across the line for Canadian produce has been shown by our continued sales of farm produce, in spite of the special duties imposed a few years ago to conciliate American farmers.

Canada, on the other hand, produces raw materials far in excess of the home demand, and the United States market has been a welcome one. But our efforts to stem the inflowing tide of manufactured goods have been rather vain. It is futile to talk of making Canada populous enough to absorb all our produce, and achieving that state of self-sufficiency which has been reached by the United States. Canada's growth has been quite rapid enough, and it continues so. We enjoy no monopoly of raw materials, though our contiguity gives us a big advantage in American markets. It is proposed that we embargo or tax the export of power, of pulpwood, of grain, and possibly of other raw materials as well, in an effort to force the manufacture of these materials into more finished goods in Canada. Among these there is not one item which the United States cannot produce at home or buy elsewhere.

Since the Great War scarcity came to an end in 1920, world markets have favored the buyer. Of what use is it to dam up Canadian power and Canadian raw materials in the hope that they will be forced together into finished products, only to find that these products cannot be sold? The United States can, if necessary, do without Canadian pulp and paper, just as Canada can, if necessary, do without United States coal, but let it be quite clear that Canadian pulp and paper mills cannot operate without the American market, while the coal mines across the line would feel quite distinctly the loss of the Canadian market. Caveat vendor,—Let the seller look out,—is the motto warranted by present conditions.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Ontario Government, having decided upon a three-cent gasoline tax, is contemplating increasing the speed limit so that more gas will be used.

Thus far there has been no move to ask for a general holiday to celebrate the climbing of Peterboro's tax rate to a new high level.

To the high cost of living must be added the high cost of education, which looms large in the tax bills of Peterboro and other Ontario municipalities.

J. A. Currie is to introduce a new Government control liquor bill in the Legislature. It will not carry, of course, but the member for Southeast Toronto hopes that his constituents will be satisfied with the gesture.

Ottawa is to be invaded by a Maritime delegation of large proportions tomorrow, the Easterners seeking to demonstrate to the Government that the grievances of the Maritimes must be adjusted. And they will be able to put up a strong case on some points.

A THOUGHT.

THE RIGHT KIND OF HOSPITALITY

The quality of hospitality is not so honestly reckoned by the abundance of the feast as by the graciousness with which it is offered.

My personal preference is for a boiled dinner flavored with pleasant, wholesome talk with friends rather than a "soup to nuts" occasion with those who are unbending in their display of elegance and their estimation of personal importance.

It is not the feast, but what and how and where and with whom we eat it, that pleases our palates and sharpens our wits, to give and take the pleasantries that contribute so much to real honest to goodness hospitality. Only the right kind of hospitality is worthy of the name.

EARRINGS FOR MEN.

LONDON, England, Feb. 25.—(United Press).—Will men wear earrings? This is the question asked in all seriousness by a great London fashion artist. He pointed out that brighter dress for men is universally popular, and that quite conceivably they might well begin to wear earrings. Meanwhile, for women, the newest craze is for "mascot earrings," tiny images of little eastern gods, or, in a few cases, of mounted photographs of their lover

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, February 25 (Canadian Press). — Seven cars of United States fresh eggs are reported to have arrived in Montreal this week. These for the most part are grade seconds, and will cost from 35 to 37 cents delivered.

Two thousand cars of storage eggs that were exported on consignment to Great Britain, have been brought back by the shipper owing to the serius decline in the British markets.

Toronto and Montreal unchanged.

Winnipeg jobbing extras 55, firsts 50, seconds 35.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, February 25 (Canadian Press). — The export business in Canadian grain was again inactive here yesterday. A fair number of cables were received by exporters for offers of all lines of grain, and one or two bids were for No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3 Northern, which exporters stated were 2s 6d per quarter below working basis.

There was some demand for oats in the local cash grain market, and sales of No. 2 Canadian Western were made at 5 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, and No. 2 feed grade at 7 cents per bushel under the same option, c.i.f., bay ports, but apart from this the trade was quiet.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Man., February 25 (Canadian Press). — Despite higher Liverpool cables and bullish statistical news, the wheat market yesterday failed to reflect anticipated strength. The May future closed at $1.97 3-4 for a gain of 1-4c, while July remained unchanged at $1.90 1-2.

Throughout the session, the market was dull and featureless, with buying power generally weak and little or no export business worked. On every bulge, prices were forced back by liberal offerings, the buying being chiefly confined to local interests.

The visible Canadian wheat supply for the past week showed a decrease of 4,800,000 bushels, the figures being 59,773,500 bushels, compared with 64,573,500 a week ago.

The world's shipment of wheat and flour for the last week was shown at 19020,000 bushels, while wheat on ocean passage totalled 82,336,000 bushels.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, February 25 (Canadian Press). — Wheat advanced yesterday to $1.89 1-2, May delivery, the highest point since 9th February, but selling to realise profits brought about a sharp reaction at the last. Anticipation that the United States visible supply total would show a big decrease had much to do with the upward swing of the market.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-8 to 1-4 cent net higher May 187 to 187 7-8 and July 156 1-4 to 156 3-8, with corn unchanged to 3-8 up.

Oats at 1-4 to 3-4 cent advance and provisions showing gains varying from 32c to 50c and 52c.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, February 25 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand—$4.76 3-8.

Sterling cables—$4.76 3-4.

Most headaches due to lack of internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food waste and are carried to all parts of the body. Headaches follow. Biliousness, insomnia, lack of energy, all result from constipation, which if unchecked will lead to serious results.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

A noted authority says that laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

WOMEN'S BIBLE CLASS

St. John's Church Ladies Entertained by Mrs. J. Vollant.

A very pleasant social evening was spent on Thursday last when about twenty members of St. John's Womens' Friendly Bible Class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Vollans, 458 Bolivar street. The evening was spent in games, songs and music. Dainty refreshments were served by the Misses Vollans. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Vollans for her kind invitation to the class to spend the evening at her home and all present thoroughly enoyed themselves.

It was a most enjoyable evening and was brought to a close about eleven o'clock.

Spark of Genius in Child's Mind Too Often Quenched.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (Associated Press).—In every child there is the spark of genius which is too often quenched, Sir John A. Cockburn told the annual conference of education associations at University College here recently. "But if this spark is allowed to become a flame" Sir John continued, "it is wonderful what a child can do in later life."

"The child's mind," said Sir John, "is clear of the mists of sectarianism, party and prejudice. Above all things the parent must avoid making finger marks upon the delicate tissue of the young mind. The whole mechanism of the childs brain might easily be spoiled before ever it comes into the hands of the teachers."

EDUCATION BINDS EAST WITH WEST

Strongest Tie, Rev. Canon Cody Told Winnipeg Audience.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—Education is the salient tie that binds together Eastern and Western Canada, declared Canon H. J. Cody of Toronto, in addressing members of the Canadian Club here yesterday. One of the most important duties of the peoples of this Dominion, he said, was to develop the All-Canadian spirit favorable to closer Empire relations.

Referring to the Ontario Adolescent School Attending Act, the speaker maintained that through its application, discipline could be applied to children at an age when they chiefly required it, afforded them further training for their life work and enabled the state to obtain a better return of the money expended to provide education for junior children.

Apprehension for German President's Condition Has Lifted.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—President Ebert, who underwent an operation Monday night for appendicitis, had such a satisfactory day and was resting so well this evening that much of the apprehension about his condition was allayed and a hopefui attitude prevailed at the hospital where he is a patient. The physicians made an extremely optimistic statement last evening, saying that the President was in good condition and that no more bulletins would be issued until today.

BRANTING MOURNED.

Socialist Ex-Premier of Sweden's Death Regretted.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25.. — Flags were at half-mast throughout the country yesterday in honor of Hjalmar Branting, former Premier, who died shorly after noon. All classes of people, the opponents of the former Premier as well as his followers, expressed their regret at the passing of one who was regarded as among Sweden's greatest statemen.

Branting had been ill for several weeks and serious complications developed during the last few days. Gallstone inflammation set in while his vitality was already ebbing.

One of the political effects of his death is expected to be the development of a tension—if not a complete split—within the ranks of the Socialist Party which has been held together by the great force of Branting's personality.

FALSE PRETENSES TO GET ROAD AID

So Says Hon. George S. Henry, Indicting Counties on Charge.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Addresses by Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario Minister of Public Works and Highways, who pointed out that in a number of cases counties were seeking Government aid under what almost amounted to false pretenses, and by Samuel L. Squire, Deputy Minister of Highways, who urged the need of a more equitable system of assessing the costs of construction and maintenance of roads, featured the closing session of the eleventh annual conference of county and township road superintendents and engineers of Ontario yesterday afternoon.

The Minister of Highways, after emphasizing the importance of township roads being handled on a county basis, said that in some instances where this was apparently being done, a bad system had developed. The counties would allot certain sums to various townships and lumping total together, present it to the government as the expenditure on the county system of roads, when it was such a system in name and bookkeeping only, in order to obtain aid from the provincial treasury. He trusted the municipalities so receiving allotments from their county would now see the folly of such a makeshift plan and co-operate on the real county system. It would be found that the county system, where all the work undertaken was done under county supervision, would prove the salvation of townships.

RUNNING BATTLE IN PARIS BOULEVARDS

Police Pursue Silk Thieves Caught Robbing Store and Capture Two.

PARIS, Feb. 25. (Canadian Press).—Paris police cyclists fought a running battle yesterday morning on the boulevards with a gang of desperadoes operating in automobiles like the famous bonnet band of pre-war days. One of the thieves attempted suicide when caught, and is lying blinded and near death in the hospital. Another is in prison, while the remainder of the gang escaped in a swift car. The bandits were loading bundles of silk into cars from a store when accosted by the police.

CITIZENS' BAND NAMES OFFICERS

Last Year a Successful One in Every Respect—Bonspiel Rinks.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 24.—The annual meeting of the Citizens' Band was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening last. The work of the past year was reviewed, and these officers elected for the coming year:

Hon. Pres.—W. H. Casement.
President—A. H. Clarke.
Vice-President—R. Payne.
Sec.-Treas.—W. Madill.
Bandmaster—W. Madill.
Asst. Bandmaster—T. Jewell.
Executive Committee — B. Summers, P. Darling, J. C. Ridpath.
Music Committee—R. Graham, T. Jewell and W. Madill.

The past year has been a successful one in every sense of the word. Financially, it has been successful, and the morale of the organization has been strengthened by the encouragement given by the citizens. To those who, a year ago, were present at the re-organization meeting the achievement of the year seems remarkably good.

Vice-Skips' Bonspiel.

The Vice-skips' Bonspiel for the E. A. Tanner Cup was arranged to begin on Monday night, but owing to the unfavorable weather conditions, it will doubtless be postponed. The rinks were drawn as follows:

R. J. Jory vs. H. F. FitzGerald.
G. G. Connell vs. U. Payne.
T. Bradin vs. J. M. Simpson.
R. Murduff vs. Geo. H. Spence.

Whites of Eyes Tinged With Yellow? Muddy Complexion? Your Liver is Out of Order!

Mrs. Wm. Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B., writes: "I have been troubled with my liver for a long time, and was so bad I could not do any work. I had severe pains in my stomach that were so bad, at times, I could hardly stand them. My tongue became coated; I had a bad taste in my mouth, especially in the morning; the whites of my eyes were tinged with yellow, and I had a muddy complexion.

I had read a great deal about MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS, so decided I would try a vial, and after taking three of them I was greatly improved and felt more like living, and I can now do my own work without any trouble."

TURKS NEED FOREIGNERS

ANGORA, Turkey, Feb. 25. —(Associated Press).—Turkey is considering the establishment of a new system of education, to be based along French lines, and the first steps in this direction already have been taken.

It was decided last year to wipe out the schools conducted by the hojas, or religious men, of which there were some 500, with 12,000 pupils, and now a proposal has been put forward by the Minister of Education to set up a new university at Angora, the city destined to be the political, military and educational headquarters of the country. All local private schools are to be brought under a central jurisdiction.

There is evidence here of a desire to encourage foreign capital to enter Turkey; the need of outside help in reconstruction is recognized. Prejudice against foreigners is lessening, for political leaders have begun to learn how difficult it is for Turks to accomplish many tasks that foreigners at one time did with ease.

TEACHERS GO TO HAWAII

HONOLULU, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—The influx of applications of mainland teachers for positions in the Hawaiian schools this year is growing daily into proportions that lead Superintendent W. E. Givens, of the Department of Public Instruction, to predict that the number will exceed that of last year, when there were 5,000 applications from mainland teachers for 125 vacancies.

There will be only about 100 vacancies this year, and preference will be given, as in the past, to graduates of the territorial normal school or the University of Hawaii.

According to school authorities, the so-called lure of the South Seas is very potent upon teachers, thousands of whom apply annually for the comparatively few vacancies that occur in the department's staffs.

GAY COSTUMES AT MASQUERADE

Cosmos Club of Millbrook Held Successful Dance—Many Impersonations.

MILLBROOK, Feb 23—The Masquerade Ball given by the Cosmos Club in the Town Hall on Thursday evening was one of the happiest social functions of the season, and one of the most successful..

Byam's four-piece orchestra, assisted by H.. Cardwell, saxaphone player furnished excellent music The decorations of the ball room were carried out in deep orange color streamers shade. on the lights, caps for the musicians etc.. while the large motto, "The Cosmos Club Welcomes You," in the club colors of green and white occupied the place of honor at the front of the hall.

There was an unusual air of frivolity since the regular evening dress had given place to gay fancy costumes of many an age and clime. Guessing the identity of the masked dancers furnished amusement and interest to the spectators who filled the gallery, and even added zest to the evening for the couples who filled the floor repeatedly as the programme of dances was happily carried out..

The Winning Costumes

The judges Colonel Odell, of Cobourg Messrs J. W, Hutchison and G.. W.. Sayles had a difficult task on their hands in deciding upon the merits of costumes and dancers, since all showed care and skill in designing their make-up, and ease and grace seemed a general characteristic.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles, as "Queen of Hearts" wore a most attractive costume with details carried out in white and silver, with pink-lined robe, and was awarded the ladies' first prize. Her sister, Mrs. E. Kenyon, had probably the most novel attire seen here for some time. A 'Kitchen Shower" represented and the judges gave her first place for best ladies' comic make-up. The prizes were a silk crepe de chene scarf and handpainted fruit bowl respectively

A typical Chinaman was "Wun Lung" (Mr Frank Gray), who won first prize for best gentleman's costume, receiving a silk neckscarf, and W Pitt as "Ikey" looked the character to perfection, and judges deciding this as the best comic in the gentlemen's class. The prize was a Gillette Razor.

"John Bull, and Lady" (Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thorndyke) could hardly have been better gotten up and to them was given the prize (large box of bon-bons) for best waltzing couple Misses Jean Erskine (courier and Pthyllis Richards (Pierette., had the honour of winning first prize for best fox trot (box of bon-bons)..

Major A. Thorne in typical policeman's outfit, created plenty of amusement by his constant attempts to have the "majesty of the law," respected during the evening.

"Ye Old Tyme' costumes of various periods seemed to be general favorites judging by the number who adopted this style which is always attactive its interest lying in the very decided contrast to present day attire "The Gingham Girls" (Misses L.. Saw and S. McCorty and the 'Oriental Maidens," (Misses Marie Kenyon and Phyllis Brown) were among the many dancers in costume whose make-up was favorably commented upon by the onlookers.

Masks were removed just before the supper hour but the happy affair did not break up until some time afterward as dancing was resumed when refreshments had received due attention.

A repetition of this event, with the Cosmos Club as hosts, before the season closes will doubtless meet with popular approval.

Sunday Service.

A special musical number, 'Wandering Child, Come Home," by the male quartette, Messrs F. N.. Alcorn W.. H.. Coombe, V.. C.. Lambert and Dr C. A. Richards was much appreciated at the morning service in the Methodist church on Sunday.

The pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, preached on the subject, 'The Master's Advertisement, his remarks being based upon 2 Corinhians 3:2," The epistle of Christ, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart." The fact that "Christians are the Bible which the world reads,' was emphasized, particularly as it is estimated that only 50 per cent of the commenity attends any church. 'The Lord's portion is His People," and He is depending upon them to interpret Him to a soul-hungry world. He has made no other plans.

The annual union Day of Prayer, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionaries Auxilliaries of the three churches, will be observed on Friday, February 27, in Grace Presbyterian church. All the women of the community are invited to attend. Leaders from the three Auxilliaries will be in charge of the different periods.

Rev. G. S. Gervam addressed the Men's Brotherhood meeting on Friday evening to the interest and profit of all present It is expected that Rev.. Mr Anderson of Port Hope, will be the speaker for next Friday's gathering All the men of the community are made welcome at the weekly meetings, and any man's problem may be brought up for discussion..

Mrs. C. Storey, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H Sutton, Anne street..

Miss Margaret Wood who has been visiting her sister, Mrs A.. B. Lefroy of Toronto has returned home.

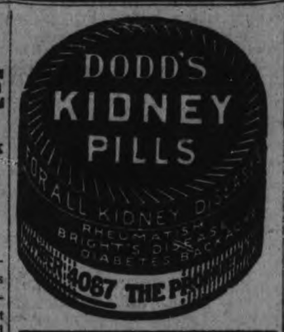
Misses Gladys and Muriel Smith who have been guests of friends in Torono recently returned home last week..

Mrs. E. Todd, who has been visiting her neice in Oshawa for the past month, returned home on Saturday.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen were in Toronto for the latter part of the week returning home on Saturday.

Mrs. J. McLennan, and Miss Heles Needler, of Lindsay, were guests of Mr.. A.. A.. and Miss Etta Needler, last Saturday.

Mrs. (Dr.) Brand, of Toronto, is visiting her aunts, the Misses Mary and Annie Kells. The many friends of Miss Annie Kells will regret to lean that she is seriously ill.. Nurse Reynolds is in attendance.



CONSERVE TIRES IN WINTER TIME

Should Receive More Attention Than Average Motorist Gives Them.

There is nothing the motorist should practice more than the conservation of tire equipment. Tires, as a rule, receive less attention and are called upon to go further and do more under any and all conditions than any other part of the car equipment, and we therefore feel and hope that the motorist may derive something beneficial from a few suggestions "picked up" in the years of experience in the manufacture of tires by a large casing concern.

On paved or city streets the motorist in winter months has snow, sleet and rain to contend with, and as there is great danger in skidding, chains should be properly applied and used. This requires much care, as improper application is not only harmful to the tire but the chain as well. It is not necessary on dry roads to use them, as a good, reliable non-skid tire prevents side slipping or skidding. Avoid car tracks, as they allow the rear tires to slide or spin while stopping or starting and there is also great danger of skidding in turning out of them.

Frozen country roads cause a great deal of trouble, causing cuts and bruises. Long tread cuts are the usual results of driving through mud roads caused by the spinning of the rear wheels over sharp stones, and we again suggest the use of chains under such conditions.

Once or twice each month, a reliable vulcanizer should be used and all necessary repairs made. Neglected cuts allow gravel and water to enter and loosen the tread, and if small matters are not cared for promptly and properly they soon become large ones. Brakes should be inspected frequently. Do not apply them suddenly, unless, of course, to prevent accident; this, as well as spinning the wheels when starting, is very bad practice and should be avoided. Under-inflation has been the most direct cause of tire trouble and is uncalled for when one considers that almost every city block and every small town has either a tire repair shop, garage or accessory store which is equipped to furnish air free of charge. An under-inflated tire will roll over stones instead of kicking them aside, and cause a bruise or break in the tire which later results in a blow-out. Rim cuts, separation of the plies of fabric and other trouble are to be found if this is not watched closely. Driving on a flat tire results in the troubles mentioned above, and, if not equipped with a spare casing, run on the rim. Front wheels should be examined and kept in proper alignment at all times. If front wheels are not aligned, they will cause both rubber and fabric to wear through in a very short time.

Cars which are stored for the winter should not be allowed to stand on the tires. This is very hard on both casings and tubes, and renders them unfit for service when the car is again put into service. We would recommend in this case that the car be jacked up and set on blocks, or "horses," and about one-half the required air pressure left in the tires. Before the car is put into service, demount the tires and have them carefully examined; all rust should be removed from the rims and graphite applied. This method, in our estimation, and after several tests, has proven most satisfactory at the least expense. There are several suggestions on the subject, such as demounting the tires and wrapping separately in paper cloth or burlap and should be stored in a dry- dark room; however, as stated above, we have found the first mentioned to give just as good, if not better, results, and will enable the motorist to realize maximum service at minimum cost.

CHURCH MUSIC IMMORAL

English Clergyman Says Much of It Appeals to All That is Low.

YORK, Eng., Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—A great deal of church and chapel music is "beneath contempt and even immoral," and "appeals to all that is low," Canon Bell, percentor of York Minister, declared in an address on religion and music.

"I believe God," he added, "does not want people to be so conceited as to think that they can sing when they cannot. I believe we can play golf or cricket to the glory of God, but I do not believe it is any good trying to sing a song to the glory of God when we cannot sing at all."

SEA LIONS AS PETS

High Cost of Upkeep is Only Drawback to Their Popularity.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—The sea lion is the ideal pet and the perfect friend of man, according to recommendations made by members of the Amateur Menagerie Club, who published recently a book on their various experiences with animals. Owing to the expense of the upkeep of a sea lion, however, it is not probable that they will ever replace cats and dogs as pets. A sea lion has all the intelligence of a dog, adaptability and affection, and requires no license, but ordinarily it costs from $500 to $700 a year to keep a pet of this kind.

One of the club members, L. R. Brightwell, has had much experience with sea lions as pets and highly recommends them. In his opinion it is only the high rate for the use of water and the cost of fish as food which prevents the sea lion becoming a universal pet.

"Greed is undoubtedly the sea lion's one great fault," writes Mr. Brightwell, "but given enough fish, a sea lion may be taught anything. His amazing gifts of balancing, diving and forming picturesque groups are implanted in him by nature."

STIRRING SERMON MARMORA CHURCH

And Bishop's Lenten Letter Read in St. Paul's Church.

MARMORA, Feb. 25.—The Bishop's Lenten letter was read at St. Paul's on Sunday morning and a stirring sermon delivered by the Rev. Philip Caiger-Watson from Matt. 21:23, "By what authority doest Thou these things, and who gave Thee this authority?" The preacher commenced by observing that he was taking a subject that we were apt to put in the background and leave unthought of, because for many congregations it was not always acceptable. Apart from our attitude on various questions, he said, there are duties to carry out or pay the penalty of being false to the trust imposed upon us. The text spoke of discipline. The church is inseparably connected with our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. There is wonderful mystic union between Christ and His church. Even Christ must have been surprised when the chief priests and elders burst in upon Him with their questions. Yet He answered by propounding a question which put them in an embarrassing position.

The first thought coming from a study of the text was the authority of Christ. Jesus was Himself His own authority. You cannot go back beyond Him for authority for his works and actions. You don't have to go back to the New Testament or to the law of Moses to get that which justifies Christ. He is in Himself the Divine Son of God, and vested with His own authority. If you disbelieve His divine nature, you have taken out of your Bible the New Testament and lost living touch with His church. You can very quickly and easily take away the "The before Son of God," but it is the last thing to advise anyone. Jesus had no business to say "Repent ye," "Be baptized," or to rebuke the Scribes and Pharisees or to affirm that He and the Father were one if He were not the divine Son of God. What comes of the authority of Jesus Christ? Through it we are told to repent. He has an absolute right to say "Repent ye." If He said so to the people of His day and generation, does He not say so to us? Are we such godly people today that we need no repentance? That gospel which Jesus said should fit every generation and age does not fit in today if we are so godly.

Be Baptized.

Again, Jesus says "Be baptized." Baptism is one of His ordinances. We must all think about it and take it into consideration. There are vain imaginations concerning baptism. Baptism denotes the giving of the child to the church. Has a mother anything better to give to the church? Somewhere or other, we were all brought into the church the cross. The cross is the symbol to receive on our brow the sign of which shows us the shame and ignominy wrought upon Christ for our salvation. God sees the mark on our brow. He knows who are His. Jesus says "Be baptized"; there is nothing to justify our saying "I have my own opinion on the matter." Who are we to place our opinions against God's will? We should keep to ourselves our own imaginations unless they are in keeping with the mind of Christ.

Innocence of Life.

Innocence of life is another demand, the speaker went on to say, which Jesus makes of us. "Except ye become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter the Kingdom of Heaven." Everyone in these days tries to graduate in something, if not in anything else, the Rev. Watson hoped that all present were graduating in the school of common sense. The voice of Jesus comes to us across nineteen centuries. "Unless you with all your wisdom and knowledge become as little children, you cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." Innocency is a divine choice for all eternity. Perhaps the thought presents a difficulty. After we have grown up into maturity, is it expected that in all points we should return to the position of a little child? The same thought had come to Nicodemus, which Christ had to set straight. What is meant is that with all our knowledge and intellectual understanding we should consider it absolutely necessary to hold to the simplicity love, intuition and trust of the little child. Jesus has used His authority in connection with His church.

The Sacrament Question.

He, the preacher, would not be tyrannical in any statement, but he must say that he could not understand anyone translating John 6 where it speaks of eating the flesh of the Son of Man and drinking His blood otherwise than to mean that a person who scorns the Sacrament having no life in him. "If you say," he continued, "He did not mean it, you are led to disbelieve all He ever said as given in His gospel. You have to believe all He said or to say you are completely in the dark, and the gospel has brought you no ray of light. Look back to the early days of Christendom and you find the importance attached to that only service Jesus gave."

The Christian churches of today have regard to it, though under different names. They should accept in their conscinece the fact that it was a divine decree. We must accept the doctrines which come out of Christ's own life. We have to accept the Incarnation Atonement, Resurrection and Ascension of Jesus and the Spirit's outpouring. So also must we accept the commission and authority which Jesus gave to His church. The voice of the Apostles was heard in no uncertain language. What is not proven through Holy Scripture or in Holy Scripture ought not to be considered necessary to salvation.

Infallible Church.

The question of infallibility would here arise. It could not be assumed that the church or a single person of it were infallible. To a person outside of the Roman church there appeared three possibilities of infallibility. Conscience is infallible when it decrees the word of God to us. It can be warped or twisted and lose its infallibility. The word of God is an infallible witness so long as it is taken in its entirety. The church of Christ is infallible because He said that His Holy Spirit would be with it. In so far as its conduct is under the direction of that Spirit is the church infallible.

It is dangerous, however, concluded the speaker, to talk of the infallibility of the church. We may better talk of its God-given authority. Christ did not intend us to have an infallible material rock on which to build. He wanted us to build upon Himself. It behoves us to recognize this ever God-given authority and in His church to accept it.

Horse Guards Herd Deer.

Called Out to Round Up Royal Deer Escaped From Windsor Park.

WINDSOR, Eng., Feb. 25.—A detachment of His Majesty's Horse Guards was called out recently to round up and drive back to the preserves in Windsor Park, a herd of deer which had strayed into a nearby estate, doing much damage. The guards reached Ascot in the morning and proceeded to sweep the woods, but after several hours' work only succeeded in driving one deer back to the park. They adjourned operations in the afternoon.

About 150 years ago King George III discovered that his deer had left the royal forests at Windsor and invaded the Sunninghill Lodge estate at Ascot. He ordered the Life Guards to drive them back and they were probably more successful than the present day guards, who found that the deer were able to get through places in the undergrowth where a horse could not.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say, "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach, until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

DEBATE ON SCHOOLS AT WARSAW VILLAGE

Affirmatives Won Lively Debate on Question of School Administration.

WARSAW, Feb. 25.—A good deal of hub elm has gone from this district to Norwood; also a lot of elm for cheese boxes. Payne's mill has taken in a lot of custom stuff.

Owing to slippery roads and streets, the Sunday evening service was scantily attended. The morning Sunday School and church services were fairly attended. Unless horses were well shod travelling was unsafe.

Women's Institute.

A business meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon. Among other things final plans were made for the open meeting to be held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, March 12th. One feature will be an address by Rev. W. Atkinson on "Little Things That Make Life Beautiful."

The U.F.W.O. held their regular meeting on Thursday afternoon. They are taking up "Health" and "Good Citizenship."

Full House at Debate.

The debate on Wednesday evening brought a full house. The proceeds went towards the fund for Mr. Miles' artificial leg. Rev. F. G. Weir was chairman. Before the debate Mrs. Rufus Payne sang and Miss May MacDonald recited. The affirmatives were Messrs. Fred. Crowe, Wallace Anderson and Rufus Payne, and the negatives were Messrs. E. N. MacDonald, Hugh Kelly and Mrs. George Barr. Dr. Munro was judge.

The debated subject was, "Resolved, that municipal administration of rural schools is preferable to the present system." Mr. Crowe told of the two types of municipal control, the county, as in England, and the township, as is in U. S. and as would be here. He found no fault with the Educational Department. In the U. S., where the municipal system had been used, they had never reverted to the sectioned. Even Dr. Edgerton Ryerson had said he considered the township system would be better. In 1860 towns and cities in Canada adopted the municipal system. Mr. Crowe considered the system should not only be permitted, but be compulsory. It is more democratic, he said, and every one pays equally. At present in this township there is a difference of 7 4-10 mills in different sections. There would be more actual control by the people. We are taxed for high schools, but have no control under the present system, which is inadequate. The object of education is the making of better citizens, and very largely we depend on urban centres for the education of our children. Industry cannot flourish where education dies. Many country boys go to the city, and the result often is that they are stranded there. There should be rural education for rural people. The township would then be free to interpret and carry into effect the real wishes of the people. The present system is detrimental to national progress. The municipal system is permitted by law, and where tried has given good results.

Mr. MacDonald contended that the fact that the municipal system was allowed but had not been taken more advantage of was proof it was unnecessary. He wondered how the towns and cities are to pay for such a system if they keep on going at the rate they are. Farmers living near towns and cities know how heavy their taxes are. He considered the present system the more democratic. The school sections are paying all they can. He knows of one section which pays $75.00, and that is more difficult for them than it is for some other sections to pay $600.00. The County Council appoints the inspector. We do not beg the education of the children who go to the high schools; they are paid for proportionately. He considered the cost under the present administration less. There would be the cost of elections and the boards would have to be paid. We would have to engage a superintendent at a good salary; also a secretary-treasurer. We cannot now think of half the cost a municipal system would mean, and we must think of costs. A township board does not mean either a continuation school or a consolidated one.

Mr. Wallace Anderson said neither Norwood nor Lakefield paid their boards. He considered the present system dying hard, because it was old. He quoted, from Mr. Lee's report, that there were several schools, totalling 87 pupils, and for those 87 pupils $7,000.00 was paid to teachers. Other expenses, such as heating, would bring the expense up to $100.00, or more, per pupil. He cited the number of schools in Ontario with only one, two, three or up to ten pupils. If there were municipal control these small schools could be closed, and the pupils transported at a less cost. The equipment could and would be used in other schools. The Minister of Education says there is a great financial waste. Those who have studied the subject find the municipal system the cheaper; it is also simpler. Now there are three sets of taxes—the school section, the township and the county.

Mr. Hugh Kelly thought the old system long established and it is considered good. Only a small percentage of people attend the school meetings. Who is to blame that there is only one pupil in a school? The township board would have to be paid. Costs at present are levied on the strong school sections to assist the weaker ones, and it is most natural for trustees to take interest in their own children.

Mr. Payne considered the municipal system would allow greater flexibility of studies. Trustees now do not visit the schools. Then there would be better local inspection. At present, if a dispute arises, the inspector nearly always favors the teacher, which creates bad feeling. There would be more permanency of supervision. Teachers in rural schools so often remain only long enough to gain experience and money to go to places where there is municipal control. Where teachers remain pupils get on, for a child goes back a month with every change of teacher. Also, the physical welfare of the pupil could be better looked after. Under the present system there is little chance for medical inspection, and much suffering and present and future expense occurs. That consolidated schools are advised by the department proves that they are good. In the average rural school the pupil is taken only so far as the entrance, and many a child who could go to a high school in the township cannot go far away.

Mrs. Marr considered those who advocate the new system like those who see green fields far away. There would be no simplicity, for things would be more mixed up. Inspectors are often faddists, and all seem to have the fad for consolidated schools and township boards. They are not going to manufacture any different teachers than the ones they have. City and country schools are different. No two teachers are the same, and parents would send their children to the teacher they liked the best. We can have physical and medical inspection now if we want it. Township boards could not possibly have the same interest that the local board has, and where would you get redress if there were any dispute? You have a continuation class right here in Warsaw.

Mr. Crowe considered medical inspection impracticable under the present system. Trustees would see to it that the children attended the proper school. The contention that the school section control was the older did not necessarily make it the better.

Mrs. E. R. Hamblin then sang "Keep on Looking"; Mr. Anderson recited "The Calf on the Lawn," and for encore, "Billy's Bull and Kitty's Axe"; Mr. Rufus Payne read "Lies About the Scotch."

Dr. Munro here gave his report. To be a good debater, he said, one must speak as though he believed what he said was true, and some of the debaters did that. A debater must also be able to think while on his feet; one on each side did that. It is not always what is said, but the way in which it is said that counts. He considered the affirmative side had won.

Mr. MacDonald congratulated the winning side. Mr. Crowe congratulated the losers on the splendid arguments they put up, and added that a theory has often more points in its favor than the practical. The affirmatives, he considered, had been arguing on a theory.

Later it was advocated that every cat in the village be taxed, and that a fine of $50.00 be put on any one bringing a cat into the village.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ON STRONGER BEER.

Sir,—Does Mr. Ferguson and his Government expect to fool the supporters of the O.T.A. with the sophistry that by strengthening the beer sold under the Act to 5 per cent. he is strengthening the Act?

Have our public men no longer any respect for truth and honour that they can make definite promises to the electors to get their votes, and break them deliberately as soon as they get in power?

Why did Mr. Ferguson spend a half-million dollars of the people's money and cause them to spend another million to fight the battle out, to put a plebiscite to the people, the verdict of which he had no intention of respecting unless it coincided with his own desires and those of his wet friends?

To sell beer of an intoxicating strength over the bars of hotels will bring back the bar evil, which has been admitted by all classes in the Province to be undesirable.

It would also throw a cloak over the bootlegger making it ten times harder to stop the traffic than now, as any one found drunk would blame the 5 per cent. beer.

Mr. Ferguson has by his action brought the whole question back into politics again, as without doubt the next Provincial election will be fought on this issue.

After the plebiscite was taken Mr. Ferguson declared that he would enforce and strengthen the Act, and was promptly hailed as a strong man, but alas! the feet were of clay; under the clamorous insistence of Mr. McCausland and company the champion went down and got so tangled up that he does not know where he is at.

One day he declares "Five per cent ber is not intoxicating," and the next, "if it is intoxicating, it will be taken away again." This is not statesmanship, but simply political chicanery, and does not deceive anybody.

What is needed is the will to enforce the law, without regard to wealth or position, and so stop the leak at its source.—Yours faithfully,
George Leader.

ON THE O. T. A.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir. — Messrs. Hearst, Chown, Moore, Spence and Co., deny any statement that they conspired to leave highly-intoxicating baverages in the O.T.A. without the knowledge of the great mass of prohibitionists and for the purpose of enabling themselves to accomplish their ends, in defiance of common decency and common honesty.

From the very beginning native wines have been excluded by an especial section of the Act from the operation of the O.T.A. Why? Not because they are not intoxicating. The sworn analysis made by chemists and laid before the courts shows that these wines run from fourteen to thirty-three per cent. alcoholic content. Millions of bottles of these excellent and highly intoxicating Niagara wines are consumed yearly in Canada and thousands here in Peterboro. They are not prohibited in any way.

But these gentlemen say that the O.T.A. must not be touched. And then they have the astounding cheek to say that they have wished to have these wines prohibited. How can the wines be prohibited if the O.T.A. must not be touched? I have had a prolonged correspondence with Rev. T. AlbertMoore. D.D., chief director of the Prohibitionist campaign on this very point. If native wines had not been especially excluded from the operation of the Act, then the support of the whole of Western Ontario would have been lost and Messrs. Chown, Moore, Spence and Co. deprived of a subject for agitation which has netted them huge salaries and positions of large influence and good, fat jobs. It is by just such humbug that such people bamboozle their simple and emotional followers who point with pride to an Act that is nothing but a shameless betrayal of the prohibitionists and an education for the young in crookedness and double-dealing. What made The Globe say that I charged "Consevatives" with being the chief criminals. I cannot say. I at no time mentioned a political name. Perhaps it is to draw a herring across and make people believe that my action is political. I do not care about and do not know the political leanings of Messrs. Spence, Chown, Moore and Co. But I do know that for them to call for subscriptions for the great cause of Prohibition when they never lifted a finger to make the O.T.A. a prohibitionist act and left wines out of it, is to delude and deceive the people and to give an exhibition of corruption and depravity that is almost incredible.

Had these men wished to have these wines and overstrength homemade wines as well included in the prohibition of the O.T.A., they could have done so, but they never did, and do not now, and these highly-intoxicating wines are exempted and drunk with their consent and connivance.

And further I have called Dr. Moore's attention to the alarming increase in the sale of drugs since the O.T.A. came in, but in vain. Arsenic and strychnine are taken (chiefly by women) wholesale under the name of nerve-foods. They are stimulants beside which whiskey is like water. They become a hopeless habit in short order, and when women learn as they soon do that arsenic makes the complexion brilliant, nerve-foods will still further spread until this province will be a mass of lying and drug and wine-taking.

Not one of the men I charged dared go farther than call me a liar. They did not dare deny that the O.T.A. is their Act and that what I say about it is true.

J. H. BURNHAM.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have just finished reading a letter through "The Voice of the People" of your valuable paper, over the signature of "Well Wisher", which reading between the lines was a vehement attack upon the noble womanhood of our country. I never pay any attention to any of those letters with a anonymous signature and very seldom even read them, but on behalf of the womankood of our country I must draw your attention to the fact that "Well Wisher" cannot be a normal being but must be something that has sprung from an ape or something else. If he has a real mother she must have failed to give him the necessary spankings that would create in him a real love for mother. When we think of the prison cells that are being filled by men who have betrayed their trust I can say that it will be a blessing for the world when women rules it. Some say when a woman is mentioned for public life that women are a jealous bunch and won't vote for each other. Women are no more jealous than men. Can there be any more contemptible jealously than the murder of Abel by Cain, or the murder of Beatrice Fee. The matter of fact is, that men are jealous of the rising ability of woman. Women have made a success in the public life as well as the social and religious life of our country, and I would say to the women of our country, when a good able woman offers herself for any phase of public life, stand behind her and show those so-called men that are continually slamming and slurring woman that you love and admire each other and that you resent the insults that are piled on your sex by such which is often the product of the liquor traffic. Thanking you, I remain,

Yours and etc.

The Editor,
Examiner,
Peterboro, Ont.

Dear Sir,—There have been so many grossly inaccurate statements made recently by various correspondents who are advocating an Embargo on the Exportation of Pulpwood from Canada which have so far gone unchallenged that for the sake of fair play I am going to ask that you publish the following memorandum, in the hope that it will catch the eye of your many readers who may have seen the inaccuracies referred to, and possibly believed that they represented actual conditions:

In the first place let us take an article that appeared in a recent issue of the "Financial Post" referring to a company in North Sydney, known as the North Sydney Lumber and Pulpwood Company, in which it is said that that Company was exporting fifty thousands cords of wood for which it was getting $8.00 per cord, and that it had just closed a contract for five thousand cords at that figure, and that the wood would be shipped to New York State to be turned into paper. This item apparently caught the fancy of the proembargonist Press of the country, for it is being reprinted and commented on in practically every province of the Dominion. I am the purchaser of the five thousand cords referred to, so I happen to know something about it. It is not going to New York, the price is not $8.00 it is $11.50, and this Company will not export fifty thousand cords of wood, in fact it is extremely unlikely that they will export more than five thousand cords.

Take another case: A gentleman, by the name of W. O. Seely, somewhere in Ontario, writes, "We are exporting a million cords of pulpwood at $10.00 a cord, which if manufactured in Canada would produce all the way from one hundred and fifty million to three hundred million dollars. The reply is best expressed by the following which is quoted from a letter which appeared in the Toronto Mail and Empire of Feb. 5th—I think it was signed "Digester":

"While there is much to be said pro and con on the important subject of embargoes, any misleading figures such as presented by your correspondent—in their relation to pulpwood export—can serve no good purpose. This must be my apology for trespassing on your valuable space.

Applying Mr. Seeley's figure of 1,000,000 cords of pulpwood as being the annual export —though too low (actual figures being around 1,200,000 cords)—1,000,000 cords converted into either commercial pulp or newsprint in Canada would, at current prices represent respective values as follows: In pulp, approximately $28,000,000, not $150,000,000 as given by Mr. Seeley for "sheepskin stock," a term unfamiliar to the writer, as applied. In newsprint approximately $60,000,000, not $300,000,000, and in which relation Mr. Seeley's figure actually exceeds the aggregate value of the entire production (1923) of pulp and paper by all Canadian mills, consuming some 3,300,000 cords of wood with a converted value of about $227,000,000."

In another recent issue the Financial Post" in an article that was afterwards widely quoted in the Press of this country, referred to the Liberty Mill of the Chicago Tribune at North Tonawanda as operating on Canadian wood. An illustration which accompanied the article purported to show a steamer discharging Canadian wood at that plant. The Quebec Telegraph took the trouble to investigate the actual facts in this particular case, and what was found to be the actual situation? I quote from a letter received by the Quebec Telegraph from the owners of the Plant in question:

"The mill at Tonawanda has been making paper for one month but has received all its pulp either from the mill at Thorold or some other pulp mill. It has not consumed a stick of pulpwood from any other source."

The inaccuracies and exaggerations of some of those who advocate the measure cannot be allowed to go unanswered. Whether or not you consider this of sufficient interest to publish is of course for you to decide. It may have served its purpose by merely calling it to your personal attention and, if so, we are satisfied, for we certainly do not seek to swamp your columns with a lot of relatively unimportant matter on this question.

Yours very truly,
RALPH P. BELL.

Estate Sold Once Scene of Cock Fight With Mine as Stake.

WIGAN, Eng., Feb.24 (Associated Press)—Adlington Hall, a famous beauty spot of industrial Lancashire, which recently was sold by the corporation to a local business man, was the scene of an amazing wager 100 years ago.

It is on record that a cock fight took place between two birds belonging to the lord of the manor and the then Earl of Derby, the stakes being all the local mines under the estate that could be seen from the dining-room window at the hall.

The Adlington family, which formerly owned the estate, was one of the most ancient in the country.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CHIEF CONSTABLE

I have the honor to submit this my annual report of the proceedings of the Police Department for the year ending December 31, 1924.

I consider it a matter of great importance and satisfaction to be able to report that "murder" is not included in our statistics for the said year.

The Police Force.

The force numbers 12, including all ranks.

The total area of the city is 2825¾ acres; within this area there are 160 streets and alleys, the total of these being, approximately, 55 miles.

The maximum number of officers to carry out the various duties are as follows: Day relief, 6; night relief, 6—including superior officers.

Traffic of Streets.

For the prevention of vehicular accidents, there should be posted at dangerous corners or localities warning signs or devices which will inform drivers of danger and what precautions to take to avoid accidents.

For the convenience of drivers of automobiles, signs should be posted to inform them where cars may be parked or left standing or waiting, with instructions as to what length of time such privilege is given; and also where vehicles will not be permitted to stand or park in public streets.

Motor traffic continues to increase, and traffic over the busiest crossings have to be regulated, which still calls for extra men on day duty, and where are the night duty men to come from. Besides more responsibility being placed on the police for enforcing the Highway Traffic Act. It is obvious then that the hazard of the pedestrian is very great, and, too, that precaution for their safety must be proportionate to the risk, as very clearly shown in three fatal street accidents during 1924.

Over 300 drivers were cautioned for minor breaches of traffic regulations, without getting a police record, all being first offenders.

Fires.

The excellent system of auto and motor-cycle patrol by night, of previous years, had to be abandoned owing to shortage of officers, which is to be deplored.

Signal System.

Many times I have drawn the attention of the Board to the fact that a police force, no matter how large or small, can never be strictly efficient without a signal system.

Crime.

During 1924 there was an increase in crime, property to the value of $18,560 being stolen, as compared with $7,242 in 1925.

Carrying of Concealed Weapons.

The above law has been strictly enforced.

Disorderly Houses.

The city is practically free from such houses, only one or two suspected houses exist at the present time.

Pool Rooms.

Special attention has been given to the conduct of pool-rooms and other licensed premises, as it is in these places that many a young man receives his first tuition in crime, etc.

The Ontario Temperance Act.

This Act has been fairly and honestly enforced.

Narcotic Drugs.

There were many breaches of the above Act, which offenders were severely punished.

Discipline.

The personal conduct of the members of the police force has been exemplary. I have only found it necessary to prefer charges of breaches of the rules and regulations against one member of the force, since resigned.

They have assumed a clear-cut understanding of their duty and responsibility to the public, and I do not know of one instance where an officer has neglected to act promptly and to the best of his ability in answering calls of any nature.

The Police Matron.

I desire to express my thanks to the police matron and her husband, Commandant Smith, for their tireless and successful efforts in connection with immoral cases, also in cases of young girls and charity which have come to the notice of the police, and without whose excellent services there would be a vast number of unsuccessful cases finding their way into the Police Court.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the Board of Police Commissioners on behalf of myself and the members of the Department, for their assistance and co-operation to the well-being and good government of the force.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL NEWHALL,
Chief Constable.

Again—Do Not Expect Long Trading Allowances on Any Used Car When You Come to Buy a Chrysler

This statement of eight months ago is repeated in justice to Chrysler distributors and dealers, who cannot in fairness be expected to penalize themselves by making long allowances, merely because the Chrysler may have depreciated the value of other cars.

A car may be a very good car indeed and still it will lack the riding, driving, braking, accelerating, power and speed qualities which thrill the owner of a Chrysler Six.

As we said in June of last year, those qualities are so valuable and mean so much in efficiency and economy that you could well afford to discard the used car without compensation for the sake of the amazing activity of performance and the saving the Chrysler will bring you.

Even if another car originally cost you twice as much, the burden you escape when you acquire a Chrysler—the substitution of more agile and satisfying performance and the stoppage of waste—will more than compensate you.

Months ago we said that because of these unusual Chrysler qualities, the Chrysler was invading all markets and especially those of much higher price.

We also said that the enthusiasm of the public over the Chrysler was certain to affect all motor cars and ultimately all motor car design.

The change in (internal) design has not yet come. Until it does, there is no possibility for anyone who wants Chrysler results to make a comparison between the Chrysler and other cars, whether they be used or new.

It is all a question of whether you want the qualities which the Chrysler alone provides.

If you do, then it is perfectly clear that you cannot compare the value of another used car or any other new car with the value of the Chrysler.

Neither higher prices nor lower prices nor long allowances have anything to do with the fact that there is still only one Chrysler and that it delivers results which no other car delivers.

This is no reflection on any good car. It is simply a statement of facts which every Chrysler owner knows.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealers everywhere.

CHAPTER XXVI.

A Modern Document.

He made a rush at Sally, seized her by the hand and began dragging her forward.

"Settle the whole business right now!" he cried.

Sally was startled, dismayed. Her cheeks were fiery.

"Come on!" shouted the Wreck. "Meant what you said, didn't you?"

"I—I didn't say anything," stammered Sally.

"Yes, you did. I understood it. Took me a long time, but I woke up. Come along!"

They were facing the justice of the peace.

"Marry us!" commanded the Wreck. The magistrate grinned at them, particularly at Sally. But now she was defiant. She nodded her head peremptorily.

Bob Wells emerged from a trance.

"You can't get married without a license," he said. "And I don't believe you've got any."

"How about it?" demanded the Wreck.

"Well," said the justice of the peace. "I guess that's about right. Haven't you got a license?"

"Where would I get a license?" retorted the Wreck. "Pick it off a tree? What's the good of being able to marry people if you can't do the whole job? Can't you dig up a license?"

The magistrate scratched his ear and looked at the sheriff. Bob Welis shook his head.

"You can't marry them," he said. "You ought to know it. Besides, when she gets over her excitement maybe she'll think different."

Sally's eyes blazed at him.

"I'm not excited, and I know exactly what I'm doing, Bob Wells. Don't you try interfering, unless you want me to make you the silliest looking sheriff in ten counties."

The Wreck gazed at the sheriff and grinned widely. He felt like dancing, or doing something utterly irresponsible.

"I'm a justice of the peace," mused the possessor of the title, as he looked sympathetically at Sally and the Wreck. "I've got a good deal of legal authority. Wouldn't wonder if I could write license on a pinch. Never tried it, but——"

"You'll get yourself into a jam," warned the sheriff.

"Oh, I've been in all kinds of jams, Bob. Just got out of one." He eyed the flivver. Then he turned again to the pair in front of him. "Well, if you young folks want to take a chance, I'm game."

The Wreck squeezed Sally's arm until she winced, but she smiled at him.

"I wash my hands of it," said the sheriff.

"No, you don't. You'll be a witness," said the Wreck. "And, for the love of Mike, judge, get a move on. I'm so nervous I'm liable to go crazy."

The justice of the peace was fumbling in his pockets and presently drew forth a folded and tattered document.

"This ain't a regular license," he explained. "It ain't anything but a road map. But if I can find a clean space on the back I'll see what I can do."

He found a clean space after search, discovered a lead pencil and began to write.

"I know how the language goes, anyhow," he said. "That part of it will be just as regular as if it was printed. I've seen a whole lot of licenses, including my own. There ain't anything very complicated. There. Now, just sign where I'm pointing."

The Wreck signed. Sally signed. nd the justice of the peace signed.

"I reckon that's a good enough license," he said, with a touch of pride. "It reads straight as a string. It's kind of smudged, maybe, and hardly fit for a frame, but on the main points it's just like a printed one. Only you owe me a dollar, which'll be duly turned over to the county. Thanks. The ceremony's free. Here she goes."

He rattled it off with a speed born of experience, and it was all over when Sally and the Wreck thought it was just started.

"You're married all right," said the judge. "I always do it quick. It holds just as tight as a long one. It's like a short affidavit, it puts you in jail just as sure as if it was a regular indictment. And I tell you what: if anybody makes any kick about tha license, all you've got to do is to pay another dollar and get a printed one. There ain't any question about being married. The only point is whether we broke any laws doing it. But I reckon that won't worry you."

The Wreck roused himself from a daze.

"How do we get from here to the Bar-M?" he asked.

"Easy," said the judge. "Hand me that license for a minute."

He unfolded it and turned it over.

"See. Here's where we are," he explained, putting a forefinger on the map. "You just follow the main road from here, going left, until you come to this road. Wait; I'll mark it for you. Then you follow the other road. It's a little twisty, but you can't miss it! Keep right on the way I'm showing you until you come to this turn. You keep bearing to the right. That fetches you to another pike, and you follow that to the left. And there's the Bar-M, right in there."

The Wreck nodded nad the judge folded the document again.

"It ain't over seventy miles at the outside," he added. "And most of the road is fair. Just hang onto that paper and you're all right. If you want to know whether you're married, read one side of it. If you want to know which way to go on your honeymoon, turn it over. That's what I call a modern and improved public document, useful in more ways than one. Ain't that so, Bob?"

But the sheriff was striding down the trail in the direction of the horses.

"Well, good luck, folks," said the judge, as he shook hands. "The posse's got official business on its hands. I reckon it ought to be easier than rolling flivvers."

Sally and the Wreck were left alone. They stood silently until the last member of the posse disappeared. Then the Wreck looked at her awkwardly, coughed, reddened and kicked at a stone that lay in the trail. Suddenly he walked over to the flivver and cranked it.

"Get in," he said.

She got in, settled herself in the seat and stared ahead of her.

They followed the pike for nearly an hour, until they came to a road that crossed it. Not a word was spoken. He fumbled with the dog-eared document, unfolded it and found the licence uppermost. Hastily reversing it, he studied the map.

"This is where we turn off," he said.

Sally merely shrugged.

He turned the flivver into the new road and drove on for awhile.

The Wreck shut off the engine and jammed the brakes. He began to gesticulate. He became abruptly voluble, without any clear idea of what he was saying.

"Now, don't you worry a particle. It's my fault, every bit of it. Of course, I hadn't any business to. But—but—I just couldn't help it, that's all. I was dreaming, I guess. I got crazy notions. I thought maybe—well, anyhow it's my fault. And I'm sorry; that is, if you're sorry. If you're not— But what's the use of talking about that? I'll do my best, you just see. I'll work my head off for you. I'll do anything. Who wouldn't? You give me a chance, that's all. I'll go back to Pittsburg and I'll make a million dollars for you. I'll give you anything in the world you want. All I want is a chance, I tell you. You just watch me. And I'll make good, too. I've got to make good. You're the finest— Well, anyhow, I'm going to make you happy, if it breaks my neck. And, maybe, after awhile— Just try me, that's all. I'll make good, as sure as your name's Sally Morgan."

She turned to him with a faint smile on her lips.

"But my name isn't Sally Morgan," she said.

"Huh? Why—that's right. I forgot." His speech became lame again."

"Well, that's how I feel, anyway."

She studied him for several seconds, then laid a firm, warm hand over one of his, where it rested on the wheel.

"Old-timer," she said, gently, "you don't need all those words to say it in."

"But I wanted you to understand——"

"Perhaps I do."

"But you don't. What I wanted you to understand was—was— It's foolish, but——" His voice suddenly rose to a shout. "Well, anyhow, I love you!"

Sally's fingers closed around his.

"Now you're talking, Henry Williams," she said, contentedly.

The Wreck swooped on her.

It was minutes afterward when Sally freed herself, half laughing, half crying. There was a strange, wonderful look in her eyes as she surveyed him—a look of proud, absurdly happy, possession. There he was, with his horn-rimmed spectacles, his squint, his old challenging air of defiance—Henry Williams, of Pittsburg, Pa., Nervous Wreck—but all hers.

"And I do love you," he was saying, belligerently.

"Of course," said Sally. "But it took you so long——"

He swooped again, expertly, for the Wreck was a quick student.

"There," exclaimed Sally. "Now you'd better get out and crank the flivver, or we'll never make the Bar-M to-night."

"But I want you to understand—"

"You dear idiot, I understood long ago."

The Bar-M lay before them, almost at their feet. The ranch buildings huddled close to the ridge on the eastern side of the wide coulee, and the flivver was poised at the top of the ridge. Into the hills beyond the sun was dipping. To the north lay the summit of Black Top. Nearly home.

"I'm afraid we ought to have stuck to the road," said Sally.

The Wreck had insisted on cutting across the range, when they reached a point opposite the Bar-M coulee.

"Miles aroun' the other way," he said. "And here we are, almost there."

"But it's pretty steep, Henry."

She looked down the long green slope with a calculating eye.

"It's nothing," said the Wreck. "Just watch."

The flivver dipped into the grade, slowly at first, then with growing speed. It was travelling like a wild thing.

The Wreck had the service brake jammed down as far as it would go. He hauled back on the emergency brake. The flivver plunged onward, her brake bands screaming and smoking.

"We're going to hit something!" cried the Wreck.

Sally opened her eyes.

"Don't hit the kitchen!" she cried. "Ma's in there! Hit the corral!"

He could at least steer, and he did. They hit the corral. A section of fence flew into kindlings and the flivver charged onward. The sorrel horse, directly in its path, lifted his head, snorted, wheeled, lashed out with his heels and missed it by inches. The fence on the farther side loomed. There was a second crash, a lurch, a splintering of various things. The flivver stopped.

Dad Morgan, who was leaning against the fence a few yards distant, removed his pipe from his mouth and examined the situation with interest.

"I see you made good time gettin' back," he remarked.

"Dad!" cried Sally.

"Howdy, Sally? Howdy, Wreck?"

He strolled near for a better look at the flivver. One of the wheels was crumpled, both mudguards were curled up, the wind-shield was gone and there was a rivulet of steaming brown water dripping from the radiator.

"I reckon," said Dad, "that her nervous system is kind of shot up."

"Oh, Dad!"

Sally leaped clear of the wreckage and had her arms around his neck.

"Git the trousseau?" he asked, when she let go of him.

"Trousseau!" cried Sally. "Why, I—I'm married!"

"Well, I'll be durned!"

"Where's Ma? I want to tell her."

"Well, I'll be durned," repeated Dad. "Your Ma's over to the house, I reckon. Where's Bob?"

Sally began to laugh.

"I'm not married to Bob. I'm married to Henry Williams!"

Dad Morgan's glance wantered to the Wreck, who was still sitting in the flivver, gloomily surveying his work.

"Now, I will be durned," he said, thoughtfully. "Come to think of it, I reckon I'll be damned."

"You'd better be nice to nim," warned Sally, in a whisper. "He's the dearest thing in the world."

She raced away in the direction of the house, where the slight figure of Ma Morgan stood framed in the kitchen doorway.

Dad watched her go. Well, women were queer folks. But if Sally said it was all right, that settled it. Married, eh? The Wreck was his son-in-law! Fair enough, he mused. Sally always insisted the Wreck was game. His own course of conduct was clear.

"Wreck," he said, "providin' it ain't necessary for you to sit there watchin' the remains, there's a bottle up at the house."

"Sure," said the Wreck, as he climbed down. "Only don't grin at me. Hear me? Don't grin! It makes me nervous."

THE END.

POP BOTTLE FLOATS AROUND CONTINENT

Thrown in Detroit River, Found in Pacific Two Years Later.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25.. —Canadian Press)—Donald McElhinney, 15 year old London High Cchool boy, received a letter yesterday informing him that a pop bottle in which he placed his name and address two years ago at Windsor, Ont., was picked up by a sailor on the U..S..S. How the bottle made its way to that destination is a matter that is of more than ordinary interest.

McElhinney threw it into the Detroit river. Presumably it went out through the lakes and the St. Lawrence route to the Atlantic ocean and then followed the coast line southward. Probably passing through the Panama Canal into the Pacific waters.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR AIR VICTIMS

Bodies of Aviators Killed in Collision Conveyed to Their Homes.

BARRIE, Ont., Feb. 25. —(Canadian Press).—Funeral services were held to-day in local churches where the bodies of Flight Lieut. J. L. M. White of Halifax and Flying Officer R. H. Cross of Toronto were removed yesterday afternoon following a mid-air collision at Camp Borden in which the two young aviators lost their lives. In the afternoon the remains of both office were conducted to the station by a Royal Air Force escort. A salute being fired as the train pulled out.

The body of Lieut. White was removed to St. Marys Roman Catholic Church where service was held at 10 a.m., while service was held in the Holy Trinity Anglican Church for his brother officer at three o'clock in the afternoon.

On reaching Toronto, the body of Lieut. White will be transferred to an East bound train and will go right through to Halifax, being due to arrive there Friday noon. Both at Halifax and Toronto funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Royal Air Force.

The result of the investigation being conducted to determine the cause of the accident will be forwarded to authorities at Ottawa when completed.

PETERBORO' INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION DIRECTORS LEARN FAIR HERE LEADS PROVINCE OF ONTARIO AND IS APPRECIATED BY DOMINION GOVERNMENT

Sets Standard For All Fairs In Its Class, Says Deputy Minister.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN.

County Council Present in Full Strength For First Time in 8 Years.

"Whether judged by its expenditure for agricultural purposes or for all purposes, the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition leads all the fairs in its class in the Province, and has set a new standard for them to aim at; and the only fairs not included in the class are those at Toronto, Ottawa and London, which have much larger urban populations to draw from."

This was the statement of W. B. Roadhouse, Deputy Minister of Agriculture of the Province of Ontario at the annual banquet of the Directors of the Peterborough Exhibition last night in the Empress Hotel. The banquet was the most successful ever held by the Directors. The attendance was large and was truly representative, including farmers, manufacturers and business men of the city and district. For the first time, said President Denne, since the Board commenced these dinners, about eighty years ago, the members of the County Council were out in full strength. The banquet itself was worthy of the occasion and the decorations arranged by 1st Vice-President Reg. Turner were most appropriate. The walls and chandeliers were decked with flags and the centre-pieces on the tables were models of farm animals of all kinds. One which gave great amusement was a braying donkey on the speakers' table. During the evening music by the Royal orchestra was much enjoyed.

President Denne was the chairman, and after all had satisfied themselves with the good things, he called for the toast to the King. Mr. Denne then read telegrams from H. A. Morrow and G. N. Gordon, and letters from W. H. Bradburn and W. G. Morrow, expressing regret at their inability to be present. During the evening a telephone message was received from Rev. Father Phelan, of Campbellford, who was also unable to be present.

Department Helps.

In his address, Mr. Roadhouse said that although he had never had the pleasure and good fortune to attend the Peterborough Exhibition, he was familiar with the work that had been done through the records and figures turned in to the Department of Agriculture. He had always been anxious to meet the men who were responsible for the success of the fair and the gathering showed that there was co-operation and teamwork between all parts of the community in helping the directors in their great work. The government of the Province has had a minor part in the building up of the fair. The Peterborough Exhibition receives the maximum grant which the Act permits the government to pay, but Mr. Roadhouse believed that in providing an incentive for the fair Boards to work for a larger grant and in inciting to local effort they were doing the best thing possible.

The fairs of the province are a great centre of community effort. They bring together the town and the country. People always talk, said Mr. Roadhouse, of the clash between the city and the country, but there will always be found a difference of opinion, which is human nature, and is not a fruit of difference in occupation or residence. Discussion and controversy have their place in helping to work up to a broader character of life and opinions. This is one of the main achievements of fairs and exhibitions.

There are now 360 fall fairs of different classes in the Province of Ontario. The oldest form of agricultural society in the province is the Exhibition Board. The first fair board of the province was formed at Niagara in 1792 and the fairs have continued from that day to this, and now are of more vigor and usefulness than ever. Mr. Roadhouse held this up as a proof that they must be of great value to the life of the community or they could not have survived through all the vicissitudes of business conditions since that time.

Ideals—Information.

Fall fairs are of social and educational value to the people. The basic idea is competition. Competition incites to effort which results in achievement and the setting up of new standards. For success in this as in all other efforts two things are necessary. The first is "ideals." It is necessary to have some ideal to aim for such as the development of livestock or of other farm produce. The second thing necessary is information. The Department of Agriculture helps in providing information. It has an organization that covers the entire province with representatives in every county, and Mr. Roadhouse bespoke the co-operation of the farmers in trying out the data supplied by the government and in giving their comments on its value.

In conclusion, Mr. Roadhouse said that the fall fairs of the province are not only community builders but they are province and nation builders as well. They hold high the flag of confidence and keep the courage of the people high by holding up standards of a successful effort. It was gratifying to note that the tide had turned and that Canada is headed toward years of prosperity. The progress is gradual but sure, and before many months the cities and towns would realize the truth of the adage: "There must first be a measure of prosperity in the country before there can be prosperity in the cities and towns," and the fall fairs will do their part in keeping this before the people.

J. Frank Singleton.

In the absence, through illness, of Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Chief of the Dairy Department, Department of Agriculture for the Dominion, his chief assistant, J. Frank Singleton, gave a very informative address on Canada's dairy industry. Mr. Singleton prefaced his speech by expressing pleasure at seeing such commendable team work between urban and rural communities of Peterboro as evidenced by the attendance at this function. He is a forceful speaker, thoroughly conversant with his subject, and his talk was interest-holding in the extreme.

Giving a brief but concise review of the expansion of the cattle industry in Canada from the year 1818, when Baron de Lery of France landed the first cattle in North America, on Sable Island, down to the present day, he showed that the census of 1921 gave the number of dairy cows in Canada at 3,736,832. As for butter and cheese, he pointed out that the United Empire Loyalists brought the art of cheese and butter-making to Canada, and in 1801 a surplus of those products in Kingston was first exported to the United States.

Cheese Factories and Creameries

Continuing, Mr. Singleton said the first cheese factory was started in Canada by Harvey Farrington, of New York State, in the Township of Norwich, Oxford County, in 1864, while the first Canadian creamery was established at Athelston, Quebec, in 1873. The year 1883 saw the first condensary established in Canada, at Truro, N.S., and the first milk powder factory was founded at Brownsville, Ont.

The cheese business, he asserted, has only been successfully developed in Ontario and Quebec, which provinces have 2,650 factories of the 3,000 in the whole of Canada. Cheese production has increased each year for at least 60 years until its total value in 1923 stood at $233,629,033. The greatest cheese production materialized in 1903, and the year ending June, 1904, saw almost 234 million pounds exported. We reached the peak of production for cheese in 1903, and Ontario has always exceeded Quebec in quantity. Since 1903 there has been a general decline in the quantity produced, and in 1922 Canada made less than 136 million pounds. In 1923 cheese production was over 151 million pounds, and 1924 will show about the same. Nearly all of this commodity made in Canada comes from Ontario and Quebec.

Turning to creamery butter production, the speaker found that its growth has been phenomenal. For in 1900 butter-making attained a level of 36 million pounds, in 1910 it was 64 million, 1919 saw an increase to less than 100 million pounds, and in 1923 its production jumped as high as almost 163 million pounds, while statistics for 1924 will undoubtedly show a total output of from 175 to 180 million. The Prairie Provinces, he said, show up well in this tabulation with 17,204,829 pounds of creamery butter made in 1915, 30,465,923 pounds in 1923, and 47,716,616 pounds in 1924.

Consumption at Home.

The distinguished visitor here explained that Canadians are not great consumers of cheese, although they are eating more of it every year. In 1920 our per capita consumption was 2.71 pounds, while in 1923 it had advanced to 3.12 pounds. Only two countries in the world are as low as the Dominion in cheese consumption—New Zealand and Argentina. The United States consumes less than 4 pounds per capita, the United Kingdom about 12 pounds, which amount is exceeded by the Netherlands, with Switzerland getting away with over 26 pounds per capita.

But Canada is the greatest butter-consuming country on earth. She consumed 23.61 pounds per capita in 1920, and 27.45 in 1923, while the per capita consumption for the United States is about 17½ pounds, and that in the United Kingdom about 17 per capita.

Regarding milk, Mr. Singleton pointed out that Canadians are not great consumers, their per capita being but 1 pint per day, whereas were they to increase that amount to a pint and a half they would not only be a healthier nation, but Canada's dairy market would be augmented by half a million cows. But few countries use less milk than the Dominion, while Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland use about three times as much and the United States one-half more.

Our Export Trade.

Mr. Singleton here stressed the fact that Canada's perishable commodities are now exported all over the globe, and that in 1923 we sold dairy products to 32 different countries; our export trade in dairy products now amounts, he asserted, to from 35 to 40 million dollars annually. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1924, it amounted to $39,152,862, which is only 16.7 per cent. of the value of our 1923 production.

Since confederation, in the year ending June 30, 1868, we exported over 6 million pounds of cheese, and exports continued to increase until 1903. In the year ending June 30, 1904, we exported almost 234 million pounds. Since then exports have decreased, and for the year ending March 31, 1923, our cheese exports were less than 115 million pounds. From 1868 to 1924, inclusive, we exported 6,684,268,219 pounds, valued at $854,599,230.

In 1868 Canada's butter exports were 10,649,733 pounds, and they reached their peak in the year ending June 30, 1903, with 34 million pounds exported, after which they declined until in 1913 we exported less than one million pounds. Since then it has fluctuated, the greatest exports of butter having been during the year ending March 31, 1923, when we exported almost 22 million pounds. From 1868 to 1924 our butter exports were 672,823,862 pounds, valued at $155,705,504.

Government Aid.

In conclusion of a comprehensive address that would not be denied absorbing attention from and the interest of his hearers, Mr. Singleton emphasized that the Dominion Government, to encourage the export of cheese in less than car lots, is arranging for the icing, at no extra charge, of 160 cars for transportation to Montreal during the months of June, July and August. Inspectors of Canadian cheese and butter are, he pointed out, maintained at our own ports and in the United Kingdom to assure proper handling of and care for these exports at both sides of the ocean and in transit. As to the grading of cheese and botter; that became compulsory two years ago, and marked improvement in quality has followed. The Government has records of all such grading into specials, firsts, seconds and thirds, and those records give the highest grading of butter to Manitoba in 1924, with the Maritime Provinces second, Quebec third, Alberta fourth, Ontario fifth, and Saskatchewan sixth. Practically all of the butter produced in Ontario is home consumed.

In 1924, for cheese grading into specials and firsts, Ontario led with a rating of 89.26, Quebec came next with 75.29, and Prince Edward Island third with 56.78 firsts and no specials.

New Buildings

In the opening part of the programme the first speaker was His Worship, Mayor Turner. He said that when he had been asked to speak at this gathering he had wondered what constructive message he could bring to the directors. He said that Peterborough was the center and largest city of this district and the people of the surrounding country looked to the city for leadership. All taxpayers of the city and county were stockholders in the Exhibition and should work for its advancement. Such fairs as the Peterborough Exhibition develop and foster the spirit of competition and set high standards for all to work up to. All great things have small beginnings but since the present officers and directors have taken hold of the fair the progress has been rapid. There still remains much to be done and the mayor's message was to advise the construction of a fine arts building and a transportation building. He expressed the appreciation of the citizens for the work that has been done and commended the directors for their enterprise.

H. B. Rye, Warden of Peterborough County, brought a message to the Directors of the Exhibition Board.

Exhibitions create a friendly spirit of rivalry and competition and are an incentive to men to develop the best that is in them, he said. And anything like exhibitions that tends to raise the standard of productiveness, whether of stock, grain, or manufactured articles, is a benifit to both urban and rural communities and as the railways, telegraphs, radio and other means of communication shorten distances and act as connecting links between countries, so do exhibitions act as connecting links between the people of the city and of the country.

T. McIndoo, 2nd Vice-President of the Exhibition Board, said that it was a pleasure for the farmers to see so many city people take an interest in agriculture, which was the world's oldest industry, and which was also the pioneer industry in opening up new countries. There had been great advances in machinery and in animals. But if the incentive of competition found in fairs were taken away the flocks and herds would go back and development would be halted. He called attention to the fact that, contrary to the criticisms of some, the banquet was not paid for from the grants from the city or country but was paid for by the directors personally.

Need Accommodation.

W. R. Breyfogle, of the De Laval Company, said that in eight years the exhibits of cattle had grown from 102 to 320, and that the prize money in this class had increased from $398 to $1700, and that if the accommodation were available they could have 600 cattle on exhibition. He then showed two reels of film prepared by the De Laval Company, showing the working of a milking machine and also showing how the milk is produced by the cow.

After all the speakers had been heard, Mr. Denne announced that although they had had three years of bad weather the board had finished the season of 1924 with a balance of $1700. They had decided to increase the length of the fair to five days and had asked all the fraternal societies to ask their sister lodges throughout Central Ontario to come to the Peterborough Exhibition and have a big fraternal day. With regard to Mr. Roadhouse's address he said that the local representative was at Norwood, and asked that the Department have him spend some of his time each week in the city.

Spain Shuns Bullfights Heroes Are Soccer Stars

MADRID, Feb. 25.—Spain, popularly known as the land of bullfights, seems faced with the possibility of the disappearance of the royal sport. The Spaniards suddenly have become enamored of soccer football. The Spanish newspapers are devoting much space to the football players, many of whom have become national heroes and displaced the famous matadors, torreadors and picadors in public esteem. Large crowds attend the football matches, while there is a notable decrease in the gatherings at the bull rings. Members of the nobility, as well as the middle classes and even the poor of Spain, have taken well to the new sport and patronize the matches, which usually are played on Sunday.

BOARD MAKES ESTIMATES.

Oshawa Needs $226,842 For Education Purposes in Year 1925.

OSHAWA, Ont., Feb. 25.—At a special meeting of the Oshawa Board of Education Monday night the working estimates for the year 1925 as approved reached the total of $194,952.55, of which $132,943.71 is for public school purposes and $62,008.84 for high school. In addition to the working estimates must be included $31,889.65 for debenture debt, which will make the total expenditure for the year $226,842.20. An Advisory Vocational Committee, which is a combination of the former Industrial and Commercial committees, was appointed.

The Board of Education Chairman, H. S. Smith, was presented with a gavel, round the centre of which is a sliver-plated band, bearing the inscription: "To the Board of Education, from its first woman member, Mrs. E. C. Meyers."

PASTOR URGES WAR ON SHEIKS

Advises Decent Girls to Band Together for Self-Respect.

WARNS PARENTS.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—Advice to "decent girls" to form organizations for the purposes of eliminating the social ban imposed by young men of the "sheik" type, was given by Rev. Dr. C. J. McCombe, pastor of Broad Street Methodist Episcopal Church here. The advice featured an address in which Rev. Dr. McCombe answered the question: "What chance has a Christian girl when she is deserted by young men for 'fast girls' who lower themselves to do those things a decent girl will not do?"

Prediction was voiced by Dr. McCombe that the organization he proposed would result in "the young sheiks" pleading for opportunity to "return to the porch swings of the girls who have self-respect."

"Congratulations to the girl who will not compete for the attentions of a moron," continued Rev. Dr. McCombe. "It were better for her never to have a lover than to have to trade her self-respect for the entertainment offered by a degenerate. One stinging glance of scorn from a woman is enough to repel distasteful attentions. A girl can say everything she needs to say with one look.

"Parents who permit their young daughters to attend dances unchaperoned, to remain out after midnight, who surrender their daughters to young men and retire to their slumbers, will sometime find that sleep will not come to them at any hour of the night because of the surrender. Some girls are 'young' in their twenties."

OPPOSES RIVERA'S PLAN

Spanish Commander Deems Further Retreat Perilous.

MELILLA, Morocco, Feb. 24. — General Sanjurjo's recent departure for Madrid to confer with General Primo de Rivera, head of the Military directorate caused many rumors and many mysterious whisperings.

The real situation is explained by the fact that General Sanjurjo, who the fact that General Sanjurjo's, who is the Millitary commander at Melilla, was known to be entirely opposed to plan of Primo de Rivera to sufficinetly solid to resist any attempt the Moors may make to breach it.

Other reasons for the visit of General Sanjurjo surround the possibility, of an immediate rising by the friendly natives, should such a retirement be put into effect, with the danger of another disaster to the Spanish arms such as occurred in 1921. Even the General Staff statement here views with apprehension the attitude of the tribesmen, who, they think, might attack the Spanish troops from the rear with disastrous consequences.

It cannot be forseen whether General Primo de Rivera will even consider General Sanjurpo's proposition but it is believed he feels committed to a retirement from the present line a movement which the leading officers here do not approve.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR QUESTIONS

Child Drawing Up Best Set of Questions To Be Rewarded.

PEER TO ANSWER.

LONDON, Feb. 25 (United Press)—The child to draw up the best set of questions suited to the mentality of a 14-year-old boy (but to be asked the 58-year-old Lord Rothermere, often called the world's most powerful newspaper magnate) will take his choice of a shelf of books, a bicycle or a wireless set.

The Daily Herald, the Labor organ, has offered the prize in backing the wager of $1,000 to $5,000 made by Labor member Cove with Lord Rothermere by the terms of which the Peer must answer correctly 75 per cent. of 25 questions to be submitted.

The wager was brought about by an attack by Lord Rothermere against the English Public School system, because applicants for a position as junior clerk had failed to answer a list of questions he considered simple. Cove declared Rothermere would be equally nonplussed, and the challenge was accepted.

AUSTRALIA TO SELL SHIPS

Operation of Commonwealth Line Called a Costly Failure

MELBOURNE, Feb. 25. — The Commonwealth government shipping Line has proved a costly failure and the Government is taking immediate steps to dispose of its fleet of thirty-two ships.

Losses on working since 1921 and the sum written off amount to £11,091,631. In 1921-22 the loss was £1,171,569 and in 1922-23 it was £1,626,150. In June, 1923, the capital value of the fleet was written down from £12,766,588 to £4,718,500.

The Shipping Board states that the line cannot run without serious loss while the ships remain on Australian register and subject to Australian industrial awards.

The Government will immediately invite tenders for purchase of the line on condition that the purchaser maintain a regular service between Australia, Great Britain and the Continent of Europe, that there is no increase of fares or freights and no arrangement made with any shipping combination.

If a satisfactory tender is obtained the government will recommend Parliament to accept it.

PREMIER RESIGNED

BRISBANE, Feb. 25 (Canadian Press).—Hon. E. G. Theodore today resigned the Premiership of the State of Queensland, and W. N. Gillies, Minister of Agriculture, was recommended by the State Labor Party to succeed him.

U. S. TRANSPORT CARRIES LIQUOR

Officers' Quarters Yields 200 Gallons—Court Martial To Sit.

OFFICERS HELD.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 25.. —(United News).—Make than 200 gallons of liquor were seized from the officers quarters of the United States Transport Beaufort, when it arrived here from the West Indies late on Tuesday.

All of the officers of the ship are being held, facing court martial on charges of violation of the Volstead Act, smuggling and attempt to smuggle as well as violation of navy regulations.

She Says:
"I AM THIN"
Her Friend Says:
"SHE IS SKINNY"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamines that make flesh, creates appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

"In His Quiet Moments"

A True Story

Always 'the life of the party' everybody admires Ted Carruthers for his breezy good nature and winning personality. He is a real man through and through.

But in his quiet moments—

Poor Ted has his personal problem from which he cannot shake himself free when alone. A recent illness, the price of overwork, left his health impaired. The doctor says it is only a matter of time.

He now has only a few short years in which to provide for Mary and the children. What is he to do? He is not able to get life insurance and cannot save much more than $300.00 a year. In five years this will be but $1,500.00—not nearly enough!

'Tis now he realizes just what it would have meant if he had insured when able, to provide for his wife an income of at least $100.00 a month ($1,200.00 a year) as long as she lived. At his age (35) $6.40 a week with the London Life would have guaranteed it, and worry would not now be further sapping his strength, killing any chance he may have had of recovery.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

EXCHANGES ARE VINDICATED BY GRAIN REPORTS

Value of Future Trading is Explained in a Careful Analysis.

BIG ENQUIRY.

Existing Grain Handling Facilities Commended—Caution Against Speculation.

OTTAWA.—One of the outstanding features of the Grain Enquiry Commission's report is the commendation it has for existing grain handling facilities, and the crop marketing machinery generally. It may be taken for granted that this has been the most exhaustive enquiry undertaken in any country into this business, and the surprising feature is that so little fault is found in this report of very nearly 100,000 words.

An especially striking feature is the vindication of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, which for long has been the target for much criticism. This has been quite effectually dispelled, the general tenor of the report on this subject being that the farmers of the West would be much worse off without the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. It is probable that grain exchanges generally throughout this continent will consider the report as a vindication of their methods generally.

The principal observations of the report on the exchange are as follows:

"The broad fact that the men and the companies, interested in the movement of grain, have united to form an organization to facilitate their business and to protect their interests, in itself, no more places them outside the protection of the law than any other organization with a similar aim, such as the Canadian Manufacturers' Association or the United Farmers of Manitoba or Alberta.

"In 1907 the government of Manitoba brought the Exchange into court. Mr. Justice Phippen pointed out in his judgment that the right of a body of traders to protect their interests must be respected as long as the public interest was not unduly impaired. He found that there was no conspiracy to limit unduly the facilities for transporting, producing, manufacturing, supplying or dealing in grain.

"The present lengthy and searching investigation does not seem to have disclosed any fact of such importance as, in a general way, to disturb this finding. The Winnipeg Grain Exchange does not appear to have erected undue barriers to the free and natural competition of commerce. And it must be emphasized that freedom of competition under the present system of organization is the surest guarantee to the farmer that undue profits are not being made or that the best service is not being rendered.

"At the present time there is no evidence that bona fide traders or dealers in grain have been prevented from becoming members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and sharing in the advantages that the organization offers.

"After pointing out that the farmers' elevators belonged to the Exchange, it is also noted that the Alberta Wheat Pool has obtained representation on it. The Grain Exchange cannot, therefore, be deemed a close corporation which keeps out of its membership all new competitors appearing, thereby restraining them from taking advantage of the facilities for marketing that have developed in Western Canada.

"In so far as the Exchange, therefore, is an organization to provide for the maintenance of a market place, it forms, without undue restriction, a necessary and beneficial link in the marketing of western grain. The Exchange does not of itself buy or sell grain. It does not up the machinery under which grain can be conveniently bought and sold. It does not appear then that there are any undue restrictions placed either upon obtaining membership in the exchange, or upon making use of this machinery in the buying and selling of grain."

After a further analysis of the nature of speculation, the report goes on to discuss the recent decision by United States courts, that grain exchange operations as such are not illegal. Caution is given, however, against speculation on the exchange by those who are unfamiliar with all the details of the operations, and those who are not possessed of the business ability required.

MANY WHEEL IN BELGIUM

One Bicycle for Every Nine Persons in the Country.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—Belgium for its size and population, can boast of more bicycles than any other country in the world. One out of every nine men, women and children in Belgium owns a wheel, the official figures being 792,884 out of a population of a little over 7,000,000.

Bicycle racing is the national sport of the little kingdom, and 54 velodromes are holding weekly and bi-weekly meets.

Belgian riders are noted for their endurance and they devote most of their efforts to road racing over long distances. Up to 1923 and 1924, when Henri Pelissier of France and Ottavia Bottechia of Italy won the 4,000 miles "Tour de France," the race had been regularly carried off by Belgians. Local riders all look forward to the coming of a six-day race in America as the crowning success of their careers.

SOME STRAINS TURNIPS FREE FROM DISEASE

Club Root Fails to Attack Certain Species, Tests Show.

GREAT SUCCESS.

Only Limited Quantity of Seed is Available—Farmers Raise Own.

That some strains of turnips are resistant to club root is borne out by tests conducted by the Experimental Stations at Kentvi", N.S., Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Nappan, N.S.

At Nappan, in 1922, six acres were sown with Monarch seed (home-grown), and two acres with Bangholm club root resistant seed, (obtained from the Charlottetown Station), on a field infected with club root. The six acres of Monarch yielded 2195.5 bushels or 365.9 bushels per acre. Of these, 295.6 bushels or 49.3 bushels per acre were not fit for use. Owing to club root 10 to 15 per cent. of the plants never developed. The total loss on this field was more than 50 per cent. The two acres of Bangholm club root resistant yielded 694.5 bushels per acre and showed less than 2 per cent. affected roots, with the infection not sufficient to make them unfit for use. In 1923 four acres were again seeded with Monarch and two with Bangholm club root resistant seed, but on a newer field not so badly infected with club root as the field used the previous year. The four acres of Monarch yielded 3357.6 bushels or 838.4 bushels per acre, while the two acres of Bangholm club root resistant yielded 1845 bushels or 922.5 bushels per acre. Fifty per cent. of the Monarch roots were affected more or less with club root, while the Bangholm club root resistant were 2 per cent. affected. In 1924, this test was repeated but on new land, and, as the season was unfavorable for club root development, all roots were free from the infection.

In the variety test made in 1923 on infected soil the following results were obtained: Bangholm Sludesgaard D.L.F. and shepherd Swede No. 2056 (Denmark), no infection evident, Bangholm club root resistant, Charlottetown, 1.4 per cent., while the other 16 varieties ranged from 3.2 per cent to 46.7 per cent. infection.

In 1923 one-half acre was planted out with disease-free roots for seed production which yielded at the rate of 800 pounds of seed per acre. The most of this seed was sold to farmers. Of the farmers receiving the seed only one or two reported infected roots.

If, by careful selection, its resistant qualities are retained this strain of club resistant turnips should prove of great value to the farmers of Eastern Canada. In Nova Scotia alone, some 12,000 acres were seeded to roots in 1923. It is conservatively estimated that one half that area is infected with club root. If seed of the club root resistant strain had been used and the same increased yields secured as above recorded, there would have been an increased return to the farmers of Nova Scotia of over $189,000 or $31.65 per acre for 6,000 acres infected, if the roots were valued at 15 cents per bushel.

During 1924, about 350 pounds of this seed was produced at Nappan. It will be for sale in limited quantities of 2 pounds per farmer at $1 per pound. It is desired that farmers receiving this seed should save sufficient roots from which to grow their own seed and perhaps a surplus for sale.

SIMMONS STILL IN DANGER.

Klan Founder Reported "Resting Easily" Afer His Automobile Accident.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Feb. 25 — Colonel W.. J.. Simmons, founder and former Emperor of the Ku Klux Klan, who was seriously injured in an automobile wreck near here, Friday evening, was said by hospital authorities yesterday "to be resting easily, but is not yet out of danger."

Colonel Simmons, who now is Supreme Monarch of the Knights of the Flaming Sword, and Captain M.. A.. Moore, of Houston, Texas, Supreme Recording Secretary of the same organization were injured Friday night when their automobile skidded off the road down a twelve-foot embankment.

Captain Moore suffered a broken neck and died late on Sunday. Colonel Simmons sustained two fractures of the collar bone and four broken ribs, one of them puncturing the lung..

PLANES FIND LOST SKIERS.

Drop Food to Three Pleasure Seekers in the Alps.

ST. MORITZ, Feb. 25.—After all hope had been abandoned, three skiers, lost in the high snows of the Alpine range on the Swiss-Italian frontier, were located by airplanes, which could not make a landing but which dropped them food supplies from the air.

The skiers were Professor Staub of Zurich and two compaions. They left Fexinal on Wednesday for the Marinelli hut on the Italian side of the range. Heavy snow storms prevented their return and fear was felt that they had been lost for good.

An airplane attempted to reach the isolated hut, but was driven back by the blinding snow. Tuesday two Swiss military machines flew over the hut and sighted three men. The airmen dropped a supply of provisions, together with a message that they would return and a letter from Professor Staub's wife, urging him not to lose courage.

Canada Has Large Crop Of Onions Every Year

The total production of onions in Canada last year was estimated to be 1,095,000 bushels, as compared with a total crop of 749,000 bushels in 1923, according to a report by the Canadian Department of Agriculture. British Columbia and Ontario are the most important onion-growing sections. The yield in Ontario this year was considerably larger than usual, producing an average yield per acre of 421 bushels, as compared with a yield of 180 bushels last year, while the average yield in British Columbia was lower than usual, amounting to 175 bushels per acre, as compared with a yield of 314 bushels per acre last year. The onion crop of British Columbia was disposed of early in the season at satisfactory prices. Almost 35,000 bushels were exported. Because of the heavy crop in Ontario, prices here have not been so satisfactory. A considerable quantity has been exported to Cuba.

COFFEE FARMS PROVE A MINT

Brazil Exports to U. S. in 1924, While Under 1923 Bring Greater Returns.

HIGHER PRICES

SANTOS, Brazil, Feb. 25.—The $1,000,000 which local coffee growers have spent advertising in the United States seems to be coming back. According to figures released by the American consulate in this city, green coffee exporters shipped 749,894,376 pounds of coffee to the United States during 1924, worth $139,007,766. This is a drop under 1923 of less than 2 per cent. in quantity, but an advance in value of nearly 40 per cent.

There has been much criticism in the United States of the system of daily control of shipments at Santos and Rio de Janeiro, where the demand is maintained at a high level throughout the year by a control over the sale of the crop. It should be noted, however, local dealers set forth, that this public control over sales is fixed on the basis of the average crop.

With entries at 35,000 bags a day into Rio de Janeiro, the year's arrivals under the orginal plan, started by the federal government, gave a total of 14,100,000 bags, calculated on a basis of 300 working days a year. This figure is above the average crop for the last ten-year period.

After the July revolution in Sao Paulo was cushed, the federal government ordered the railways to give right-of-way to coffee shipments, and daily arrivals were soon doubled.

It is undoubtedly true that large profits are being obtained on coffee plantations at the present time. The highest pice ever recorded for a coffee fazenda was paid a short time ago by an English company organized in Brazil, which paid the equivalent of $2,500,000 for a farm of 2,500,000 trees. At present prices the average crop grown on this farm is worth about $1,800,000. A resident population of 3,200 people live on the farm. Wages are low.

HUGE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

There Are 115,000 Dairy Farmers in Ontario—794 Cheese Factories.

There are about 115,000 dairy farmers in the province of Ontario, possibly 75,000 of these depend almost wholly on dairying for their cash income. The farms, buildings, stock and equipment owned by these 115,000 farmers represent many millions of dollars. Then there are 794 cheese factories and 227 creameries or milk powder plants, besides ice cream plants and city milk distributing centres."—Geo. A. Putnam, Director of Dairying in Ontario.

A PROFITABLE PIG.

The goose that laid a golden egg every day has a close rival in present-day pure-bred live stock, judging from a report from a pig club boy in South Carolina. 'Five years ago last March,' he says, in a letter, "I joined a pig club that our county agent organized in this county. I had a pure-bred pig, then 8 weeks old. Since that time she has farowed about 10 pigs. She paid for my clothes three years in high school and gave me spending money also. I am now in my second year in college and she is still footing the bill."

Halton County Ewe Gives Birth To Five

MILTON, Feb. 25.— John Leeson of Trafalgar Township, is the proud owner of a ewe which yesterday gave birth to five lambs. This is believed to be a worlds' record. If Mr. Leeson's prolific ewe can keep this record up for any length of time it will be doing its share toward increasing the wool products of the world and minimizing the threatened wool shortage. If the five lambs live they may be exhibited at the fall fairs.

GERMANY AIMS AT EXCLUDING CANADA'S GRAIN

New Tariff Provides Duty Against Foreign Grain and Products.

NOT SERIOUS.

Wheat Imports Have Been Small—Flour Embargo Means More.

The announcement that the new German tariff precludes the importation of Canadian and other wheat is no serious blow to our wheat trade, as Germany's imports of wheat from this country have been extremely small. During the past three fiscal years, the average has not been in excess of 1,200,000 bushels, a negligible quantity in relation to our total exports.

The setting up of a tariff against flour, however, is somewhat more serious. During the fiscal year 1924, German imports of Canadian flour was second only to those of the United Kingdom, totalling in value $10,313,280 in comparison with $22,188,665 to the United Kingdom. Moreover, while the British figures represent a gradual annual decline over the past three years, Germany's imports have been built up with amazing rapidity. The figures jumped from $319,232 three years ago to $3,985,409 two years ago, and $10,313,280 last year.

Final information that the new tariff includes wheat flour has not yet been received, as the dispatch dealing with the matter specifies only "foreign grain." At the same time, it is assumed that wheat flour is included, as the German nationalist policy is very decidedly in favor of developing all home industries possible, especially where imports of foreign products are increasing materially.

NEW RULING OF U.F.O. ADOPTED

Present Government Working To Safeguard Well Being of Community.

MUST CONTRIBUTE.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—With a view to consolidating the organized farmer movement in Ontario, the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Limited, at its last board meeting, made an important ruling regarding the payment of commodity dividends.

As is well-known, the co-operative company is developing its business in accord with the approved methods of co-operative commodity marketing, whereby each department dealing in a separate commodity—or one or two closely allied commodities—will be virtually a separate department under the management of its own expert. Under this arrangement, the profits on each commodity will go to producers on the patronage basis.

The Toronto Creamery branch was placed on this basis on November 1st last. The Egg Pool and the Seed Pool are already on a similar basis. The intention is eventually to place all departments on the same basis.

The important ruling which the directors brought into effect at their last meeting was that such commodity dividends will be payable only to shareholders of the co-operative company and members of the U.F.O. in good standing, except that any patron of those branches of the co-operative company which are on the commodity basis, will be allowed to participate in the commodity dividends, provided he allows a deduction of $2 from his dividends, to be devoted to the educational work of the U.F.O. organizations.

This does not mean that there is any desire to prohibit non-members and non-shareholders from patronizing or dealing with the company. On the contrary, the United Farmers' Co-operatiev Company, Limited, welcomes business from all sources. It simply means that all participants in commodity dividends must in future contribute to the support of the U.F.O. organizations.

Shareholders in the co-operative company and members of the U.F.O. in good standing, who are entitled to commodity dividends, will receive them in full without deduction. Non-members and non-shareholders will receive them in full without deduction. Non-members and non-shareholders will receive full value for their products, the same as members and shareholders, but if they desire to participate in commodity dividends, they must be willing to allow a deduction of $2 for educational purposes.

AGRICULTURIST RELATES NEEDS OF FARM BOYS

Must Be Able To Earn Income Equal to Youth in the City.

FIVE THINGS.

Dr. Vivian Obtained Information in Over Five Hundred Interviews.

IONIA, Mich., Feb. 25.—Here are the five things country boys and girls must have if they are to stay on the farm, as outlined here the other day by Dr. Alfred Vivian, dean of agriculture at the Ohio State University.

They should be able to earn an income on the farm equivalent to that possible in the city.

They should be able to have in their homes the comforts and conveniences of city homes.

Their schools should be as good as city schools.

They should have a satisfactory religious life.

Result of Interviews.

This information said Dean Vivian, was obtained from interviewers with more than 500 boys and girls in the first two years of high school, whom he asked what they would need to have promised them so that they could look forward to life on the farm with pleasant anticipation.

President Butterfield, of Michigan Agricultural College, said: "The college task is merely to help the farmers do things which they themselves will find it difficult, if not impossible, to do. We can help to discover the demands of the market for oil-grown products and how the farm can be adapted to the market."

CO-OPERATE IN SUPPLY OF MILK

Producers' Supply Company Operates Into New York at Profit.

LARGER RETURNS

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—A co-operative arrangement under which 7,000 farmers producing milk have uninterruptedly for two years supplied the New York market with their product and at the same time received a larger share of the consumer's dollar than most other farmers came to light in a statement by the officers of the Sheffield Farms Company Producers.

The company was formed two years ago to market the milk for its members, to insure a steady, stable outlet and to negotiate prices month to month. It was organized to avoid by agreement or arbitration any misunderstanding with milk distributors that might lead even for a day to an interruption in the milk supply.

Set Price Monthly

Representatives of the various groups into which the association is divided come to New York city once a month, make a price for the following month and then go back to their farms.

The statement, signed by President C. Fred Boshart, Secretary Clark W. Haliday and Treasurer Fred E. Mather, declared that the record showed that not only had the plan operated perfectly but that the members of the association had received a uniformly higher price than other farmers supplying the New York field and that the marketing has been conducted and the association operated at a cost so low "that it sets a new standard of economy in the field of co-operative marketing."

MAINTENANCE PROBLEM.

The Big Highway Expense Comes in Keeping Up Roads.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(Canadian Press).—One of the big highway problems of the Province is maintenance, according to the viewpoints of a number of speakers who addressed the conference on road construction yesterday when county and township superintendents and engineers gathered in the highways building for discussion of construction methods. In dealing with the necessity for adequate maintenance, H. A. Lumsden, Wentworth County engineer and road superintendent, stated that, so far as his county was concerned, twelve per cent. of the year's expenditure went for maintenance. In matters of maintenance, too much attention could not be paid to drainage, as the quality of the drainage often determined the length of the highway's life. George E. Stephenson, Bruce County engineer, also emphasized the importance of maintenance.

Margaret is only seven years old, but sometimes quite naughty. On one occasion her mother, hoping to be particularly impressive, said: 'Don't you know that if you keep on doing so many naughty things, your children will be naughty, too?"

Margaret dimpled, and cried triumphantly, "Oh, mother, now you've given yourself away!"

Good Quality Of Apples Makes Growing Success

The most important end of apple-growing to-day is quality production and unless the fruit growers as a body turn their attention to securing quality in their fruit as the first consideration, the industry will not prosper in spite of efforts that may be made in marketing.

It has been found, among other things, that apples produced on young trees are poorer shippers and keepers than those produced on older trees; that apples produced on clay loam have better keeping qualities than those grown on either heavy clay or sand. Rough handling is, however, the cause of greatest loss and amounts to from 10 to 15 per cent. of the crop marketed by the average grower. It is not the high price received for a few barrels of apples that makes the orchard profitable, but the average price received for the entire crop.

GOVERNMENT TO PROVIDE TREES

Will Assist Farmers And Landowners to Reforest Waste Land.

MILLIONS READY

The purpose of this distribution is to assist farmers and landowners in the province to improve their woodlots and to reforest waste portions of their holdings. On most farms there are a few acres which might profitably be devoted to the planting of trees, such as steep hillsides, sandy or gravelly areas, swamp land, and fields cut off by streams or railroads. Such areas may be set out with trees at little trouble and expense, which will add value to the property, and be a useful addition for small amounts of timber and fuel. Also, in some sections of the province where the land is all of good agricultural worth, and little forest remains, it would be profitable to plant a few acres with trees.

Trees Supplied Free.

The Forestry Branch advises that those undertaking waste land planting make a start of one acre the first year. Two acres will be the largest area for which the Branch will undertake to furnish planting material free in any one year. Larger areas may be planted by arranging to continue the work in successive seasons.

Trees should be spaced from five to six feet each way, preferably six feet. Only in rare cases is it necessary to plant trees 5 feet apart or less. At five feet spacing an acre will require 1,742 trees. At six feet spacing an area will require 1,210 trees. 3,500 trees is the largest amount which will be given free to one landowner in any one year.

Trees Supplied At Cost.

Where the landowner has several acres of waste land which he desires to reforest, and where he is able to plan more than 3,500 trees in one year, he may procure an additional quantity at $4.00 per thousand.

Assistance Given.

The Forestry Branch, in so far as the means at its disposal will permit, will assist in the growing of forest plantations or woodlots, by giving advice as regards the choice of species and mixtures, the selection of suitable areas, their preparation, methods of planting and care after planting.

Prospective planters, is they so desire, may send in a description of the property to be set out with trees, showing the location of roads, existing woodland, streams, buildings, fences, hills and any other local feature, as well as the soil or soils on the area. If possible a sketch map should be drawn showing the above features, after which the Forestry Branch will give advice regarding the kinds of trees best suited to the area and their arrangement.

The Owner's Obligation.

The owner must do any necessary preparing of the area, plant the trees at his own expense, care for the plantation, fence it from animals, and when necessary, protect it from fire by some effective means.

He will be expected once each year to fill in and return a questionnaire report on the trees, which will be supplied by the Forestry Branch.

All trees are sent express collect from the Government Nurseries, the cost of shipping being paid by the person receiving the trees. 1,000 to 2,000 trees will range from 100 to 300 pounds in weight, and if the applicant desires to know what the express charges will be, he should find out from his local express agent the rate 100 pounds from the nearest nursery. It is not considered safe to ship trees by freight and the Branch cannot accept transportation charges.

All trees are sent out in the spring, usually during the latter part of April.

The Ontario Forestry Branch does not ship trees for any purpose in the autumn.

How Trees May Be Obtained.

Persons interested in tree-planting should write to the Ontario Forestry Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, stating the particular kind of work they propose doing. An application form will then be supplied, which should be filled out carefully and returned to the Toronto office.

No fruit trees, ornamental trees or shrubs, trees for town or village lots are distributed. Trees suitable for permanent planting in hedges or along fences are not supplied. The material available is intended primarily for waste land planting.

Location of Government Nurseries

The Ontario Government maintains nurseries for growing trees in Norfolk County, at St. Williams, on the C.N.R., approximately 15 miles south of the town of Simcoe; in Durham County at Orono, on the C.N.R., one-half mile from the village; in Simcoe County, at Midhurst, on the C.P.R., or Minesing, on the C.N.R., 5 miles from Barrie; in Prince Edward County at the Sand Banks, Bloomfield, C.N.R., 9 miles from Bloomfield; in Grenville County, at Kemptville, C.P.R., at the Agricutural School, and in Timiskaming District, at New Liskeard, T.N.O., at the Experimental Farm.

In so far as the supply of species will permit, shipments will be made from the nursery situated nearest by rail, to the express office of the applicant, and the name of his nursery should be stated on the application form. Persons who live within reasonable distance of one of the nurseries, and who can fetch the trees themselves, are encouraged to do so and this fact should also be stated clearly on the application form.

CURE OF PLANT DISEASES WILL SAVE MILLIONS

Cost of Food Supply Can Be Cut by Developing New Plants.

WOULD MAKE IMMUNE.

Control to be Obtained by Breeding for Resistance of Ills.

NEW YORK, February 25 (United Press). — Enormous economic losses can be checked and the cost of the food supply cut by creating new races of plants, it is declared in a report by the scientific directors of the New York Botanical Garden, of which Prof. Robert A. Harper of Columbia University is chairman.

Medicine and botany should join in a vast plan of research to attack the problems of disease in plants, which offer many analogies to disease in human beings, according to the directors.

Diseases of the great cereal crops are now vitally affecting the welfare of both farmers and consumers, asserts the report, pointing out that wheat rust in a single year has cost the country more than $20,000,000, and that dry-rot of corn is becoming a pressing problem, a loss of over $5,000,000 having been suffered during this period in the State of Illinois alone.

Plants may provide new method of attack for the conquest of human ills. "There are reasons for believing," say directors, "that many of the fundamental phenomena of disease processes applicable to all living beings may be studied in plants as readily as, if not more readily than, in human beings." The report continues:

"While it is becoming customary to control the infectious diseases of human beings by the use of serums and vaccines, this method has so far proved impracticable with plants; and the common procedure with them is to apply poisons by spraying or treating the seed. This entails a permanent cost to the grower, which in the case of food plants is added to the cost of human food supply.

"If, however, races could be produced which were immune to disease, the cost of food production would be so much reduced. It is now, indeed, generally agreed by plant pathologists that it is in the study of racial and inherited immunity and in breeding for disease resistance, rather than in prophylactic measures with existing races, that the solution of the great problem of reducing the enormous losses to agriculture and horticulture due to diseases of both physiological and infectious origin is to be sought."

FRANCE HOPES FOR LARGE GRAIN CROP

Old Saying, "February Snow Fills Granaries," Basis for Expectations.

PARIS, Feb. 25. — (Canadian Press).—"February snow fills granaries," runs an old saying. If it is true, France need not import any wheat next year, for snow is falling intermittently over the whole country. Even in the usually sunshiny south.

The fall is heavy in the mountains of Central France, and the thermometer has dropped far below zero.

FARMERS WOULD DISCUSS THEIR COST PROBLEMS

Meeting With Manufacturers Would Clear Air of Misunderstandings.

FARM VIEWPOINT.

System of Marketing to Benefit Both Might Be Evolved.

[It is reported that the Canadian Council of Agriculture has suggested a conference on mutual problems with representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. In the following article such a conference and what it may accomplish is discussed from the standpoint of the farmers. It is written by Thos. H. Binnie, of Priceville, a former member of the U.F.O. executive and a prominent figure in the farmer movement in Ontario.—Editor.]

I understand that the Canadian Council of Agriculture has forwarded to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association an invitation for a joint conference to talk over general problems, to understand each other and to create a friendship—instead of enmity—which will be for the betterment of all classes in the country. This year, the annual meeting of the C.C.A. will be held in Toronto, and this conference can be held with a minimum of expense. It should be held every year. The bulk of our misunderstandings arise from our failure to see things from the view point of others. Let us get together, talk our problems over freely and, even if we can not entirely agree, we will create that spirit of friendliness which is so necessary for the conduct of our mutual business.

From the viewpoint of the farmer, many manufacturers can not see why the buying power of the farmer should make much difference in their own business. At least they talk that way. Many believe that with the present high price of grains the farmer should be bathing in wealth, but will not buy because he is enotrary. The manufacturer in many cases, can not fathom the present economic condition of the farmer, who has been hard hit during the past few years. Then, too, there is a general feeling that the overhead expenses on the farm amount to nothing or next to nothing. They believe that the farmer is advocating a lowering of the tariff because he wants to see the manufacturer hit. They can not understand how the farmer can believe that free trade in farm products would be better than a high tariff in bettering the farm income.

Then the farmer has the feeling that many manufacturers do not seem to care about the cost of the labor in his products; they appear to the farmer to be very lavish in their overhead expenses and they seem to pay no attention to the excessive cost of the raw material they put into the manufactured article, so long as they can collect the cost plus profit from the consumer. Many farmers believe that everyone—especially the manufacturer—is against them and feel that they are going to get hit no matter what they do. Farmers will tell, how they are sure that it is the manufacturers who put up the money to turn out whatever government they want out and elect the party they would like to see having the reins of power,—for their own benefit, of course.

Both the farmer and the manufacturer complain of the high cost of marketing their products. Could this not be discussed to see if some new methods of marketing could be arranged that would benefit both? Thus there are many points of variance and such a conference as proposed to discuss these questions would undoubtedly result in a better understanding of each other's troubles and a more friendly attitude on both sides.

NO TAX ON GAS USED ON FARMS

Premier Says Provision Has Been Made to Rebate Amount.

OTHER USERS.

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (Canadian Press).—Discussing the working out of the new tax of three cents per gallon on gasoline, Premier Ferguson pointed out that while the tax would be collected from the first distributor handling gasoline the evenutal consumer who used it for purposes other than motor vehicles would be able to obtain a rebate by filling out an affidavit which would be provided for. This would relieve from tax gasoline used for farm implements, manufacturing, cleaning etc.,

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR FIRST FINAL LEAVES C.P.R. THURSDAY AT 5.45

Great Chance For Fans to Send Crowd of Supporters For Petes' Most Important Game in the Senior O.H.A.—Leaves North Toronto at Midnight.

For the benefit of the many Peterboro fans who want to see the first game in the final series for the Senior O.H.A. championship the Peterboro Club is running a special train to Toronto tomorrow evening via C.P.R. leaving Peterboro at 5.45 p.m. A two hour's run to Toronto is promised and the special train will leave THE UNION STATION, TORONTO, at 11.20 p.m. A record crowd of Peterboro rooters will make the trip and the Petes will have plenty of support when they face the acid test.

The Peterboro Club has secured several blocks of Arena tickets for the game and these will be on sale at 7 o'clock tonight at Wright's. Fans who are going to Toronto should see to it that they get their tickets tonight, as he pasteboards may not be available tomorrow.

The Petes left this morning for Toronto and practised at the Arena between 1 and 2 o'clock today, their final workout before the big battle. President Wright and Secretary Convery accompanied the team today and Coach Connie Smythe had charge of the workout.

It is expected that the team will return to Peterboro after the game tomorrow night and leave for Niagara Falls via C.P.R. on Sunday afternoon.

BRUINS WIN AGAIN.

Boston Team Victorious For Fourth Time in N.H.L. Season.

BOSTON, Feb.. —25. —(Canadian Press).—Boston Bruins scored their fourth victory of the National Hockey League Season last night when they defeated Montreal in an overtime game 2 to 1. The winning goal was shot in by "Red" Stuart of the Bruins in 2 minutes and 50 seconds of extra play. It was one of the closest contests of the local season, and the first overtime game in the profes sional series here. Play was rough throughout, although only one major penalty was imposed. This went to Dinsmore for charging Herberts into the boards in the second period.

ALLAN CUP PLAY-OFFS.

Ontario Eliminations Start March 3 Between Intermediate Champions and N.O.H.A. Winners.

TORONTO, Feb.. 25 —(Canadian Press).— The O. H. A. Allan Cup elimination games start next week. The intermediate O.H.A. champions will be declared this week, Kingson and Grimsby the finalists playing in Kingston tomorrow night and the in Grimsby on Saturday night. The winner will meet either the Soo Greyhounds or New Liskeard in a sudden death game here in Toronto on Tuesday, March 2. The survivor of this match will then play the senior O. H. A.. champions, Peterboro or Niagara Falls on Thursday, March 5, and Saturday, March 7th, total goals scored in the two games to count, to provide an Ontario winner for the eastern Allan Cup semi-finals with the Quebec champions.

DECISION THROWN OUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. — Eddie (Kid) Wagner ,Philadelphia, was restored to the lightweight championship tournament yesterday by the state athletic commission which ruled that he was the victim of an unjustified decision Monday night when he was declared the loser in a 12-round bout with Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, in the opening title competition.

AT WARSAW DANCE.

Young's Point People Enjoyed Sleigh Drive.

YOUNG'S POINT, February 25. —On Friday night a merry sleigh-load of young people both of the village and Lakefield drove to Warsaw and attended the ball which was given by the Indian River Baseball Club. The music for the evening was provided by Miss Ethel Wilson, pianist, and Messrs. Keith Wannamaker, violinist, and Rex Wilson, drummer.

An enjoyable time was spent by the young people at the dance, and the hall was taxed to the utmost.

Mr. Max Tully ,of Selwyn, supplied the pleasure sleigh and team. This is not the first time that he has given his horses for pleasure trips like these. His kindness is much appreciated by all the young people who enjoy these outings.

Miss Mary Buchanan, of Peterborough, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young, over the week-end.

Mr. A. Wilson left on Monday for Kingston, where he is attending the Dairy School.

Miss Edith Hockaday of Warsaw, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hockaday on Sunday.

The many friends of Mr. Allan, of Toronto, formerly of Young's Point, will be sorry to hear of her recent serious illness, but glad to learn that she is on the road to recovery now.

Rev. Mr. Gardener is still in Toronto owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Gardener.

Mr. Fred Young visited friends in Peterborough last week.

Mr. Edward Young, Jr., of Peterborough, spent the week-end at his home in the village.

Mr. William Nugent, of Lakefield, was in the village last week.

HAULING TO PETERBORO.

Emily Farmers Obtain Better Prices Than in Lindsay.

KING'S WHARF, Feb. 25.—The recent heavy rains made the roads very bad. They were in grand shape and the people were taking advantage of them drawing out their grain and hay. A large number from around here are drawing both hay and grain to Peterboro, as the prices there are much better than Lindsay. The road across the ice was never better, and if the hot sun comes out the sleighing and ice will be gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hennessey of Ennismore spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Murray were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Neill Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Morrissey spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dewan.

Messrs. Frank and John Brick, of Ennismore, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Neill Sunday.

Mr. John Winn was a business visitor to Peterboro Monday.

Miss Gertrude O'Neill spent Sunday the guest of Miss Pearl Herlihey.

Miss Lillian Herlihey spent a few days last week the guest of Miss Phyliss Meehan.

The Misses Mamie and Marie O'Neill, of St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, spent the weeke-nd at their home here.

Mr. P. Corkery, of Niagara Falls, spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Twomey.

Mr. Angus Twomey and sister, Mary, spent a few days last week the guest of their sister, Mrs. Thos. Perdue, in Peterboro.

NEW EAR TRUMPET IS SAID TO AID THE DEAF

Invention Based on Principle of Providing Noise Like Trains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The invention of a new type of ear trumpet by Dr. Byron E. Eldred, of 41 East Forty-Second Street, a noted physicist and engineer, was reported Sunday. Dr. Eldred, who is not a physician, undertook to invent an ear trumpet to cure the deafness of the wife of a friend and was reported to have achieved considerable success.

His ear trumpet is a box which, when attached to an electric socket, makes a noise bearing some resemblance to that made by the subway. Since the seventeenth century it has been known scientifically that persons ordinarily deaf, are able to hear conversation, providing that loud noises of a certain type are occurring at the same time. The sound of voices appears in some way to be carried home to the ear of the deaf person by the heavier type of sound that accompanies it. The Eldred invention is an attempt to take advantage of this principle by producing systematically vibrations like those of trains, subways and automobiles which are a help to certain deaf persons. An ear specialist of the Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital, who was asked about this invention, said:

"It was presented to the New York Otological Society at a recent meeting. The society as a whole was very skeptical about it. The inventor had given it to a well-known specialist to test, and the specialist reported that results were rather negative. I am very much interested in the device, but it is yet to be proved that it has any real value.

"It may be based on a sound principle. In some way heavy noises have the power to throw certain nerves in the ear into vibration, so that they are capable for the time being of reacting to low or delicate sounds which ordinary would escape them."

If the invention does prove to have value, it was said, it will be useful only for patients suffering from certain affections of the inner ear.

EXCESS WEIGHT RUTH'S TROUBLE

The Bambino is a Great Trencher Man and Has Never Heard of Diet.

MAY WRECK HIM.

The tragedy of excess weight.

The story of Babe Ruth will some day be written around it.

If Babe has one outstanding weakness it is a proneness to put on weight.

Ruth is at his best at about 210 pounds. It is reported that his present weight is closer to 250.

The prestige of Babe Ruth is centred in his baseball swing, the healthy wallop he takes, which drives the ball farther than any other player in the game.

Too much fat around the waistline is some day going to ruin that swing. It is going to break the coordination that must exist for Ruth to do his best work.

Every spring finds Ruth many pounds overweight. By hard work he has always been able to rid himself of the excess avoirdupois before the season opens.

Ruth is no longer a youngster. Taking off the weight is a tougher job each spring. One of these days he will probably find the task impossible.

* * *

Healthy Appetite.

If some dietitian could take Ruth in charge he could do wonders with the big fellow provided, of course, Babe would follow instructions.

Ruth loves to eat and doesn't deny himself a thing. I venture to say that none of his weight reduction stunts calls for a curtailment of food.

If the Babe was inclined to worry he might reduce in that manner. However, worrying has no place in the Ruth system.

In all probability Owner Jake Ruppert of the Yankees and his manager, Miller Huggins, are losing plenty of weight wondering if the Babe will be in shape by opening day.

Due to the fact that Ruth is forced to work so hard to get into shape during the spring, he seldom does his best playing in the first two months of the campaign.

It has often been noticeable in April that Babe's swing seemed to lack the old-time punch.

* * *

Ruth predicts that he will make 60 home runs this year, breaking his record of 59. Unless he is merely kidding, it behooves him to get an early start.

* * *

Obstacles Removed.

Two obstacles have been removed from Ruth's path for which he no doubt is very thankful.

The Yankees have purchased Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns. Shocker is one twirler who has always pitched to Ruth and in a majority of cases has had the better of the argument.

The other obstacle was Southpaw Herb Pruett. It is doubtful if any pitcher ever made Ruth look as foolish as did the midget left-hander.

Pruett is the possessor of a most unusual fadeaway. The ball is thrown at half speed and breaks sharply away much after the manner of a spitball.

Just such a type delivery bothers Ruth most and Pruett certainly took advantage of the fact. It was a rarity for the Babe to make a healthy foul off him. A strikeout was usually the home-run king's portion.

* * *

Pruett has been sent to the minors. No longer will Ruth need to fear that in a pinch against St. Louis Pruett would always be sent in with Ruth up.

LOOKING FORWARD TO YACHT RACES

Season of 1925 in Toronto Promises to Be Banner One.

TORONTO, Feb. 25—(Canadian Press).—As the winter draws to an end and the interest in winter sports wanes, yatchtsmen are taking a fresh lease on life. The coverings will soon be taken off, enthusiastic skippers will climb aboard the winter cradles, dive below and see how the good ship has "hibernated." The season of 1925 is scheduled to be a banner one and ony needs a little assistance on the part of the weather man to make it the best ever. The George Cup races will be held in Toronto under the auspices of the Toronto Canoe Club, during week of July 27. The challenge is in from the Crescent Yacht Club of Chaumont so there is sure to be a race. The late entries will be, Royal Canadian Yacht Club; Rochester Yacht Club; Genesee Yacht Club; and Kingston Yacht Club so that, with the Riowna, there will be a six cornered race—a race that many will come miles to see.

The long distance for the Freeman cup will start from Toronto on Saturday, Aug. 1, finishing at Presqu'ile, 84 nautical miles. At the conclusion of the long distance race, which is open to all classes of yachts of L. Y. R. A. register, the boats will proceed through the Bay of Quinte to Belleville, where the lake Yacht racing association will hold its three days' regatta, Aug. 5, 6 and 7, the course to be laid in Big Bay Day.

The Fisher Cup.

It is expected that the Eastern Yacht Club of Massachussetts will sent a crew to Toronto during August to again try conclusions with the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, the series of race likely being off with Yachts of the "P" class. The event of the season, however, is the series of races for the time-honored Fisher Cup, which will be held at Toronto Sept. 7, 8 and 9. This fixture comes immediately before the second one. The United States challenger as well as the other visiting yachts will thus be enabled to participate in either one or both big meets.

The race for the Fisher Cup will be a boat-to-boat race between the yachts of the famous "P" class. The Rochester Yacht Club has challenged the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, the holders of the cup, and the challenge has been accepted. Agreement has been reached between the two Clubs that the race shall be sailed by yachts already built and equipped with gaff rig. The Rochester has two Yachts to choose from, the Olympian and the Oleode formerly Wasaka. The Royal Canadian Yacht Club will make its selection from Stranger Patricia, Bernice Italia and Nutmeg.

Many famous yachts have contested for the Fisher Cup, established in 1874, but the last race was in 1911, which was won by Patricia from the Canada cup winner Seneca. Patricia has been kept in excellent condition, and shows little ravages of time, save in her dock, which this year is being replaced. She has a new outfit of English Ratsey Canvas, and as in recent years the model of this class of yacht has not been greatly improved it is not beyond the realm of possibility that this good ship will again carry Canada's colors in an International race of great importance.

TWO GAMES IN THREE.

Change Made By Canadian Hockey Association.

OTTAWA, February 25 (Canadian Press). — Amateur hockey championship games will be played in Winnipeg on 23rd, 25th and 27th March this year, and the decision will go to the winners of two out of the three games, President S. P. Quilty, of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced yesterday.

Previously the decision rested in the number of goals.

The Junior Amateur series will be held on the same dates, somewhere in Eastern Canada.

WESTERN GAMES FOR ALLAN CUP

Selkirk, Last Year's Champions of West, Have to Meet Port Arthur.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 25.. (Canadian Press).—Amateur hockey teams in the four provinces of Western Canada have in most cases decided their league championships and playoffs, and games have been commenced which will decide the supremacy in the Senior Puck field and the right to engage the Eastern champion and its silverware — the Allen Cup.

Selkirk, last year's Western champions, who were defeated by the Soo Greyhounds in Toronto for Dominion honors, are again in the running but will have to dispose of Port Arthur, their playoff rivals last year, before continuing further. Then, too, there are several intermediate teams playing off in Manitoba who will probably dispute the seniors right to represent Manitoba. These include Manitoba University, Winnipeg Tigers, Poplar Point, Swan Lake, Souris, Elkorn Minnedosa and Foxwarren. In Saskatchewan Regina Victorio and Saskatoon MacMillans are the contenders Melville's challenge having been thrown out by the Saskatchewan amateur Hockey Association because they were alleged to have carried ineligible players. The Saskatchewan champions will meet Manitoba's champions in one western semi-final.

Working further West, Alberta, who are to fight it out with British Columbia in the other semi-final series, has a series between Blairmore and Coleman in progress at present, to decide the Southern championship Blairmore has a one-goal lead in the first game of the two game series. The winners of the Blairmore-Coleman series meet Edmonton in the Provincial championships.

Vancouver Monarchs and Rossland commence their home and home series tonight and by Thursday night it is expected British Columbia's representatives will be decided and everyting in readiness to engage the Alberta champions on Vancouver ice.

PROTEST AGAINST RADIO

Vienna Opera Stars Claim Their Commercial Value is Lessened.

VIENNA, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—A novel radio lawsuit is pending in the local courts. Singers of the Vienna opera, whose voices are broadcast from the stage, have sued the management on the grounds that their commercial value is depreciated by the radio.

An opera star's assets, they claim, depend not only upon his ability as a singer, but also upon his acting. The fact that the radio can transmit the voice only, but not the gestures, they contend, gives an erroneous impression of the artist and thus interferes with his popularity to such an extent that his commercial value is lessened.

ICY ROADS HALT CAVAN AFFAIRS

Church Attendance and Sale of Cattle Affected by Weather's Change.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

CAVAN, February 25. — The roads since the thaw on Saturday, accompanied by a rain which formed ice as it fell, have been in very bad condition.

The congregations of the rural churches were small on Sunday, as only those who had recently had their horses shod could venture on the roads.

Mrs. James Keegan entertained a number of her neighbours on Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Miss Agnes Stark spent the week-end in Peterborough, visiting her friend, Mrs. Oakes.

Mr. Orin Robbins, Liskeard, was a visitor at the home of Mr. James Paul on Friday.

Euchre Party.

An enjoyable euchre party was held in Cavan Community Hall last Thursday evening. Owing to the bad roads the attendance was not large.

Mrs. C. McNeil, Janetville, visited her aunt, Miss M. Fair, also her brother and sister, Mr. Leonard and Miss Bertha McNeil, for a few days last week.

Social at Ida.

A very successful social evening, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Church, Ida, was held at the home of Mrs. G. Sisson on Wednesday evening. Everyone present enjoyed a pleasant time, and about $20.00 was realised for a good cause.

Mr. T. Syer, Regina, visited his uncle, Mr. E. Syer, also Mr. T. A. Kelly, for a few days last week.

Messrs. Wilfred Reynolds and Ray Staples have returned from a six-weeks' military course in St. Jean, Quebec.

Leg Fractured.

The many friends of Mr. William Coulter, Port Perry (and for many years a resident of Manvers), had the misfortune to fracture his leg near the knee. He is in a hospital in Toronto, and is progressing favourably.

Mr. Wiliam Mulligan, Mr. Louis Staples, and Mr. Maples, Manvers, were among those who attended the Millbrook Horse Show on Thursday.

Mr. F. M. Staples sold a Scotch Shorthorn calf to Mr. Potts, of Hope Township, last week.

Mr. T. W. McCamus bought two head of Shorthorn cattle at the Dryden-Miller sale, held in Toronto recently.

Mr. T. J. Lang intended shipping cattle on Monday from Millbrook, but had to postpone it, owing to the slippery condition of the roads.

DECAY THREATENS WESTMINSTER HALL

Stonework of British Houses of Parliament is Crumbling Away.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—Big Ben, the famous clock of the Houses of Parliament, became clogged with soot and dirt recently and ceased its ticking altogether. This suggested to His Majesty's office of works that something must be done in the near future to prevent the building itself from entirely changing its architectural features, because of decay.

The British Houses of Parliament are considered one of the finest specimens of Gothic architecture in the world, and strenuous efforts are under consideration to prevent their famous pinnacles from further crumbling away. Many already have disappeared and a general scheme of restoration may be resorted to for the purpose of preserving the symmetry of the exterior of the famous building. On some sides about half the pinnacles have either fallen, or been removed from time to time as a measure of safety.

Owing to decay of the stone features, many of the gargoyle figures have lost their noses and some of the figure-heads, battered by the winds and rains and soot, have taken on a semblance of skulls and eery creatures. In many places the very stone work has begun to flake, and near the porch over the Peers' entrance to the House of Lords it has become so brittle that it is possible to scrape it with a finger nail. High up on the massive Victoria tower many of the figures in the niches have lost fingers, and here and elsewhere what were originally beautifully carved crowns have become little more than shapeless blots of masonry.

Sir Frank Baines, chief architect of His Majesty's Office of Works, has been engaged some time on a report on the question of arresting the deterioration.

"It is not a problem of subsidence, as in the case of St. Paul's cathedral," Sir Frank explained recently. "The foundations on which the Houses of Parliament are built are safe, and the structure itself is perfectly sound. It is simply a matter of decay of the external stone work.

"Almost from the time the Houses of Parliament were built, 1840-1852, the process of external decay became manifest, the soft stone crumbling owing to the action of the soot and sulphur in the London atmosphere."

TIME TO EARN ROAD GRANTS EXTENDED

Federal Governments Require Prescribed Expenditure by Them.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25.—An extension of time for a further period of two years from March, 1926, to those provinces which have been unable to earn the Federal aid for highways originally granted under the Dominion Act of 1919 was assured by Hon. G. P. Graham Minister of Railways and Canals to a delegation of the Canadian Good Roads Association which waited on Premier King and members of the cabinet tuesday. The deputation was headed by the president of the Good Roads Association, Hon. J. P. Veniot, Premier of New Brunswick, who pointed out that when the government in 1919 provided for $20,000,000 for financial aid to the good roads systems throughout Canada, the various provinces entered into large expenditures to carry out this project. They were led to believe that this aid was not to be restricted to five years.

The principle had been recognized that good roads would assist colonization and immigration. The financial assistance from the federal government had been stopped, however. The deputation was not asking for any definite amount, but only that the principle of federal aid be recognized.

The Dominion Government had benefitted by the construction of good roads, which had increased the number of automobiles in Canada and the revenue from duties thereon. No part of this income was paid to the provinces. In the United States a certain percentage of duties of autos went to the state. Mr. Veniot suggested that the same benefits be given to the provinces in Canada. The federal authorities had been saved considerable money because they could not obtain contracts for rural mail delivery at lower prices than those which prevailed before the construction of good roads. Fifty-five per cent. of the highways of Canada were used by the mail service.

HOSPITAL PRAISED.

Appreciation Expressed by Rev. Father Galvin to Lindsay Staff.

DOWNEYVILLE, February 25. —The funeral of the late John Murray, who died in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, on Tuesday was held from the family residence in Emily to St. Luke's Church Downeyville on Thursday morning, and attended by large number of friends from Lindsay, Ops, and Emily.

Requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Galvin, who also delivered the sermon. During the sermon Father Galvin drew salutary lessons that all should learn from the life and death of Mr. Murray. At the close of the sermon Father Galvin paid a well-deserved tribute of appreciation and gratitude to Miss Reid the superintendent of the Ross Hospital, Lindsay ,and to her efficient staff of nurses for their great kindness and sympathetic and skilful attention to Mr. Murray and to his relatives and friends during the last days of his illness. Without ostentation ,but with very evident care, all that could be done for a sick and dying man was attended to by the hospital authorities. The gratitude of Mr. Murray's relatives and friends said Father Galvin, was extended to Miss Reid and her staff of nurses.

The late Mr. Murray was only ill a few days, and his death came as a great shock to his friends and the community in which he lived. He was a good citizen and neighbour, a kind and loving husband and father.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife and five children, one brother ,Neil of Emily, and one sister, Mrs. Fred Brick, of the West, also his aged mother, who was with her son when he died.

After the ceremony, the remains were borne to the cemetery, where services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Father Galvin.

The pall-bearers were Messrs Michael D. Harington, Patrick N. Winn, Joseph Scully, and John McGuire of Emily ,and Messrs. Joseph McGuire and Thomas J. Spratt, of Lindsay.

FOR FUTURE SOCIAL HYGIENE PROGRAMS

Parley to Reach Basis of Agreement in English-Speaking Lands.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—(Canadian Press).—A development along social hygiene lines which is likely to have the most for reaching results to all the countries concerned occurred recently when representatives from the movement in Britain the United States and Canada, met in conference in New York. The main idea of the conference was to see if a fundamental basis of agreement could be reached for future social hygiee programmes int he English speaking coutries represented. The three experts attending the Conference were Mrs. Clive Neville Rolfe, O.L.E., Honorary Secretary of the National Council for Combating Venereal Diseases in Great Britain; Dr. Wm. F. Snow, Secretary of the American Social Hygiene Association, and Dr. Gordon Bates, Secretary of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council.

The common agreement finally arrived at, as a result of this notable conference is outlined in the following seven clauses which will be taken by the three representatives back to their respective countries and organizations for endorsation by those concerned in the forwarding of social hygiene as a world task.

1. To preserve and strengthen the family as the basis social unit.
2. To promote educative and social measures directed towards the adaptation of the racial instinct to the condition of civilized society.
3. To emphasize the responsibility of the community and the individual for preserving or improving the quality of future generations by educative and social measure.
4. To further social customs which promote a high single standard of sex conduct in men and women.
5. To promote the prevention and treatment of venereal diseases by appropriate educative, medical and social measures.
6. To repress commercialized vice and conditions conducting to promiscuity.
7. To co-operate with the various organizations interested in the above subect with a view to co-ordinating efforts to secure these ends.

STOP THAT COUGH NOW!
WITH A FEW DOSES OF DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Mrs. Alex. Foster, R.R. No. 2, Proton, Ont., writes:—"I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and my cough was so bad, at times, it seemed as if it were tearing my lungs to pieces. I sent and got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and I got relief after the first few doses, and by the time I had finished the rest of the bottle I was completely relieved of both my cold and cough."

"Dr. Wood's" has been on the market for the past 35 years; you don't experiment with some new and untried remedy when you buy it; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE BAN FOR JAZZ IN DEAR VIENNA

Mayor Decrees No Dancing School Can Employ Jazz Band.

VIENNA, Feb. 25. — (United Press).—Jazz is being given the official razz in Vienna. By a recent edict of the Burgomaster, or Mayor, of this city no dancing school may employ any kind of jazz-band for accompaniment or for training.

This order is said to be due to a howl of protest which was raised by old time Viennese who reside near dancing schols which were offering their patrons the latest interpsichorean bars, a la Americaine.

In restaurants, coffee houses, and night-life places one finds that an increasing number of cow bells, sirens, tom-toms, kettle drums, and other "Afrlco-American" additions are being made to the orchestra's equipment.

The average Vinenese rises on his hind legs and bristles with anger immediately if anyone dare insinuate that his famous waltzes are destined ultimately to be replaced by this new music. But let him get a few beers under his waistcoat and he will begin to accompany the music by pounding on the table.

In his edict the Mayor also made an effort to send the young Viennese flappers to bed early in the evening. Dancing school lessons for persons under sixteen must be over by 9 p.m., and for all others by 11 p.m. No alcohol may be served in any dancing school.

AUSTRIAN FACTORY SCANDAL.

Wasting of 400,000,000,000 Crowns Is Laid to Head of War Plant.

VIENNA, February 25. — Helmuth Neumann, director of the Woelledsdorf factory, Austria's principal munitions making plant during the war, has been arrested on the charges involving wastage of material alleged to amount to 400,000,000,000 crowns.

During the war the factory employed 45,000 persons.

After the Armistice the Austrian Government made it over first to the Allgemeine Elekritzitaets Gesellschaft of Berlin, and then to a German syndicate headed by Herr Sklarz, brother-in-law of Neumann, under which management stocks of raw material and machinery are alleged to have ben allowed to go to waste.

Neumann, after preliminary examination, was released on bail of five billion crowns.

The semi-official Reichspost says it is likely other arrests will be made soon.

CLUB PAYS $250 SETTLES LEASE

Total of $500 Accepted by City Council For Rental of Park Last Year.

Oders issued to City Solicitor Joseph Wearing to collect for the City Council the sum of $750 outstanding from the Peterboro Baseball Club's rental of Riverside Park (now James Stevenson Park) for the 1924 season have been countermanded by a set tlement made yesterday.A conference between the Finance Committee and W. J. Oke, F. E. Convery, T. H. Hooper, and J. A. O'Brien, representing the Ball Club, resulted in the acceptance by the Committee of $250 proferred by the Club. This, according to the terms of the agreement yesterday, wipes out the $750 owed. The lease was for $1,000 and $500 has now been paid.

FANS SHOULD GET TICKETS

Arena Pasteboards Will Be on Sale To-night, But Not on Special Train.

Peterboro fans who are going to Toronto to-morrow for the Niagara Falls-Peterboro game are asked to get their tickets for the Arena to-night at Wright's, where they will be on sale until 10 o'clock. These tickets will not be sold on the special train to-morrow, as the Peterboro club must return all unsold tickets before 7 o'clock to-morrow evening. Those taking in the excursion should make sure of a seat for the game by buying their tickets to-night.

LOSS BY FIRE IN CANADA VERY HIGH

Annual Convention of Fire Underwriters Discusses Situation and Remedies.

TORONTO, February 25. — Fire losses in Canada in 1924 reached the appalling figure of $3.70 per head, as compared with 76 cents per head in Great Britain ,where the great density of population would naturally tend to a higher fire loss.

The total losses have been growing with alarming rapidity in Canada from year to year, being in 1924 slighly over $33,000,000, or only two millions less than Great Britain's losses.

This condition is causing considerable concern to underwriters.

Yesterday's session of the annual convention of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association of Ontario, in the Carls-Rite, was given over entirely to a discussion of the various phases of the situation and possible remedies.

George T. Miller, of Jarvis, following his address of welcome to the large assembly of delegates, declared that the enormously increased number of preventable fires called for very careful thought and concerted action, as the financial resources of the country might be put to much better use than to pay out millions of dollars each year for fire losses that might easily have been prevented.

Fully 75 per cent. of the total fire losses in Canada during 1924 were under the heading of "preventable," declared J. J. Parsons ,of Jarvis, in his address summing up the present situation. Old-fashioned lanterns, cigarette stubs, the combination of matches and children, and the other common causes were cited.

Based on the figures for all Canada, the aggregate loss in 1924 for the Province of Ontario alone amounted to something like two million dollars.

Continuing, Mr. Parsons pointed to the fact that other businesses and industries took whatever steps were necessary to protect themselves. In the dairy business, for instance, inspection and grading had been found beneficial to everybody concerned; therefore, why not institute like measures applicable to fire underwriting? Besides, it was up to the policyholder to assist in his own protection by taking ordinary precautions against fire.

Mr. Parsons believed that an educational programme in the schools on the danger of fires might be of benefit, and he also advocated a strenuous campaign among policyholders.

R. Leighton Foster, Superintendent of Insurance for the Province, opened a discussion period with a brief address. He stated that quality should come before quantity in the selection of risks, pointing out that a mutual company was not in business to make profit.

Representatives from 72 mutual fire companies were present for the meeting. It is expected that specific suggestions will be made toward combatting the fire menace, following an address by Provincial Fire-Marshal E. P. Heaton.

FREE CITY DANZIG IS REALLY STATE

Large Land Area Included in Territory of Busy Trade Centre.

DANZIG, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press).—The Free City of Danzig, which is battling against the attempt of Polish authorities to encroach upon the independence granted it under the Versailles Treaty, is erroneously called a free city. It is in reality a free state. Its area is 754 square miles of land and extensive water areas embracing great shipping basins and highly developed canals which make it the best harbor on the Baltic, the centre of an immense grain, sugar and lumber trade.

Danzig is seven-tenths the size of Rhode Island and has a population of 364,000—that is as many people as there are in the State of Vermont, or in Arizona or New Mexico. The so-called city has 12 times the area of the District of Columbia and about five times as many inhabitants as Nevada.

It was one of the most important cities of the Hanseatic League and its buildings of the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries are gems of Gothic architecture which attract artists and architects from all over the world. Such great ships as the Columbus, of the North German Lloyd, and many other big liners in the Atlantic trade, were built in the shipyards of Danzig. It is a highly industrialized centre, thoroughly German in its culture and traditions, over 90 per cent. of the population being of German blood.

Besides the city of Danzig, with a population of nearly 200,000, the territory includes Zoppot, the largest sea resort on the Baltic, and a score of small cities and towns ranging in size from 20,000 to 3,000.

SAVED FROM SINKING BOAT.

Crew of Liquor-Laden Craft Landed at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Ten of the crew of the abandoned trawler Canada, bound from Yarmouth, N.S., for Bermuda, with an $80,000 liquor cargo, were brought to this port Monday by the Italian steamer Artena, which rescued them from their sinking craft at sea last Thursday night.

The Canada, the men said, sprang a leak after ramming an ice floe in Yarmouth Harbor, but the leak did not become serious until they were some distance out. For six days they drifted, out of fuel and on half rations, until picked up by the Artena. The steamer's first lifeboat overturned in attempting to rescue them, but a second boat succeeded in taking them off the sinking trawler.

OUTLOOK IN BALTIC DISTURBS MOSCOW

Evidence That Baltic States Are Coming Much Closer Together.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 21. (Associated Press)—While the recent conference of foreign ministers of Baltic states held in this city did not effect a Baltic entente, or Baltic union, and did not result in any formal alliance designed to protect border states from Bolshevist aggression, there were many evidences that the states which grew out of the dissolution of the Russian Empire are gradually coming much closer together.

Care was taken by the foreign ministers to make it clear they were not creating an anti-Soviet bloc, and were not agitating against the Moscow government, but were deeply interested in means to prevent Communist agitation and disturbances within their own borders. Count Skrzynski the Polish minister for foreign affairs, in defining Polish policy toward Russia said: "I make a distinction between the policy of the Russian Soviet government and the policy of the Third Internationale. We must battle against the belicose propaganda of the communisf of the Third Internationale, but it is not necessary to create an anti-Bolshevist bloc. On the contrary we Poles wish to find a means of getting along with the Soviet government, and of co-operation with it.

But while the Baltic states conference was on in Helsingfors, Soviet authorities in Leningrad arranged an anti-Baltic demonstration which was directed against the Helsingfors meeting and the Bolshevist press denounced the meeting on the theory that it was directed against the Soviet government.

An arbitration agreement following the lines of the League of Nations protocol, was actually agreed upon by the four states, Poland, Esthonia, Latvia and Finland, represented in the conference, and there were a number of agreements concerning transportation facilities and the simplification of passport formalities. The question of disarmament was postponed until the next session of the League of Nations in March.

Esthonia and Latvia already have a defensive alliance and Latvian troops stood ready to lend Esthonia aid at the time of the Communist coup in Reval, Dec. 1. The fortunes of these two states are so closely linked together, and they have previously co-operated with such success in repelling Bolshevist aggression, that Moscow apparent has spared no pains in trying to break up their union.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

A MELODRAMATIC NOVELTY COMING TO CAPITOL

"The Silent Accuser," the Metro-Goldwyn picture, coming to the Capitol Theatre on Friday, is an innovation in that it makes use of a situation never done before.

A highly intelligent police dog is the only witness to the murder of the heroine's stepfather. Through the dog's almost human instinct, the hero, who is accused of the crime, escapes prison. In a thrilling adventure story, the hero is acquitted and the murderer found, by the help of the dog and the heroine, who disguises herself as a boy.

The story, written especially for the screen by Jack Boyle, was directed and adapted by Chester M. Franklin with the assistance of Frank O'Connor, and the cast includes Peter the Great, the new police dog star who is making his debut in this picture, Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee, Earl Metcalfe, and others. The photography, which is said to be exquisite, was done by Charles Dreyer.

DUTY AND LOVE!
CHINA AND WOMEN!
PASSION AND HATE!

An Absorbing Triangle.

Where, oh where, is that long-sought "Age of Innocence?" No other place than at the Capitol Theatre, where report has it that the screen adaptation of Edith Wharton's "best seller" of that name will be shown today and to-morrow.

Judging from Miss Wharton's reputation for authenticity, plus the fact that "The Age of Innocence" won the Pulitzer Prize in 1922, it is a safe bet that the photoplay, which was produced by Warner Bros., will finally answer the eternal quest for that almost forgotten commodity—Innocence.

The story is woven around the queer salad that results when Russian nobility is thrust into the innermost circle of blue-blooded, narrow-minded, bigotted New York aristocracy, whose noses are turned up to hide the lower classes beneath their notice.

The disturbing element is none other than Beverly Bayne, known to all movie fans, in the role of Countess Olenska, while Elliott Dexter, as Newland Archer, is the upright and noble young man. Willard Louis has been chosen to interpret the very interesting Cornelius Beaufort, collector of china and women.

AT THE GRAND

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

Blackstone Show Is Radical Departure From the Stereotyped In Amusements.

An old axiom has it that "there is nothing new under the sun." The coiner of the ancient evidently never saw the Blackstone Show of 1924. Here is an entertainment the like of which has never before been presented to the American public. Mayhap it would be more accurate to say that Blackstone had conceived how to do old things in a new way. However it is described the Blackstone show, which will open a week-end engagement at the Grand tomorrow night with a special matinee to be staged for the Kiddies Saturday, is a decided novelty.

All forms of known amusement have been called upon to contribute their share to the Blackstone amalgamation. There is magic, circus, musical comedy, revue, comedy and drama all rolled into one. Blackstone himself uses the somewhat grandoise phrase "a girliesque necromatic extravaganza." Doutbless this is as a veracious and comprehensive description as it is possible to compass in so many words.

Oriental Nights, one of the many incidents in the Blackstone program, is a colorful pageant of the far east. Camels, horses, Arabs and a whole seraglio of int uing nautch girls provide an exo setting for a series of Blackstone mysteries themseves redolent of the occult Levant.

Burned at the Cross, Blackstone's sensational crucifixion and escape from decapitation, is an interlude in Oriental Nights.

Two double length railroad bagbage cars are required to transport the paraphernalia and live stock of the Blackstone outfit. Twenty-eight persons, including the corps of beauty, are in the entourage. The performance is divided into two acts and twenty-six scenes.

AT THE ROYAL

ROYAL GETS NAZIMOVA IN "REDEEMING SIN" THURSDAY

Following the premiere of Nazimova in the Vitagraph picture, "The Redeeming Sin," at the Rialto, New York, Mordaunt Hall wrote in the New York Times:

"In 'The Redeeming Sin,' J. Stuart Blackton, the director, has kept up the good work he started with 'The Clean Heart' and 'The Beloved Brute.' His settings and his command over the players are noticeable throughout. Nazimova, as Joan, is unusually effective, lithe and attractive. Otis Harlan is splendid. Carl Miller interprets his role quite flawlessly. 'The Redeeming Sin' is good entertainment."

In the Morning Telegraph George E. Bradley said: "'The Redeeming Sin' will please. Lou Tellegen is most convincing, and Nazimova is entirely pleasing and good to look upon. She interprets her part with understanding, and makes Joan, child of the slums, entirely plausible and likeable. The story is actionful. Mr. Blackton has surrounded the principals with an excellent cast, and the sets are marvelously beautiful. Carl Miller is ideally cast and gives a thorough performance. Otis Harlan is ever capable."

Louella O. Parsons, New York American: "Nazimova is a wonder. She is marvelous as Joan. She is gorgeous."

FOX LANDS ANOTHER STAGE SUCCESS IN HIS PICTURE, "GOLD HEELS."

Robert Agnew Has Leading Role As Picturesque Hero of Race-Track.

Motion picture fans will welcome the report from Hollywood announcing the completion, in the William Fox West Coast Studios, of that famous racing melodrama "Checkers" by Henry M. Blossom, Jr., under the title "Gold Heels." The picture comes to the Regent Theatre Thursday for a 3-day run.

Robert Agnew plays the leading role in this production which was directed by W. S. Van Dyke. In the role of "Checkers," Campbell, picturesque jockey, Agnew comes to the fore a cheery faced young man with snap and pep.

Opposite the young actor is Peggy Shaw playing the role of 'Pert' Barlow, the heroine, whose daring auto drive brings "Checkers'" horse Remorse to the track thereby making possible his start and final victory in the $10,000 stake race.

The story of "Gold Heels" is too well-known to be repeated in detail. Suffice to say that John Stone, in writing the scenario, followed the original theme religiously and Mr. Van Dyke in directing was just as respectful to the author's plot.

"Checkers," "framed" and ruled off the track, finds employment in the grocery store of "Pert's" father. While there he buys Remorse, vicious, unbreakable stallion from Judge Barlow for $30, a large sum of money to him at the time. He enters Remorse in the big race and in the meantime gets into all sorts of trouble due to the scheming of Arthur Kendall. In jail the day of the race his escape is made possible by hooking up the bastile to a locomotive and pulling it from its foundation.

WELLAND, Feb. 25.—Councillor R. A. Garfield of Crowland Township, who has been putting up a fight to fire the Police Commission, claiming they cost too much money and it would be better to have the Commission under the Council, but who was defeated by the casting vote of the Reeve, is determined to bring the matter up again. Great interest is being taken in this case, and petitions are being circulated and being signed both to do away with the Commission and to keep them.

INDIA BRITAIN'S BEST CUSTOMER

Buys More From Britain Than Canada, Australia and Africa Combined.

NEW FORTUNES

NEW YORK, Feb., 24 (Canadian Press)— The complete report of trade and finance in India recently issued by the British government, showed so much prosperity in that British Dominion that the British public itself was surprised, says the London correspondent of the Wall Street Journal, in a summary of the report published here.

According to the correspondent the report showed that India had taken her place as an industrial nation; that India is relatively more prosperous than Great Britain; that India has more money at the present time than she knows how to spend and that in the main the country is more prosperous and contented than at any other time in her history.

High spots in the government report as noted by the correspondent were as follows:

For the past three years India has a favorable balance of trade. She has piled up $1,000,000,000 of spending power since 1921.

Last year her exports were $1,200,000,000 and her imports $800,000,000.

India has had four good monsoon. She has had four years of favorable weather and good crops. Never before has she had such large crops and high prices.

The boom in tea has made many new fortunes in India. There are tea shares now selling in Calcutta at eight times their par value.

Wages are up 80 per cent while the cost of living has risen only 67 per cent.

An average workingman in Bombay is now recieving $4.35 a week. He pays $2.40 a week for food and 42 cents for clothing and 28 cents for rent.

Indi a is now producing nearly 10,000,000 bales of jute a year. Her biggest crop is cotton. Her 1924 was over 5,000,000 bales. The crop is worth an average of$450,000,000 a year.

India now has 30,000,000 acres of irrigated land watered by 57,000 miles of canals. She has three immense irrigated projects now being carried forward.

India made 350,000 tons of steel last year in the Tata Works, owned and managed by native Indians. During the year the country produced $125,000,000 of minerals and 300,000,000 gallons of oil.

There are now 352,000 workers in the cotton mills of India. There are 145,000 more operating the cotton-gins and pressed.

There are 287,000 workers in the jute mills, 153,000 on the railroads, 36,000 in the printing offices and 26,000 in the iron and steel plants.

India has 216,000 miles of fairly good roads and 40,000 miles of railroad. Her railroad revenue was $350,000,000 last year.

There are now 500 banks and branch banks in India—a remarkable growth in the last few years.

In the center of her banking system there is the Imperial Bank of India; and gathered around it are 18 "exchange banks." The total banking capital is now $600,000,000.

In fact, a new industrial era began in India in 1921 when a Central Department of Industries was created. Prior to 1921, the progress of industrialism in India was held back by the British Government Today, this restraint has been entirely removed and India is allowed to even levy tariffs against British goods.

India is still Great Britain's best customer. In 1921 she bought more goods from Great Britain than Canada, Australia and South Africa combined.

Latest Comment on Grain and Industrial Markets.

Closing Quotations on Principal Active Stocks.

CHICAGO.

Action of the wheat market in breaking was disappointing to the pit longs who sold out last, but was satisfactory to bull leaders who, while favouring high prices ,are not anxious to have the market go up too fast at present. There is a great deal of bearishness in certain quarters not only in wheat but in all grains ,and all bulges run into selling which frequently causes sharp recessions.

The corn market was decidedly unsettled, and while advancing rather sharply at one time, reacted with wheat. External demand for cash corn showed no improvement and a Chicago house bought 20,000 bushels to come here from Kansas City at 5 cents under May for No. 2 mixed.

The oats market was unsettled, but received good support on declines. A big, broad market was on in provisions, with the bullish foreign situation, better cash position abroad and a further upturn in hogs bringing in good buying.

GIRL'S CLOTHES SET ON FIRE BY SPARKS

Near Fatal Tragedy at Costume Party When Flashlight Being Taken.

MONTREAL, Feb 25.—(Canadian Press).—Sparks falling into a "Snow ball" costume" when a flashlight picture was being taken prior to the Mardi Grass party, last night, may result in the death of Miss Berthe Belanger, 21. Her companion, Alexander Dore, 28, member of the C. P. R. Investigation Dept., and James Kells, 22, were severely burned when they attempted to extinguish Miss Belanger's clothing which was in flames. They were in flames in an instant after the spark reacher her and Dore in helping her to the street suffered similarly.

Kells found the two rolling in the snow, and he beat out the remaining flames with his hands. Miss Belanger's condition is critical.

CAN PRISONER BE MADE GO BY PLANE?

German Legal Circles Excited Over Prisoner's Right to Safety.

CASSEL, Feb. 29.—Can an arrested person be compelled to submit to transportation by airplane to the city in which he is alleged to have committed a felony or crime?

This question is exciting lively discussion in legal circles since the arrest in this city by the Berlin criminal police of Geheimrat Hellwig, who was wanted in connection with the scandals connected with the Prusian state bank. An airplane was dispatched from Berlin to Cassel and he was taken back to the capital by the air route. This is the first time in European police history that a prisoner was thus transported.

Opinion is decidedly divided. It all depends upon how safe the air route is regarded. There is no provision in the German law by which an arrested person can be compelled to expose himself to danger. Those who hold transportation by airplane illegal insist that it has not yet attained the degree of safety of the steam railway or the automobile. Defenders of the air route deny the alleged lack of safety and insist that in the interests of speedy justice the air route is decidedly to be preferred.

Delegates From All Parts of Ontario Are in Attendance.

TORONTO, February 25 (Canadian Press).—Motor cars and motor trucks during recent years have altered the whole aspect of highway construction, declared Hon. George H. He thought the system of contribution to the provincial roads was working out well.

The convention will last two days. Delegates from all parts of Ontario are present.

Many Changes In Yukon.

Old Timers Miss Glamor of Dog Trains and Honky-tonks.

DAWSON, Y. T., Feb. 25 (Canadian Press).—Tinged and mellowed with the romance which clings to the strivings of the adventurers of another generation, the rough, hard days of the Yukon of a quarter of a century ago have passed. The hard-working, hard-drinking crowd of argonauts who crowded to the North in '97 and '98 is no more. There are several of these men who, undaunted, still seek the elusive golden fleece on lonely streams, but these survivors of the old hectic days—and nights—no longer know the thrill of recklessly spending their hard-earned gold in the blaring dance halls amid a seething tide of exuberant humanity. There are no more dance halls and no more roistering crowds.

The Dawson of today is a highly respectable mining town. It holds few attractions for those old sourdoughs who remember its better—or worse—days, and those who are still able to withstand the Yukon winter keep to their cabins or their claims. But there are others. More than one old timer, defeated at last by the bitter cold, has been carried into the hospital here this winter with limbs partly frozen and rheumy joints demanding the comforts of town life. To them nothing remains but memories of the romance of it all—and the wistful regrets of hardened old sinners for the times that may never be lived again.

Up-river, down-river, the story is the same. In summer new faces peer down from the "texas" of the sternwheeler; in winter spluttering, blanket-hooded autos dispute passage with such dog teams as still strain at the tugs.

"Mush!"—once familiar command to the "husky" teams to lay forward—is an almost forgotten word. The early day dog mushers find little in the dogs of today to remind them of those they used to run behind. But still, to the outside world, at any rate, there is left a little of the old glamour, as the widespread interest taken in the recent thousand-mile mush of the dog teams carrying succor to diptheria ridden Nome witnesses. The mush would not have been considered so extraordinary in the early days, nor it is even now in the north where the husky is still used for transportation, to a certain extent. The achievement has served to remind the scattered sourdoughs of the heritage which their own bygone accomplishments have left for the future.

Another development which is serving to bind together the old timers, and which may even bring many of them together again, is the new gold discovery which has been made in the Dease Lake section of the Cassiar district in northern British Columbia. The question is whether there will be a place for them among the great power-driven dredges which will now work the creeks.

It is a difficult question to answer. They come of a race hard to kill, and every now and then one meets a Yukon sourdough who had long been lost sight of.

PETERBORO LISTED WITH BUSY CITIES

Government Employment Bureau's Reports Show Trend of Trade Upwards.

TORONTO, February 25. — The mills of the Algoma Steel Corporation will reopen on 2nd March.

The firm has secured sufficient business to keep its mills running for four months, and has prospects for a steady run into the fall, according to the weekly bulletin of the Employment Service of Canada, containing reports from its offices throughout Ontario.

The opening of the mills of the Corporation, which will appreciably improve conditions in Sault Ste. Marie, and employ entirely local labour, is the feature of the report, which, in dealing with conditions throughout the Province, says: "Factories are working in most cases with full staffs, and indications are that within a short time greater activity will be noticed in work in factories."

Some of the cities reporting improved conditions are: Belleville, Hamilton, where there is a decided improvement in textiles, with the possibility that the industry will return to normal in the spring; Kingston, where industries are on full time, one of them employing eighty men more than it did last year at the same time; Oshawa, where the "manufacturing has improved a great deal since the first of the year"; Peterborough and St. Catharines.

Special Committee on Rules of the House to Consider Coote's Proposal.

WOULD SAVE TIME

Members Should Have More Information of the Estimates Which They Approve.

OTTAWA, February 26 (Canadian Press). — The House of Commons yesterday spent a somewhat listless afternoon in the discussion of method for handling Parliamentary estimates.

G. G. Coote, Progressive member for Macleod, asked for the approval of his resolution which provided that estimates hereafter be referred to a select committee before being taken up by the Committee of the Whole, as at present. He made his plea on the ground of economy of time and money, claiming that information would be more speedily obtained from officers of the various departments of Government, than from the minister who frequently was not in possession of the information required.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, stated that after 16 years experience in the House, he felt that all Parliaments were about the same, in that hours and days were often spent over votes for small amounts, while in the last days of the session items for millions of dollars were allowed to go through without much consideration.

Carefully Scrutinised.

But he did not want the impression to go abroad that there was not careful scrutiny of all estimates submitted to Parliament. Often ministers had more difficulty in getting their estimates through Council than through Parliament.

After departmental preparation, each minister scrutinised the proposed estimates for his department. The Treasury Board spent as long as a month in further scrutiny, calling in the deputies and sometimes the assistant deputies, in order to feel satisfied that the items should be passed. Then they came before Council, where they were discussed. The Committee on Public Accouts also looked over questions of expenditure, so that there were many safeguards.

Mr. Robb moved that the resolution be amended to the effect that the desirability of having estimates referred to select committees before being submitted to the Committee of the Whole, should be referred to the Special Committee which was to be appointed to consider the advisability of revising the rules of the House.

Hon. Arthur Meighen stated that the proposed amendment to which Mr. Coote had agreed, had the effect of drawing a line through the whole original motion.

Hon. George P. Graham pointed out that the matter was referred to committee in order to secure further detailed consideration, and by the reference, the committee would give special attention to the question of the handling of the estimates.

Lack of Interest.

Herbert Marler (Liberal, St. Lawrence-St. George) found "a notable lack of interest" in what appeared to him to be a most important matter.

Mr. Marler found it "extremely unpleasant" at times for a Government member to have to ask a minister for information on estimates, because it was sometimes regarded as disloyal.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, expressed his dissatisfaction with the method of criticism of estimates. "Hour after hour of time has been wasted trying to nibble something off the estimates," said Mr. Forke.

Mr. Forke said that he had observed that the House sometimes "haggled" over a few thousand dollars, and then let millions pass without discussion. "That sort of thing must not continue," he said. The time had arrived when there should be intelligent criticism of expenditure. Expenditure was growing in Canada, and the people were beginning to be alive to this fact. There should be real efforts in the direction of economy.

W. F. Carroll (Liberal, Cape Breton South) thought the reference of estimates to special committees might result in delay. If the House met in January or February, as was becoming the practice, and the Government wished to pass its estimates before the end of the fiscal year, it would be unwise to make them run the gauntlet of another committee. He stated that very often large estimates passed with but small consideration because they were Civil Government votes which had not

One Of Last Giant Trees Of Manvers Sells For $75

LINDSAY, Feb. 26.—That this district has not been depleted of all the big timber is proven by the fact that Mr. Wm. Kerr, of Manvers township, recently sold a large elm tree to Mr. Janes, of Orillia. This tree, which is being shipped over the C.P.R. to Mr. Janes' veneer factory at Orillia, when cut up made five logs, ten feet in length and three feet in diameter. It is estimated that there were three thousand feet in the tree, which, at $25.00 per thousand, would net Mr. Kerr a tidy sum.

OSHAWA POLICE BUDGET $18,000

With Eight Patrolmen New City Had 637 Cases Last Year.

PETERBORO 314

OSHAWA, Feb. 25.—The annual police report from Peterboro has caused some speculation regarding the outcome of the Oshawa police estimates which will shortly be passed upon by the Council. This year Chief Owen D. Friend has asked for approximateiy $4,000 more than last year to conduct his department. His figures this year are a little in excess of $18,000.

In the Peterboro police report it was pointed out that there are only 12 men on the force to patrol 55 miles of streets. Locally there are only eight men to patrol a still greater distance. There are 22 miles of paved streets alone in Oshawa. The Peterboro chief reports that there were 314 case heard and disposed of last year. Oshawa had 637 cases before the court last year, which does not include many cases which are dealt with by the police where it is necessary to bring the parties before the magistrate.

This year the Peterboro Police Commission are going to ask the City Council for $25,172.

Government Defeated On Unimportant Bill.

Private Measure in British House Rejected By 183 To 90.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Conservative government sustained its first defeat in parliament last night by the rejection of a private bill. The vote was 193 to 90. No great importance is attached to the government's failure to carry the majority.

The bill was promoted by the County of London Electric Supply Company. It was supported by the Minister of Transport and the motion for its second reading was opposed by a Laborite on the ground that it was one of the group of bills introduced for the purpose of establishing a national scheme of electricity supply.

The bill was attacked among others by the Secretary for War, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, who contended that it conferred a monopoly and too extensive powers upon a private enterprise, without corresponding obligations.

The vote indicates the relatively small importance attached to the bill, which was not in reality a government measure.

GIRL BURNED IN PARTY COSTUME

Caught Fire From Companion's Suit Ignited by Flashlight Flare.

"SNOW BALL" DEAD

MONTREAL, Feb. 26. — Miss Berthe Belanger, aged 21, 1216 St. Catherine street east, died in Notre Dame Hospital from burns she suffered Tuesday night when her "Snowball" costume, in which she was going to a Mardi Gras party, caught fire during the taking of a flashlight photograph. Her escort, Alexandre Dore, aged 28, in whose room, on Stanley Street, the tragedy occurred and who was also badly burned, was reported last night to be recovering. The latter had fired the magnesium flare when sparks ignited the filmy cotton about his neck. He attempted to beat it out, but as the flames began to spread he made a rush for the street. As he passed his companion, he brushed against her, causing her costume to catch fire likewise. Together they dashed from the house and rolled in the snow. They were taken to the hospital by a constable and by a citizen who had run to their assistance.

IRISH EAT U. S. OATS

American Product Ousts Home-made Meal From Grocers' Counters.

DUBLIN, Feb. 26.—Complaint is made in a letter to the Dublin press that American flake meal is ousting Irish meal from the shops in large and small towns alike. It is argued that whatever may be said of the advantage in quality and price of foreign wheat flour, Irish oatmeal ought to be able to hold its own, since it is cheaper than American flake meal.

Nevertheless, says the cmplainant, "American flake meal is being asked for by the public and pushed in the shops, and every packet bought prevents the sale of as much Irish oats."

NO UNDERTAKERS' ADS

British Editor Wishes No Gloom in His Magazine.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—In an endeavor to brighten his parish magazine the Rev. Cyril R. Brown, Vicar of Littleover, Derby, has banished undertakers' advertisements from its pages.

"While undertakers are excellent fellows in themselves," Dr. Brown writes in the publication, "we do not wish to be reminded of them, and when three such firms blandish us in one magazine, it is in danger of becoming the most depressing of journals. I would rather think about living, and I wish the undertakers would join the doctors and dentists in refraining from advertisements."

JAZZ HEIR.

Roger Wolfe Kahn, 17, son of Otto H. Kahn, wealthy opera patron, is himself the leader of a jazz band and has just been chosen for the honor of playing at the charity inaugural ball in Washington, March 4.

DIVORCE LAWS IN FREE STATE FAVOR THE MEN

Women To Be Barred From Obtaining Dissolution of Marriage.

HUSBAND RULES.

Church is Behind New Bill, Says Divorce Law Reform Union.

— DUBLIN, Feb. 26. — (United News.— The Free State is attempting to solve the divorce problem by forbidding such dissolutions of wedlock. The result seems to be a virtual decree that men only may obtain divorces and then only if they are wealthy.

The lower house of the Free State parliament has adopted a bill introduced by President Wm. T. Cosgrave, declaring the bond of marriage an indissoluble tie. If the Senate adopts the bill, divorce will become impossible in Southern Ireland. Instead a divorce equivalent to legal separation would be substituted. Legally separated persons, of course, could not marry again.

Any southern Irishman, however, who desires a divorce can domicile himself in neighbouring Ulster, Scotland or England.

Thereafter fulfilling the residential requirements, a divorce can be obtained. Such procedure would require money.

Wives are in a sorry fix if they leave their mates. A wife may not domicile herself other than at her husband's home without her husband's consent. If he refuses to agree to a change of residence, she is balked.

The majority of Southern Irish people consider wedlock indissoluble and therefore the legislation is just, President Cosgrave said in support of his measure.

Officials of the Divorce Law reform Union agree about the majority but refuse to recognize the justice of the Bill."

'Obviously, the church is behind the Bill," says the Union, 'it is a very great injustice to the non-Catholic minority.'

SHIELDS DEMANDS A FUNDAMENTALIST

Modernist President of Brandon College Repugnant

CALGARY, Feb. 26.—Warning against the appointment of a Modernist president to the Brandon College, Rev. T. T. Shields, Toronto, fundamentalist leader, declared in an interview with the Canadian Press, that Eastern Baptists would "withdraw support unless the institution turned over a new leaf."

It was within the realm of possibility that the appointment might cause a split in the Western Baptist Union, he said.

SEVEN DROWNED ATTEMPTING TO RESCUE SAILORS

Lifeboat Upset in Breakers Off French Coast—Three Reached Shore.

STEAMER AGROUND

Eighteen Sailors of Spanish Ship Seemed Doomed — Lifeless Bodies in Rigging.

LA ROCHELEE, France, Feb. 26 —Seven men of the life saving station yesterday lost their lives when the lifeboat in which they put out from here to try and rescue sailors aboard the stranded Spanish steamer Christina Rueda, capsized in the breakers. Only three men of the crew of ten reached shore.

Eighteen Spanish sailors aboard the steamer, which is loaded with sulphites and was driven aground on the western shore of the island Re, Tuesday during a storm, seemed doomed. What appears to be lifeless bodies are to be seen swaying in the wind in the rigging to which they evidently lashed themselves. Others of the crew are believed to have been washed overboard by the heavy seas. The wind today remained unabated in violence.

La Rochelle is in mourning over the loss of seven of her citizens belonging to the life saving station Five of those who perished were married and had families.

LONDON DOCTORS TRAMP STREETS

Looking For Jobs at Anything From Ten Dollars a Week Up.

DOWN AND OUTERS.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (United Press)—Five thousands qualified physicians are tramping the streets of London looking for jobs at anything from $10 a week up. Some of them are sleeping at night along the great curve of the Thames Embankment—the world famous resort of down-and-outers

Tremendous activity among British and Irish medical schools has created a surplus of both men and women physicians since the war. Thousands of them are confronted with starvation or abandoning a profession to which they have devoted years of training.

A Difficult Situation

The National Health Insurance has made the young physician's lot difficult Under the Insurance scheme, million of persons, by paying a small weekly fee, are assured of medical attention. Each Insurance physician has from 500 to 16,000 patients on his list. For each patient the physician receives an annual payment of about $2.

The law forbids any physician to tend more than 2,500 insured patients, but many of them enter into pseudo partnership, the other partners being salaried as its principal physician.

SHOT GRANDMOTHER.

Rifle Discharged When Boy Refused To Give It Up.

NAPA, Calif., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Playing at hunting wild animals, Adlop Hatte, 11 years old, shot and killed his grandmother, Mrs. Etta Holliday, Tuesday night, according to the Sheriff's office.

The boy, with two younger brothers, armed himself with a rifle, supposed to be unloaded, ran to the door to chase away "wild animals," when Mrs. Holliday attempted to take the rifle from him it was discharged, the bullet striking her in the head.

WINTER'S CUT OF TIMBER IS STRANDED IN WOODS BY FIRST BREATH OF SPRING

Lumber Companies Face Serious Loss Unless Winter Lingers With Snowfalls in March—Price of Lumber May Be Affected.

(Special to the Examiner)

LINDSAY, Feb. 26.—Lumbering operations in Victoria and Haliburton counties as well as in certain sections of Peterboro county have received a serious jolt as a result of the recent thaws. A number of firms which had large gangs in the woods during the winter months, stand to lose considerable money as a result of the break in the weather. A number of them are calling in their teams, leaving thousands of feet of timber in the woods, as it will be impossible to move the material to the water's edge unless the sleighing improves.

A well-known lumberman is authority for the statement that lumbermen stand to suffer a serious monetary loss as a result of the break-up in the weather, which has called a halt to lumbering operations. He stated further that the present situation would affect the price of lumber during the coming season.

Similar conditions prevail in Durham county, a short distance from Lindsay. Mr. Elliott, of Franklin, who operates a lumber camp and sawmill near that village, has a large stock in the woods, consisting of 700 telephone poles, ties and timber, besides a large quantity of lumber. Unless the weather stiffens up and a fall of snow follows, he will be obliged to leave the material in the woods.

ICE JAMMED IN THAMES RIVER

Piled Up for Distance of Seven Miles, But Current Moved It.

FLOOD AVERTED

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Reports reaching the city last evening from the low-lying districts of Dover and Raleigh Townships along the Thames River between this city and Lake St. Clair are to the effect that farmers believe the danger of serious flood is past, although the seven-mile ice jam which broke loose at Prairie Siding is again lodged about a mile from the mouth of the river.

The jam started to form early yesterday about two miles below Prairie Siding and the ice kept piling up until the ice jam was seven miles long. The water rose very fast with the ice still solid from the mouth of the river for about six miles, and farmers feared that a repetition of the serious floods of a few years ago was imminent. The strong current weakened the ice towards the mouth of the river late yesterday afternoon, with the result that it started to move towards the lake and released the jam. Early last evening reports received here were to the effect that the jam had lodged at a point about a mile from the mouth. A large amount of ice is being carried away underneath the surface. It is believed that a sufficient amount of the water will now get away without a serious inundation of the land.

A special committee of the Council appointed at the last session is keeping a close watch over the situation, prepared to start blasting operations should the occasion demand. A submarine pipe line owned by the Union Gas Company leading from the Dover gas field has been broken by the ice. The water receded here more than one foot after five o'clock. There is considerable ice still passing through the city.

AMEND UNION BILL

Effective in Quebec If Passed By All Other Provinces.

QUEBEC, Feb. 26.—An effort is being made here to reach an arrangement regarding the Church Union Bill which the Private Bills Committee sent to the Assembly yesterday without recommendation. This is to add a clause to the bill to the effect that the law will come into effect only when all the other provinces have passed similar legislation. Whether the compromise will go through in this form or otherwise, is not definite, but there will be something along those lines.

WON AT BILLIARDS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—Edouard Horemans, Belgian billiard star, yesterday defeated Kamahichi Suzuki, Japanese player, 400 to 12, in five innings in the fourth match of the international 18.2 balkline billiard championship tournament. Horemans had a high run of 249 in the fourth inning, a new record for the tournament.

GRAIN TRAFFIC SHOWS REVIVAL

C. N. R. Beginning to Move Cars From Midland—Expect Brisk Season.

WINTER WAS DULL

LINDSAY, Feb. 26.—There has been a revival in the grain traffic over the C.N.R. from Midland during the past few days, and railway men anticipate a brisk spring season. Very little grain came down from the northern terminal during the winter months. The grain was there in abundance, but there was no demand, and as a result railway employees experienced one of the dullest period in the history of the local division.

There are ten million bushels of grain in the elevators at present, while a number of vessels in the harbor at Midland are yet to be relieved of grain brought from the head of the lakes in December.

There has been a spasmodic movement of grain over the C.P.R. from Fort McNichol. A number of vessels were unloaded during the winter months, the ice in the harbor being cut in order to permit them running in alongside the big elevator.

SENATOR TO REPLY TO WYER PAMPHLET

Norris Seeks Opening to Answer U. S. Attack on Ontario Hydro.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press). — Senator Norris of Nebraska said yesterday that he would bring up on the floor of the Senate before March 4 the discussion of the Wyer pamphlet issued through the Smithsonian Institution. It has been alleged by Sir Adam Beck, head of the Ontario Hydro-Electic system, that the pamphlet made mis-statements with regard to the working of the Ontario power system.

Senator Norris intends to discuss the matter before the Senate either in connection with the Muscle Shoals Bill or in some other manner. If the Muscle Shoals question develops a prolonged debate, the Nebraska Senator intends to deal with the Ontario Hydro-Electric system at length and answer the controversial points raised by the pamphlet.

GOVERNMENT TO STAND OR FALL ON BEER ISSUE

Premier Ferguson Declares O.T.A. Change Was Decided By Cabinet Itself.

OWN INITIATIVE

Government Did Not Consult Private Members Nor Any One Else.

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—The Ontario government, in increasing the strength of beer to 4.4 per cent., is acting on its own initiative, without consulting the private members who follow it ,and is prepared to stand or fall by the policy which it has inaugurated.

Such was the declaration made by Premier Ferguson in the legislature yesterday afternoon, when he repudiated a suggestion that the government's attitude had been dictated by "wet" members with in the Conservative ranks.

Mr. Ferguson, before the orders of the day were called, arose to comment on a statement made by W. G. Weichel, M.P.P., of North Waterloo, to the Moderation League Tuesday night, when he declared that the 22 wet Conservatives who had met here a month or so ago, had told the government that they meant business.

"So far as I am concerned, and so far as any member of the government is concerned, for I have questioned them.' Mr. Ferguson said, "there were no representations made by any such meeting to the government. The action of the government in this matter was not in any way influenced or in the slightest way based upon any representation from that meeting, because there were none; neither is it based on any representation made by the Moderation League or by any other organization. The government did not consult its private members but took the full responsibility for its policy, and is prepared to stand or fall by that policy."

AVIATORS MISSING

French Airmen in Sahara Desert Since Feb. 20.

PARIS, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—The French aviators, Captain Lemaitre and Lieut. Wrackard, who early this month made a long non-stop flight from France to the Rio Oro, in an attempt to reach Dakar in the French Senegal without a stop, have been missing in the Desert of Sahara since Feb. 20, it became known yesterday.

The two airmen left Timbuctoo last Friday, flying north, in an attempt to make Oran or Algiers, and have not been heard from since.

COPY ONTARIO PLAN

Quebec to Levy Mining Tax on the Net Profits.

QUEBEC, Feb 26.—Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, stated in the Assembly yesterday that legislation would be brought down this session to provide amendments to the mining law, so that the Ontario system of levying taxes on net profits would be followed. This change was due to gold discoveries in Rouyn region His information was that some $40,000,000 of gold had been located.

GERMANS WANT TOURISTS

Many Endeavors Made to Attract Visitors to the Country.

HAMBURG, Feb. 26.—Endeavoring to attract foreign visitors to Germany, promoters of travel have asked the German railroad administration to equip coaches with electric lights and also to increase the speed of passenger trains.

The elimination or reduction of the 10 per cent tax upon foreigners, as well as betterment of passport facilities, also have been recommended.

SKI-ING IS PIKER BESIDE SKIDDING

Plain and Fancy Skids Can Be Performed on Any Street.

HOW TO SCORE.

Changing airplanes 2,000 feet up, sliding down the Alps, jay walking, and sleuthing for rum on the bounding main are mild sports compared with the thrills of open field skidding as performed by many of our late motorists when the ice is on the asphalt and the chains beneath the seat.

A few simple rules for plain and fancy skidding for distance on Main Street are suggested by accident reports collected by the Dominion Chain Company:

Rules For Skidders.

How to score. For your own car, score one point each for a smashed lamp, a broken fender, broken wind shield and rammed radiator. Score five points for each smashed wheel. These points are doubled for other cars. Lamp posts and safety zone markers count double. The pedestrian is the equivalent of two smashed wheels. One cut is worth two points. Use of bumpers cuts final score in half. To win game your car must be totally ruined and opponent's must be hauled to garage.

WESTERNERS WIN RAIL RATES CASE

Crow's Nest Pass Act Binding on the Board of Commissioners.

NO APPEAL COSTS.

OTTAWA, February 26 (Canaditn Press). — The Western Provinces have won their appeal in the Crow's Nest Pass rates case.

The Supreme Court of Canada decided this morning that the Crow's Nest Pass Act was binding on the Board of Railway Commissioners.

The Courts, however, hold that Crow's Nest rates are not applicable to all points east of Fort William, now on the Canadian Pacific Company's lines. To the question: "Are such rates confined to Westbound traffic originating at Fort William and at such points east of Fort William as were, at the date of the passing of the Act, and the making of the agreement, on the company's line of railway?" the Court answered in the affirmative.

The Court also holds that the rate apply only on traffic consigned to places west of Fort William which were on the company's lines owned "or operated" at the time of the passing of the Act,

To the question whether the Railway Board had power to authorise rates on th C. P. R. on grain and flour from all points on the company's lines west of Fort William to Fort William and Port Arthur and all point seast beyond the maximum rates specified in the Crow's Nest Pass Act, the Court answered "No."

The Formal Judgment.

The formal judgment of the Court reads: Application of the maximum rates provided in Clause D is declared to be restricted to west-bound traffic, in commodities specified, originating from Fort William or some point east thereof which was, on the 6th of September, 1897, on the company's railway and destined for some point west of Fort William which was on 6th of September, 1897, on the company's main line or on any line of railway throughout Canada, owned or leased by or operated on account of the company.

In view of the divided success, adds the judgment, there will be no costs in the appeal.

PETERBORO' BAND WILL RADIOCAST

Salvation Army Saxophone Section to Go on the Air on Saturday.

The Peterboro Salvation Army Saxophone Party will broadcast from Radio Station, C.N.R.O, at Ottawa, on Saturday evening, February 28, at 10.30

To land in nearby show window with steering wheel still in hands gives you a grand slam.

Send your card around to all the hospitals. It will aid in establishing your score. Then buy a pair of Deluxe Weed chains, lock them up in the tool box, and throw the key away. Know that your brakes are in good working order. You can slide further with locked wheels, especially if you have four wheel brakes.

Pick out a street well covered with ice or water—one with fairly heavy traffic—it adds to the sport. Get up to at least 25 (20 miles will do in downgrade). As a delivery wagon shoots out of a side street, apply your brakes suddenly and quickly turn your front wheels. Do this about 40 feet away. If you can't get a truck driver to play, wait for a limousine.

Don't let friends argue you out of your points. Insist that you were using neither chains nor bumpers. If you can get a traffic officer to back up your claims, so much the better. If the sport is unusually keen, get witness to score for you; a stone cutter is preferred as he can put it on your epitaph.

If you are still a novice, try one chain first. One chain on the rear wheel will retard your speed slightly, but you will whirl readily. To become adept, indulge in secret practice on a hill close to town. The thrill is a knockout! To get the maximum enjoyment out of the game, hum merrily the while that familiar refrain from Chopin's funeral dirge to some such ditty:

"Too lazy to put on his chains,
Ben Johnson drove to town;
The road was soaked with recent rains,
His wife's name now is Brown."

POETRY IN NATURE SUBJECT ADDRESS

Rev. A. Hamilton, of Cobourg, Was Speaker at Women's Canadian Club.

Rev. A. Hamilton of Cobourg (late of Glasgow University) was the speaker at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club held in the Auditorium of the Public library Hall, yesterday afternoon. His thoughtful and scholarly address on 'Poetry in Nature,' was exceptionally interesting and was listened to with appreciative attention by a fair sized audience. The first vice-president, Miss A. Lancaster, occupied the chair.

Mr. Hamilton said that Alexander Pope was the first real 'nature' poet, but that his conception of poetry in nature was somewhat artificial and he had the habit of using a 'paint box of adjectives," with which he described the colorings of natural scenes. Wordsworth was the "nature poet" par excellence. Mr. Hamilton went on to give the prose description of a scene in a farmer's kitchen contrasting it with the merry jingle of 'hey diddle diddle," in which are described the reactions of the cat listening to the playing of the fiddle and the cow that got excited and jumped over the pool that held the reflection of the moon. He also spoke of the prose rendition of the scene of a farmer and his wife watching the herd coming home and quoted in poetry the first verse of Grey's "Elegy."

Reference was made to the many sounds in nature which are so delicate that they are inaudiable to the average ear, Mr. Hamilton speaking of the bed of wind flowers which he could see from his study window, and the poetry which he imagines could be heard from their delicate cups. He spoke also of the Non-Conformist chapel near his home whose belfry boasted of no bell, because 'God needs no bell to bring Him near," and of his own conception of the strands of moonlight which shine through the empty orifice as being the strands of a harp that replace the missing bell.

Miss Lancaster expressed the appreciation of the listeners in a few well-chosen words, quoting aptly from Wordsworth's 'Ode to the Intimations of Immortality."

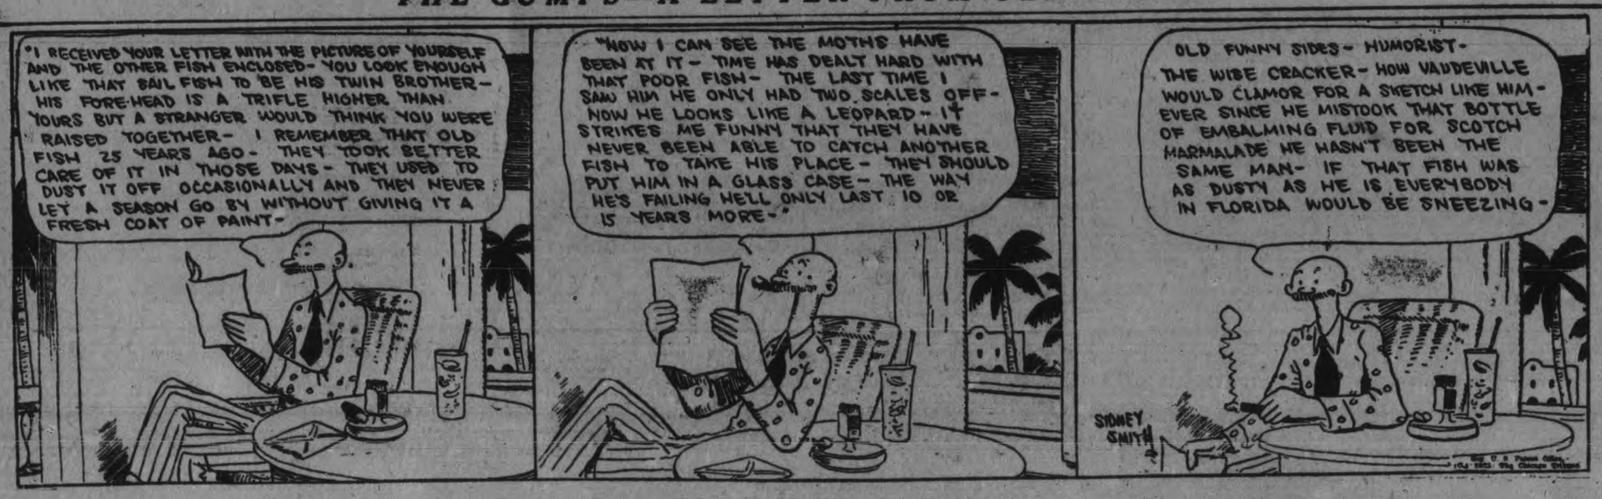
THE GUMPS—A LETTER FROM OLD TIMER



TO ORGANISE A BAND AT TWEED

Board of Trade Has Many Suggestions for Village Improvement.

PLAN CELEBRATION

TWEED, Feb. 26. — A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Tuesday last in the Municipal Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. S. G. Way, and the secretary, Mr. Jno. Sager, read the minutes of the last regular meeting. The minutes were adopted with an amendment of one item. The secretary gave a verbatim report of the success in a canvass which he and the president had made in enrolling members for the Board, the result being that there are now 102 paid-up members.

Organizing a brass band for Tweed occupied the attention of the Board for some time. It was stated that there was enough talent available to have a creditable band in the village. A committee composed of Messrs. Frank Cotton, W. B. Huyck, Jno. Sills, Ed. O'Coin, Ed. Wright and Mr. Burgoyne, with the power to add to members. The committee was instructed to appoint a leader.

A suggestion was offered to the effect that in order to beautify the village a committee be asked to take the matter in hand and obtain the co-operation of all having flowers displayed in gardens, window sills and other places. It was felt that such a display would attract the attention of tourists passing through the village.

Mr. W. S. Gordon moved, seconded by Mr. A. Yule, that a committee be appointed to correspond with the Horticultural Society. Carried.

Mr. Rollins moved, seconded by Mr. Jno. Sills, that the following committee be appointed to look after the matter: Miss A. Rayburn, Mrs. Connor, Mrs. A. Yule, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. Hammet, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Wm. O'Keefe, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. Fawcett, Miss Altsworth and Miss Henry.

The motion was adopted.

Finance Committee—Messrs. M. Martin, S. H. Connor, J. J. Frost, John F. Houston, T. S. Rath, C. F. Fawcett.

Advertising Committee — Messrs. J. D. Taylor, S. B. McGee, D. H. Morrison, Jno. Quinn, Jr., S. Lee, A. McGuire.

Industrial Committee — Messrs. Way, O'Keefe, James Ryan, A. E. Yule, Jno. Sager, S. B. Rollins.

A day of celebration derived considerable attention, members generally joining in the discussion. A civic holiday was suggested in which horse races, baseball games and other amusements would be carried out. It was also suggested that an Old Home Week be arranged, one day being devoted to amusements.

It was decided to lay the matter over to the next regular meeting, the secretary in the meantime to write to Chatauqua authorities, asking what dates had been set apart for Tweed's entertainment.

A communication was read from Mr. W. Fulton, C.P.R. passenger agent at Toronto, stating that he was taking the matter up with the department respecting Tweed-Havelock.

On moion of Mr. Ed. Wright, seconded by Mr. Fitchett, the secretary was instructed to communicate with the superintendent of the C.N.R. at Ottawa, asking for the co-operation of the company in facilitating train service, thereby founding an electric car service which would enable business men to despatch orders by freight, carry passengers and furnish transportation for pupils to and from the High School. The train service as suggested would be from Yarker to Tweed, arriving in Tweed at say 8.45, thus enabling scholars from Marlbank and other points along the line to reach here in time for school; the train then proceeding to Bannockburn and back, thus providing a means for those desirous of doing business in Tweed a privilage enjoyed some years ago, but which a change in operation of service precluded. The proposed train service would permit arriving from Yarker in Tweed at 7.30 p.m., and thus enable pupils and other passengers to have speedy transit and also through line passenger service from Yarker.

There being no further business, Messrs. Rollins and Fitchett moved adjournment at 10 o'clock, to meet again two weeks hence.

Hockey Game Off

Owing to bad weather conditions and recent rains, which seem to be prevailing around here, the hockey match which was to have been played here last night between Hastings and Tweed, could not be played, and many were disappointed because this is the third time it has had to be postponed.

Stage Running Again.

The Tweed-Belleville stage made its first trip on the motor 'bus on Wednesday, after about a lay-off of a month, and the driver reports that the roads are in a fair condition between here and Belleville.

REV. G. R. CLARE DIED YESTERDAY

Was Elected Member of First General Council of United Church.

WIDELY KNOWN.

NORWOOD, Feb. 26 (Special to The Examiner).—Rev. George R. Clare, ex-president of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference, died here yesterday afternoon. He was in his 62nd year and was born in Hungerford Township, Hastings County.

Deceased labored for 27 years in this conference, serving at Mountain Grove, Bobcaygeon, Venacher, Marlbank, Bridgenorth, Greenwood, Oakwood, Millbrook, Bloomfield, Newcastle, Orono and Little Britain. He was a pronounced evangelist and active in temperance work being a member of the Social Service Council of the Methodist Church. He was a member of two Methodist General Conferences and was elected a member of the coming General Council of the United Church. He retired from the active ministry in 1922 to assume the duties of the Presidency of the Conference. Before coming to Norwood last fall he resided at Tweed.

He is survived by his wife, whose maiden name was Mary Cosh, Bobcaygeon, and two daughters, Mrs. Stanley Dix of Little Britain, and Miss Meta Clare, B.A., of the Norwood High School staff. There also survive his aged mother, Mrs. Clare of Tweed; five brothers, Wilmot of Thurlow Township, Dr. Harvey of Homewood Sanitarium, Guelph; Sheriff James H. of Belleville; Rev. D. R. of Mamora; and Robt. M. of Laverna, Alta.; and three sisters, Mrs. James A. Sanderson, of Forget, Sask.; Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. Hinchey of Tweed; Mrs. G. W. Gartley of Belleville.

Interment will take place at Lindsay on Friday, Feb. 27; service in Cambridge Methodist Church at 11 o'clock a.m.,

Deceased was a member of Orono Lodge A.F. and A.M., 325, and also an Oddfellow.

IRISH FAMINE STORY AT FIRST HAND

No Food for the Pot—No Turf for the Fire—Children Cry.

By MILTON BRONNER.

GALWAY, Feb. 26.—Hunger sits down at table as an unwelcome and bitterly feared guest and Cold keeps him company in thousands of cabin homes today in western Ireland.

That is what a partial potato crop failure and peat shortage mean for Galway and Donegal and Kerry and Mayo.

Here I am up against the real thing in this 1925 dearth in Ireland. Listen to the talk of Mrs. Bartley Connelly—out this way they pronounce it "Kon-neely"—as she tells in curious sing-song English how it came about:

"And the black rain fell. All day and every day. All spring it fell and all summer and all the rest of the year. Always the rain, the dull roar of it. Sorrow and sorrow's sorrow. The potaties were washed away or rotted. And the turf melted away with the wetness. No food for the pot. No turf for the fire. Emptiness and blackness in the house. And the children cryin' because of the hunger and the cold."

The people here always have been divided from acute suffering by a hair-line. Plenty they never know. Congestion is beyond belief. Centuries ago when Ireland was a conquered country the natives were driven from the fat lands of the east and found final refuge in the west which tempted nobody.

The Connelly cabin is the usual shanty of this coast—stone walls, badly thatched roof, one room 20 by 10 feet. The one door stands open so light can penetrate. The floor is the bare, rocky earth. The whole family and the chickens—when they have them—and the dog—and the pig—live in this shelter.

Mrs. Connelly tells me her man is away working on a neighboring and bigger farm. He gets a job there two days a week, and his total earnings are four shillings, about a dollar. With this, and the potatoes he can raise, the turf he can dry and the fish he can catch, Bartley Connelly, 45, must support himself, his wife and his eight children. Also, for this wretched place he calls home he must pay 18 shillings a year rental.

The housewife — with never a word of complaint or of cadging—invites the visitors within. On the hearth two pieces of turf flame feebly, emitting their acrid smoke. In the corner I see a bundle of rags. They move. They are children cuddling against each other in a vain search for a little warmth. They are Michael, 2, and Thomas, 3, and they are dressed in petticoats as are so many boys in this section, even those as old as 14. Over Connemara way, Mrs. Connelly says, people are worse off. Their fires are out.

Farms in this section consist of little postage stamp patches of land between rocks, boulders and bogs, carefully fertilized with rotting seaweed. When the saints are favorable the cabin dwellers have potatoes, bread and fish for food and are kept warm by the turf fires on their hearths. But this year, nothing has been good. And although so far in an extensive trip up and down the western counties of Ireland I have not heard of a single authenticated case of death from starvation or from typhus fever, famine's accompanying plague, I have marveled that the people survive the hardship of their lives.

Light laughter is rare. Sadness is stamped on their faces and especially in their eyes.

The present trouble has been a test of the Irish Free State government. Fairness requires that it be stated that the Government has risen well to the question. Last December, foreseeing what was coming, the Government allocated $500,000 for relief funds and relief work.

Over 6,000 tons of coal are being shipped to the places where there is a peat shortage. It is sold at six pence (10 cents) a hundredweight. Wood for fires is also being sent in by the Government. Seed potatoes for the next crop are being distributed. Eighteen thousand school children are being given a daily midday meal of bread, margarine and cocoa. Doctors are out in the districts to see that there is no epidemic, and so far they have been successful.

The relief work being done is mostly in the shape of road building which is thus a permanent asset to the country. Hundreds of men are thus being given employment at useful work, enabling them to tide their families over until the spring comes.

I talked with many parish priests up and down the coast and in many cases I got this message for charitable America:

"Send us shoes! Our own Government is taking care of the people as regards food and fuel. But to clothe the bare feet of the women and children is beyond us."

The woes of the whole west Ireland famine region are written in the face of this sad and frightened little boy, found near Galway. Note the petticoat he is wearing and the feet bare in winter time.

GIVE PROGRAMME FOR SECOND TIME

Campbellford H. S. Commencement Was So Good It Will Be Repeated.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 26. — As there were a good many people in Campbellford unable to get to the commencement at the High School last Friday night, the staff has decided to repeat it again this Friday night, February 27th, when the programme and play, "Ellen," will be given and also some new numbers to fill in where the presentation of diplomas and scholarships took place. The proceeds of the evening will be given to the High School hockey team to help in their expenses.

Musicale.

A most enjoyable evening for some of the music-lovers of Campbellford was spent at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson, Queen Street, on Wednesday night, when those present had the privilege of hearing a good programme of music. There were about thirty-five present.

The following numbers were given:

Instrumental selection—Enid Richardson (piano), Ronald and Harry Richardson (first and second violins).

Vocal solo—Gwendolyn McCarty, a little niece of Dr. and Mrs. Richardson, from Toronto.

Piano solo—Miss Enid Richardson.

Violin selection — Ronald and Harry Richardson.

Piano solo—Gwendolyn McCarty.

The other part of the programme, given by some of the guests present, was as follows:

Piano solo—Miss Kathleen Dolman.

Vocal solo—Miss Helen Wood.

Piano solo—Miss Lily Weston.

Vocal solo — Mrs. M. McCarty (Toronto).

Piano solo—Miss Grace Payne.

Vocal solo—Mrs. McCarty.

Instrumental duett—Miss Hawley (Toronto) and Miss Helen Wood.

Reading—Miss Lillian Hay.

Vocal solo—Mrs. McCarty.

Dr. H. O. Richardson announced the numbers, and spoke a few words of welcome to the guests.

At the close the hostess served a very dainty lunch.

The guests enjoyed all the items on the programme very much and all were glad to hear Mrs. McCarty, of Toronto, sing her several selections. Mrs. McCarty is a Campbellford girl, and lived in town till she was married and went to Toronto to reside.

A word was omitted in a birth notice last week. It should have read as follows:

Born—In Campbellford, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Forde, Garry Street, on Monday, February 16th, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lisle, of Seymour, a son—Douglas Robert.

ACCIDENTS AT CAMPBELLFORD

Sprained Wrist and Ankle Marked a Day in Town

OTHER NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 26.—As Mrs. J. P. Archer, Booth Street, was leaving her home on Wednesday morning to get into a car to take her to church, she had the misfortune to fall and sprain her ankle very badly. She was taken to Peterboro on the Wednesday evening train where she will have an X-ray examination. She will be the guest of her sister while in the city.

Wrist Sprained

While going down Queen Street from her home on Tuesday night, Mrs. C. W. Turner fell and sprained her wrist.

Fire Alarm.

On Wednesday morning, about ten o'clock, the fire bell rang and called the firemen out. The fire was fortunately only a burning chimney at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lloyd, Kent Street.

been increased, and all the members knew they were required.

Need Business Methods.

General J. A. Clark (Conservative-Hubrard) expressed regret that Mr. Coote had accepted the amendment because by so doing he had prevented members from recording their opinion on it. Sittings of the House had become so unnecessarily protracted that members engaged in business found that their business suffered seriously through their long absence while Parliament was in session. Business methods might easily be introduced into the handling of estimates with great advantage to all concerned.

F. J. Pelletier (Liberal, Matane) supported the amendment. He pointed out that as things were at present, it was sometimes extremely difficult to get enough members to attend committees to make a quorum. If the estimates were sent to special committees, they might be delayed.

A. Speakman (Progressive, Red Deer) said he believed in economy, but he wanted intelligent economy. He thought that the members of the House who were called upon to vote money should be given the best advice obtainable as to the need for the money. A member from the Prairies might know practically nothing about conditions on the Nova Scotia coast, and yet might be called upon to vote money to build wharves or breakwaters in that Province. He should be given the best advice so he could actintelligently.

Hon. T. A. Crerar (Progressive) recalled that a similar discussion had taken place in 1921, when the subject was introduced by the present Speaker, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. The resolution at that time was subsequently withdrawn, at the request of the Government of the day. He did not agree with the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen's statement that the amendment of the Acting Minister of Finance disposed of the whole matter. By the amendment, the question was being referred to a Select Committee to be apointed to deal with any proposed change of the rules of the House, which body otherwise might not feel called upon to consider this particular point.

A disease had grown up throughout the country which placed the value of a member of the House at the number of scalps he could bring up in the form of money votes.

"I want to draw the attention of the House to the fact that that is not true in South-East Grey," said Miss Agnes McPhail, Progressive member from that constituency.

"A great change has come over public opinion in South-East Grey, since the hon. member represented that riding," said Mr. Crerar.

Mr. Coote, in concluding the debate, hoped that his motion would bring about some means of reducing the estimates.

The motion, as amended, carried.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT TUDHOPE.

The death occurred last evening in Toronto, at the residence of his aunt, 38 Hampton Court Aparaments, of Robert Tudhope, aged 30 years, an employee of the Standard Bank at Bowmanville, and a former resident of this city.

Mr. Tudhope's family lived some years ago in Norwood.

His death, following an attack of influenza, occurred after a fortnight's illness.

The deceased is survived by his sorrowing mother, Sarah Tudhope, 569 Homewood Avenue, widow of Robert Tudhope, one brother Harry, and one sister Evelyn, both at home.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 2.30 p.m. on Friday to the Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. J. W. Gordon, of St. Andrew's Church, officiating.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ENGINEER KILLED IN A B. C. WRECK

Passenger Train Crashed Into Slide—Engine in Little Pieces.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb 26. — Eng. Bella was killed when C. Pacific passenger train No. 2 which left here on Tuesday night, ran into a slide at Cherry Creek, B.C., early yesterday. The fireman, C. J. Pulham, was injured. Six passengers were hurt. The wreck slide took place at the beginning of a cut and the train, travelling at high speed, swung between the walls of the cut, which prevented the front end of the train from falling into the river. The engine was smashed to pieces, the engineer being badly mangled. Pulham was improsoned and it was some time before he was freed.

Only the engine, mail and express cars were derailed. While his injuries are extremely painful and the extent not yet known, it is believed that Pulham will recoved. Doctors and nurses went from Kamloops to the wreck.

Two hoboes riding on the train came through the wreck without injuries, not even a scratch being received.

Three cars are lying in the cut with the mails and baggage, and it will take all day to get them out. The track at the point where the accident occurred has always been a the derailment, a track walker had passed.

WORKERS' ALLIANCE IS FORESHADOWED

Quadruple Combine For Industrial Action Depends Upon Agreement.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—A quadruple alliance containing 2,500,000 workers engaged in the key industries and banded together for industrial action was foreshadowed yesterday. The national executive of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain at Blackpool agreed to arrange meetings with the executives of the two railway unions, two transport unions and the Amalgamated Engineering Union.

The formation of the quadruple alliance depends upon peace being made between the rival railway and transport unions, as well as upon successful negotiation between them and the engineering workers and miners.

Mrs. L. MacMillan Tells How Cuticura Healed Eruptions

"I was troubled many months with an itching, burning, painful feeling practically all over my face. A number of pimples broke out on my forehead which caused me to scratch and also caused eruptions. The pimples spread down the sides of my face and caused disfigurement.

"I tried several remedies without any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. L. MacMillan, Box 521, Kenora, Ontario.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. The Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder.

MEMBERS NOT SO GOOD.

Toronto Woman Ascribes This to the Guilt of the Local Member.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—"One who has visited the Ontario Legislature intermittently, as I have done for the last thirty years, cannot fail to acknowledge the fact that the standard of intelligence in the individual member has sadly deteriorated and that consequently the whole tone of the House is affected. The reason is not far to seek. It is the result of the cult of the local member," said Mrs. J. M. Godfrey, in an address delivered at the monthly meeting of the League of Women Voters.

Condemning the system of always having the member live in the constituency he represents, she argued that men brought up in the country but spending the later parts of their lives in the city should be able to grasp rural problems, while having all the breadth of vision which a larger outlook on life had given them. "Not that we would wish our representatives to be overwhelmingly urban," she explained, "but it is a pity that our big business men, our leading professional men and our literary men should have so little place in the governing of our country."

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the 'outside' remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

A deputation representing Ontario cities which waited upon Hon. Jas. Murdock, Minister of Labour, seeking Federal aid in taking care of the unemployed, was able to secure from the Minister nothing more than the statement that the Dominion administration regarded unemployment relief as a matter for which the Provinces and municipalities were alone responsible.

The fact remains, however, in spite of the position taken by the Ottawa Government that the immigration policy of the Federal authorities has been a very material factor in aggravating the unemployment situation, and that on this ground, if not on others, the Dominion Government can logically be held responsible for a portion of the relief necessary to tide the unemployed over into better times.

If Ottawa recognizes a moral claim in equity to come to the aid of the victims of the Home Bank, it is equally clear that there is a moral claim in equity to contribute toward the relief of men who are without employment when it is obvious that had the immigration of industrial workers been closely checked the number of workers without jobs would have been materially reduced.

However, it is evident the municipalities of Ontario are only wasting time trying to make an impression upon the Ottawa House. There is not the slightest sign that any help can be expected, particularly as the Progressive members have no interest in the matter.

NORTHERN ONTARIO.

One of the most important features of the report of the Agricultural Inquiry Committee of the Legislature, as the Examiner sees it, is the attention given by the committee to Northern Ontario.

The report declares that the districts of Kenora, Rainy River, Thunder Bay, Algoma, Sudbury, Cochrane, Timiskaming and Nippissing are rich in natural resources and require population.

The committee recommends a new policy of settlement, overcoming many of the hardships at present involved, and suggests more compact settlements as likely to allow the early establishment of schools, churches, creameries, cheese factories and roads.

It is also suggested that the settlers be assisted by short-term loans, and that Government sales of live-stock should take place at convenient points.

It is to be hoped that these recommendations will meet with sympathetic consideration.

Down this way we are just beginning to realize the farming opportunities that exist in the northern part of the Province and the rich resources in general that are available there.

The common impression of New Ontario in the older portions of the Province as a wilderness, offering nothing worth while, is disappearing, and the truth of the situation is beginning to make itself felt.

The Agricultural Inquiry Committee does well to lay special stress upon the possibilities offered by the North.

THE PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL.

The splendid tribute paid by W. B. Roadhouse, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, to the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition at the annual banquet on Tuesday night must have been gratifying to the Directors, as it will be a source of community pride to citizens of the district generally.

Mr. Roadhouse declared that whether judged by its expenditure for agricultural purposes or for all purposes, the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition leads all the fairs in its class in the Province, and has set a new standard for them to aim at, the only fairs not included in this class being those held in Toronto, London and Ottawa.

When the deputy head of Ontario's Department of Agriculture unequivocally asserts his belief that the Peterboro Exhibition is the best in the Province outside of the three large urban exhibitions mentioned, it is praise that will be valued.

Peterboro people have not been slow in appreciating the ever-growing excellence of the local exhibition, but the glowing reports that are issued by press agents of other fairs throughout the Province have perhaps had the effect of beclouding the real standard of Peterboro's annual event.

Mr. Roadhouse has left no doubt as to where the Peterboro Industrial stands.

It not only leads all the rest, but it sets a new standard for them.

The success of the Peterboro Industrial has not been achieved by a series of booms or spurts; it has been brought about by long years of hard work and earnest effort, often in the face of discouraging conditions, bad weather and other setbacks.

Each year has seen improvements, first this department bettered, then important changes in that department.

More grandstand accommodation, more buildings have been added from year to year, the grounds have been improved until they are superior to almost anything in the Province, the prize list has grown steadily larger—in fact, systematic progress effected by the enthusiastic co-operation of everybody connected with the undertaking has been the keynote of the Peterboro Industrial.

And it must never be forgotten that this success would never have been possible had it not been for the generosity and public spirit of the late Mr. Morrow, whose assistance in regard to the Exhibition Grounds has been the biggest factor in the growth of Peterboro's big fair.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

Representatives of the automobile clubs of the Province who waited upon Premier Ferguson yesterday to ask for bread, in the form of a reduced license fee, may feel that they have been given a stone, says the Hamilton Spectator. The Prime Minister not only did not promise a reduction in the amount of the license fee, but informed the deputation that the Government had decided to impose a tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline, instead of 2 cents, as originally planned. Unless the public takes into consideration all the facts concerning the construction and maintenance of Provincial highways, there is a danger of criticism being misplaced. The Drury Government was for four years on a good roads spending spree. The result was a system of permanent highways unequalled on the Continent—and a debenture debt that was positively staggering. Premier Ferguson and his Cabinet Ministers have reasoned that the highways should be self-sustaining, that those who use them should pay for them. By the imposition of a tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline, it is expected that it will be possible to reduce the burden of the appalling debenture debt and, at the same time, maintain the highways already laid and construct the new ones necessary to complete the system of permanent roads. New tax innovations are seldom popular, but this one has the ring of common sense. Tourists from the United States who make use of Ontario's splendid highways have not directly contributed anything to the upkeep of these roads. They have spent millions of dollars with Ontario merchants, but they have escaped direct taxation. In the future, they will play an equal part with the motorists of the Province in maintaining Ontario's highways. The Department of Highways will be able to pay its own way, which is what all departments of government should do. The automobilists of Ontario will likely recognize the need of increased revenue for highways maintenance and the logic of making those who use the highways pay for them. The Government can, in turn, render a very real service to motorists by interesting itself in the price of gasoline, which, it has been claimed, is unnecessarily high. If it is a fair price that is being charged an injustice is being done the producing companies and the dealers. If it is not a fair price, if the public is being gouged, it should not be difficult to get definite information and use it as a basis for remedial action. In the prosperous Province of Quebec, which annually reports surprising surpluses, automobile license fees are based on the weight of vehicles and are considerably higher than they are in Ontario. The Quebec consumer likewise pays more for gasoline than his Ontario brother, and the Government imposes a tax of 3 cents per gallon. Comparison with motoring costs in other Provinces of the Dominion will not likely be unfavorable to Ontario.

AN APPEAL FROM THE NORTH.

Old Ontario gets 90 cents out of every dollar New Ontario earns.

New Ontario has no factories. It has to import from Old Ontario every stick of furniture, every yard of cloth, every shoe it wears, every book it reads, every pick it uses, every corkscrew it treasures. It does not begin to supply its own needs in farm produce, though it has millions of acres of good land. In Sault Ste. Marie we even import potatoes and carrots, and onions and condensed milk. The farmers of Lambton County get much of our money. The factories of Galt, Kitchener, London, Stratford, Peterboro, Toronto and Windsor and the rest make things for us. We are industrially as much a suburb of Toronto almost as Richmond Hill is; we contribute to Kitchener's prosperity as Waterloo does; we buy from London more than any small town around it. Sault Ste. Marie, and Sudbury and Fort William and Port Arthur and the rest of our towns are absolutely dependent on the factories and need the farms of Old Ontario to exist.

Only people in New Ontario realize how great the dependence is. Toronto is as much the Sault's buying centre as it is Guelph's, probably more. Next to local news, the news we want is about Toronto and Hamilton and the rest of the old home towns we all come from.

There couldn't possibly be any field which Old Ontario could develop as profitably as New Ontario. We are not in competition with Old Ontario at any point. Steel rails and paper, and gold and silver and nickel, and furs and lumber—Old Ontario does not produce these.

And the more our miners dig out of the ground, our print paper men produce, and our lumbermen saw, the more of Old Ontario's factory and farm products is required north of the French River.

There is one direction in which Old Ontario can help itself and us—by inducing American summer tourists to come into New Ontario. The American car which enters at Windsor and leaves Ontario at Buffalo isn't of much value to Ontario. But if Windsor and Niagara and Toronto all told these Americans of the really fine roads to Sault Ste. Marie, to Sudbury and to other points north, Ontario would be able to keep these visitors for an extra couple of weeks, with 90 per cent. of the consequent business for the factories of St. Catharines, Woodstock, Brantford and the rest.

It is only by getting the newspapers of Old Ontario to educate the people of the Province to the desireability of developing their own hinterland that we can get anywhere. New Ontario is seven times as large as Old Ontario—a vast, unorganized, unwieldy, struggling territory, where fine men work hard and are satisfied to rough it. There is no way by which New Ontario's settlements can organize to get the world interested.

If those gallant gentlemen, the editors of Old Ontario, would advise people to spend their holidays in New Ontario, the Province would benefit and more Ontario money would be kept at home. Canadian dollars spent in Flordia, for instance, never come back. And it's time we Canadians got interested in each other.

Eh, what?—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The fact that the Kurds are in revolt against Angora rule suggests that somebody has got their goat.

Going up! Peterboro's tax rate, beer from 2.50 per cent. to 4.40 per cent., gasoline via the three-cent tax route, Provincial members' indemnities.

The stronger beer plan does not go far enough for the Moderation League, and too far for the prohibitionists. The average citizen, therefore, should be well pleased with it.

It is evident that the "Heart of Oke" does not beat true for Mr. Drury.

The shrewder leaders of the British Labour party, says the Globe, have promptly dissociated themselves from attacks on the Prince of Wales. They know that royalty is popular, and they are not so poeitically foolish as to run counter to public sentiment when there is no principle at stake.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Wise and Otherwise.

Have your heard about spring? It will be here soon, dashing toward us at the rate of 24 hours per day.

Spring is the marrying season. That's simple. A man feels so lazy he needs a wife to make him work.

Flowers and golfers grow wild every spring.

Fishing is better than golfing. You can't go to sleep by a golf ball waiting ior it to bite.

A fisherman stretches his arms telling about his trip while a golfer stretches his imagination.

The one good thing about adding up a golf score is the same system will save you money on your income tax.

We never see a scarecrow in a corn field but what we think he is standing out there telling a fish tale.

Spring is the time of gardens. Some get vegetables out of their gardens. Some get chickens.

In starting your garden, make it small enough for your wife to do all the work later on.

You can combine golfing and gardening by using a midiron for a hoe.

Gardening, golfing and fishing are like faith, hope and charity, except you have the faith and hope and need the charity.

Perhaps the wildest of the wild spring flowers are the bathing girls.

Swimming is better than golfing. You can take as many strokes as you please.

Fishing is better than swimming. You don't have to wiggle your arms to stay on top of the ground.

Fishing is better than gardening. After you get your bait dug you don't have to watch the place.

The really dangerous thing about spring is every other place in the world sems better than where you are.

The sad thing about spring is the more rest you get the more restless you become.

A THOUGHT.

THE COTTAGE OF CONTENTMENT.

The cottage of contentment has a low roof. The grave of dissatisfaction is open.

My suggestion to you is to slow down, save gas and see the scenery. Pleasure is not measured by miles. A century run cannot compare with a short trip taken slowly through the Valley of Appreciation. Living at the rate of a mile a minute makes you miss the humble little "Cottage of Contentment," on the side of the hill. Why hurry to the undertaker?

KEEP FURS CLEAN

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—A lighter run than expected gave to the market a firmer tone than even in Monday's market, and the earlier advance of about 25c on good butcher stuff, was further advanced today from 15c to 25c on the choicest handy weight butcher steers and heifers. On the seconds and medium grades of butcher prices were holding steady at the first advance. Choice handyweights were quoted firm at from $7 to $7.75, and heavy beef steers from $8 to $8.40. Good medium butcher steady to firm from $5.50 to $6.50, and common from $4.50 to $5.

A good demand for feeders, both export and domestic, is a factor in this week's advance in the butcher cattle section.

Export buyers are still picking up as many export cattle as are available, including fat steers, heifers, bulls and cows. Prices in the export section holding steady.

Small meats steady.

Light run of hogs, and prices 15c higher at $11.25 to $11.40 f.o.b.

Prices in the various sections are as follows:

Export cattle, choice and heavy steers, $7.50 to $8.25; bulls, $4.50 to $5.25; heifers, $6.50 to $7; stodes, $6.60 to $7.

Choice butchers, $7 to $7.75; medium, $6 to $6.50; common, $4.50 to $5.50; baby beeves, $8.50 to $9.

Choice fat cows, $3.50 to $5.

Stockers and feeders, choice, short keep feeders, 1,000 to 1,200 lbs., $5.25 to $7; choice stockers, 830 to 950 lbs., $5.50 to $6; light western stock, $4.25 to $4.50; choice western, $6.25 to $6.75.

Calves steady.

Sheep and lambs steady.

Hogs, higher at $11.25 to $11.40 f.o.b. and $12.25 to $12.40 off cars; selects, off cars, $2.22 per head premium.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Markets are again easier and prices lower. The general tone is weak and on some markets there is an indication of a little overbuying. Imports of United States fresh continue heavy and local receipts are also showing signs of heavy increase.

Toronto — Lower. Specials, jobbing 46, extras 44, firsts 41, seconds 38.

Montreal—Extras costing delivered 42 to 45, firsts 40 to 42, jobbing, extras 46, firsts 45, seconds 33 to 36.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—Reacting from its dull, inactive tendencies of the past week, the wheat market during the closing minutes of today's session took on new life. Influenced by a flurry of buying, prices advanced substantially, May closing at $1.98 7-8 for a gain of 1 1-8 cents; July at $1.93 1-2, three cents higher, while October jumped 12 3-8 cents at $1.49 7-8.

Trade was light on the coarse grain market, exporters showing no interest. Flax was steady with prices about 2 cents above yesterday's close.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.— There was an increased enquiry from foreign buyers for Canadian grain here today, and as the prices bid for oats were satisfactory, some business was worked for March shipment, but the bids for wheat were thrown out of line by the advance in prices in the Winnipeg market and no sales were reported

The domestic market for oats closed stronger at an advance of 1 cent per bushel; Ontario No. 3 grade being quoted at 66 cents, and No. 4 grade at 64 cents, per bushel, ex store.

The feature of the local flour trade was the stronger feeling in the spring wheat market and prices were marked up 20 cents per barrel, which was attributed to renewed strength in wheat at Winnipeg. The market for winter wheat flour was unchanged.

An easier feeling prevailed in the local egg situation and prices for fresh extras were reduced another 1c per dozen, which was attributed to the liberal supplies coming forward. Prices for butter were well maintained under a fair demand. The cheese market was quiet with fodder made No. 1 white and colored goods quoted at 20 1-4 to 20 1-2, and No. 2 grade at 19 1-4 to 19 1-2 per pound.

Beans were unchanged at $2.70.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:

Sterling demand $4.75.

Sterling cables $4.76 3-8.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK

Winnipeg, Feb. 25.—Receipts.—cattle, 495; calves, 85; cattle rices firm, with moderate volume of supplies coming forward coupled with fairly broad demand trade continues fairly healthy and the market strengthened fully 25 cents over last week's close.

Hog receipts 2,700. Prices sharply higher. Thicks smooths, $11; select bacons, $12.10.

No sheep and lamb receipts. Good killing lambs quoted $12.50 to $13 and decent handyweight sheep $7 to $8.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Estimates which were current that new export business totalled 1,000,000 bushels and that farm reserves have been reduced 23,000,000 bushels or more, compared with a year ago, did a good deal to lift the wheat market today. Closing prices on wheat were strong 1 to 2 3-4 cents net higher. May 1.90 1-8 to 1.90 1-4 and July 1.58 3-8 to 1.58 1-2, with corn 1 1-2 to 2 1-4 cents up; oats showing 1-2 to 7-8 advance, and provisions unchanged to 15c higher.

Notwithstanding a weak start due to lower quotations at Liverpool, the wheat market here soon began to climb and in the end went above 1.90 a bushel, May delivery. Indications that exporters had purchased 500,000 bushels at Omaha and Kansas City and were buying elsewere, too, were largely responsible for the initial upward tendency which values developed.

RED ROSE COFFEE "is good coffee"

Is This Your Birthday?

THURSDAY, FEB. 26.—Persons born this day will be very exacting and careful. They will attract attention because of their neat and tidy appearance, but the gaudy and tinsel side of dress and life will not appeal to them. Their lives will be marked by gradual but certain advancement and they have the ability to amass a good-sized fortune by this method. Both men and women will be fond of a quiet, home life.

MARMORA SCENE OF HOBOS' CONVENTION

A Night of Song, Music and Comedy Attracts Big Crowd.

MARMORA, Feb. 26.—Marmora has been the scene of many inspiring conventions in the days that are past, but is has been left to the roving profession to provide perhaps the most attractive one. "The Tramps Convention" at the Town Hall on Monday evening drew an appreciative and large audience. It had been especially urged that on account of the serious and tragic nature of the conference, no loud laughing should be indulged in, in any part of the building. Needless to say, the injunction was scarcely heeded.

Master James Rice, a juvenile artiste of rising ability, made an admirable Dusty Bob, and president of the convention. Don McInroy sustained very creditably the role of Happy Hooligan. His was the first speech at the convention, wherein he told how to deal with troublesome dogs. Considerable mirth was provoked by Harry Dunlay, who made an ideal "Dirty Joe." In addition to describing various methods for getting food, he gave two comic songs, "Where did you get that nose, tell me, red nose, do?" and "The grass is always greener in the other fellow's yard."

Hobo Jake (D. E. Bell) was the next speaker, and his pointers on the drink question much amused the audience. Harold Auger put life into his role of Gentleman Jim, dealing in very impressive tones with the subject of courts and reciting a suitable poem. The generous side of a tramp's nature was portrayed by Paul Clement, who as Frowsy Filthy had garments enough, and to spare for the deserving applicants among his fellow bums. C. B. Leonard made a hit as Tramping Muggs, and his song, "Oh, you can't fool an old horse fly" fairly brought down the house. Tattered Ragona (M. E. Grant) told of his various successes in evaidng employment. His views were often in demand on other subjects. It was a part most creditably sustained. W. E. Mackechnie had a lot to say as Hungry Dan, and his contribution was by no means the least. Charles Shannon beamed brightly as Hatless Hal, and was accorded admission into the Ananias Club for his apt remark that he never told a lie. He also sweetly rendered "Come back, come back, O Pal of mine."

Ralph Neal was the colored member of the fraternity, and as Lazy Logan did remarkably well. Art Smith footed the boards as Tired Tim. He was not too tired, however, to give a speciality step dance, which won applause. The part of Frosty Finnegan was given to Jack Grant, who added to its effectiveness by selections on the bones. Dr. Curtis as Sunny Mike, Leo Forestell as Healthy Tim, Percy Archer as Dusty Rhodes and I. D. Simmons as the Janitor made up a good all-round cast.

A visitor to the convention appeared in the person of Mr. Lester, who also in tramp costume sang two songs, "I'm a vag-vag-vagabond" and "I'm going back to Indiana." Florence Auber very ably accompanied at the piano.

Prizes for first and second best costumes and acting will be later awarded by the Marmora Boosters Club, under whose auspices the play was put on. Prior to the rise of the curtain, the president, Dr. Hamilton Crawford briefly outlined the activities of the Booster Club during its short existence. Crowe Lake has been popularized so as to occasion many additional cottages being erected along its shores. At quite a cost, Crow Lake had for the first time been advertised in Ackerman's Guide, a full page being devoted to its glories. Lastly the Club had taken charge of a surgical case in the Sick Children's Hospital.

A PRESENTATION TO BRIGHTON RESIDENT

Leaving for Detroit, Mrs. C. S. Lake is Honored by Friends.

BRIGHTON, Feb. 16.—On the evening of February 23, at the home of Mrs. Edythe Craig, about thirty-five friends of Mrs. C. S. Lake, who is leaving Brighton for Detroit, Mich., gathered to have a farewell party, and a pleasant evening was spent in cards and dancing. About midnight a dainty lunch was served, during the course of which Mrs. Lake was pleasantly surprised by being presented with a bouquet of roses and a leather club bag by Mr. Grant Quick on behalf of those present. Mrs. Craig read the following address:

"Dear Mrs. Lake,

"As the time draws near when you are to leave Brighton, we feel that we cannot let you go without expressing in some modest way our sincere appreciation of your true friendship in the years past and gone. You may be sure that we shall miss you very much and without doubt this feeling of regret is mutual. We trust that you may always remember that you have a warm place in our hearts. We feel that there is no broken link in the chain of friendship here, and that it may always exist intact in the years to come. We wish you every success and happiness in the future.

"As a small token of our goodwill kindly accept this.

"Signed on behalf of your friends.
"Ray Simpson.
"C. Mills.
"Ethel Glenn."

News In Brief.

Mr. Clarence King of Toronto is spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. King.

Miss Ruby Cheer is spending a couple of weeks in Toronto.

Mrs. A. Rainbird of Belleville visited Mrs. C. S. Lake before the latter's departure for Detroit.

Mr. J. M. Stevenson, teller at the Standard Bank here, has been transferred to Shakespeare, Ont., branch which is a former branch of the Sterling Bank of Canada.

The Provincial Highway in and around Brighton, and the road to Campbellford are in good condition and traffic is comparatively heavy.

Mr. J. C. Nichol of London, Ont. came here recently on a business trip and purchased a large number of cattle.

Mr. C. O'Neill, from the head office of the Standard Bank of Canada, Toronto, has been transferred to Brighton, and will assume the duties of teller.

Mr. J. Greenfield of Picton has been visiting with his son, Mr. H. C. Greenfield, for the last week.

The recent mild weather has completely spoiled the ice on the local school rink, and it is doubtful if there will be any more skating this year.

Mr. Cleworth Mills of Toronto has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mills for the past two weeks.

A Jolly Dance.

A very pleaasnt dance was held by the Sheik Hockey Club on February 18. The hall was prettily decorated and the Bon Ton Orchestra of Belleville, featuring "Alabama" Robinson gave an enjoyable concert and rendered their usual high class music for dancing. At midnight the guests adjourned to the basement where supper was served after which the dancing was resumed until 3 a.m.

PLEASURES OF MEMORY

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

THE memories called forth by an old tune were responsible for my overlooking many circumstances connected with the survey which should really have had prior attention in my last article. Interesting things had happened before our party reached the Forks of the Red Deer and South Saskatchewan Rivers. The members who composed it had been recruited in a district of northern Ontario and had been told to report on a certain date in Toronto. When we reached there we were met by a dapper young man who suavely informed us that he had been directed to take charge of us as far as Winnipeg. As our meals and transportation were included in our contracts we didn't care much who took charge of us so long as we reached our destination, so we resigned ourselves very complacently to his care. As the C.P.R. was then in course of construction we were obliged to travel via Chicago and the Rock Island Railway in order to get to Winnipeg. Everything went along well till we reached Davenport, a city on the western bank of the Mississippi. Here our young guide informed us that we would have to go slow in the matter of eating as all the funds were exhausted. We thereupon held counsel together and agreed to help each other with whatever private funds we possessed, and to have a general settlement when our first wages came due. None of us had brought much money with us, but we were able to scrape enough together to provide plenty to eat, if we didn't soar too high in the matter of luxuries. Meals were cheaper in those days than they are now.

We had our first funny experience at Davenport. We had been informed that there would be a considerable time to wait before the train left, so having tired of buffet fare, we elected to try our fortune at some restaurant in the town. Not far from the station we came upon a sign which read, "Come in, boys. Free meals for them as can pay." We looked at it and the cook, who had already constituted himself spokesman-in-chief for the party, cried out, "What say, boys?—the man as writ that there must be a nice kind of a feller—he's got a laugh in him, he has. Let's go in and see if his sangwiches is as good as his jokes." All being agreeable, we followed the direction of the frowsy forefinger on the signboard and descended a long flight of dirty and dissolute-looking steps till we were confronted by a closed door. On knocking, it was opened by some unseen agency and we entered to find ourselves in a subterranean chamber, reeking with smoke and filled with a boisterous and rough-looking assemblage of men and women. As soon as we were well inside, the door closed sharply behind us. One look and one sniff were enough for most of us and we turned to go out only to find our way barred by a Herculean gentleman in shirt-sleeves, who stood with his arms akimbo, glaring menacingly at us. "Twenty-five cents apiece," he said. "But we haint had nuthin' to eat," protested the cook. "That ain't nuthin' to me," replied the man. "You kin either stay and fill yerselves up and pay or you kin pay and git out without fillin' yerselves up." I was not used to such cryptic jargon so I asked him to kindly say it over again. He did so, but with such ferocity that my thanks froze on my lips. As we were in a strange country and there was no knowing what might happen to us if we tried to force our way out, we contented ourselves with growling and passed on to one of the tables. The meal proved to be good enough in its way but we were rather surprised, on fyling out to find that the individual who had acted as doorkeeper was now occupying the position of clerk. A Colt's revolver lay on the desk, within easy reach of his hand. This whetted my curiosity and I enquired in a jovial and amiable manner if by any chance he took us to be part of Jesse James' gang. His reply was brief and to the point. "Say, young feller," he said, "many a bright young life like yours has been spiled on a suddent by the asking of onnessary questions. Pay yer money and git to Kalamazoo out of here." He used another term, but this one, to borrow a favorite expression of the cook's, "sounds more refined-like." I didn't wait to bandy further jocularities, but when we had reached the upper air I enquired of the cook if his preconceived ideas regarding humor and hospitality going hand in hand had not suffered something of a shock. For once in his life he was obliged to confess that he had been wofully astray in his judgment.

We had been told that Davenport had quite an interesting history, owing to its being the gateway to the north-western States, and that its archives held many records of encounters with red men and outlaws. After our little unpleasantness we were quite willing to believe that all the outlaws weren't dead yet, whatever might have happened to the Indians.

We reached Winnipeg in due course and were met by our future chief, whom I will call Demmit, as a slight tribute to his proficiency in profanity. He directed us to a certain hostel off Main street, kept by a German of the name of Braun, telling us to put up there for the night. Thither we duly repaired and thither Demmit came after tea to tell us to report for duty early next morning at the railway station for the purpose of shipping the carts, ponies and provisions on the train.

Before turning in for the night, in company with a member of the party named Humble Wiseman (a gross misnomer, for he was neither humble nor wise), I went out to see the sights of Winnipeg. It was then a city of some 15,000 inhabitants, and possessed some fine buildings in the Hudson Bay Stores, the Cauchon Block and Ashdown's and Stobart and Eden's stores. We looked at the remains of Fort Garry and when we had strolled across the Assiniboine bridge, started to wend our way homewards.

We had varied the monotony of our walk by stoppages at some of the various places of refreshment with which Winnipeg was so bountifully supplied in those halcyon days, but my companion insisted on making one more visit to a bar in order to drink success to the world in general and to our survey in particular. We soon came to an inviting-looking hotel standing slightly back from the street. It was called the Royal Exchange. We walked in briskly and found ourselves in a clean, sawdust-strewn apartment, which did duty as billiard room and bar.

We had no sooner entered at the door than my attention was riveted on a set of shoulders belonging to a man who was drinking at one of the tables. Such shoulders, once seen could never be forgotten. I whispered to my companion, "Look, Humble, may I be shot if that isn't Cosgrove." "Blame my buttons, so it ain't," cried my friend confusedly and excitedly. The gentleman in question had not yet seen us, for his back was turned and he was in the throes of some mighty joke which caused him to guffaw at that moment and to spill some of the liquor in the glass that he was holding. Now Cosgrove had left our district some three years before, after various depredations committed on his neighbors' farms, and there were warrants out for his arrest. I had been rendered poorer by the loss of a sheep and I was anxious to let the erstwhile marauder know that I hadn't forgotten him.

I went up and tapped him sharply on the shoulder. "Why," I said, "who would have expected to see you here of all places in the world?" He turned quickly round, gave me one startled look, and making use of an expression that showed that in his wanderings he hadn't forgotten the name of the Almighty, was out of the room in a flash. I turned sadly to Humble, and remarked, "All I wanted to say to him was that I would be willing to call things square so far as I was concerned if he would treat us both to a drink." "Ah," cried Humble, irrelevantly yet sententiously, "ain't ingratitude just the awfullest thing in the world?"

It would take too long to describe in detail our journey from Winnipeg to Swift Current, the then terminus of the railway. Just before we boarded the train Demmit came to me and said, "Look here, I've taken quite a fancy to you, so I'm going to trust to you to look after the ponies and provisions in the freight car. You'll have to stick tight to them, as there's no knowing what thieves may be prowling about. Of course," he added, "it isn't going to be the pleasantest job in the world, but I'm sure you'll do it for me, won't you?" "Certainly," I replied.

Now, after all these years, remembering the discomfort I experienced, I cannot help noticing a similarity between Demmit's remarks and those of an old schoolmaster of mine who used to thrash me unmercifully and tell me always that he only did it because he loved me so. I could have done with less love and less thrashing in the one instance, and in the other instance, if Demmit hadn't taken such a fancy to me, I might have been reposing on a bed of down for the next few days instead of on the straw that I managed to scrape from the mangers of the ponies. To add to my troubles the Mounted Police didn't forget to make a thorough search of my quarters and pounced on the only bottle of cordial that I possessed, which I had tried to secrete in my bag as a preventative against illness.

MAURICE WEEPS AS PARTNER OF DANCE MARRIES

Leonora Hughes Weds Wealthy Argentinian Dissolving Brand New $100,000 Contract.

CHANGED HER MIND

Loved Her Like Sister — Collapsed At Her Parting Kiss.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Tossing a $100,000 contract into the wastebasket, Leonora Hughes, dancer, was married to Carlos Ortiz Basualdo, Argentinian millionaire, in St. Patrick's Cathedral Tuesday.

In the midst of the gay throng, Maurice, the bride's dancing partner, staggered up the cathedral steps and collapsed, weeping. Even when Leonora pressed a kiss on his pallid cheek the disconsolate dancer refused to be comforted.

Only the day before, he explained, he and Leonora had signed a contract for $100,000 that nothing but death or marriage could break. Before the traditional ink was proverbially dry on the document she had changed her mind.

Death, declared Maurice, would have been a surprise, but marriage was a greater shock to his temperament and plans.

Gayety Not Halted.

Otherwise the wedding was a joyous event, a gladsome occasion, and Maurice's dramatic despairing entrance did not diminish the gayety of the throng of guests.

At first it was thought that in the stress of emotion he might attempt to prevent the marriage, but his grief was greater than his resentment, and he remained merely to mourn.

The bridal couple got the marriage license at 11 o'clock, and then hurried to Father Robert E. Woods, who united them.

Just before the priest pronounced them man and wife, who should come to the chapel but Maurice. A weeping and collapsible Maurice.

Collapsed Twice.

He wept continually, and he collapsed twice. He arrived with a young woman. As he looked woefully at those standing outside the edifice, he asked:

"Is it really true?"

The tears gushed from him, and he collapsed against a pillar. A good Samaritan saved him from falling. And Maurice, when he had somewhat recovered, turned to him and said:

"Ah, it is terrible! Is it not? I love her like I love a sister. She means everything to me. Everything! Sure I want her to be happy—so happy—but this—this—

Collapsed At Her Kiss.

"A stranger called me up this morning and told me Leonora was to be the bride of this Argentinian. I laughed. I did not believe. I came to see for myself."

And then the bride came out on the arm of her husband, and Maurice swayed against the pillar. But Leonora ran to him and kissed him. And Maurice collapsed again.

Mr. and Mrs. Basualdo departed soon for San Francisco and the orange blossoms. They will stay in California only a short time. Then they will go to Buenos Aires and later to the Orient.

Basualdo, it is said, has an income of $8,000 a week. And it is said of his father that "he owns half the Argentine."

A gladsome day, of course.

But Maurice must look for another

HYDRO LIGHT AND POWER TO FARMS

Rural Members of Legislature Demand Further Concessions From Government.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

TORONTO, Feb. 26. Canadian Press).—The demand from rural members of the legislature for still further government concessions to farmers in the matter of helping to bring hydro light and power to their farms may result in a further increase in the government bonus toward the construction of primary and secondary power lines.

The Drury government made the first concession by agreeing to pay half the cost of constructing primary power lines to farms Later the Ferguson government went a step farther and agreed to pay not only half the cost of primary but also of secondary lines. Operating under that policy last year the Provincial Hydro Commission constructed 154 miles of rural power lines at a cost to the government of $180,000, or roughly a little over $1,000 a mile. Now the government has under consideration, as the result of continued representations of private members and results of investigations and findings made by the Agricultural Committee, an increasing of the government bonus to two-thirds of the cost of primary and secondary lines. This would make the government's cost something like $1,300 a mile.

It was stated yesterday that the matter will not be passed upon finally until the return of Sir Adam Beck from the south.

DISMISSED THE APPEAL.

Privy Council of England Decides Against Ontario's Attorney-General.

LONDON, Feb 26 (Canadian Press.—The judicial committee of the Privy Council today dismissed the appeal of the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario, and decided that his amendment to the Act of the Province of Ontario, 1924, was not within the legislative authority of that province.

This amendment provides that the province would have the right to name the duties of various judges appointed to the Supreme Court by the Dominion Government, and designate judges to head various divisions of that court.

HOME NURSING SERIES.

Dr. A. W. McPherson Spoke on Communicable Diseases to Members and Friends.

There was a large-sized audience of about two hundred people in the auditorium of the Public Library last evening, for the address given to members and friends of the Red Cross Home Nursing Classes by Dr. A. W. McPherson, who spoke on "Communicable Diseases." A great deal of interest was manifested in Dr. McPherson's talk, which dealt in detail and in interesting fashion with the different types of communicable diseases, and gave an outline of the bacteria which caused them. The speaker also described fully the manner of prevention and treatment, with special reference to Home Nursing classes.

SOVIET CRISIS BY TRADE DROP

Suppression Of Private Enterprise Again Threatens Serious Trouble.

CREDITS SHRINK

MOSCOW, Feb. 26. — Although industrial production on the average has reached 65 per cent. of the pre-war level, Russia stands now before an approaching trade crisis, as the sale of goods in internal markets is decreasing greatly, recent economic statistics show, in Central Russia, the Ukraine and Caucasus. The general sale of goods decreased during January 35, 40 and 50 per cent,, respectively, in the above markets, in comparison with the last two months of last year.

According to the report issued on the annual fair held at Kieff, little business was done there. Private trade, it is reported, was entirely unrepresented and even participation of co-operative societies was "insignificant."

This approaching crisis in the general sale of goods, which chiefly affects those consumers by the peasantry, comes quite unexpectedly. Only recently State trusts and factories were urged by the authorities to increase production and lower prices of commodities in order to bring them within reach of the peasants. Such a policy the Government regarded as the best means to effect a junction between the town and village.

The present unfavorable symptoms therefore are looked upon with a certain anxiety. Soviet economic observers attribute the decrease in the sale of goods to two causes: First, the withdrawal of credits from the co-operative societies by State industrial concerns owing to their own lack of capital for production and inability to creat favorable conditions for return to private trade; second, to the decreased buying capacity of the peasants.

The first cause is alleged to be the direct outcome of last year's policy regarding internal trade and the suppression of private trade.

The authorities believe it possible and rather an easy matter for the co-operatives to get hold of the market and establish organizations for bringing goods direct to buyers. State trusts and factories were instructed to give credit to co-operative societies and not to sell goods to private wholesalers even for cash. Thus private capital gradually withdrew from business, leaving the field to co-operatives who, however, proved unable to cope with the situation. State industrial concerns meantime gave credit to the co-operative societies to the extent of more than 100,000 rubles, which the co-operatives now are unable to repay, thus depriving industry of the possibility to enlarge production.

The financial situation of the industries became acute. Workmen's wages in many districts remained unpaid. There was no alternative but to end the credits, and immediately this was followed by curtailed demand for goods, resulting in the limitation of trade.

The decreased buying capacity of the peasantry is due to uncertainty as to the coming harvest. Unfavorable weather conditions, coupled with limitation of bread prices by the Government, has compelled the peasants to abstain from offering their grain to the market.

New York Makes Bid For Canadian Hockey Team

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—Pierre ('Pete') Bellefeuille, the London hockey player, over whom many anxious moments were spent to secure his playing certificate earlier this winter, received an offer yesterday from the Tex Rickard-Tommy Gorman faction to play for New York next winter. The contract contained sufficient inducements of such proportions that the former Three Rivers star will hardly turn it down.

CLEANERS LEARN SECRETS

People Leave Letters and Jewelry in Clothes Sent for Cleaning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26—(AP) —The old saw that no man is a hero to his valet might be transposed to say that no man or woman either is entirely a mystery to his or her dry cleaner, if one accepts the views of Miss Elizabeth Santry, receiver at a local dry cleaning establishment.

Miss Santry sums up her reactions severely as follows: 'The men are unfaithful and careless. The women are stupid and indifferent." She explains that men are prone to leave love letters in their clothes, and that women make a habit of sending garments with jewelry adhering.

"Life in a dry cleaning office is just one piece of jewelry after another and one love letter on the heels of another .When we send the letters home in the cleaned clothes, wives always get them and trouble follows.

'I called one woman up at a hotel and told her we had her diamond sunburst, worth a fortune. She yawned and said, "All right, dearie, I'll send a bell hop over some time to-day."

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, Feb 26.—Congratulations continue to pour in upon the members of the Deloro Choral Club through the great success of their initial concert last Saturday evening. The choruses revealed the earnest and faithful way in which director, members and accompanist laboured to bring about this event which went so far in the promotion of good healthy music in this community. It is scarcely too late to refer to the superb playing of Mr. Leo Smith of Toronto. Being recognized as the greatest cellist of North America, it was not surprising that from start to finish his listeners were held spellbound with admiration of his gifts. The real soul of music was awakened into life as he brought into being the sweet and tender measures of a romance or burst out in the gay notes of a jig. Music lovers drank to the full of the emotions that his music inspired.

Deloro String Quartet sustained its past good reputation. A three fold musical event such as this proved to be, could not easily be forgotten.

GUELPH MAN FOR GEORGE STREET

Rev. J. E. Todd Will Succeed Rev. W. Harold Young in June.

ABLE PREACHER.

The Board of George Street Methodist Church has invited Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of Dublin Street Church, Guelph, to assume the pastorate of the church in succession to Rev. Harold W. Young, whose term of five years expires next June and who, as announced some months ago is to go to Toronto. Mr. Todd has accepted the invitation, subject to the favorable action of the Transfer and Stationing Committees.

Mr. Todd has been for the last three years pastor of the above mentioned church in Guelph and has had unusual success in all parts of the church work. A preacher of unusual ability, he has afforded leadership which has stimulated the life of the church in all directions, and has won for him great regard in the hearts of the people. It was only with the greatest reluctance that they consented to his release in order that he might accept the call to Peterboro.

Prior to his term in Guelph, he was pastor of the important Morrison Street Church in Niagara Falls, Ont., and enjoyed there the same success in his work.

The exact date of his coming to Peterboro has not yet been fixed but it will follow very closely on Mr. Young's relinquishing the work in the early summer.

FAIR-PLAY FOR ALL SAYS PREMIER KING

Delegation Told Discriminatory Ocean Rates Would Not Develop Trade.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Unfair and discriminatory ocean rates were the chief difficulty to be removed if Canadian trade is to move freely through Canadian ports.

This was the declaration of Premier Mackenzie King to a big delegation from the Maritime Provinces and other points which waited upon the government this morning to urge that the preference on imports from Britain be confined to goods entering the country through Canadian ports.

"How can we hope to develop Canadian trade through Canadian ports when such discrimination is allowed to exist," the Prime Minister asked the delegation.

DOCTOR UNKNOWN TO HIS HOME CITY

Sir James Mackenzie Not Recognized as Great Physician for Years.

GLASGOW, Feb. 26. —(AP).—The entertained at the London Hospital, specialists, who died last week, had spread to the United States and to other parts of the world, long before he became a figure in the medical world of Great Britain. In connection with his passing the story is told of the visit of Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Laboratories for Medical Research, who came to London in 1911 and was entetained at the London Hospital. At a distinguished assemblage of surgeons and physicians, Dr. Flexner inquired why James Mackenzie was not there.

'Mackenzie?" every one queried, and the answer all round was: "Why we have never heard of a doctor by that name who has accomplished anything of note."

'Well," Dr. Flexner replied, Mackenzie is mighty well known in America, and so are all his works on the heart."

Londen then sat up and took notice. Not long afterward Dr. Mackenzie had become the chief consulting physician for heart diseases at London Hospital and a special department was created for him so that he could carry on his work.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ON THE O.T.A.

Dear Sir,—I understand that a minister in one of our local churches indulged in a very vehement tirade on Sunday morning last against the proposed change in the strength of beer. As a man who has always voted for the O.T.A. and one who has never used liquor as a beverage, I would like to voice the protest which is, I am sure, in the minds of many people against the spirit manifested in that sermon.

The minister in questioin denounces the men who are responsble for this change in most insulting terms, and would not credit them with any motive whatever, except "political aggrandisement."

Now, under the British law, even a criminal is judged innocent until he is proved guilty. Hon. W. T. Nickle, who is the sponsor for this Act and has charge of the enforcement of it, is far from being a criminal. The Rev. R. E. Knowles, speaking at the prohibition convention in Toronto, said: "I have known Hon. Mr. Nickle ever since we were schoolmates together, and the province may well thank God that it has, as the chief executive for the administration of the O.T.A., such a man as Mr. Nickle. He is distinguished for his high intelligence and sincereity, and the Province of Ontario, or the Dominion of Canada, have never had a man more distinguished for his honesty and integrity." The Rev. Mr. Knowles in making thats statement voiced the sentiment of thousands of good temperance worker all over Ontario, who have known Mr. Nickle for a consistent Christian, a man of blameless record and unquestionable integrity.

Continuing, Mr. Knowles said: 'We do not know; it may have been 'that the amendment was the only thing which could have saved the OT.A., from extinction. In this situation, the prime requisite is honesty; the supreme question is whether the men behind this move are honest. I, personally, believe they are." But the convention said "No : No", and the pulpit says 'No : No; they are not sincere, they are not honest." If the minister would turn the pages of his Bible he will read, "Judge not that ye be not judged."

Now, as a temperance man, who has cast as many Liberal votes as he has Conservative, I am not writing this in a partisan spirit. I am neither defending nor condemning the government for their action. I am merely asking that people reserve judgment until the change has been given a trial. We have every reason to believe that Mr. Nickle is sincere in his desire to promote true temperance in this province, and his past record shows that he has never let political considerations interfere with the honorable discharge of his public duties. What proof is there that he is doing so now? If this minister will follow this sermon by one denouncing Messrs. Drury, Raney, Chown and Dr. Moore for upholding, for some years past, an Act which allows the sale of native wine containing from 18 to 28% alcohol; if he will then preach a third sermon denouncing the Kings government for allowing the brewerie and distilleries to operate in "dry" Ontario, manufacturing highly intoxicating liquors and making use of the customs for illegal shipments in the interest of the bootleggers; if he will call out the name of the Dominion member for Peterboro' as a member of the "King clique" with the same bravery and vehemence which he used in denouncing the "Ferguson clique," then we will believe he is sincere. Otherwise, every sane, reasoning man and woman must conclude that the clergy have descended to making use of their position and power for the spreading of political propaganda.

TEMPERANCE WORKER.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 489L Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

SILK INDUSTRY GROWING.

French Business Is Regaining Pre-War Importance and Shows Large Increase.

The year 1924 has marked new progress in the development of the French silk worm industry which is gradually regaining its pre-war importance. Official figures recently received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its French Information Service show that the number of people engaged in cultivating silk worms rose from 60,755 in 1923 to 75,168 last year, while the volume of eggs produced increased during the same period from 71,341 lots of 25 grammes each to 84,056 lots. The production of fresh cocoons totalled 4,180,466 kilogrammes last year as against 3,355,125 kilogrammes in 1923 and 4,423,046 kilogrammes in 1913 so that the average yield of cocoons per lot of eggs has risen from 34.91 kilogrammes in 1913 to 47.03 kilogrammes in 1923 and 49.73 kilogrammes in 1924. The average selling price of eggs in 1924 was 22.48 francs instead of 8.59 francs in 1913.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

MOST OLD FOLKS REQUIRE A HEART AND NERVE TONIC

After middle age little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly as the heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves are not as steady as they were in the younger days.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's H. & N. Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

Re-organization to Enable Better Work in Imperial-Dominion Affairs.

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—There is a considerable amount of re-organization proceeding in the Colonial office in order that it will be better able to deal with the growing mass of work involved in discussing the imperial affairs with the Dominions.

The treasury committee is considering certain changes which will involve increased expenditure. It is suggested that the designation 'Colonial Secretary" should be changed to 'Secretary of State for Imperial Affairs," or some other suitable title also, that there should be two permanent secretaries and parliamentary agents under the Secretaries instead of one. One would devote his entire attention to the Dominions and Irish affairs and other to affairs of the crown colonies.

A LIFE STORY LIKE FICTION

Vancouver Boy, Writing a Story of His Varied Experiences During War.

ENLISTED AT 13.

VANCOUVER, B.C., February 26 (Canadian Press). — With a lifetime of 24 years as replete with adventure as that of one of Joseph Conrad's or Rudyard Kipling's heroes to draw upon, Stephen W. Harvey, M.M., Croix de Guerre, himself a protege of Kipling, is now engaged in writing a record of his varied and interesting experiences—during the few spare moments when he is not engaged in discharging his duties in the steward's department of the new motorship Aorangi which left here recently on her maiden Canadian-Australasian voyage.

Born in Winnipeg in 1901, Harvey ran away from home when the war broke out. After several futile attempts to enlist in different branches of His Majesty's forces, he succeeded in enlisting in the 13th Battalion in Montreal when he was only 13 years of age.

Early the following spring he was ordered to France, where he subsequently had what he considered the good fortune to be in the midst of practically all the important engagements—despite the protest made by his sister to the authorities when she discovered him in 1916 while she was serving as an overeass nurse.

At the Battle of Passchendaele Harvey distinguished himself by bringing in a mortally wounded officer who lay in the shot-raked No Man's Land. For this achievement he received the Military Medal, and for another feat of valour later in the same battle he was decorated with the Croix de Guerre.

Following the Passchendaele affair—of which he still carries a bit of shrapnel in his head as a souvenir—Harvey was in hospital for seven months.

When the Armistice was signed, this soldier of the King found himself at a loose-end—his sister and two brothers, all of whom were overseas, and both his parents, having died since he left home. Finally he enlisted for service in Russia.

Soon after his arrival in that disturbed land he fell into the hands of the Soviet forces, and was interned in a prison camp on the Volga, where he was kept for seven months before he was returned to England.

Following this experience, Harvey sought adventure upon the high seas. He served on H.M.C.S. Patriot for nine months, but was honourably discharged as being physically unfit—but that has not prevented him from holding positions on a number of deep sea vessels since then.

Last fall Harvey was chosen to represent the Canadian Government at the Armistice service in London, and was presented to Their Majesties.

He has kept a diary and scrapbook for several years, which contains the signatures of a number of well-known figures, including King George, the Prince of Wales, and Earl Beatty.

Rudyard Kipling is to write the preface for this young man's book of memoirs, which will deal principally with his war experiences.

MILLBROOK CREEK THREATENED TOWN

Some Cellars Filled, But Weather Prevented Flood.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 24.— Pedestrians had a practical experience of "standing in slippery places" on Monday, both roadway and pavements offering insecure footing. The umbrellas, which the steady downpour made necesasry, did some frantic bobbing and circling as the owners thereof "balanced all," more often on one foot than two, in a mad endeavor to keep other portions of their anatonomy from coming in violent contact with the icy terra firma.

It was feared at one time that the annual flood which Millbrook has rather grown used to looking for, threatened, the creek beds being filled with ice, and the culverts, in some instances, not large enough to carry off the unusual volume of water. Tupper street for a time had a minature river, with pavement overflowed, and many cellars were far from "dry," the unwelcome contents, however, being no violation of the O.T.A.

Attwooll and Sheppard lifted two logs from the dam early in the afternoon and the creek under the King street bridge ran very high. The cessation of the rain towards evening, and the falling temperature, saved the situation, and except for the inconvenience to householders, whose cellars were flooded, practically no damage resulted.

Underwent Operation.

Much sympathy will be felt for Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, whose youngest son, Russell, aged ten years, was removed to Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital on Monday suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis, following a week's illness with intestinal flu.

An operation was performed on Monday afternoon, Dr. Cameron, of Peterborough, coming out to assist Dr. Turner, Dr. C. A. Richards administering the anesthetic. The patient is making as good progress toward recovery as can be expected under the circumstances.

Born—In Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital, on Friday, February 20, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Handley, a daughter, Mary Elizabeth.

Mrs. V. Mulligan, who has been ill with congestion of the lungs at Dr. Turner's private hospital, was able to return home on Monday.

The musicale which the Anglican church was holding on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, has bene postponed until Monday, March 2, because of the unfavorable state of roads and weather on Monday of this week, preventing even the village people from being able to attend.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

The monthly meeting of Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. E. Needham, the president, Miss May Needham, being in the chair.

Considering the fact that neither pavement nor roadway offered safe walking owing to their slippery condition, and that the weather was anything but favourable, the attendance of twenty members was exceptionally good.

Among business items discussed was the serving of dinner on the 12th of July, the celebration this year being in Millbrook. It was decided that this would be undertaken, and a committee was appointed to secure suitable premises.

Rev. Mr. Howard was present, and asked the Aid to consider catering for a banquet which the Men's Brotherhood expects to hold on 6th March, when it is hoped to have Judge Mott, or one of his assistants from the Juvenile Court, Toronto, as speaker for the occasion. Tickets will be sold, and probably one hundred and fifty men will sit down to supper.

A committee was appointed to draft a menu, and arrange all details.

The Fancy Work Committee of the Aid, Mrs. G. Locke and Mrs. J. McKnight, convenors, has a number of articlse on hand, such as aprons, dainty handkerchiefs, centres, children's nightgowns, etc., many of which have ben specially ordered and are now sold, and any of which may be ordered, as all are on sale. They may be seen at Mrs. Locke's homme.

The "Silver Tree," a number of which Mrs. McKnight gave out at the beginning of the year, is asked to be returned by any members having their still on hand, so that before the annual meeting in April the treasurer may make up a complete financial report.

Religion and Business

Rev. Mr. Howard gave a most instructive reading from Babson's book, Religion and Business, the chapter dealing with "Training Our Children in Religion," being taken up. The law of reaction was emphasized, its substance being that for every act, word, thought, there is a reaction equal to the act itself, and this reaction is helpful or harmful according to the nature of its root cause.

This law of reaction, which underlies all sciences, was first enunciated by Jesus, and later by Sir Isaac Newton. Its outworking was traced in the lives of two boys receiving different parental training, the chapter dealing largely with the ultimate effect in the success of the one, and practical failure of the other, the concrete instances being drawn from actual life, and not at all of fictitious origin.

That parents find it easier to threaten, scold, and punish their children, rather than take time to make proper explanations so they might learn to reason out things for themselves, and dvelop courage, self control, and initiative was given striking illustation. It is evident that new methods of discipline are necessary to meet modern conditions, the danger of the day being that, finding the old-fashioned ways unsuitable, parents are lazily allowing thei children to drift without due restrait, to the serious detriment of home life, respect for authority and proper cognizance of their duty in social and business relationships.

"The lack of religion is the trouble with unsuccessful people generally," is Mr. Babson's conclusion, and as he is a noted statistician, and frequently consulted by repesentatives of all classes, he has an extended opportunity of judging how the law of reaction as presented in the programme of Jesus, or its neglect, affect human lives.

Considerable discussion of the material presented occurred during the tea hour when Mrs. Needham, assisted by her daughter, served refreshments; the proposed increase in the alcoholic content of beer and its effect on the O.T.A. enforcement, coming in for a share of attention also.

WORKERS TO FIGHT REDUCTION IN WAGE

Head of A. F. of L. Announces Policy to be Adhered To.

By HERBERT LITTLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(United Press).—Wages must not be reduced! Workers must fight every move towards reduction, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today.

Attacking "some of the important employers in the New England textile industry who are engaged in an attempt to cut wages," Green, in an interview, warned against similar attempt in other industries and declared that the wages of all workers depended upon the success of the employers in this first move.

"Workers must fight every attempt to reduce wages; if the wages of carpenters are reduced, carpenters buy textiles, and the wages of textile workers are reduced," said Green. "Textile workers will have less money to buy commodities produced by other industries; they eat poorer food; they make the old shoes last longer, burn less coal or no coal at all. So it goes, and every reduction of wages, in the long run, increases unemployment.

"Unemployment has steadily receded before the advance of the trade union movement, which has reduced hours of labor, raised the rates of pay, fostered the development of machinery and taught the workers to demand and get better conditions and higher standards of living."

Unions work constructively for the good of mankind by obtaining wage increase for workers, Green said.

"To a large extent the history of misery and despondence is written in the record of wage reduction," he stated.

"To a much greater extent the record of happiness, well-being, prosperity and growing civilization is written in wage increases. Just a few months ago the U.S. Steel Corporation raised wages. The reason doesn't matter much. The effect was magnificent. It was for human happiness.

"Humanity was given a fairer chaice when the carpenters' union, years ago, stood out from the ranks and demanded and got the 8-hour day. The United Mine Workers took the breaker-boys out of the mines and gave slaves a chance to become men. The International Typographical Union has saved thousands of lives by the regulations it has induced employers to accept.

'How feeble and ignoble a contribution it is when employers come offering reductions of wages!

"It has not yet been thoroughly learned that every industry that reduces wages hurts every other industry.

"Today it is the textile workers who are being attacked. Tomorrow it will be some one else. The workers must stand and fight. If employers in the textile industry can reduce wages, then other employers, equally foolish, will attempt the same policy.

"Experts have been predicting a prosperous year; everybody hopes it will be; but 1925 is going to be a good year only on condition that rights of the workers to fair wages." the industrial world recognizes the laid to rest.

Where Britain Stands on Guard

Spain's Failure in Morocco Causes Trouble for Britain and France. Germany Plots to Take Advantage. Pan-Islamic Ideal Plays a Part.

For Spain disaster and Morocco are synonymous. Britain is trying to avoid a like situation in regard to her own North African interests. So is France. Italy wants to play a more important role in prospective developments than France thinks she should, and German machinations help to complicate the problem.

A native chieftain, Abdel Krim, leader of the Riffs in the Spanish zone of Morocco, is the immediate keystone of the situation. If he is captured or slain in battle, there may be a subsidence of the agitation that is worrying the powers. A period of peace would probably follow, to be broken when some new chieftain calls the tribes to holy war.

Spain, according to the unpublished records of history, has made several overtures to Britain, in the last thirty years, looking to the surrender of Gibraltar. They were not taken seriously in London. British military men, looking across the narrow Straits of Gibraltar, and British warships sailing that strip and adjacent seas, see and hear much. Their information must cause them to wonder whether Spain could hold the fortress long if she had it. To those who know of the Great Rock by reason of visits there, or from extensive reading about it, this may sound fantastic. The story of successive Spanish failures in Morocco make it appear more plausible. But Spain is not likely to get another opportunity to hold The Rock.

Britain is on guard across the Straits, and in them, with force enough for any immediate emergency. It is not alone the prospect of a localized crisis that keeps her alert. Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs put the case in brief in a recent statement in the Commons. No power with interests in North Africa, he said, could consider as alien to itself what was passing in any part of North Africa. He added, "If one of us has trouble, our trouble may be the cause of trouble for the other."

Several commentators have put the situation much more bluntly with the opinion that the succession of defeats sustained by a white nation in Morocco, has added fuel to the flames of the Pan Islamic ideal. Leaders of that movement to put the Crescent above the Cross, are not only in close touch with Abdel Krim, but they have methods of bringing pressure to bear which he cannot and dare not ignore. He may be full of inspiration and enthusiasm for their plans; or he may be controlled by nothing more exalted than lust for power. Having driven the Spaniards to seek shelter in strongholds by the sea, he has more recently been swatting Raisuili, a brigand chieftain, who a few years ago was often mentioned in despatches as alternately fighting against and siding with the Spaniards, according to the state of his treasury and the equipment of his forces.

Krim a Good Fighter

Abdel Krim is no mere raider. A graduate of the University of Madrid, he was at one time supreme judge at Melilla, under Spanish jurisdiction. He was accused by the French of pro-Germanism and they persuaded the Spaniards to demote him. They also threw Abdel into prison. Escaping in 1921 he started a war of vengeance that has never ceased. His initial success was the defeat of an army under General Silvestre, the Governor who dismissed him. It is said that the Spaniards had 10,000 men killed in this battle. He has had many successes since then, every one of them adding much modern military equipment to his supplies.

There are men in the British House of Commons who regard Abdel Krim as a patriot leading patriots in a war for liberty, and they want the British government to warn France against actively interfering in the event that Spain eventually withdraws completely out of Morocco. Their support of the Riffs is based on the contention that whatever their present leader's views, these tribesmen were very friendly toward the British in the Great War, while Spain was not. The punctilliously correct attitude of King Alfonso and his cabinet is not overlooked, but the charge that Spain was actually hostile to the allies and very useful to the Germans, has persisted from the first year of the war.

As a "neutral" Spain is declared to have made the equivalent of a billion dollars out of the war. But to this day she seems incapable of balancing her budget. The cost of her "Moroccan adventure" is estimated at twenty-four millions of English pounds yearly and the country's revenue is but a few thousand more. The author, Ibanes, and other native Spanish critics, assert that graft and looting account for nearly half of the money spent in the Moroccan campaigns, and that shameful incompetency in military knowledge and leadership are their corollaries. It is a queer mix-up; no wonder there is anxiety in Downing street, and the chancelleries of Europe.

How the Land Lies

The accompanying map, not drawn to scale, gives an idea of the interlocking influences, interests and possibilities, which make the situation one of danger. Tangier, was British in the sixteenth century. It has had many vicissitudes since. These included, before the world war, an attempt on the part of Germany to establish it as her recognized possession. In December of last year the town and the zone surrounding it were completely neutralized under the convention between Britain, France and Spain. The latter and France have zones in Morocco outside of Tangier, but Spain, for fifteen years back and the last seven in particular, has reaped nothing but sorrow and strife in her part of it the Riff section, a very hilly area. If she can hold Tetuan, at which port her Moroccan army and navy headquarters now are, and a strip of territory along the coast, she will be lucky. For her a new menace is the rising of the Anjera tribes, who live in the territory between Tangier to Ceuta. For many years they were on friendly terms with the Spaniards; that day appears to be over.

France has restored order in her sphere of Morocco, following some uprisings which were not bothered with during the world war, and has strong forces there and in Algeria. The latter, her prize colonial possession, has a population of about six millions from which many native fighting men are recruited. Tunisia, another French possession, with some two million people comes next. Then Italy interjects with Tripoli, a large territory, but with a population of not more than 600,000. It was taken from Turkey in 1912, and has since been reconquered by the Italians who neglected it when they entered the world war.

In Egypt and the Soudan Britain has interests which are swayed by every wind blown by Mohammedan unrest. Nominally, Egypt is independent; but its strategic highway to India, and all of the Soudan are in the hands of Britain. Across the narrow straits is Gibraltar, also British, while in Arabia, British mandatory powers and possessions cover vast areas. For Britain, as much as for any other of the powers concerned, there is danger for every new success that the Moors record against Spain. Comparatively few of the fighting men in the Islamic countries know that the military forces, resources and leadership of Britain and France are infinitely superior to those of Spain. They only know that men of their own faith have won amazing victories over a European Christian nation. The reflection of this is witnessed in the arrogance of Turkey, not only toward Greece, against whom she has already won victories; but toward Britain in Irak (Mesopotamia). There is self-sufficiency and contempt for others in every move she makes to emphasize her claims.

Germany's Aims

Where does Germany come in? Spanish writers and statesmen who want to see their country in the closest relationships with Britain and France above all others, point to the activities which are establishing the Krupps and other German concerns everywhere in Spain. These are not bent upon peaceful commercial penetration. They are getting control of iron works and shipyards throughout the country, and Zeppelin works are to be established too. Malaga and Algeciras, facing Gibraltar, are two of the places to which there activities are extended. German plans for making Tangier a huge fortified port, which would have given her a unique base for both for Atlantic and Mediterranean operations, were foiled years ago by British and French co-operation. Berlin has never lost sight of them, and they are revived now with the blessing of an acquiescent Spain, a country which owes its very existence as a national entity to Britain. Recent revelations by Brigadier-General Morgan, a British officer who served on the Inter-Allied Mission of Control, regarding German armament and military training, add significance to these plans. Half a million newly trained men, with several times the requisite equipment and arms, is the estimate of Germany's military strength exclusive of war veterans. The new army has been created by clever manipulation which keeps instructors regularly on the rolls and calls others up for short but intensive training periods. Original German plans in the Moroccan territory looked to the enrolment of many black troops. France has taken a leaf from those schemes and aims to raise an army of 500,000 blacks, to be used in the next European war. Their transport mostly by land and part way by seas which she can easily defend, is a part of the French military program.

France Makes Ready

If Abdel Krim carries out his immediate professed intention of establishing "the Republic of the Riff," the French will face an increasingly difficult situation. Abdel professes friendship for them, but it has been shown that none of the Moorish revolutionary leaders can ever restrain their followers from raiding any of the zones claimed by European powers. A few raids into French spheres or protectorates would be followed by prompt action on the part of France without regard to Spanish or any other feeling. That is shown by the vote of five million francs put at the disposal of Marshal Lyautey, in command of the French in Morocco. France could not afford to allow her millions of colored subjects to become infected with the virus of belief in their ability to drive the Christian nations back to Europe. That is one reason why French newspapers have urged their government to occupy that part of the Spanish zone abandoned by the Spaniards. To this the latter retort with sharp hints to France to mind her own business, and a warning to all the world that Spain does not relinquish any of the rights under the treaty of 1912, whereby the respective spheres of influence were clearly defined. Of course all of this was done without bothering about the views of the natives. That was the easier because the same natives, an admixture of races, have not been a unit for centuries. As often as otherwise the Berbers and Arabs, and their off-shoots have been at war with one another, or have taken sides with invading white armies. Algeria is a good example of a country which has accepted white control. The French have been far more successful than the Spaniards in this respect; the important part played by her Moroccan troops in the European campaign being an evidence.

Varying figures up to 120,000 are given as constituting the strength of the Spanish army in Morocco. But it seems always to lack energy, leadership, effective transport and adequate equipment. A year or two ago Spanish agents recruited a foreign legion and secured a goodly number of out of work war veterans in Britain. The incompetence that marked the handling of Spanish soldiers was not absent from the methods pursued in dealing with these men. Under British or French officers of merit they would have been a great acquisition to the Spanish armies; under Spanish commanders, most of whom could not speak English, they were poorly clothed, badly-fed and armed, and spent weeks in idleness in fortified camps when they should have been actively engaged in the open. Their condition finally became so deplorable that Britain had to intervene to get them released from their contracts and bring them home. This attempt to constitute a legion in the hope of building up something comparable with the famous Foreign Legion of France, seems to have been the only bit of initiative displayed by Spain in the battle to retain a bit of Morocco. Its fate is typical of the incapacity that has lost to Spain the great colonial possessions that she held in her golden age.

In Spain the man of the moment is General Primo de Rivera, the dictator of the country since the military coup fifteen months ago. He went to Morocco and personally conducted the operations leading to the retreat to the coast.

Some writers refer to General de Rivera as the "Mussolini of Spain." There is a distinction, however. The Italian dictator was humbly born, according to Old World ideas, and began his career as a Socialist. The Spaniard is a grandee of an ancient house and his title is the Marquis de Estella.

In India and Arabia, Egypt and the Soudan, and many other areas where her interests are affected, Britain must keep closer watch and guard because of what is happening in Morocco. For the moment the countries bordering upon the Mediterranean and the Red Sea claim the closest attention. The Admiralty and the War Office are in hourly touch by wireless with the centres whence developments may come. Britain knows how to guard her own.

The map shows how the interests of several powers are interlocked. Spain in her sphere of Morocco, France in Algeria and Tunisia. Britain in Gibraltar, Egypt, the Soudan and Arabia, are all on the alert because of the unrest due to Spanish defeats by the Moors.

INTERVIEW WITH. MR. ZERO

Mr. Zero is one of the oddest personalities to turn up in New York in a long while. Lately this shepherd of the jobless has been herding his charges together for picturesque descents upon churches, calling for work, bread and beds. He has been doing that sort of thing for nine winters, ever since, as he tells it, he "found his place in the cosmic scheme." But this winter he has been more active than before, and his assertion of leadership among the unemployed has attracted wider public attention than usual. His activities in New York have been so vigorous, indeed, that the police asked him recently to cease organizing his "armies" here and to go away.

Just who and what is Mr. Zero, and why the extreme of names? Surely no one should be able to answer those questions better than Mr. Zero himself. He undertook to perform that task in St. Mark's Hospital, where the threat of pneumonia had sent him some days ago.

On that particular morning he was was arrayed in bathrobe and slippers, a big man of upstanding figure, with the muscular hands of a worker and a leader. But the impressive thing about Mr. Zero is a pair of twinkling gray eyes, surrounded by wrinkles that form into little bunches of geniality when he talks. Sometimes the face is severe, ascetic; but mostly it is genial and smiling. His signs of French antecedents are unmistakable, and so is the name first confered upon him—Urbain J. Ledoux.

He looks somewhat as a modern Peter the Hermit might be expected to look, and he conducts special crusades to help the down-and-outer. But crusades are only an incident in his philosophy, which deals with life in larger aspects and looks forward to the day when there shall be no down-and-outers, and no reason for any.

Once in Consular Service.

Mr. Zero has had an eventful career. Eleven of his years were spent in the consular service. For a third of that time he was a commercial representative in Prague. He began at the bottom and worked a fair part of the way to the top. Then came his conviction that he must aid the nation's jobless in the pursuit of that will-o-the-wisp—a regular job.

He has undertaken this leadership in a dozen cities, with colorful results. New York has been his special field of action. Every year about this time he emerges from the ordinary affairs of life to become the spokesman of the cold and the hungry.

Mr. Zero is an able spokesman. He has imagination, persuasion and power. He talks with the manners of an orator upon the platform, and he does it very well. That was indicated when he undertook to tell just why he had become a crusader for the city's waifs.

"I asked myself where I could do the greatest service, and how," he said, striding up and down the hospital room. "It seemed to me that the opportunity lay where help was the worst needed, and that is here in this great city of New York. But whom should I help in New York? Why, those who required it the most. And where could I find them? On the east side, plainly. But where on the east side? At Chatham Square, that resort of the lowly.

"What special sort or condition of men should I seek? The jobless, the hopeless, the men who walk the Bowery. And there I found them, in all truth, hundreds, thousands. For nine years I have fed and housed such as I could, and provided work where it was to be had for the men who live between Cooper Union and Chatham Square. They are my friends, my boys."

The gray eyes smiled and the wrinkles almost smiled with them, as Mr. Zero dropped his pointing hand and paused, a fine oratorical gesture. It was well done. He had taken a simple fact and clothed it with a raiment of words.

How He Got His Name.

"How did you come to be called Mr. Zero instead of Ledoux?" he was asked.

The smile disappeared and the eyes became thoughtful. "It was an accident," he said, "just an accident. You see, I had had charge of some rather important work connected with the war camp community service. I had been active in the World Peace Foundation and some other big undertakings. I was well known to a number of prominent persons. I thought it necessary then to protect what I had called my reputation. It would be easy for other people to misunderstand what I wanted to do. But I had heard the call of these poor fellows and just had to let it go. Why tell my name? It had no bearing on the work.

"So I went among them and did the best I could without a name. But they insisted on calling me something. Men have a habit that way. I told them they could know me as Urbain. But they seemed to feel that the name was a little personal, and turned it into Brother Urbain. I suppose that name is familiar to a number of old-timers over the country who once knew me in Bowery lodging houses and other places where the forlorn gather.

"But, to answer your question, we must skip a year or two to another day in Thirty-fourth Street. I had about 200 men waiting before a restaurant where food had been promised us. They were standing with heels to curb, when two stepped forward as a delegation and asked about my name.

"'I haven't any,' I told them. 'At least, it doesn't matter.'

—"'But you must have a name,' they replied."

A Mystical Moment.

At this point in the tale Mr. Zero dropped his conversational tone and turned mystic.

"I closed my eyes," he said, "and groped for an answer, as a man does when in doubt. Brother Urbain I did not like. It had a religious or a fraternal sound. I was just myself. And what was I? I was nothing. The thought came to me with flashing conviction. I opened my eyes and said, 'Men, I am nothing.'"

Then the imagination came into play and the speaker smiled, thinking back.

"I had scarcely spoken," he said, "when an Irishman in the first rank spoke up with, 'Nothing? Why, that means zero.' And the name ran down the line until every man there came to know me by it.

"A day or two later we had another meeting, in Bryant Park, and a reporter urged me to tell my name and history. But I answered that I was nothing and there was nothing to write. He climbed upon a bench and called out, 'Do any of you know this man's name?' My Irishman answered, 'Sure; he's Mr. Zero.'"

Thus the apostle of the Bowery was twice named by the same follower, and the name has stuck. Only once in a while is he called Ledoux. But a large part of the nation must have wondered where he got that odd name of Mr. Zero.

His explanation led naturally to questions about his earlier life.

"I was a small boy," he said, "a poor French-Canadian mill boy. I came down to Biddeford, Me., and went to work. Then I took an interest in public affairs and got to be secretary to the Mayor. Meanwhile I studied hard. In 1896 President McKinley appointed me to the Consular Service. Later I was promoted by Roosevelt. They say that Consuls never quit and seldom die, but I was one who resigned, with a personal letter of regret from Mr. Root. Then I came home—and—and—well, I found myself, you might say."

"What is your idea about the jobless and about social institutions generally? What is it you would like to do, and how would you do it?"

That was a question offering rare opportunities to Mr. Zero. Although still a bit shaky from his illness, he walked the floor with long strides and a lion's brow.

"What we must do first is to find work for our five million idle," he said. "Yes, five million, despite the prosperity in this country. That is about an average figure every winter at this time. All of them are not helpless, but a large number are hungry and cold. How many? I have no idea. They are legion. Walk along the Bowery and count those you see. They will be numerous enough. Well, those men must have work. They deserve it. Society owes them the chance for a daily livelihood. It has no right to withhold labor, or to fall in supplying it. If society does fail, other means must be provided to care for the sufferers. Isn't that simple and clear, and economy practical enough for anybody?' But it is not practiced.

"I have tried in my feeble way to help where society has failed. I have turned first to the churches, with confidence in their good-will toward men. They should be the leaders in assisting those who need help the most, as they are the institutions of mercy set up by our society. And I have confidence the churches will not refuse us."

He stopped and smiled again, and the pause provided opportunity to remind him that he had said this jobless condition of a multitude was only one phase of a broader situation.

"Exactly," he said, "what we need is a readjustment, and the readjustment can come only from within. Perhaps I should call it evolution. Or maybe ev n revolution—but revolution of man's nature within his own heart, the rising upward until we shall understand our brother's struggle and not leave him to struggle alone. His trouble is ours. If he hungers and goes cold, we are failing.

The Unemployed.

"Such ills are unnecessary, with all the riches of our nation and the world. We have enough for the least of these and much to spare. It is necessary merely to see that they get their part, such a little share of the whole. I should like to ask every employer of labor in New York to see if he canno provide work for a few more pairs of hands, here at this New Year season, as his contribution to the welfare of man in the coming year. Just a little work from each would supply the need. And the addition to human happiness would exceed any thanks or tribute that I could pay."

Mr. Zero paused again, with his now familiar gesture of finality. Looking at him and listening to his peroration there in the hospital room, one was inclined to believe every man outside the window jobless and destitute. Mr. Zero is convincing, and some observers of social work in the city approve his efforts, including men of the ministerial cloth.

Official figures do not indicate that there is an unusual amount of unemployment in the city or nation. The highest estimate for New York, taking into consideration seasonal idleness, strikes and such things, is about 150,000. Naturally the woes of that class which Mr. Zero has adopted for his own special protection grow acute at this time of the year. It becomes easier every day to bestow a dime almost anywhere on Broadway. The familiar sliding step and, "Say, mister, could you help a fellow out?" is often heard. During the war and for a little time afterward the panhandler almost disappeared. But he is here again in liberal numbers.

A trip through the Bowery around 12 o'clock of any night will bring to view a shambling procession. Starting at Brooklyn Bridge and proceeding north, stragglers of the night are to be met on every corner. Many more are sheltered by friendly doorways until the man on the beat finds them out. Conditions are not quite as in other days, when the nickel glass of whisky strewed many a block with supine forms. But one here and there attests that the modern concoctions are no less deadly than the old.

After midnight the Bowery is dotted with homeless men who have nowhere to go, yet must keep going. It is too cold for a nap in the parks these nights. And the high cost of living has made the panhandler's problem more difficult. Once he could get a cup of coffee and two doughnuts for 5 cents, then the price advanced to 10. Beds that used to rent for 10 or 15 cents a night bring 30 to 50 cents now.

Thus the man who has no work and cannot beg enough for bed and board joins that shiftless company walking the Bowery. With scanty collars turned up and hands in pockets, they are marked men who must move eternally although each step seems painful. The gait of the all-night walker is peculiarly his own. He moves with a sliding step, too weary to lift his feet. If the street is quiet he can be detected a block away. It is something to walk the Bowery all night and face a gray morning without the potent "coffee-and."

Bits of His Career.

Such is the melancholy company that Mr. Zero would help. He lives in a little back room at 26 St. Mark's Place. This is a kind of extension to the house, with a narrow passageway leading from it. The bridge of sighs, he calls it, and one may believe that many have sighed who crossed. But this also is a kind of social laboratory in which not a few of the "intelligentzia" gather from time to time. Mr. Zero entertains well when he is in a talking mood. One aqcuaintance summarized his character thus: "If a man lives in that room a week he must be devoted to a cause, whatever it is."

Mr. Zero has gone abroad many times seeking clothes, food and jobs for his flock. But he says that he has never accepted and does not want contributions. He considers himself as a moving force in a social sense instead of a direct instrument. And his career since he became the apostle of the jobless bears out that view. He has arisen picturesquely in a half-dozen cities, achieved the stellar brilliance of the front page, and then retired. He has imagination. He understands public psychology and has an excellent idea of how to apply his unoer tanding. One of his achievements was to call at the White House, attending the new year reception there in 1922, along with some of his jobless friends. This coterie joined the line of guests, and the good-natured President Harding shook hands with them all. Washington also remembers Mr. Zero for his appearance there during the disarmament conference, when he picketed the building where its sittings were held, carrying a lighted lantern. Presently the police gathered him in, but, as he said, what could they do with a man for carrying a lantern? He had been merely "looking for a Christian among the delegates."

Again, in Boston, the Zero imagination shone forth, when he marched to the Common with a band of his charges and stripped a few to the waist, directing them to mount the bandstand. Then ing them to mount the bandstand. Then he proceeded to "auction" them off as slaves used to be sold, bidders offering board and a few dollars, perhaps, for a week's work. Mr. Zero found quite a few jobs in that way, but austere Boston frowned upon him. It was an unseemly thing, many persons thought, to use the Common for any such purpose; even a reflection against the city.

So Mr. Zero was banished from the Common. He came down to New York with the same idea and tried to hold an "auction" one night in Bryant Square. There was a great crowd, the police took a hand and feeling ran high for a day or two. It seemed that Mr. Zero would defy them and might even carry the day. Then the police changed faces, he received an escort, and even distributed dinner tickets in a police automobile. But he saw the light and did not hold an "auction."

These are but a few of the stirring incidents that have made up Mr. Zero's career. He says that "love with service" is his ideal of philosophy, and a social system as well. Awaiting the day when these things shall be, he is rounding up a meal and a job—sometimes even a bed—for every man who needs one, when those things are within his gift.

STIFLING.

Death Valley, California, no longer holds the record as the hottest place in the world. It was 134 in the shade there in 1913.

That record has been broken at Azizia, in North Africa, where the sheltered thermometer rose to over 136 degrees.

This terrific heat goes to waste. Maybe our descendants will "can" part of it for power.

WEATHER.

At Jack Fish Bay, in Canada, the mercury occasionally drops to 72 below zero. The hottest place is in Africa, with a record of 136 in the shade.

Between these extremes is a difference of 208 degrees.

If a future generation lives in swift-flying airplane houses, it can select its weather and fly to it.

AIRPLANE.

Primitive man supposedly followed the seasons—went north in summer, south in winter, like wild ducks.

Only the very rich can do that now.

Cheap airplanes making 1000 miles an hour will come. And they will enable people of moderate means to jump from winter to summer in a matter of minutes. It's not improbable that the airplane will destroy our civilization and bring one different.

President Ferry, of Hamilton College is the latest educator to say that character will take as high honors as scholarship in the colleges of the future. A satirist of cynical mind may look forward a half-century and pretend to see the day when students will make Group A through dropping dimes in beggars' hats; when glances at town girls will be cause for sudden withdrawals from academic life, and when professors of trigonometry, hopeless of putting their subject across on perfectly virtuous dumbbells, will resign in disgust and go into railroading. But ordinary folk will likely agree with President Ferry that the intellectual world is in danger of becoming smart to the smart-aleck degree and needs to mix its sophistication with plain, old-fashioned goodness.

Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, believes that most famous men in Parliament prepare their speeches with elaborate care. He relates an anecdote of Gladstone.

'If he means he doesn't sit down and write, I daresay, it's true. But he lies on a sofa and wombles it inside. And I'll tell you this, Mr. Chamberlain, none of us likes to go near him the day he makes a great speech.'"

LUCKY MARMORA TRAPPER SLAYS FIVE WOLVES IN TWO DAY ORGY OF TRAPPING AND SHOOTING

Sandford Lawrence Kills Four Invaders While They Chase Deer—Thinks His Haul is Worth $268 in Bounty and Pelts—Prowess Has Been Heard of Before When He Bagged Three Black Bear at Otter Creek—May Establish Game Sanctuary.

SANDFORD LAWRENCE, WITH THE TROPHIES OF A REMARKABLE ADVENTURE.

Sandford Lawrence, a middle-aged trapper of Marmora, set what may be a record for wolf-shooting when he, single-handed, accounted for five of the beasts in one day. The photo shows Mr. Lawrence with the five pelts, which have been sent to the Provincial Department with a claim for the bounty.

Sandford Lawrence, a middle-aged trapper of Marmora, who has followed the chase all his life, has set a record for all wolf-hunters to shoot at.

Five wolves fell to his gun in one day. And his weapon was not a rifle. It was a shotgun using small shot.

The pelts of the five wolves, which were on exhibition here, have now been sent to Queen's Park, with a claim for the boupty .

The killing occurred at Big Burnt Lake, in Lake Township, Hastings county. Mr. Lawrence had had a trap set for some time near the lake in the hope of catching a fisher, a valuable fur-bearing animal whose pelt is worth from $100 to $150.

Setting out on the morning of the eventful day to visit his trap-line, Mr. Lawrence found a large wolf caught by the forefeet in a trap. He promptly despatched the animal.

Heard Pack Pursuing Deer.

Between four and five o'clock in the afternoon he heard a pack of wolves in hot pursuit of a deer, and, concealing himself behind a rock, was able to get a fine view of the chase down the ice of the lake. Fortunately for Mr Lawrence and the chase led to within a few feet of where the trapper lay hidden.

When the wolves had got quite close to his place of concealment, Mr. Lawrence whistled and the pack stopped Quickly he fired the first barrel of his gun, killing one of the wolves and blinding another, which started to run around in a circle.. Knowing he could get this later, Lawrence emptied the second barrel into the head of the third wolf, which ran snarling at him It was an easy matter then to kill the blinded wolf. The pelts of the five wolves are all about the same size, measuring about five feet from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. Four of the wolves were females.

Two Day's Hunting Nets $268

The next day Mr Lawrence had the good fortune to trap the fisher he had been after so long, and also to shoot a red fox Altogether Mr. Lawrence figures his bag for the two days will net him $268.

One of the wolves shot by the trapper had a piece of twisted clothes line around its neck and hanging down about seven inches. He thinks the animals had encountered a snare some time before and had broken loose.

Several farmers living towards the lake have had sheep killed by wolves in the last month, while on New Year's Day Ed. Bowen had fifteen sheep killed.

An Adventure With Bears.

This is not the first real adventure in which Mr. Lawrence has figured. With the late James L. Hickey, while timber cruising and fire ranging, the two men paddled up Otter Creek and started to hunt black bear. In a very few minutes they spied one and Lawrence fired two shots into him, but failed to kill him outright. He started after him ,after exchanging guns with Hickey, his own rifle having but one cartridge in it.

A few minutes later Hickey sighted another bear and fired, wounding him. Hearing the shot Lawrence ceased following the bear he had wounded and came running back to find Hickey standing over the bear which he had despatched with a piece of a limb of a tree.

The two men continued their hunt and bagged two more bears on that day and a fourth the day following.

Some wood-choppers near Campbellford disturbed a black bear which left its lair and wandered over to Crow Lake. A young man started after him, and in some way tripped and fell, sustaining fatal injuries when his gun went off. The wandering bear was tracked across Crow Lake by Walter Revoy and Norman Cooper, two settlers, who found him in a new hole.

It must not be taken from these happenings that this regions is overrun by wild animals. The events chronicled above are quite uncommon.

MAURICE WEEPS

dancing partner when he has dried his tears.

One of the elements that led to the collapse of Maurice was that he and the bride had signed a $100,000 contract to dance at the Trocadero next season.

This was twenty-four hours before Leonora became the Argentinian's bride.

As she signed the six figured document, she did not intimate that another and even more impressive contract was awaiting her signature, and that the term was for life. And all concerned laughed when she insisted on a stipulation that the contract would be nullified if she married this season.

Leonora marry? It was to laugh! She was wedded to her art and she did not believe in divorce. They understood that she was going to tour the South and then go to Paris to dance through the Summer. They did not guess that the tour was to be a bridal tour and that if she danced in Paris it would be with her husband in a ballroom.

And Maurice, a few hours after the fatal—from his viewpoint—wedding, moaned:

"After the ceremony at the Cathedral I accompanied Miss Hughes to the railroad station.

"Of course, it is a great loss to me. "Miss Hughes was not only a wonderful dancer, but a very charming girl, who had lots of friends wherever she appeared. I wish her the greatest luck in the world.

"Whatever determined her to get married occurred between 1 o'clock at night and the small hours of the next morning. Her mother did not know of her proposed marriage until 8 o'clock."

Maurice said he did not know just what he was going to do about his future plans. The thing had come so suddenly he wanted a little time to think over them. And he almost collapsed again!

COLD WATER BATH

The cold water towel bath should be taken in the morning, immediately after getting out of bed, Mrs. Mann of Anytown was told.

"With breakfast to get and with children to care for, many mothers think they do not have much time. "It takes less than five minutes, however," said the doctor.

Here's what to do, after getting out of bed:

Remove night clothes. Wash neck and face first with cold water. Then take a large rough towel, wring it loosely out of cold water, and with both hands rub the breast, sides, abdomen and arms.

Dip the towel again, throw it loosely over the back, then reaching back with both hands, see-saw it down the back.

Wring the towel, dip it in cold water again, and see-saw it down over the hips, and then bathe the legs.

Dry quickly with a rough dry towel.

Persons with ordinary health and resolution can take this morning cold bath without chilling, and when through with it be warm and feel 50 per cent better.

CHURCH SOCIETIES OF HAVELOCK MET

Weekly Euchre Party in Railroad Village—Personal Activities.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 26. — The Young People's Union of the Methodist Church held their weekly meeting on Monday evening in the basement of the church.

The topic, by Miss G. Brewster, was taken from the first part of Uganda's White Man of Work, dealing with the adventures of a missionary in Africa. A short address was also given by Miss Leta Saunders on Christianity and Modern Science.

Euchre Party.

The weekly euchre party on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Breen, under the auspices of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Parish, was well attended and as usual a very enjoyable affair. Twenty tables of cards were played and the prizes, which were donated by Mrs. P. McCann, were won by Mrs. S. McQuigge and Fred Barnett and the consolation awards by Mrs. T. Cummings and J. R. Bedford. The proceeds amounted to $25.00.

Young Women Met.

The Young Women's Auxiliary of Knox Church held its regular meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson.

The secretary announced that the sum of $11.00 had been realized from the skating party of Thursday evening, after deducting all expenses.

Two papers on mission work in China were read by Miss Stella Althouse and Miss Dorothy Wright at the conclusion of the meeting. A social hour was spent.

Personal.

Mrs. Michael Barnett spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mrs. Alex Barnett is visiting friends in Port McNichol.

Mr. T. Morrison of Norwood attended the euchre party at the home of Mrs. L. Breen on Monday evening.

Mr. Leonard Plunkett spent Saturday in Toronto.

Miss Nellie Thompson spent the week-end in Norwood.

Mrs. Larsey of Hastings is the guest of Mrs. Albert Armstrong.

COUNCILS SQUARE THEIR ACCOUNTS

Monaghan Township Pays Cavan Township Balance of $39.84.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 26. — The regular meeting of the Cavan council was held on Wednesday, Feb 18, at 1.30 p.m., with the members all present

Communications read were:

From the Deputy Minister of Highways giving notice of the dates of the Goor Roads Convention.

From the Department of Highways acknowledging the receipt of the statement of money, expended on the roads in 1925.

From the forestry station at Orono asking the council to consider the advisability of a reforestry plot.

From the clerk of Clarke Township re a resolution passed by that council relative to the amounts to be expended on boundary roads.

A deputation consisting of Warden Rye, Deputy Reeve Lillico, Councillors Fallis and Clerk Johnston of North Monaghan Township waited on the council to make an adjustment of boundary accounts. After comparing the amount of work done by each muncipality, it was found that there was a balance of $39.84 due to Cavan. This was paid.

Messrs. H. A. Fallis and L. W. Smith of the Agricultural Society, asked for a grant for the Winter Horse Show. On motion of Councillor Hooton and Deputy Reeve Fallis the usual grant of $25 was given.

The Reeve was appointed a delegate to attend the Good Roads Convention in Toronto on the 25th.

The Auditors' report was received and accepted, and the clerk instructed to have 100 copies printed.

Councillor Hooton reported that he had sold the timber on the road allowance opposite Lots 7 and 8, Con 14, for $25.

The Reeve reported that the printing contract had been given to The Mirror-Reporter for the sum of $20 for 1925

The following orders were passed and paid:

Telephone Co. account, $4.06; P. M Hooton, auditor, $10; T. W. Donaldson, auditor, $10; J. A. Morton, S.S. No. 18, $200; A. F Strong S.S No. 19, $200; N. Gilmour, rebate on insurance policy, town hall, $78.53; London and Lancashire premium policy $50; J. N. McGill, treasurer, 1925, $150; Grant to horse show, $25; G. Shields, gravel, $3.60; C. W. Newton, D.R.O., sub division No. 4, $15.40; G. Shields, D.R.O., sub division No. 5, $15.20; White and Ackford account, repairs to crusher, $64.07; J. N. McGill, pay, $37.50; Council pay, 20. committee work, Reeve, $8, Deputy Reeve $2, Councillor McKnight $6, Hooton $6, Hunter $4.

Councilu adjourned to meet March 11th at 1.30 p.m.

DOYLE OPENS BOOKSTORE

Creator of Sherlock Holmes Sells Nothing But Spiritualistic Books.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle not only writes books nowadays, but he sells them. Sir Arthur has opened a bookshop across the street from Westminster Abbey and has taken over active management of the stock, which consists entirely of psychic literature. Not even the "Sherlock Holmes" best sellers will be stocked.

The shop has been called the 'Psychic Bookshop and Library' and will be used principally as a distributing house for pamphlets and books dealing with spiritualism.

WARD SYSTEM OPPOSED BY TOWN OF LASALLE

Petition to Quebec Legislature Passed on Party Vote.

QUEBEC, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—The Legislative Assembly yesterday held an animated debate in regard to a bill amending the charter of the town of Lasalle, a bill brought in on behalf of a number of citizens, and which would eliminate the ward system, and also prohibit the holding of office by non-residents. Hon. E. L. Patemaude led the battle against the bill, saying the Municipal Council was against it, and the measure was the result of a personal quarrel and should not be passed, especially in view of the fact that the municipal elections are April 1st.

The elimination of the wards would also mean the disappearance of English representation in the Council. The legislature was abusing its powers when it interfered, he contended. The bill went through on a party vote, except that three Liberals voted with the Opposition, they being J. H. Dillon, of St. Ann's, Montreal; Nerse Morin, of Namouraska, and Andrew Philips, of Huntingdon. It is believed here that the Legislative Council will amend the bill so as to retain the wards.

No woman is quite broken-hearted who can stand before a shop window and wonder how she'd look in that green ensemble suit, or the white felt hat with the Parma violets on it!

PRINTS POPULAR FOR SUMMER

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 26. — (United Press).—If it's in print, it's in the mode. It need not be in black and white, however. The vogue for printed materials is the sensation of the spring fashions and every imaginable material is now made in colors and new designs with exquisiteness rather than boldness of pattern the keynote of the print.

Geometric designs and dotted effects are replacing the large Oriental motifs of last season. Three-tiered effects, forming borders, are extremely popular. There are bold plaids and tiny checks and whatnot.

An innovation is the border effect where one-half of the width of the material is of one color and the other half is of a contrasting shade, each figured in blending colors.

As for the materials themselves, their names are too numerous to attempt to mention. A silk material in Nile green, printed in orchid, is called "Swamp's glow." The same material in different colorings sails under the name of "Meadow shadows." It seems the artist who designs the patterns selects different names for each and every piece of material. This is true of the expensive goods only.

There are linens which sell as high as $8.50 a yard. They are sufficiently wide for a yard and a half to make a frock and their colors are pastel of a type which we have never seen before. The softest of pastels which are dulled by a greyish tinge. Their borders are formed by motifs of pastel-shaded wool embroidery and this border may either be used about the hem or to form the bodice portion of the frock. A frock made of such a material ceases to be merely a linen dress. It is a creation.

Flannels are still as popular as ever for sport wear, although their offspring, "kasha cloth," is the newest thing for both sports and street wear. It is made up in ensemble suits, coats, sports frocks, etc., and comes in the loviest of pastel shades known as "jewel tones." Shades of orchid, light blue, soft green and golden tans are those most popular. Kasha may also be obtained in border effects with contrasting color forming the border. This is used mostly for long coats.

Then there are lightweight cloth and silk materials which have two contrasting or blended shades and often there is a border-work of embroidery joining the two shades and blending them together. For instance, the top of a frock may be white kasha, while the bottom is orchid, and where the white and orchid join there will be motifs of rather large flowers worked in pastel pinks, greens and orchid. The effect is very Frenchy, indeed. Most of this material sells for $12.50 a yard and some of it is 62 inches wide, thus allowing for the ensemble costume.

Suede cloth in jewel or flower tones are popular for the ensemble and are a bit softer than the kashas and therefore a bit more dressy. These, however, generally come in solid pastel colors rather than in border effects. Woollen materials designed after the manner of Navajo blankets are sold by the yard, to be made up into topcoats.

Ginghams and dotted Swisses also have something new to offer this season. There are ginghams which have tiny checkered designs in red and white which become larger and larger until they run into a border of solid red. Dotted materials place their dots in no allover pattern, but use them in three row border effect, in circular motifs or at peculiar intervals which make them look as though someone had thrown the dots at the material.

French crepes are among the loviest of materials for summer and this year they come in the popular border effects, in allover designs and in plain jewel shades.

Modistes seem to predict a red season and for this reason we see much piece goods with a tannish or blond background with red figures. Periwinkle blue is another popular shade and it is followed by cyclamen pink. Both of these colors are lovely in wash materials.

AID FOR ARGENTINE

Rockefeller Foundation Will Help Fight Tropical Diseases There.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26.—(Associated Press).—The Rockefeller Foundation will aid the Argentine sanitary authorities in fighting tropical diseases in northern Argentina, it has notified Dr. Gregorio Araoz Alfaro, Director of National Hygiene Department.

Dr. Alfaro recently returned from the United States where he explained the conditions prevailing in that region to Rockefeller Foundation officials. It is understood that the Foundation will send a commissioner to Argentina to arrange preliminary details and the manner wherein the aid will be rendered.

"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes:

"During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent urination, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

BOTH TEAMS IN FIRST FINALS

Petes and Falls Reach Senior O.H.A. Last Round Together.

CLASHED IN 1924

The meeting of Niagara Falls and Peterboro in the finals brings forth some interesting data concerning the play-offs for the O.H.A. Senior honors, says the Toronto Telegram. Last year Stratford and Hamilton met for the title and Hamilton won by 4 to 3 on the round. That was the first year in a long time that a Toronto team was not represented in the play-off. Going back over the records it will be found that not since 1908 until last year was Toronto without a team in the final. In 1908 the 14th Regiment team of Kingston defeated Stratford by 13 to 9.

The same records show also that since 1891, when the O.H.A. Senior competition was first started, Peterboro and Niagara Falls have never been represented in the Senior finals. Therefore with that great honor at stake the meeting between the two teams should be real interesting. Peterboro won the Intermediate honors in 1906, while Niagara Falls carried off the honors in the same series last season. And last winter it was Peterboro who were defeated by Falls in that final series which Toronto fans still remember. Peterboro made a plucky effort in their game at Toronto but Falls pulled it out in the last few minutes of play.

It is more than likely that Peterboro will enter the series as favorites. This, of course, is because Toronto fans have seen Peterboro in action many times this winter and have liked their style. But Falls will prove stout opposition. They are not weak in any one department. The Falls and Peterboro teams that battled in the Intermediate play-off last season are changed some since the step to Senior company. Kitchen, Seibert, Molson and Kelterbourne are new-comers to the Falls, while McLeod and Bailey are the Peterboro additions.

The O.H.A. Junior race has narrowed down now to the semi-finals with but four teams left, and the general impression is that Aura Lee and Owen Sound will meet in the finals. However, both have one obstacle to overcome before that goal is reached. Aura Lee go to Brockville and have a return fixture at the Arena with the Easterners, and the latter are said to be a well-balanced lot of youngsters. Owen Sound play at Midland and then go back to Owen Sound later in the week. It means that the finals will be staged next week.

RECORDS AT MIAMI.

Three Girls Lower Marks In Water Events.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Three world's records were broken by girl swimmers at Miami Beach yesterday.

Martha Norelius established a new record of 3.56 3-5 for the 300-yard free style. The old record was 3.58 2-5.

Gertrude Ederle set a mark of 1.42 2-5 in the 150 yard free style, against the old time of 1.45.

The sixty-yard free style, Ethel Lackie shattered the old record with 34 2-5. The record held by Adelaide Lambert was 36 4-5.

HAMILTON WON FROM OTTAWA

Senators Didn't Seem Strong Without Cy. Dennenay Many Penalties.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 0

HAMILTON, Feb 26— (Canadian Press).—The league leaders played a heavy defensive game with Ottawa Senators here last night to add another victory to their list, the score being 2 to 0.

Ottawa, with Cy Dennenay, didn't appear as strong as on previous occasions and they showed an inclination to play a man more than the puck with the result that the penalty box was well filled all evening. Body checking was very heavy. After Red Green and Burch had tallied for the locals, the Gardiner crew settled back to protect their lead which they did successfully by playing brilliant hockey to stave off the savage attacks of the Senators.

WEST HAM LOST TO BLACKPOOL

West Bromwich Defeated Aston Villa By Two Goals To One.

GROUNDS SOAKED.

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—In replayed matches in the third round of the English Football Association cup championships yesterday, Blackpool defeated West Ham by three goals to nil and West Bromwich Albion won from Aston Villa by two goals to one.

West Bromwich Albion will meet Sheffield United in the next round and Blackpool is drawn against Tottenham Hotspurs or Blackburn.

In a Scottish Football Association Cup third round replay Aberdeen defeated Motherwell by two goals to one.

50,000 At Game.

The Aston Villa - West Bromwich Albion soc-to was staged on the grounds of the former team in the presence of 50,000 people. The weather was fine but the pitch was heavy despite a liberal use of sand. Both sides made one change, Gregory appearing for Wilson on the West Bromwich side and Phoenix substituting for Capewell in the Villa lineup. The opening exchanges favored the Villa, and after Walker had twice shot wide, Phoenix scored from York's pass twelve minutes after the start of the match. The Villa continued to hold the upper hand, their halves feeding the forwards in the attacks with fine skill. From a breakaway by Glidden, Gregory was able to equalize after thirty-six minutes of play. Following this, James hit the cross-bar and then shot over it for West Bromwich. After the interval the game for a while saw a number of even exchanges. Then the Villa attacked in full strength, Ashmore making two superb clearances when hard pressed. Within a quarter of an hour of the end, Glidden broke away again and centered, James scoring. The Villa attacked frequently after that but failed to equalize.

Played In Downpour.

A terrific downpour of rain continued throughout the Blackpool-West Ham melee, and the Blackpool grounds were waterlogged. Meredith scored for Blackpool after five minutes of play by a clever individual effort. Then Bedford headed wide. Blackpool pressed in great determination, and the visitors' goal had a number of narrow escapes. The West Ham forwards could do nothing with the defence of the home team, though once Crompton the Blackpool goalie, had to dive to save from Ruffell. Towards the interval West Ham improved and made great efforts to equalize. Just before half-time, Hampson, the West Ham goalkeeper, saved from Street's low drive, which nearly got by.

Bedford scored for the northerners nine minutes after the turn round. He put in a fast shot from Meredith's centre. West Ham from then on till the finish were completely overplayed. In the last two minutes Blackpool was particularly strong and were rewarded when Bedford headed through from a corner. The attendance was 15,190.

SPECTATORS BEATEN.

Warrants Issued For Arrest Of Cleveland Hockey Players.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Warrants for the arrest of Nelson Stewart, captain of the Cleveland hockey team, and three other members of the squad on charges of assault and battery, were issued late yesterday afternoon, Thomas W. Walsh, city prosecutor, announced.

The warrants are a result of a controversy during the hockey game with St. Paul here Tuesday night, following which H. Kasten, a spectator, was injured.

Kasten told Mr. Walsh that Stewart knocked him down as the Cleveland players were leaving the ice, after declining to continue the game because of a disputed goal. As he fell, he said, he was struck by a hockey stick wielded by one of the Cleveland men. He exhibited a four-inch gash in his head.

Spectators said Stewart attacked Kasten after the latter had made disparaging remarks about the Cleveland hockey players.

Dates Revised For Allan Cup Elimination Series.

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—The revised dates for the Western elimination in the Allan Cup hockey series have been announced by the Vice-President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Alberta and British Columbia play off at Vancouver March 6 and 9.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba meet at Winnipeg March 13 and 16.

The winning teams in these two series clash in the Western final at Winnipeg March 18 and 20. The Allan Cup finals will be decided in two out of three games at Winnipeg March 23, 25 and 27.

Bowling

At the Water Street Alleys last night The Examiner Ladies' Mercantile Team played a picked team from The Examiner men, and made things very interesting for them. Miss Collins had high three for the night with 485 and a high single of 210, thus carrying off all the high honors. The other ladies rolled considerably below their league form, otherwise, on the night's bowling, they would have been more than a match for their opponents.

CHILDREN AND EGGS

Just as Bad to Eat Too Many As None At All.

Children under 5 or 6 should not have more than one egg a day, or one every day. School children and adults in general may eat one a day, although there may be objections to this rule.

When eaten according to reason they make an excellent food, however. They contain mineral elements and are rich in vitamin A.

Dr. Hess, an eminent New York physician, has found that egg-yolk, given to very young babies, prevents rickets.

It is available and easy to give, but definote directions should be obtained from the physician who understands the individual child.

Next to milk, probably eggs are the best food. As milk forms the diet of babies, calves, pigs and other small animals, so does the contents of the egg form the food of the young chick until it breaks its shell.

Eggs may be prepared in many ways, which if the housewife will do it, will prevent the family growing tired of them.

Do not try to force the family to eat fried eggs all the time. Devil them, scramble them, soft boil them and poach them. Also use them in cooking. The food value will be there just the same.

MONARCHISTS WAGE WAR ON REPUBLICANS

Leaders Hope To Elect Their Man President Sometime This Summer.

BY CARL D. GROAT

Are Now Paving the Way for the Return of Welcomed Royalty.

BERLIN, Feb. 26. — Monarchistic attempts to discredit and cripple the German Republic are being carried on bitterly, vigorously.

The nationalistic elements have vowed they will put a final crimp in the republican regime and at present are campaigning to make Ebert and his colleagues outcasts.

The Bartels-Kutisker-Barmat-Hoefle scandal, revealing astounding financial manipulation during the inflation and post-inflation period, served as a welcome channel for the nationalists to wage a campaign against republicanism and socialism—terms which they loosely use as synonymous.

In addition to blackening reputations in this scandal, the nationalists in their strongholds—particularly in West Prussia and Pommerania—are resorting to the social boycott as a means of literally driving out men faithful to the new order in Germany.

The nationalists have come into possession of many important documents in connection with the Barmat scandal. These documents they used as a club during the recent cabinet negotiations to frighten off the republicans who numerically at least won a victory in the December elections. These documents were manifestly furnished to the political agitators by men in governmental positions who are still true to the old regime and who, though drawing their money from the republic, are working to sabotage Ebertism in favor of Hohenzollernism.

The Barmat scandal has served to clarify the atmosphere here. Post-war corruption in high places had reached an alarming degree. Day by day, the nationalists, served with ammunition by the state attorney's department and by their agents in the government, have dragged into their campaign one after another the names of high officials from Ebert down.

So far they have succeeded only in blackening some of these men by inuendo. Ebert is regarded by most of the nation as an honest man with good, hard common sense. He has, however, been unfortunate in his choice of friends. Some of them have been noted "Schiebers" of unsavory reputation, but not even Ebert's vilifiers have so far ventured to suggest that he has ever profited even to the extent of a single pfenning from relations which were social rather than political.

The revelations have, however, shown that some men of the new republican regime were not too careful about the connections they made with fly-by-night profiteers and speculators.

Weapon for Nationalists.

This fact has proved a tremendous weapon in the hands of the nationalists. They are telling over the length and the breadth of the land that republicanism means corruption. Their preachments, however, ignore the fact that men in high place under the old regime have been seriously compromised by the Barmat-Kutisker revelations.

The Prussian Seehandlung, the official bank of Germany's biggest state, lent out its millions in gold marks to Russian emigrant gamblers on security that was either not secure or non-existent. The men involved were all high officials of the bank and automatically of the state.

The nationalists excused these men on the plea that the "Russian Jew emigrants were too keen for these honest old time officials." The excuse is lame, particularly when one hears of fancy commissions, of wine dinners, and of Russian dancers in connection with these sturdy supporters of the old regime.

The nationalists hope, however, that by the time the presidential elections come this summer, they will have succeeded in selling to the nation the idea that the earliest supporters of the republic administration have been false to their trust.

If they succeed in implanting this idea firmly enough, then they rely upon the voters to elect a "true German nationally-minded man."

This expression covers naturally a Simon pure monarchist.

The monarchists do not expect an immediate return of the monarchy.

But they are plotting to get into their hands the Prussian power which was theirs under Wilhelm II. They are gradually becoming more insistent in their demands for power and they hope, once having achieved it that they will then have the way paved for a new royal regime in the "Vaterland."

Rupprecht to be Regent.

The story is current that the Hohenzollern and Wittelsbach families have reached an understanding whereby Rupprecht of Bavaria will become regent governor of Germany as the final step to creation of a new monarchistical system. Who the Kaiser would be after Rupprecht had started the wheel rolling has not been determined.

In addition to the Barmat campaign the monarchists are pursuing ruthlessly a policy of smoking out republican "Beamte," or officials in the provinces. The man who works wholeheartedly for the republic is actually put in many places on a black list. Instances have come to light where such Beamte could not even buy their daily food in the town to which they were assigned. Instead, they were forced to order their goods from a neighboring village.

The position of "Beamte" before the war was a highly desirable one. The man who worked himself up to the place of "Regierungsrat" or "Geheimrat" was a real figure in his community. His social position was assured, and he was viewed with a certain degree of envy by his neighbors. Today matters are different. The Regierungsrat or Geheimrat who openly admits he is for the republic is scorned in many places. A social boycott, bitter and unbearable, is laid against him. The open door to good society is slammed in his face and unless he is a man of unusual courage, he breaks down under the chicanery of the monarchistic elements.

Then again the monarchists are feeding their cause by propagating in many ministries and in the schools the old royal idea. Many of these Beamten and these teachers sabotage with deliberate malice the works of the republic.

Sneer at Republic.

The growing generation is taught in many schools to sneer at the republic, just as the teachers do. These methods of fighting the battle monarchy versus republic, are especially effective, since the republic hitherto has not shown particular courage in dealing with its defamers. The latter get away with everything short of murder. Libels against Ebert have been common.

It was only after six years of such scurrilous attacks that Ebert finally decided to have a show-down in the courts. But the courts also are monarchistic, and the judges cannot be removed. So Ebert at the end of December got a judgment against a fascisti editor who had reviled him. But it was a scant satisfaction for Ebert, this verdict, since the judge wrapped his judgment up with a statement that Ebert, technically at least, had committed treason by taking over the direction of the great munition strike in 1918. The evidence had shown beyond peradventure that Ebert's motives with the strike were thoroughly patriotic and that he and his socialistic colleagues had wanted only to shorten the munition strike.

The verdict was only one in series of justice farces of the post-war period.

The monarchsitic combination is a tight combination. Judges, teachers, high officials, even many business men form an iron wall against the republic and for a return to monarchy, while the new republic, timid and uncertain, so far has not fought back with anything like real vigor.

In this atmosphere, the presidential elections will be carried out this year.

STANLEY CUP FINALS

Not Likely To Be Reached Before March 23.

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Tentative dates for the Western Canadian Hockey League professional play-off have been set by L. I. Richardson, president of the League. It is proposed to hold the play-off between the second and third position clubs in the semi-final round on March 6 and 9.

The final series between the teams finishing first and the team winning semi-final, will be home and home games, probably March 12 and 16.

The National League champions will not be able to reach the West for the opening of the world's series before March 23, according to Mr. Richardson.

ST. PATS NOW SECOND.

Beat Canadiens 3-1 in Montreal and Break Deadlock For Place.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26—(Canadian Press).—St. Patrick's went into undisputed possession of second place in the National Hockey League when they defeated the Canadiens here last night 3 to 1 in what proved a ragged game. The Canadiens were without Joliat, their star scorer, and he was badly missed. The team, apparently a bit anxious, started the game on edge, and early penalties allowed St. Pat's to take the lead in goals. The Canadiens tried hard but passes went astray at critical moments and other splendid chances to score were beaten back by the hardest kind of luck around the Toronto net.

NURMI GETS ANOTHER.

Credited With Record Lowered Last Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Paavo Nurmi was credited with his first retroactive track record in America here yesterday, although he and his flashing Finnish feet were elsewhere.

Officials of the Georgetown University track meet last Saturday announced Wednesday that the mighty runner, although he seemed to observers at the games to be taking it easy, apparently had established a word record in the special 3,000-metre race by making the distance in 7 minutes 46 2-5 seconds.

The former world's record for 3,000 metres was 7 minutes 58 1-5 seconds.

JAPS ANGERED BY MANOEUVRES

Presence of American Fleet in Philippines Resented By People.

CALL IT AFFRONT

TOKIO, Feb. 25. — (Canadian Press).—Mass meetings have been held here with a resulting clamor for drastic action by the Japanese government in an effort to rissuade the United States from holding naval manoeuvres off the coasts of the Hawaiian Islands and the Phillipines this summer. But sober opinion in this country seems to be that the mater should be officially ignored by Japan.

The nation's Liberal statesmen point out, however, that the masses are not sufficiently educated to realize that the proposed American manoeuvres are reasonable enough. They themselves recognize that, so far as the Pacific is concerned, the only reason for the maintenance of a strong navy by the United States is the prospect of trouble with Japan's determination to be well represented on the high seas in the possibility of war with Great Britain or the United States.

"We naturally do not even suggest that there may be war between Japan and the United States or Great Britain, but obviously there would be no need for us to maintain a great navy to protect ourselves from any other powers; and the same argument may be used by the Americans and the British," said a Japanese parliamentary leader recently. "Because of that condition we regard the American manoeuvres as a matter of course. The Hawaiian Island and the Philippines are American possessions and it is natural that the United States should make preparations to protect them. However, there is no object in shutting our eyes to the fact that the majority of the Japanese people do not see it in that light. They regard the scheme as a direct affront to their nation."

The futility of a Japanese threat is seen by those who have any conception of this country's present resources.

"It is the extremity of folly to think that there would be war between Japan and the United States," said Kotari Mochizuki, prominent Kensekai member of the House of Representatives, who has maintained that the present bueaucratic policy of the Japanase foreign office is "effeminate and provoking."

"Suppose war should break out. How about Japan's resources for such gigantic operations against America?" he asked. "We have neither coal nor iron, oil or much of any other essential material for war. Even if we surpressed all private consumption of these materials, the resources in Japan are not sufficient to carry on a war with America for two months. In addition, Japan's industry is not sufficiently developed to be able to convert raw materials into war materials at a moment's notice, or even in time to be of value. How could we get airplanes, for example? Impossible!"

"I may add, however, that the Japanese people are very sensitive to national honor, and any affront to Japan at the hands of any foreign nations, if carried too far, may drive the people to war without taking counsel with the better brains of the nation. It must be remembered that the Japanese are taught from childhood that it is better to perish than to live in dishonor."

The greatest problems involving the continuance of friendship between Japan and the United States at the present time are said to be: Modification of the Washington agreement regarding fortifications in Hawaii; rectification of the manner in which the immigration bill was handled; and thorough co-operation between Japan and America in China. These are the problems, at any rate, that are put forward by the statesmen who have had opportunity of making the most thorough study of international affairs.

CHINESE FURS IN DEMAND

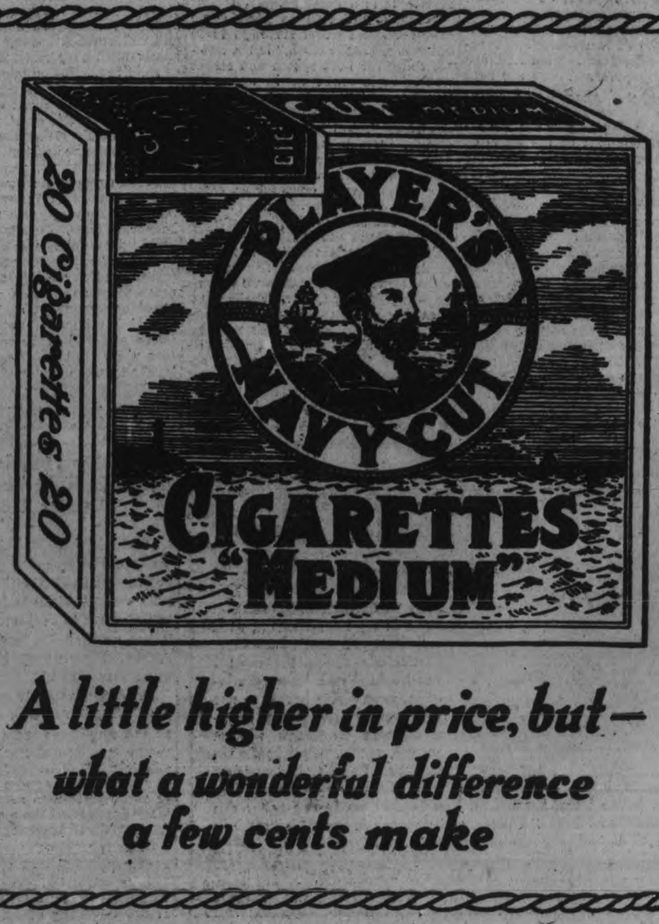
Very Popular for Trimming, Taking the Place of More Expensive Variety.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—When milady buys her furs in the fashionable centers of Great Britain, Canada or the United States this year she may not know that it is quite likely that the pelts from which the article of apparel was made have passed through the hands of roving bandits before finding their way to civilized lands.

China furs have won tremendous favor this winter and it was unfortunate circumstances for China that at the very time when indications were that the trade would reach unprecedented levels the country became torn by war.

Exporters are hopeful, however, that the war will not seriously affect the supply of the so-called China furs. The skins may have a checkered career before they reach the factories, but the general feeling here is that they will get there just the same. Those who make this prediction are relying on the natural business instinct of the Chinese. In spite of the disorganization brought about by war the fur caravans are still rolling towards the coast. The pelts may be seized by one fighting force or another, or they may figure prominently as loot, but the lure of silver will eventually bring the furs to the British exporters at Shanghai—who may or may not shed a tear for the poor traders of the interior to whom they originally belonged.

It is not often that China skins win popular favor. They are usually overshadowed by the richer pelts from the northern latitudes such as Canada, Russia and Siberia. But this year, probably on account of thin pocket-books and the insiatiable desire of women for change, these furs have been very widely taken up, especially for trimming.



A little higher in price, but— what a wonderful difference a few cents make

RECORD CROWD FOR BIG GAME

No Tickets Left For Senior Final To-night.

Some five hundred Peterboro hockey fans will make the pilgrimage to Toronto to-night for the Senior O.H.A. final game between Niagara Falls and Peterboro, and many more would have gone could they have secured the necessary pasteboards for the Arena. The two blocks of tickets secured by the Peterboro Club were sold out in a twinkling last night, and all day today there have been inquiries after tickets. The Arena is completely sold out, and no more seats can be procured for love or money, although a hundred or more Peterboro fans who are without tickets are taking a chance on standing room or on getting tickets from the speculators.

The Mail and Empire says:

Not for any game played here in Toronto this season has there been such a demand for tickets as there is for to-night's battle between Peterboro and Niagara Falls, the first between the two for the Senior O.H.A. championship. The plan was entirely sold out by noon yesterday, and all afternoon and evening the fans invaded the Arena in vain for the precious paste boards. Standing room tickets will go on sale at the Arena to-night at 8.20, and the largest crowd of the season will likely see these two smart teams in action. About 1,000 fans are coming from Niagara Falls, and over 500 from Peterboro.

The Petes arrived in the city yesterday, and are quartered at the Windemere. They held a light practice, and all the players reported in splendid condition, and confident that they will be able to down the husky team from the Falls. Gene Fraser will lead his men in town to-day. They came through the game with Stratford without suffering any injuries, and will have no alibis if beaten. But they expect to win, not only to-night, but the return game in Niagara Falls on Monday.

Lou Marsh will referee to-night's game, while M. J. Rodden has been appointed for the game in the Falls on Monday.

EMPIRE WAR DEAD ARE REMEMBERED

Tablet in Rouen Cathedral Unveiled By General Sir Nevil MacCready.

ROUEN, France, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—General Sir Nevil MacCready yesterday unveiled the tablet erected in Rouen Cathedral by the War Graves Commission to the memory of the Empire's War Dead. The tablet bears the royal arms surrounded by those of Dominions.

The tablet is inscribed in English and French: 'To the Glory of God, and to the memory of the one million dead of the British Empire who fell in the Great War, 1914-18, and of whom the greater part rest in France."

C.N.R. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Feb. 26. — The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending February 21, 1925, were $4,125,858, being a decrease of $55,190 over the corresponding week of 1924.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from Jan. 1 to February 21, 1925, have been $29,016,001, being a decrease of $2,220,369 over the corresponding period of 1924.

RUTH DOWN TO 225.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 26. — Babe Ruth, home run expert has trimmed his form down to 225 pounds and is only ten pounds from the 215 mark he strived to reach before departing for the Yankees' training camp in Florida. He has lost 20 pounds as his reward for many hours of sweltering in hot water and vapor baths and long daily treks over the golf courses.

RICH GIRL TO WED A MODEST LAWYER

Miss Addie Rockefeller Is Betrothed to David M. Milton.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—One of the world's richest girls will step from her parent's mansion into the modest apartment of a young lawyer, when Miss Addie Rockefeller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and David Merriweather Milton, Jr., are married next May.

The standard of living they will adopt after their marriage will be set by his comparatively small income, instead of by her parents' millions it was learned last night with an announcement of their betrothal.

The engagement is the culmination of a romance which started in their childhood and grew during the years their families were neighbors at Pocantico Hills and Seal Harbor, Maine.

ARREST SENATORS WHO SKIP HOUSE

Sixteen of Them Went Into Exile So They Wouldn't Have to Vote.

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—A blanket warrant for the arrest of sixteen Democratic Senators of Indiana General Assembly, who bolted the Legislature yesterday and came to Dayton, was served this morning. The Indiana Senators left their State, going into voluntary exile here last night as a protest against the Gerrymander bill which they declared was detrimental to the interests of their party. By refusing to attend the Legislature they have made the passage of the bill impossible owing to lack of a quorum.

Jerome Brown, principal doorkeeper of the Indiana Senate, who was mandated to take the lawmakers back to the State House at Indianapolis, said the men flatly refused to acknowledge the instrument. They challenged his authority, he added.

Mr. Brown said he was awaiting advice from Indianapolis and was uncertain as to his next plans.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

John Trott Found Guilty of Slaying Constable Joseph Truman.

WELLAND, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Charged with the murder of Police Constable Joseph Truman at Thorold in the early hours of Sunday morning, December 22nd, 1922, John Trott was found guilty of manslaughter and was given a life sentence in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Mr. Justice Logie at the Assizes here yesterday.

In passing sentence, His Lordship informed Trott that the jury had taken a merciful view of the case. The same evidence would have fully justified a verdict of murder.

MINERS STAMPEDE.

Gold Strike in Siberia Sends 20,000 Men Seeking Wealth.

SEATTLE, Wn, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Twenty thousand miners have rushed to the scene of a gold discovery in South Eastern Siberia, 250 miles northeast of Blagovezchonak, on the head waters of the Aldon River tributary to the Lena River, Olaf Swenson, president of a wholesale fur company of Seattle declared on his return here today from Vladivostok, Russia.

Owing to the great excitement throughout Russia over the discovery, the Soviet government has closed the camp and no additional prospectors are being permitted to enter the district, said Swenson.

ART TREASURES STOLEN

Pictures Taken From Hollywood Home Worth $485,000.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., February 26 (Canadian Press). — A reward of $10,000 for information leading to the return of $485,000 in paintings and art treasures stolen from the Hollywood home of Martin Weinschenck last week, or leading to the arrest of the thieves, was offered yesterday by Los Angeles representatives of a London firm, said to have insured the collection for more than $200,000.

GROWTH OF PALESTINE.

Increase Through Jewish Immigration in 1924 Was 9,814.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Official returns show that 11,851 Jews — 4,573 men, 3,836 women and 3,442 children —entered Palestine as immigrants during the twelve months ending Dec. 31. During the same period Jewish emigrants numbered 2,037.

The net increase of population through immigration during the year was 9,814; the corresponding increase in 1923 was 3,788.

In recent months the immigration was somewhat changed in character, a large proportion of these entering the country being people with means. A substantial number are already founding new industries, the others being heavily absorbed into the labor market with the result that there is for the present practically no unemployment among the Jewish population.

Mr Rose points out that the gross debt of the city has increased from $44,000,000 in 1912 to $173,000,000 in 1924.. Taxes which in pre-war days averaged from 012 to $20 per capita now amounts to $46, per capita

NO TITLES TO AUSTRALIA

List of New Year's Honors Was Shortest on Record.

MELBOURNE, Feb. 26 (Associated Press).—Australia is emphasizing its democracy; the list of New Year honors was the shortest on record.

Knighthoods and other imperialistic decorations have lost much of their significance and dignity here because of the scandals attached to their bestowal Certain wealthy political workers are still prepared to pay the price to become knights, and the British government is quite willing to grant the appointments, but the Australian state governments, wisely gauging public feeling, has practically vetoed the wholesale distribution of these gifts.

The Labor governments in Tasmania, Western Australia, Queensland and South Australia have legislated against these awards, and even the Liberal governments are going slowly in recommending the granting of British honors.

Dignified reward for meritorious service to the state is still understood but many public men who have rendered signal service have insisted on remaining plain Mister.

Australia has had only one native peer, the late Lord Forest, who did so much work in exploring unknown Western Australia that the country forgave him his title.

BOY KILLED.

Prank of Playmates Ended Fatally in Spite of Efforts to Save Life.

SUDBURY, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—As a result of terrible injuries sustained when two of his schoolmates, while at play in the C.P.R. roundhouse at Cartier last evening, placed a high pressure air tube against his body, John, 14-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. John Gordon, Cartier, died in St Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury, half an hour after he was admitted to the institution. A special engine and van conveying the lad and his father was rushed by C.P.R. officials from Cartier to Sudbury.

APPLY DAWES PLAN TO ALLIED DEBTS

Big Business Interests Bring Forward Solution to Inter-Allied Deadlock.

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press). — Application of the principle of the Dawes scheme to Great Britain's allied creditors was demanded yesterday in a memorandum submitted to Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill by the Grand Council of the Federation of British Industries. This organization represents practically the whole of "big business" in this country.

"The difficulties of the debt settlement," the memorandum declares, "are that at the present time America will not agree to any compromise on broad lines as to the total obligations, that as long as America maintains that attitude Great Britain cannot take the risk of compromise and that debtor countries cannot immediately undertake to pay the full annual instalments on their indebtedness without hopelessly wrecking their economic position.

"At the same time it is of urgent importance that British industry should receive some relief from the burden of taxation imposed upon it for the benefit of debtor countries, and should be provided through the restoration of stable exchanges with conditions essential for its expansion.

"It appears to the Federation that the solution must lie in some arrangement by which debtor countries should pay annual instalments, in accordance with their ability to pay, that is to say, that some plan based on the principles underlying the Dawes report should be applied to the repayment of inter-Allied indebtedness."

PEERS AS "NEEDLEMEN"

Several Noblemen Entered in Sewing and Fancy Work Competition.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (Associated Press).—Sewing and other needlework has become one of the favorite pastimes of some of the best-known British peers.

The Earl of Listowel, one of the famous wild game hunters of England, has entered for a gold thimble prize which is to be one of the features of a needlework competition arranged by the friends of the poor on May 6 at Norfolk House, St. James' Square, loaned for the occasion by the Duchess of Norfolk

Among other competitors in the contest will be Lord and Lady Gainford, and Lord Carmichael, who is considered by experts as an "exquisite needleman," much of his leisure being spent on Florentine work, but who recently started petit point. Lord Gainford is an expert in needlework on canvas, which he often does on the train between London and his country home. Lady Gainford, not to be outdone by her husband in the way of stitchery, copies elaborate museum pieces, and will contribute one of these to be sold at the exhibition for charity.

There are 200 competitors in the contest for the gold thimble, among them several other men, and many prominent women including Lady Violet Crawley, Lady Katharine Lambton, Lady Algernon Gordon-Lennox, Lady Hylton and Lady Ethel Brabourne.

18 SENATORS BOLT.

Seek To Prevent Passage Of Bill In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 26. — Eighteen Democratic members of the Indiana Senate bolted that body yesterday seeking by their action to prevent passage of a Gerrymander bill which they declared would react against their party in the second Indiana Congressional District.

Reports were received last night, that 15 of the bolters were at Dayton, Ohio, and Jerome Brown, principal door-keeper of the Senate departed for that city armed with a mandate from the Senate to arrest the fugitives.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

FAMOUS MAGIC HERE TONIGHT

Blackstone Engagement One of Most Important Events Of Entire Season.

Tonight Blackstone and his big wonder show will inaugurate a 3-day engagement at the Grand, with a special "Rabbit" Matinee for the Kiddies Saturday Because of the prominence of the star and the magnitude of his entourage this is one of the most important local bookings of the entire year. Whereas Blackstone has confined his activities for several season past to the so-called legitimate playhouse where prices range up to $2.00 he will be seen here at the usual house tariff. The celebrated necromancer feels that the more numerous performance policy of popular priced theatres will enable even larger financial returns than in the higher scaled houses.

Some doubt existed up until last night whether "The Vanishing Horse" would be shown as advertised. In order to properly accomplish the illusion several structural changes in the stage had to be made. Manager Bickel was loath to have his rostrum altered. Finally the advance representative of the troupe agreed to pay the expense of replacing any holes cut in the stage and the local impresario relented. The result is that "The Vanishing Horse" as well as the many other huge illusions will be staged in their entirety.

It is announced that in addition to a change of the general program there will be performances devoted to special events. On Wednesday evening Blackstone will duplicate in the light any spiritualistic manifestation that may be requested. On Friday evening Blackstone will offer his famous packing box escape while Saturday afternoon rabbits will be presented to the little ones.

MAE EDWARDS STOCK CO. COMING TO THE GRAND

Will Be the Attraction for the Week Commencing March 2.

A treat is in store for the patrons of the Grand Opera House during the week commencing March 2, when the Mae Edwards Stock Company will be the attraction, with a change of play each night. Mr. W. E. Webb, advance agent for this production, is at present in the city, making all the necessary arrangements for the stock company and the news that the Grand will be open all week, with such a very high class stock company, will be received with great pleasure.

The Mae Edwards Stock Company has been playing in the west to large audiences, and to use an old saying in theatrical circles, the shows put on have "gone over big."

Of special interest is the fact that the company carries its own celebrated orchestra, which in itself will be a great attraction.

CROWDED HOUSE FOR "HER SACRIFICE."

Read what the Kingston Standard had to say of Mae Edwards Company, appearing at the Grand Opera House all next week:

"'Standing room only,' and not much of that was the satisfactory situation at the Grand Opera House last night, when every seat was filled with an audience that applauded and appreciated the splendid production of 'Her Sacrifice,' with Mae Edwards in the title role. This talented company has jumped into popularity this week with Kingstonians of every class, and the announcement by the manager that they hoped to return for week-end engagements was received with great applause.

"The first scene in 'Her Sacrifice' was laid in Hollywood and the remaining two in New York City. Miss Edwards as Adela La Monte had a chance of showing what a clever and capable actress she really is. All the other members of the company, each in difficult parts, were at their best. The celebrated orchestra was recalled time and again and responded most generously."

AT THE ROYAL

EMOTIONAL ACTRESS AS APACHE QUEEN.

The great emotional actress, Nazimova, in "The Redeeming Sin," a Vitagraph picture, comes to the Royal Theatre to remain three days, and from all accounts picture-goers are due to have a rare treat.

"The Redeeming Sin" is a J. Stuart Blackton production, from an engrossing novel by L. V. Jefferson. Nazimova has the role of Joan, "Queen of the Paris Sewers." She is sought after by Lupine, the Apache leader, but is attracted by Paul de Gafilet, a young nobleman. That she may be worthy of this young man, she renounces her old life. When Lupine, determined to win her, steals a pearl necklace for her, she bids him return it, and he complies. Then the girl decides that she loves the Apache leader after all.

All the scenes in the picture are laid in Paris, and J. Stuart Blackton has reproduced the narrow streets and old buildings with remarkable fidelity. A fight in the Paris sewers, with gangsters mixing it up, is declared to be one of the most realistic combats ever screened.

Lou Tellegen impersonates the Apache leader, and is said to give an excellent performance. Others in the well-balanced cast are Carlton D. Miller, Otis Harlan, Rosita Marstini, Rose Tapley, Eric Mayne and Violet Virginia.

"CHECKERS" PROVES SCREEN HAS A WIDER SCOPE THAN STAGE
As "Gold Heels" Famous Blossom Play Blossoms Forth Anew as a Big Film.

HORSE RACE IS CLIMAX.

Camera Records Realism Not Possible Behind Footlights in Ne Fox Special.

The fact that a story has been a good stage play doesn't always make it a good motion picture. But it does happen, generally, that a good racetrack stage play makes an even better picture, because it is possible to show, more effectively, the actual race.

So it is in "Gold Heels," the William Fox photoplay which opens at the Regent theatre to-day. More than ten years ago Henry Blossom, Jr., produced a play called "Checkers," which took Broadway by storm. Thomas W. Ross played the title role, which is handled, in the screen version, by Robert Agnew.

"Checkers" was an orphan boy who seemed to have more than his share of bad luck, in his personal life, though the horses he rode nearly always crosse the finish line first. Because he insisted always on "riding to win," he was discharged by his crooked employer, and eventually found a job in Barlow's grocery store in a small town Clarksville. It was there he met and fell in love with "Pert" Barlow, and Pert came often to the store to hear him play his violin.

Kendall is played by William Norton Bailey, and Pert Barlow by the winsome Peggy Shaw. Others in the cast are Lucien Littlefield, Carl Stockdale, Fred Butler, Harry Tracy, James Douglas, Winifred Landis, Katherine Craig, Buck Black and Betty Hisle.

COOLIDGE PUTS SOFT PEDAL ON DEBT TALK

Gratifying to French Financial Circles—Franc Affected.

PARIS, Feb. 26. — Dispatches from Washington to the effect that President Coolidge had advised less talk about debts has caused much satisfaction in French official and financial circles, particularly around the Bourse, where it was remarked that such a suggestion might be made with profit to some French statemen and political leaders. The talk about debt funding, together with the publication of the famous 'inventory" by Finance Minister Clementel, are credited in financial quarters with a large share in bringing about the present weakness of the franc.

W.M.S. SALE AND TEA.

St. Andrew's Church Ladies Hold Successful Affair—Good Attendance.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church held a very successful and well-attended afternoon tea and sale of home-made sooking at the home of Mrs. Robert Harstone, Water Street, on Tuesday afternoon. There was a splendid attendance of ladies, who were received by Mrs. Harstone, Mrs. J. John, president of the W.M.S., and Mrs. James W. Gordon. Guests were shown to the tea-room by Mrs. R. M. Waddell and Mrs. Alex. Weddell. Tea was poured by Mrs. A. J. Eaton and Mrs. G. A. Gillespie, at a table prettily arranged with tulips, daffodils and yellow candles in silver holders. The tea-room was in charge of Mrs. E. R. Shirley and Mrs. P. L. Allison, assisted by Mesdames Nevin, Weir, Mackintosh, Carmen, Waite. A sale of home-made cooking was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Henry and Mrs. Archie Moore, and Mrs. M. Wilgar had charge of the musical programme, which included vocal numbers by Miss Bertha Hill and Miss E. Dix, and instrumental selections by the Misses Marjorie Turner and Margaret Widdess.

Surprised By Tribesmen One Thousand Are Killed

DAMASCUS, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—One thousand inhabitants of Transjordinia were killed and many others were wounded when taken by surprise by the ten thousand Wahabi tribesmen who crossed the border of Transjordinia and started their march towards Amman, says an announcement today by Sultan Ibn Saoud's political representative.

DRANK LINIMENT.

Elderly Man in Napanee District Was Despondent—Near Death.

KINGSTON, Febrary 26 (Canadian Press). — In a fit of despondency, Joseph McGregor, an elderly man living at Sharpe's Corners, near Napanee, drank six ounces of horse liniment, and is now in a critical condition in the General Hospital here. He lived alone.

OBITUARY.

TENNIECE GUERIN.

The death took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital, of Tenniece Guerin, aged 76 years.

The deceased, who had been suffering from a lingering illness during the past two years, was an old resident of the city, having lived here for sixty years. He was born in the Province of Quebec.

The late Mr. Guerin, whose wife pre-deceased him about five years ago, is survived by three sons and three daughters, Joseph and Thomas of Flint, Mich., Tenniece, Jr., of this city, Mrs. Richard Holt of Flint, Mrs. W. J. Jenkins of Orillia, and Mrs. F. Flegler of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held at nine o'clock on Friday morning from the residence of T. Guerin, Jr., 256 Aylmer Street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

FRANK MARINO

The funeral of Frank Marino, who died yesterday, will be held from his residence, at the corner of Lake and George Streets on Friday morning at 9.00 am. to the Church of the Sacred Heart and St. Peter's Cemetery.

The late Mr. Marino has been a resident of Peterboro 45 years, being the first native of Italy to take up his residence here He was well known in the city as proprietor of a business opposite the Grand Opera House, and later in the South end.

There are left to mourn his loss besides his widow, four sons, Frank, Anthony, Joseph and Vincent; three daughters, Elizabeth, Catherine and Mary, all at home.

RELIEF TRAIN.

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press.) — Canadian Pacific train No. 20 (the Canadian), bound from Chicago to Montreal, was derailed at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Glen Tay, three miles west of Perth, according to a long distance telephone information received here.

The extent of possible casualties has not yet been ascertained. A relief train carrying doctors and nurses is en route from Smiths Falls to the scene of the accident, and all doctors in Perth have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed.

The Employees of The Cressman Company Spend a Most Enjoyable Evening

It was a bright and happy throng that gathered on the third floor of the Cressman Co. on Tuesday evening. Gone was the business-like aspect, in fact everything pertaining to business was forgotten, for the employees and their wives were guests of the firm for a very social and enjoyable get-together evening.

The spacious third floor was thrown open for dancing with music provided by an excellent orchestra, while in the attractive Lunch Room progressive euchre was thoroughly enjoyed by the host of participants; the prizes being aptly won by Mrs. Young and Mrs. Vickers, Mr. Vickers and Walter Cox.

After cards and dancing, supper was served in the Tea Room, and Mr. H. W. Cressman concluding a short talk of appreciation for a most efficient organization, proposed a toast to the ladies. After a few useful pointers regarding the fairer sex by Mr. Bud Hickey, a vote of thanks was tendered the firm, a short musical programme provided a real treat. Solos by Mrs Benson, vocal selections by Miss Helen Jarvis and Miss Helen Quinn and Mr. Racher were thoroughly appreciated and repeatedly encored. Miss Baumer and Miss Wheeler were favorites, while Harry Cobb and "Cressman's Mike" provided a short roller skating diversion. The programme was concluded by the popular "How Do You Do," quartette by Messrs. Lillow, Ford, Racher, Wilkinson, the latter also prooved a very able master of ceremonies throughout the entire evening.

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and when finally the last dance hinted a gentle goodnight the entire staff were loud in their praise for what they all considered a perfect evening.

CHEST OF LIQUOR PREVENTS MURDER

Hundred Criminals on Convict Ship Broke Loose — Orgy Saved Passengers.

By A. M. EASTERLING.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26. — (United Press).—Five score men on a liquor chest, drink and the devil had done for the rest—Yo ho, and a bottle of rum—that chest of liquor prevented 103 murderers on a passenger ship one hour out of Buenos Aires from the capture of a good vessel, the hoisting of the Jolly Roger and a course in modern piracy, and also probably averted a wholesale plank-walking.

The murderers were being transported in the hold of the "Buenos Aires" to the lonely settlement of Ushaia, Tierra del Fuego, where the more hardened murderers of that numerous element in Buenos Aires spend their declining years. It is not a health resort, Ushaia, and few of those who go there ever return; preparation for the trip spreads gloom among the usually cheerful murderers confined in the national penitentiary here.

Four ill-armed men were guarding these 103 criminals and they were insufficient. The prisoners broke their fetters, knocked out the guards, seized knives and clubs and other weapons and swept over the ship, terrorizing passengers and crew. Women and children barricaded themselves in their staterooms and prayed for help.

The wireless operator of the Buenos Aires did not pray, but felt he ought to call for more mortal help. So he broadcast a wireless appeal.

In the meantime the murderers fell upon a chest of liquor, and a cheese, and forgot their troubles for a while. The man who murdered a telephone girl for 40 centavos got very drunk; and so did the youth who had 60 crimes against him, many of them brutal murders. In fact, they all got drunk.

Then came a harbor police boat with ten port police with Mausers and they boarded the Buenos Aires, and shackled the drunken murderers, and the ship put back in port and the prisoners were returned to the national penitentiary. The crew and passengers of the Buenos Aires showed a certain disinclination to proceed with them aboard.

Eight of the murderers previously had escaped while the Buenos Aires was at the pier and they are still at large, and one of them has threatened to resume his career of crime by killing his former sweetheart and the man she recently fell in love with. The city is in a state of expectancy—and newspapers are suggesting the revival of capital punishment.

It is pointed out that murder is increasing in Buenos Aires—that moral and mental degenerates have found refuge in the city from European countries, reimbursing the native element, and they operate with perfect certainty that they will not have to atone with life for the most atrocious crime.

There is a probability that a strong demand will be made in Congress not only for the revival of the death penalty but for a more rigid enforcement of the present Penal Code. Many men are yearly sentenced to life imprisonment and many who have committed the worst possible crimes get off with 10 or 15 years or less and later may be pardoned.

There is said to be too much hesitancy in the courts.

In the meantime the investigation of the escape and mutiny of the 103 has disclosed that a large number of prisoners have been escorted to Ushaia on passenger ships with inadequate guards. An effort is being made to induce steamship companies to refuse such passengers, who should be transported on war vessels.

RAW COTTON FROM ASIATIC TURKEY

British Mills Draw on a New Source of Supply.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 26—The arrival here of 1,000 bales of cotton from the ports of Mersina, in Asia Minor, marks the opening of a new course of cotton supply to the spinning mills of Lancashire.

It will be a new source in the sense of constituting and addition to the centers which now feed Lancashire with raw cotton, says the Westminster Gazette, but curiously enough it was from this quarter of the Turkish Empire that Britian first began to draw her cotton supplies nearly four centuries ago. They were the mainstay of cotton spinning in England before the days of Arkwright, and before cotton cultivation in America assumed serious proportions.

A ginning factory has been laid down at Adana, the headquarters of one of the three cultivating areas, and for which the port of Mersina is a natural outlet. The two other areas are the hinterland of Smyrna and the valley of Sakaria. Adana can produce an annual crop of 100,000 bales; her potentiality is described as a minimum of 800,000 bales to a maximum of two millions.

M. Husni, a member of a Manchester cotton firm, has expressed the view that the Smyrna crop would sell at pass price (middling) and the American-Egyptian hybrid crop of Adana would be worth more than pass price.

"The classification of this cotton in a business and scientific way," he said, "is receiving very careful attention and next year's crop will be offered on rigidly defined types."

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of the late Tenniece Guerin who died in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday will be held from the home of his son, 256 Aylmer st., Friday morning at 9.00 a.m. to St. Peter's Cathedral and Cemetery.

Latest Comment on Grain and Industrial Markets.

Closing Quotations on Principal Active Stocks.

CHICAGO.

Cheerfulness and increased confidence prevailed among most of the grain trade last night, especially wheat and corn with buying by operators and large commission houses who have been against advancing prices was a factor. Their conversion to the bull side was taken as indicating a belief in the strength of wheat and corn.

Reinstating of recently sold out lines of wheat and corn combined with a big covering movement was responsible for the large advance. Chicago and Minneapolis advanced more than any of the other markets. The heavy buying of wheat by a local house was construed by many as indicating that a bullish report would beforthcoming on farm reserves.

Reports that around one million wheat had been sold for export late Tuesday and yesterday were not fully confirmed in late messages from the seaboard.

England, France, Greece and Sweden were the buyers. The continent bought a little new wheat for July and August shipment, but quantities were not given. Export circles at seaboard reported a better inquiry for wheat. Norway bought 200,000 bushels of rye said to be for May shipment.

RADIO ANNOUNCING

New York University Establishes New Course.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—Radio "announcing" has become so much of a profession that New York University has established a new course to give announcers the proper training. It is being offered by the Extramural Division, of which Professor James E. Lough is Dean.

Although radio announcers and lecturers have some problems in common with the platform speaker, such as audience psychology, those who "take the air" for their addresses must give special attention to voice training. The experience of New York University's 'Air College" has been that the voice, rather than the subject, is more potent in attracting the radio audience.

Students who study the technique of good radio delivery, the construction and rhetoric of the radio speech, and the specialized vocabulary necessary for the radio speaker. Four college credits will be given to those who complete the course.

The course will be given in the laboratories of the National Voice Service at University Heights. One feature of the laboratory equipment is a voice recording outfit, which sends back to the student his voice as it sounds to his radio audience Students will spend much of their time speaking over the microphone under normal studio conditions.

MAJOR BELFORD DECLARES BEER AMENDMENTS ARE INTENDED ONLY TO SEEK POLITICAL ADVANTAGE

Member for East Northumberland Will Support Govt. in Division on Address.

CONSERVATIVE DAY

Hon. R. J. Cooke Says Drys Cannot Dictate the Policy of the Government.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—The debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne was carried on entirely by Conservative members in the Legislature Thursday afternoon. The Opposition groups have finished their addresses. The debate will probably wind up on Tuesday with the Premier having the last word, and the House will be divided on the two amendments which have been moved.

Major J. F. B. Belford (Con., East Northumberland) stated that he would support the Government and oppose both amendments, the Liberal one accusing the Premier of breach of pledge and the Progressive one stating that 4 per cent. beer was intoxicating. I left open his intention on the beer question by stating that he would consider that matter when the bill itself came to the House. Hon. R. J. Cooke, Minister without portfolio, and Hydro Commissioner, supported the Government's beer proposal and accused the Liberals of attacking the Hydro. To the latter charge W. E. Sinclair, Liberal leader, took vigorous exception. Mark Vaughan (Con., Welland) spoke briefly, accusing the King Government of responsibility for unemployment. He did not mention the O.T.A. at all.

Big Issues Neglected.

Major Belford said that great questions of public interest were being ignored in Ontario because of the continued cry of "beer." He declared that any member who made political capital out of the temperance question was unworthy to represent the people. He accused both Opposition parties of playing politics with their amendments. He thought that the Government was sincere in its introduction of 4.4 beer as a temperance measure.

"The amendment by the Progressives is a deliberate attempt to coax Conservatives from their party," said Major Belford. The speaker declared that home brew was the greatest evil in Ontario rural districts to-day. He thought that the Attorney-General had been pessimistic in stating that the O.T.A. could not be enforced because in his riding there was less drinking of liquor than there ever had been. The Liberals, he said, were subservient to their political ideas, no matter how they conflicted with their moral principles. He said he did not personally favor stronger beer, but as the amendments were for political purposes he would oppose them. "The question must be decided upon its merits when the bill is brought down," he stated.

Says Hydro Attacked.

Hon. Mr. Cooke said that the Hydro had been the object of attack by every Liberal speaker who had spoken in the debate. He said that the Liberal leader was trying to destroy those who had made Hydro possible in Ontario, "and on prohibition he is afraid to say whether he is for or against the beer proposal."

Mr. Sinclair objected to the remark that he was attacking Hydro. "I simply quoted from the report on the recent investigation made by Judge Snyder," said Mr. Sinclair, "and it was not attacking Hydro or the Commission. I levelled no charges against Sir Adam Beck and the honorable member (Mr. Cooke) knows perfectly well that I did not."

Mr. Cooke said that the Liberal leader had made insinuations and had pressed for an investigation meaning further persecution of the Hydro and Sir Adam Beck.

"I challenge you to name one occasion upon which the Liberals ever opposed a single vote for Hydro purposes," declared Sam. Clark (Lib., West Northumberland).

"I can't remember a single occasion from 1925 when it mattered much how the Liberals voted," retorted Mr. Cooke.

Doesn't Fear Drys.

Mr. Cooke then went into the subject of the O.T.A., stating that the recent prohibitionist convention in Toronto had made it plain that they would try to destroy the Government if the demands of the convention were not met.

"If the time ever comes when an outside organization can dictate the policy of the Government then it will be a sad day for the province," said Mr. Cooke. "I think that many of them were more sincere in their effort to wreck the Conservative party than they were in the true advancement of temperance. If the prohibitionist union makes it an issue then the Conservatives can easily defend their record on temperance legislation. We can ask them to choose between the Liberals and Conservatives. The Liberals were always the foes of prohibition and the friends of whisky."

Mr. Cooke accused the Liberals of "black hearted treachery and deceit" in their relation to prohibition. He pointed to the increase in whisky manufacture in Ontario from 2,237,000 gallons in 1917 to 5,220,000 gallons in 1924 as indictive of an increased liquor consumption. He declared that the Liberal Government at Ottawa was seeking to debauch the O.T.A. and had been encouraging bootlegging.

Mr. Sinclair wanted to know from Mr. Cooke if bootlegging in Ontario started when the King Government came into power at Ottawa. Mr. Cooke said he did not contend that it did.

Mr. Vaughan laid at the door of the Federal Government all the blame for unemployment, and advocated a higher tariff as the cure-all for bad times. He approved the suggestion that the Ontario Department of Agriculture should have a broadcasting station for markets and agricultural talks.

W. G. Wilson (Con., Niagara Falls) moved the adjournment of the debate, which is continued on Tuesday next.

SUPPORTS FERGUSON.

MAJOR J. F. B. BELFORD,
Member for East Northumberland, in the Legislature, says amendments by the Opposition have a political taint.

HOUSE PASSES SEX EQUALITY

Men and Women Have Equal Rights in Western Divorce Courts.

MAJORITY OF 40.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. —(Canadian Press).—On the first division of this session, the House of Commons last night declared in favor of the principle of equality of sexes in regard to divorce by a vote of 109 to 69

This non-partisan majority of 40 was recorded on the second reading of a bill sponsored by J. T. Shaw, Progressive Member for West Calgary, giving the wife the right to secure a divorce in the divorce courts of the four western provinces on the sole ground of adultery.

45 LASHES WITH TERM IN PRISON

Mr. Justice Logie Imposes Drastic Penalty for Robbery With Violence.

TAXI MAN ROBBED

WELLAND, Ont., Feb. 27—(Canadian Press).—Ten years in the Kingston penitentiary and forty-five lashes, applied fifteen at one time, was the penalty imposed Thursday afternoon by Justice Logie upon Joseph Dalton of Chippewa, found guilty by a jury of highway robbery with violence.

Joseph Ellement, a Bridgeburg taxi driver, identified Dalton as one of two men who hired him to drive them from Bridgeburg to Fort Erie on May 16 last, then ordered him to stop near a bush on a side road. They bound and gagged him, robbed him of $100, threw him into the bush and drove off with the car. The other man is still at large.

Provincial Constable Greenwood testified to having a found an armored vest and a quantity of cartridges in his room.

PRIVY COUNCIL JUDGE IS FINED FOR SPEEDING

Lord Dunedin Admitted Exceeding Limit, But Was Careful.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— While Lord Dunedin, as a member of the judicial committee of the Privy Council, was yesterday assisting his fellow law lords to find the judicature act of Ontario invalid, he was himself fined three pounds by the Surrey Court for driving his motor car at the rate of 34 miles an hour.

Lord Dunedin wrote to the bench admitting that he was going more than ten mile an hour, but urged that he was driving carefully. He added it was impossible for him to attend the court as he was sitting on the judicial committee, and a grave public inconvenience would be caused by his absence.

Lord Dunedin, who is 75 years old, is next to Lord Haldane, perhaps the most diligent in his privy council duties. His first wife died two years ago, since when he has married Jean Fundlay, the director of the Scottish national savings movement.

35 YOUNG GIRLS WERE MENACED BY WICKED FIRE

Forced to Make Hurried Exit From Blazing Building This Morning.

FIRE IN MONTREAL.

$25,000 Damage to the Main Building and Outhouse of Marist Brothers.

L'AVENIR, Que., Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press). — Some thirty-five young girls and reverend sisters of the Convent of Assumption here were forced to make a hurried exit from their building early this morning as a consequence of a fierce fire which destroyed the convent.

None Were Injured.

None of the girls nor sisters were injured, and they are being taken care of at various private homes.

CHILDREN CREMATED.

LINTLAW, Sask., Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press). — When Mrs. Robert Matthews, of this village, returned to her home to-day after being away but ten minutes, she found the building in flames, and her four-year-old twin daughters, Georgina and Victoria, whom she had left playing together, trapped inside. The children were cremated.

$100,000 FIRE TO-DAY.

Heintzman Building Attacked by Flames—Firemen Frost-Bitten.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused to the Heintzman Building, one of Windsor's main business blocks, by fire which broke out at 3 a.m. to-day and attacked the premises of five firms which had quarters in the structure. With the temperature near zero, several of the fire fighters suffered from frost-bitten hands and faces.

The firms suffering damage were Heintzman & Co., owners of the block, who occupied the main part of the building with a piano store; John A. Nash, jeweller; Dr. G. E. Shaw, chiropractor; Tucker & Jones, real estate; and Borders Cities Advertising Co. Heintzman & Co.'s loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000.

The Nash store damage is set at about $25,000.

The fire is believed to have started in one of the toilet rooms on the second floor, which is rented by Dr. Shaw.

TEACH FORGER ART OF ENGRAVING

Convict Used Prison-Taught Knowledge for Further Lawbreaking.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(Associated Press).—While Ernest Everett was serving a sentence at Camp Hill prison for forgery he was taught engraving by prison authorities as part of their scheme for the rehabilitation of prisoners. Recently he was arrested and found guilty of uttering spurious treasury notes, cunningly engraved.

Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice, has demanded an explanation of why a forger, of all persons, should be taught engraving in prison

GWVA APPROVES CANTEEN FUNDS BILL AS DRAWN

$100,000 To Be Set Aside For Maintaining Adjustment Service Bureau.

TRUSTEE BOARD.

Two Million to be Distributed Among Provinces on Enlistment Basis.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press).—That the great majority of ex-service men in Canada concur in the provisions of the proposed bill for the distribution of the canteen funds was the reply given yesterday by the Great War Veterans' Association to the protest from the Amputations' Association against the bill which the Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, is preparing to introduce into the House of Commons.

Officials of the Dominion Command G.W.V.A. are of the opinion that the Amputations' Association apparently had been misinformed as to the contents of the bill. It was pointed out that the bill does not provide for the grant of $100,000 to the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, but proposes to set aside that sum to be administered by a central board of three trustees appointed by the Government to be used for the maintenance and assistance of an adjustment service bureau for the benefit of all ex-service men and dependents.

Payments of $50,000 to the united services fund of Great Britain and $50,000 to the American Red Cross to assist Canadian veterans in need are also provided, as well as the distribution of the remainder of the fund, exceeding $2,000,000 pro rata by provinces on an average basis of the enlistment, discharges and pensions paid. These provisions are following out the recommendations of the Ralston Royal Commission which surveyed veteran opinions from coast to coast on the subject, the G.W.V.A. points out.

The request of the Amputations' Association that an independent board of trustees be set up is fully met in the bill by provision for a board to administer the proposed allocation of $100,000 for adjustment service, and my boards in each province to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

DO THEY FAVOR STRONGER BEER

Said Rev. Moore and Rev. Chown Parties to Ferguson's Policy.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 — (Canadian Press)—There is considerable gossip amongst Methodist in Ottawa over a rumor that Rev. T. Aibert Moore prohibists leader in Toronto, and the Rev. H. D. Chown, superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, were parties to the Ontario government's beer policy and that therein lies explanation of the fact that no statement has been issued on the 4.4 per cent beer bill.

The Ottawa Citizen quotes Rev. M. C. Flatt, of Rosemount Church, Westboro, as saying that it was asserted that the Methodist Leaders had been privy to Premier Ferguson's plan for stronger beer.

JUDGMENT FOR $700.

Edmund Wand Wins Case Against James Bogue in County Court.

In County Court this morning, before His Honour Judge Cameron, in the case of Edmund Wand, plaintiff vs. James Bogue, defendant, his Honour gave judgment for the plaintiff for $700.00, and dismissed the defendant's counterclaim of $1000.00.

The action arose in connection with the supply of materials used in the erection of a school in Whitby, for which Mr. Bogue had the contract.

The plaintiff was represented by J. A. O'Brien, and the defendant by R. R. Hall, K.C.

JUDGE SHOULD HEAR WITNESS

Conviction on Failure to Leave Court Room Quashed on Appeal.

A DEPRIVATION.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—A judge cannot refuse to hear a witness in criminal matters, because he did not comply with a court order to leave the room while other witnesses were being heard, it was decided by the Court of Appeals yesterday, in quashing the conviction of J. A. Desrosiers, sentenced to two years for bigamy.

Desrosiers appealed his sentence on the ground that one of his defense witnesses, a man named Dugas, had been refused a hearing in the court below. The Crown had heard three witnesses, the man's first wife, her brother and her mother-in-law. Dugas was to have testified that the accused had married the "other woman" only after he had ascertained, on good authority, that wife No. 1 was deceased. It appears that the court had given orders for all witnesses who had not been heard to leave the room, and Dugas, afterwards declared he had not understood the order applied to him and had remained in court. When called the Crown objected and the court upheld the protest.

In rendering judgment yesterday Mr. Justice Bernier held that the trial judge had no right to exclude Dugas. He might have misunderstood or failed to hear the order and was therefore in good faith. Besides the fact of refusing to hear him was tantamount to depriving the accused of the evidence Dugas was to give, and amounted to penalizing the accused for the fault or neglect of another.

GLORIA SAFELY PASSES CRISIS

Temperature Declines and Blood Transfusion May Not Be Necessary.

MANY FLOWERS.

PARIS, Feb. 27. — The splendid constitution and indomitable courage of Gloria Swanson are pulling her steadily out of the shadows. Her temperature yesterday was only 99.06, as compared with 103 Tuesday morning.

The doctors attending the Marquise de la Falaise, although still most cautious in their prognostications, believe that the crisis has passed, although another operation may be necessary when she is strong enough to stand it without danger. Unless a relapse occurs transfusion of blood will not be resorted to.

Flowers from so many friends and admirers, including American Ambassador Herrick, arrived in great quantities and caused so much confusion at the hospital that a special parlor had to be retained to accommodate them all.

If her improvement continues, Gloria will probably be able to leave the hospital in ten or twelve days. She will then go to the Riviera to recuperate, but the doctors say there can be no question of work for at least three months.

EQUAL DIVORCE LAW FOR WOMEN, HOUSE DEBATED

Easier for Husband to Obtain Divorce in Courts of Western Provinces.

BILL BY J. T. SHAW

Opposition Expressed on Ground That Integrity of Home Threatened.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—A bill, by Joseph T. Shaw, (Independent-Calgary West) designed to establish equality between husband and wife insofar as grounds for divorce are concerned, occupied the attention of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon

Mr. Shaw pointed out that Ontario and Quebec were the only Provinces in the Dominion of Canada whose courts did not have the power to grant divorce. This right, however, existed in all the other Provinces, by reason of the fact that such power existed in them prior to joining Confederation.

In the three Maritime Provinces, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island, the specified grounds for divorce were the same for the husband as for the wife.

But in the four Western Provinces Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia, it was easier for the husband to obtain divorce than for his spouse, by reason of the fact that when these various Provinces entered Confederation, the divorce law governing was that which prevailed in England in 1858 in some cases, and 1870 in the others.

Justice To Women.

The parliament of Canada could grant divorce on any grounds it saw fit, although certain practices had grown up. The wife must prove, in the Western courts, not only adultery, but desertion for three years, without reasonable excuses. This last phrase gave great leeway to a scapegrace husband. Mr. Shaw explained that his notion was simply a matter of doing justice to the women of the four Western Provinces, by placing them on an equality with men in the eyes of the divorce courts Persons with strong religious convictions, which led them to oppose divorce could scarcely deny the right of equality of women in the matter.

A. D. Beaubien (Progressive-Provencher) suggested that it might be advisable to equalize the law by putting man on an equality with woman so that he would have to prove cruelty.

Mr. Shaw quoted at length from Gladstone's address in the British House of the need for the equality of relationship of men and women before the law.

In closing, Mr. Shaw stated that he had received resolutions from hundreds of Women Organizations, supporting his proposal. It had also been endorsed by a number of men's Organizations in the West.

Against Moral Law.

C. A. Fournier (Liberal-Bellechasse protested against the bill, as involving a principle to which he was strongly opposed of what sin are we guilty that we have to face this divorce evil at the present session?" asked Mr Fournier Divorce was contrary to all authoity, to the law of nature to the moral law, and to religion. Divorce resulted in broken hearts, ruined homes, and injured children, he persisted.

"Is it right for Parliament to pass a divorce bill, under any circumstances?"—asked J. S. Woodsworth (Labor-Winnipeg Centre).

"No," replied Mr. Fournier.

"I am protesting now," retorted Mr Fournier. He went on to say that the granting of divorce to-day had reached the point of comedy, if not farce. It constituted the greatest menace to our institutions, of which the home was the foundation. If a married couple had made a mistake, they should suffer for the good of humanity. Marriages were made too easily, and the fact that many of them were entered into without the sanction of the church, lowered the standard of the contract.

"Where are the Dominion Alliance the Anti-Cigaret League, the Anti-Betting League, the Methodist Alliance, the Women's Christian Association, the Referendum Committee, and other organisations which have for so many years subjected the country to an orgy of moral uplifting, and who have striven for salvation by statutes, to legislate people into holiness?" asked Mr. Fournier.

"Will the evil that strikes at the root and formation of the Nation, the morality of the home and which is a thousand times worse than anything battered and hammered by our moral uplifters, go unchallenged in an attempt for legislative sanctity?" he continued.

"Is it possible that the only squeak from the uplifters will be to tell us that we may go to hell if we buy a paper on Sunday, but we may have a Mrs. X, on Monday and a different Mrs. X on Thursday?

TOURIST HOTEL FOR MONTREAL

Ten-Storey Hostelry Planned by Quebec Tourists' Association on Broad Scale.

A SPORT CENTRE

MONTREAL, Feb. 27—(Canadian Press). — Montreal is to have another ten-storey hotel in the near future, it was stated Thursday at the City Hall, according to plans now under way by the Province of Quebec Tourists' Association, given out in a report from the association.

At the same time the association is establishing a system of tourists' bureaux throughout Canada and the United States, where prospective tourists may purchase complete "touring tickets" which will include transportation, hotel expenses and provision for various forms of sport, indoor and outdoor, summer and winter, that the traveller may wish. Golf, theatres, fishing, boating, hunting, riding, sight-seeing—all will be in the itinerary and may be arranged for singly or collectively.

The new hotel is to be the centre of tourist activities in the province. It will inaugurate and direct carnivals, sports, expositions and so forth.

NEAR RAIL DISASTER.

Continental Limited Ran Into Rear End of Snow-Stalled Train.

NORTH BAY, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—One of the most severe snowstorms of the winter is raging over Northern Ontario, it being the third day of the storm in some parts. Very high winds drifted snow badly yesterday and railway trains had trouble over both the T. and N. O. and National Continental lines. Canadian Pacific trains were a bit delayed, but their line was not as badly affected as lines to the north.

Train 47 of the T. and N. O., which left Toronto on Wednesday night, was stalled in a big drift near Matheson early last evening, some seven hours behind schedule, when the National Continental Limited, also running late, failed to see the signals because of a heavy snowfall and ran into the rear end of the stalled train, shaking up three or four passengers in the rear coach and derailing it.

No one was badly injured, for the train was travelling slow, and all were able to continue to their homes.

The tracks were tied up until midnight, when trains were able to proceed.

C.P.R. PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHED SIDING FREIGHT

Engineer Said to Have Disregarded Signals in Collision at Glen Tay.

CREWS INJURED

Express Swung on to Siding Against Freight Waiting to Move.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—No lives were lost and it is expected that the four members of the train crews who were seriously injured when the Chicago to Montreal passenger train crashed into a freight train in front of Glen Tay Station, near Perth, Ont., yesterday afternoon, will recover, according to a report from the Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters here last night. The seriously injured men are Engineer Norris and Engineer Bourne, both of whom are in Perth Hospital.

An open switch threw the passenger train into the siding where the freight was waiting for the right of way. The engine crew of the passenger train jumped and escaped injury.

Other members of the train crews suffered slight injuries, while several passengers also sustained bruises, none of which, according to the C.P.R. report, are believed serious.

Train No. 20 arrived in Montreal shortly before 8 o'clock last evening and the local passengers were all distributed to their homes.

A number of passengers who were proceeding to St. John, N. B., to embark for Europe were able to catch the boat train at Montreal West and continued on their way.

News Agent E. Hanson, who suffered slight internal injuries, and Baggageman G. Anderson, who was also hurt, are in Perth Hospital in addition to Norris and Bourne.

The C.P.R. report last evening states the crash was due to the engineer of the passenger train having disregarded the signals set against him.

BIG C.P.R. LINER WENT AGROUND

Mishap to Montlaurier Near Roche's Point, Off Coast of Ireland.

REFLOATED TO-DAY.

LONDON, Fem. 27. — (Canadian Press).— Despatch to Lloyds from Queenstown, Ireland, this afternoon stated that the Canadian Pacific Liner Montlaurier, which went aground near Roches Point, Ireland, this morning, has been refloated and that tugs were standing by.

When she ran aground, the Montlaurier was proceeding slowly to Queenstown after damaging her steering gear, yesterday, while enroute from Liverpool to St. John, N.B., with more than four hundred passengers aboard.

Manitoba Man Brooded Over Engagement Till Tragedy Occurred.

NO MOTIVE GIVEN.

CYPRESS RIVER, Man., Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press). — The entire Cypress River community was yesterday mourning the loss of one of its most popular members, in the person of Miss Doris Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Anderson, who was shot and killed Wednesday afternoon by Grant Wallis, a former sweetheart, aged 24, who then committed suicide.

Miss Anderson, who was a school teacher at Wheatland, was engaged to Wallis for some time, it is understood, the engagement being broken last fall. Wallis, who was of a quiet nature, brooded over the matter, it is said, and last Christmas endeavored to effect a reconciliation with Miss Anderson.

When Wallis left home on Tuesday it was understood he was going to Portage La Prairie for some engine repairs, and his family state they had no idea that he contemplated the trip to Wheatland which resulted in the double tragedy.

Wallis was one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Wallis, and lived only about two miles from the Andersons.

Provincial police are investigating the double tragedy. They can give no motive for the crime. No inquest will be held. Wallis visited the school at noon Wednesday and again after four o'clock, the tragedy evidently occurring after Miss Anderson had put on her wraps, preparatory to leaving the school. The bodies were found by the janitor at 5.30 p.m.

POST OFFICE TELLS LETTER ADVENTURES

Education Campaign in Peterborough Schools Concluded To-day.—Splendid Series.

The round which members of the staff of the Post Office have been making of the city schools reached St. Mary's Convent this morning, and concluded at St. Peter's High School this afternoon, aften an itinerary that has reached every school in the city, including the Collegiate Institute and the Normal School.

Following up their campaign of educating the public with regard to the workings of the Department which handles His Majesty's mail, a series of lantern slides have been completed that show in detail the outstanding points in the circuitous and lengthy process that a letter or parcel undergoes from the moment it leaves the sender's hand until it reaches its final destination.

A revelation in efficiency and minute attention to the smallest scrap of posted matter is afforded in these slides, which met with appreciative and earnest attention from the girls of the upper classes of the Convent School this morning.

With a running descriptive lecture given by Claire Stewart and a machine operated by Cecil Richardson, two members of the local Post Office staff, the back of a large map was utilised for the projection of the slides, which opened with a picture of the Postmaster-General, Hon. Charles Murphy, and went on to show the interior workings of a Post Office, with the cancelling machines and the men engaged in the various processes of sortation.

An interesting section of the brief but interesting series was the picturing of the various types of conveyance used for the mail. The trains which carry it over the land and the ocean liners that convey it across the water were depicted, with trucks piled high with mail, and city and rural route carriers delivering it.

Here is the old-fashioned stage-coach away out in British Columbia crossing a stream with a load of mail on board, the mail-tug that carries messages from the world to outlying coast villages, the tractor, resembling a huge war tank, that conveys it over the almost impassable stretches of land in Northern Ontario and Quebec, the dog teams that take it over "the longest and loneliest mail route in the world," a three-thousand-mile stretch starting from Fort McMurray and ending in the Arctic Circle; the air-route delivery from Sault Ste. Marie to the new gold fields at Rouyn, Quebec, and last, but not least in interest, the barrel that is set afloat on the sea and wafted to land by friendly winds, containing mail from dwellers on the Magdalen Islands, to which the Post Office Department maintains a weekly wireless service that keeps them in touch with the outside world.

A good deal of stress was laid on the importance of registering and insuring mail. Three million parcels were insured by the Canadian Department last year and $40,000 paid in insurance claims. Piles of undeliverable parcels were shown, rendered so by faulty addressing or wrapping, many parcels being wrapped in tissue paper, according to the speaker. Parcels whose destination cannot be ascertained, on account of omission of return address, are sold after a time, and letters destroyed.

The showing concluded with the cartoon story of a Moose Jaw citizen who berated the Post Office Department for non-delivery of a letter which he had slipped into the pages of a book after writing, and did not discover until six weeks later.

FALLING WALL KILLED SEVEN

Fifteen Injured and Several More Missing—Workshop Crushed by Wind.

IN FRANCE.

SARREBURG, France, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press). — Seven persons were killed and fifteen injured here yesterday, when the workshop in which they were employed was crushed by a wall blown over by the high wind. It is feared there are more victims, as several workmen are still unaccounted for.

RAW GALES SWEEP ONTARIO IN NIGHT

Winds Moderate To-day — Temperature Reached 6 Below Zero.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — Northerly winds, which yesterday attained a velocity in some places of almost 70 miles an hour, were moderating throughout Central and Western Ontario this morning, citizens welcoming the relief from the raw blasts, which made temperatures well above zero seem almost unbearable.

Official temperatures issued by the Dominion meteorological office, show that Sault Ste. Marie suffered the greatest decline in temperature, with six below, while Ottawa, which twenty-four hours previously had been basking in spring-like weather, reported that the mercury reached the zero mark.

Throughout the greater part of the province to-day the weather is fair and cold with higher temperatures procised for the week end.

ST. PAUL'S DIDN'T FALL ON PRINCE

Wales Was Unalarmed By Stories of Danger of Dome Collapsing.

WELSH SERVICE.

LONDON, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales and about 2,000 other persons, undeterred by alarmist warnings that the dome of St. Pauls was on the eve of collapse attended the Welsh festival service in the Cathedral last evening and escaped unscathed.

The Prince, who apparently belongs to that large section of the public which accepts the assurance of Cathedral experts that there is no danger in its present condition, sat immediately beneath the dome without showing alarm or once looking up to see if it was coming down. The remainder of the congregation was evidently equally unconcerned.

The service was conducted in the Welsh language, of which the Prince although nominally head of the Welsh people, is virtually as ignorant as the vast majority of people in the British Isles He managed nevertheless to join in the hymns and responses, although he said afterwards he would like to have a phonetic copy of the prayers

After the devotions, the Prince went to see the finals of the military boxing tournament and distributed the prizes to the winners.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Wage Proposals of Coal Miners Referred to Various Districts.

LONDON, Feb. 27. — (United Press).—The Blackpool conference of coal miners decided to-day to refer the question of wage proposals to the various districts of their union while their executives conferred with the mine owners. Another national conference of delegates of the workers will be called for late next month.

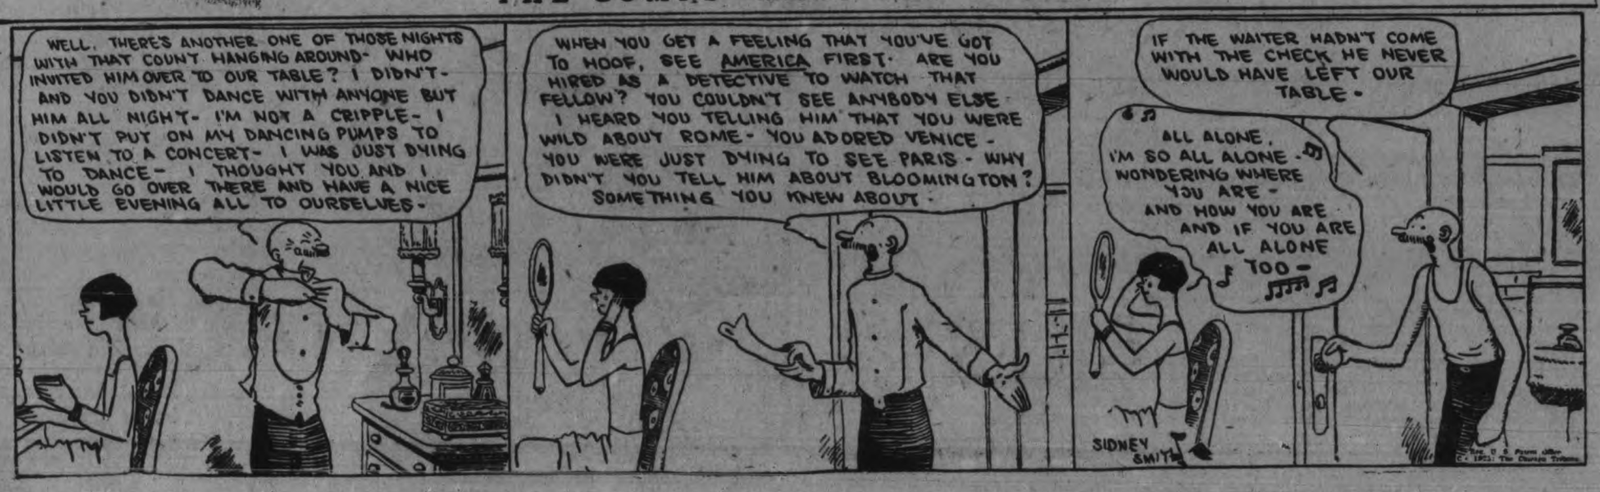
THE GUMPS—MEET THE COUNT



FEEDING BABIES A REAL SCIENCE

Address by Dr. J. H. Eastwood at Well Babies' Clinic Open Meeting.

CALORIC METHOD

At this week's open meeting of the Well Babies' Clinic, a very instructive and interesting address on "Mistakes Made in Artificial Feeding" was given to Dr. J. H. Eastwood, to an appreciative audience in the Clinic rooms at the G.W.V.A. hall. At the conclusion of the address, tea was served by the King's Daughters.

Dr. Eastwood, saying that the proper method employed in feeding children was the caloric method, explained that just as a furnace requires so many tons of coal to keep it going, so an infant needs a certain amount of food, for heat and energy and growth. As a ton of coal represents a definite number of calories, so does an ounce of milk or sugar, 'in other words, the word calory is a term used to express food values.

These food values are reckoned by the age and the weight of the child. Fat infants under six months of age need about 40 to 45 calories per pound per day. The average child requires 50 calories and very emaciated babies required 65 calories. This is merely an average rule and is liable to variations. No newborn baby gets all its calory requirements at first. It is a good plan to start below its needs and not start two things, such as milk and sugar, at once.

Milk should be boiled for three minutes. This kills the tubercle bacilli that may be harboring therein, but, to a certain extent, it also destroys the vitamins in the milk, therefore it is a good practice to give the child pure cod-liver oil, from a few drops to a half a teaspoonful ,several times a day. This prevents rickets, deformity and other troubles.

A baby's digestion may be entirely ruined by its first feedings, so the utmost care should be taken to see that it gets exactly what it requires. Never feed oftener than three hours apart. Many do better on four hours. And feed exactly to the minute, as it is a bad practice to feed irregularly.

Dr. Eastwood spoke of "feeding upsets" that occur. If this is due to too much sugar, it should be added very gradually to the food. The average amount of sugar required in twenty-four hours is one ounce or two tablespoonfuls. Commence with a half a tablespoonful, gradually increasing to an ounce. Under six months of age, the baby rarely requires more than one ounce in twenty-four hours.

To cure sugar "upset", cut our sugar from the diet for sometime, then add gradually. Sugar diarrhoea may result from too much sugar in the food. If the baby cannot digest sugar at all, use barley flour.

Another "upset" is when fat is too high in the food. This upset is serious, as it takes the infant a long time to get back to normal. Jersey milk, which is very rich, should never be used. Ordinary cows' milk is preferable. To find out if the baby is getting the right sort of food, weigh it every week, when it should gain from six to eight ounces.

I fthe baby does not take its food well, it is usually due to irregular feeding. Offer the tood once and if the baby refuses it, take it away. Do not make a fuss over it or coax it. Do not make it the center of attraction ,as it will grow to look for this attention, and will have to be coaxed continually to take its food.

Babies artificially fed are liable to suffer from constipation. Do not worry about this or use purgatives, but overcome it by giving vegetable juices or orange, apple or prune juice.

With regard to weaning a baby, the doctor said this should be done after nine or ten months. After that time the milk is deficient in proper qualities and the child may develop rickets. Artificial food should be used in small quantities at first, and then increased until it forms the whole diet.

For artificial feeding, cows' milk is the best. None of the patent foods can compare with it. Another mixture that is sometimes used and with excellent results, if given under careful direction, is butter soup. If the child is vomiting, never give this.

A couple of questions asked the doctor were: "Is Nestle's a good food?" and "Does freezing injure milk?" To the first query, the doctor replied that Nestle's food made the baby fat, it made it look well and cause it to gain rapidly, in fact, to get too fat in some cases, and become what is known as a "water-logged baby." When feeding this mixture, if the baby gets diarrhoea, it may lose weight at the rate of two pounnds a day.

With regards to frozen milk, Dr. Eastwood thought that milk which had been frozen was not quite so easily digested.

SALE RECALLS STRANGE BET.

Coal Mines Wagered a Century Ago on Outcome of Cock Fight.

WIGAN, England, Feb. 27.— Adlington Hall, a famous beauty spot of industrial Lancashire, which recently was sold by the corporation to a local business man, was the scene of an amazing wager 100 years ago.

It is on record that a cock fight took place between two birds belonging to the lord of the manor and the then earl of Derby, the stakes being all the local coal mines under the estate that could be seen from the dining room window at the hall.

The Adlington family, which formerly owned the estates, was one of the most ancient in the country.

CAMPBELLFORD BEAR CAT HOCKEY TEAM 1921-1922.

R. Copperthwaite — Lived in Campbellford till nearly three years ago, which time he has spent at Oshawa, where he played lacrosse three summers ago. Then he was at Wallaceburg and played there in the intermediates. At present he is working in Hamilton. This last Christmas, which he spent with his mother in town, he played on the Junior O.H.A. team. He is really more of a lacrosse player than hockey.

Jack Archer—A town boy till last June, when he, with the rest of the family moved to Toronto, where he played or is playing with the intermediate hockey team—"Avenue Road Tigers"—which team played in the semi-finals last week but lost. He was a student at the High School till lately when he left and assisted his father, D. S. Archer, in the plumbing business which he is taking up in Toronto.

Jack Cowell—Has been in Campbellford for four years. He moved from Wingham where his father, R. T. Cowell (now organist and choir leader in the Methodist church in Campbellford) had been organist in the Presbyterian church at Wingham. Jack attended high school up till about a year ago. He has played hockey every season since he has been in town, and he is considered one of the star players, having several times been successful in putting in all the games. He first played with the Bear Cats, then the High School team and now two years in the Junior O.H.A.. In 1922-23 the High School team won the Neill Cup. Cowell and Parsons were the only two of the Bear Cats who were in the High School team at that time. The last year Jack has been working with Mason and Hawkrigg, plumbers at the Hydro Electri Power Commission at dams eight and nine, at present at dam nine. He is also taking a correspondence course in plumbing and steam fitting and is very much intersted in his studies and is getting along well.

Claude Hankinson—Is a town boy, his parents living here for years. After the Bear Cat team he played in Junior O.H.A. in 1922-23. But since then has not played.

Willie Blue—Lives in Campbellford. For two years after the Bear Cats he was not in the sport, but this year is his first year in the Junior O.H.A. He is considered the best skater in this district of the Junior O.H.A. Group No. 2. He assists his father as a carpenter.

Andy White—A town boy till last fall. He with his family moved to Peterboro. After the Bear Cats, in 1922-23 he played in the Junior O.H.A., but since then has not played as he had an accident and hurt his back. At present he is an employee in the of the woollen mills in Peterboro.

Perry Saunders—Attended High School since he moved in from Seymour some years ago, until about two years ago. Besides the Bear Cats, he played in the High School team. Every year he was goal keeper and was considered the best in town. He is working on the light and power commission pole line.

Arnold Parsons—When a small boy lived in Hastings. Since the death of his parents he has lived with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Hormel, near the paper mill. He played every year in the High School team for three years and with Cowell played when the team won the Neill Cup. In 1923-24, he did not play at all as he underwent an operation. But this year he played in the Junior O.H.A. After leaving school he accepted a position as clerk in the Standard Bank in town, which position he still holds.

Wesley (Lefty) White — The younger White brother played in Bear Cats in 1921-22, and in the Junior O.H.A. in 1922-23 and 1923 and 24. This year he is living in Peterboro and plays sometimes in that city. Since moving to Peterboro the boys lost their father. He died some months ago.

GEORGE WALTON ATTAINED FAME FAR FROM HOME

Was Member of Liberal Government of Manitoba Under Roblin and Norris.

DIED IN WINNIPEG

Born in Peterboro and Was Known in This City and Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, February 27. — The following taken from the Winnipeg papers will be of interest to many Lakefield and Peterborough people, and refers to Mr. George Walton, whose death took place in Winnipeg ,and who was buried on Friday, 13th February.

Mr. Walton was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walton, of Peterborough ,and received his education in Lakefield and Peterborough; in 1879 he went to Manitoba, and settled at Emerson, where he conducted a hardware business. In 1900 he removed to Winnipeg, where he spent the remainder of his life, and where he was associated with the Fairchilds Co.

He was very prominent in Emerson's affairs ,and held various offices in its local political world, representing the district in the Provincial Parliament as a Liberal member under the Roblin and Norisr administrations. Even after his removal to Winnipeg he retained his interest in Emerson and its people ,and keeping them foremost in his activities till he took ill in 1921. Always a staunch Liberal, he was a personal friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He was a member of the Young Street Methodist Church. He is survived by his wife (nee Miss Margaret Robinson of Peterborough, a sister of Mr. T. N. Robinson), one son Cecil at home ,and three daughters, Mrs. William Halpenny and Mrs. Hary E. Bell, both of Winnipeg, and Mrs. A. N. MacIntyre ,of Saskatoon. Two sisters, Mrs. F. J. Burgess of Lakefield and Miss Beth Walton of Rochester, and two brothers, Robert of Rochester and Jas. of Lakefield, also survive.

The funeral service was held at 2.30 p.m. on Friday, 13th February, from Thomson's Broadway funeral home, and was attended by members of the Manitoba Legislature, together with a large representation of the congregation of Young Methodist Church and farmer and merchant associates from Emerson and Dominion City.

The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Aikens, D.D., who spoke of Mr. Walton as an early pioneer, whose reputation for being honourable and conscientious had earned for him a deep feeling of regard with all whom he had come in contact with. "He was an excellent citizen, and during the days of health had ben a regular member of the church and had taken an active interest in all its activities," Dr. Aikens stated.

At the close of the benediction the body was escorted to the waiting funeral car by the two honorary pallbearers, Dr. Daniel MacIntyre and Dr. S. A. Bedford, while the casket aws carried by Magistrate R. M. Noble, W. W. Fraser, Michael Scott, J. D. Baskerville, Dr. Glen Hamilton ,and A. MacLeod.

The long cortege then proceeded to Elmwood Cemetery, where the committal service was held and interment took place.

Adjournment of the Provincial House until 3.30 in the afternoon was made to enable the memebrs to be present.

OBITUARY

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—The funeral of Mrs. Wallet wife of Mr. George Waller, whose death occurred on Monday after an operation for stomach trouble a few days previous, was held Wednesday afternoon. The service at St. Peter's Church was conducted by Rev. Canon Sawers. Before her marriage, Irabella Crown. She was born in England and came to this country, where she married Mr. Geo. Waller four years ago. She was 55 years of age. Her husband, two sons, Bert of Colborne and Arthur of Cobourg and one daughter, Mrs. Chapman of England survive. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Darkens, D. Denton, B. Heaslip, Geo. Taylor, Geo. Nichols and Fred Bentley.

MRS. WM. BLAKELY.

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—The death took place on Tuesday afternoon at the Cobourg Hospital of Mrs. Blakely, wife of Mr. Wm. Blakely, Gores' Landing. Mrs. Blakely had a critical operation a few days before her death. She was a lady who was held in very high regard by a wide circle of friends. Besides her husband she is survived by a married daughter, Mrs. Everett Harris of Gore's Landing and by two daughters and a son at home. The funeral takes place tomorrow from her late residence to the Methodist Cemetery at Plainville. Very much sympathy is felt with the bereaved family.

YARROW CHILDREN

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yarrow, Hillier, have suffered a double bereavement. Their baby daughter died of bronchial pneumonia and whooping cough and a couple of days later, their three-year-old son died from the same diseases. Rev. Mr. Mutton of Smithfield conducted a short but impressive service on Sunday afternoon and the little one was laid at rest, and a day or so later, the little boy was buried. There are other children in the family who are ill at the present time.

SCOTT SPENCE

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—Word has been received here of the death at Elmira, N.Y., on Feb. 19, of Scott Spence, eldest son of the late George Spence, who was for many years prominent in civic and political life here. He was seized with a stroke on the street on the evening previous to his death. Mr. Spence was hurried to the hospital, but succumbed the next day without regaining consciousness. He leaves a widow and two sons.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF FRESH CANADIAN FISH FOUND READY MARKET IN ENGLAND

Initiative By Canadian Syndicate May Develop Export of Chilled Foods.

12,000 POUNDS SOLD.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27. — That Canadian fresh fish can be successfully marketed in England, and that a Great development in this trade can be expected to take place in the very near future, was a statement made by W. T. Marlow, general foreign agent, Atlantic Services, Canadian Pacific Steamships, who received word yesterday that the first shipment of fresh fish to be taken to England under the scheme recently discussed with the Dominion government by Major Hugh Green, head of a Canadian syndicate interested in the fishing industry, had been readily disposed of at Billingsgate. This particular shipment, of 12,000 pounds, was taken over by Mr. Green himself, the Canadian Pacific steamship supplying facilities for keeping it in the refrigerating space of the Montclare, which left St. John, N.B., February 13.

Mr. Marlow said that as the Dogger Banks would appear to be becoming exhausted, British dealers are regarding with interest the plans for supplying their markets with fish from Canadian waters, and a tentative contract for the supplying of many tons of fresh fish weekly has already been proposed by one of the largest importers. Although carried in refrigerated vessels, the fish will be by no means frozen, and should prove as acceptable, he said, as the product of the Dogger Bank.

Should this trade develop, it is proposed to have a regular line of vessels pick up the firsh from the trawlers, and Mr. Marlow stated that the success of this industry should encourage the export of other chilled food products such as meat and fruits which are picked up from the dock side, he said.

WEDDING BELLS

BRYANT—WHITNEY.

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—The marriage took place at the Methodist parsonage here Tuesday, Rev. R. F. Stillman officiating, of Mr. Bruce Thomas Bryant, and Miss Ina Agnes Marie Whitney. The young couple, who are both from Colborne, were unattended. They will make their home in Toronto.

ANIMALS TRAVEL FAR

American Animals Sent to Australian Zoos for Exchange.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 27.—(Associated Press).—The director of the San Diego, Cal., Zoological Gardens recently brought to Australia a large shipment of American birds, animals and reptiles to be exchanged with the Melbourne and Sydney Zoological Gardens for Australian fauna.

The shipment, said to be the largest ever brought across the Pacific, included four alligators, five rattlesnakes, 25 monkeys, two Canadian timber wolves, three coyotes, four desert lynxes and a large variety of smaller animals and birds. They have been placed in the Sydney zoo for acclimatization.

BLINDMAN LEADS BLIND

Teacher, Suddenly Blinded, Conducts Braille Correspondence School.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(Associated Press).—A teacher whose career was suddenly interrupted by blindness is now directing what is believed here to be among the first free correspondence schools for the adult blind. He is William A. Hadley of Winnetka, a suburb. The school is maintained by Mr. Hadley's friends at no expense to the students.

"If I had to choose between having my sight back and my work," he remarked to one of his friends, "I would choose my work."

Mr. Hadley was long active in education in Chicago. For five years he sat in darkness and thought, his mind revolving about statistics reporting that 80 per cent. of the blind become sightless after maturity. There were, he understood, no educational facilities meeting their needs.

A three-line advertisement offering to teach by correspondence, on a Braille typewriter, any course that might be desired by a blind person, brought an avalanche of requests. Friends rallied to organize the Hadley Correspondence School for the Blind. It now has students in India and China.

"When the light went out of Mr. Hadley's eyes," wrote one of them, "the windows of heaven were opened for the rest of us."

THE VALUE OF DAIRYING.

The emphasis placed by J. Frank Singleton, assistant to Dr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Department of the Federal Government, upon the value of the dairying industry to Canada, serves to again stress the strides that have been made in dairying in this country.

There was a time when Ontario farmers used to go West to "escape milking," as they put it—but that day has passed.

The agricultural interests are realizing now that the dairy farmer can take care of himself and prosper no matter what the general conditions are, and more and more the possibilities of dairying are making themselves felt.

The industry is in its infancy, and the wise farmer is turning his attention to the dairy cow as a source of steady revenue, even in periods when farm products generally are a failure as revenue producers.

The Department of Agriculture is to be commended upon steps that have been taken to improve the cheese and butter situation, compulsory grading, iced cars to encourage the export of cheese in less than car lots, and the maintaining of inspectors both at Canadian ports and in the United Kingdom being of much assistance to the industry generally.

MARKING THE AREAS.

The section of Chief Newhall's report dealing with traffic problems is one that should receive attention.

The head of the Police Department recommends that for the convenience of drivers of automobiles signs should be posted to inform motorists where cars may be parked or left waiting, with instructions as to what length of time such privileges are allowed, and also similar signs at places where parking is not permitted.

At present there is nothing to guide motorists on these points.

There are regulations in regard to certain districts and streets, but none of these areas are marked, and drivers from outside the city who know nothing about the local rules are likely to be continually infringing upon the regulations.

In fact, it is doubtful whether Peterboro motorists have an accurate knowledge of just where cars may or may not be left, and for the general convenience of all drivers it would seem desirable to have markers placed.

This would not be a very expensive operation, and it would greatly facilitate the handling of traffic, while all car owners would be benefitted.

THE STRONGER BEER POLICY.

Premier Ferguson declares that his Ministry is prepared to stand or fall by the policy that it has adopted in regard to stronger beer.

The Premier in a statement to the House claims that not only were no representations made to the Cabinet by "wet" Conservative members or by the Moderation League, but that the Government did not even consult the private members in the matter.

That, of course, puts the whole responsibility upon Mr. Ferguson and his Ministers, and he leaves no doubt as to his willingness to accept that responsibility on behalf of his Cabinet.

The explanation may be of considerable import when the next election rolls around, but where does it leave J. A. Currie, J. A. McCausland and other "wet" supporters of the Government?

For the past week or two these gentlemen have been given credit—and have not attempted to deny the soft impeachment—for having made the Government toe the mark.

Now Mr. Ferguson robs them of all the laurels. He says they did not make any representations to the Cabinet, and goes even further by adding that the Government did not even bother consulting the private members.

It is a Ferguson-Nickle policy without a Currie-McCausland trade mark.

THE FIRE TOLL.

Fire, the most relentless and heartless enemy of man, is taking its usual toll these days and finding that the handmaiden of carelessness is the chief aid to its campaign of destruction, says the Montreal Star. Inflammable material of a fancy dress costume tells its story once more in the serious burning of three persons, one of whom at least is not expected to live. In spite of the warnings of the authorities, in spite of the propaganda issued by fire prevention organizations, men and women persist in dressing themselves in tinder and tinsel that only needs contact with an open flame to be set in a blaze. On the same page of the issue of the newspaper that tells of the tragedy of this carnival party is the record of the destruction of thirty bags of domestic mail, which it is suggested may have been due to the careless throwing down of a cigarette. These cigarette ends cost the citizens of Canada many millions of dollars every year. Camp fires left smouldering are responsible for millions more. Then there are the kitchen fires that are lighted with gasoline, the Quebec heaters that are left unattended with draughts wide open until they fire the rafters, the defective wiring which a slipshod workman strings and an inefficent inspector overlooks. Millions, millions and more millions of money earned by the sweat of labor goes up in smoke year after year. The newspapers preach of carelessness and the people read and—forget.

BUY HOME PRODUCTS.

According to one estimate, Canadians are paying about three million dollars a day for foreign goods. When one remembers that the entire population of the country, men, women and children, does not exceed nine million souls, that amount is seen to be very large indeed, says the Hamilton Spectator. Assuming the sum to be correct, though it would doubtless include money spent on imported raw material and in other ways which went to increase the trade and prosperity of the Dominion, it can readily be seen what an immense impetus would be given to Canadian business if this money could be retained for purchases of native commodities. The necessity for a Buy-in-Canada campaign is obvious. In spite of all that has been said and written on the subject, the public is not yet educated up to the duty and urgency of patronizing home industries. In numerous ways production would be enormously increased if the psychology of Canadian buyers could be influenced to the desired extent. By giving the preference to foreign-made goods the purchaser stimulates foreign trade to the detriment of his own country. Not only do our native factories lose the patronage which would keep them busy and give employment to Canadian workmen, but the workers themselves are forced to seek a living where employment is good, and so take up their residence abroad to make these very goods which Canada is buying in such large quantities. The solution of our problems—the immigration problem, the unemployment problem, the National railways problem, and most other worries—rests to a very large extent in the hands of the Canadian people themselves.

At the present time Canada is exporting huge quantities of precious raw material to be made up into the finished product abroad, and in many cases resold to this country, greatly to the profit of our competitors. Take the case of pulpwood, for example. We are denuding our forests to feed the United States mills—and what is the result? Official returns give the value of print matter coming into Canada from the United States in the year 1923 as $8,576,737. Of this amount newspapers and magazines account for nearly $2,000,000; books, periodicals and pamphlets, $1,841,000; advertising pamphlets approximately $1,500,000. This literature inevitably creates the "state of mind" which leads to the preference for and purchase of goods of United States origin. Special pains are taken in these advertisements to appeal to the Canadian market, and that the bait proves attractive is a well-attested fact. Another humiliating item in this statement is that which deals with over $7,000,000 spent on paper and paper products manufactured—much of it from Canadian wood—across the border. Even such things as fence posts and railway ties were imported to the extent of considerably over half a million dollars. "Hewers of wood" is a very hackneyed expression; but there is no other which more aptly describes the relative position of Canada with respect to its neighbor than the old Biblical phrase. How long will it be before the Canadian people come to a proper realization of the facts, and demand that the process cease? In the meantime, much can be done by the public favoring, in all possible cases, the purchase of commodities of domestic manufacture.

CANADA'S OWN AFFAIR.

The National Publishers' Association of the U. S. A. is all "het up" over the oft repeated suggestion in this country that something should be done to either cut off or slow down the export of our pulpwood to the United States. In a word, conserve Canada's natural resources for the use of Canadians, or Americans who wish to take advantage of their opportunities by operating in Canada.

A brief was presented the other day on behalf of the National Publishers' Association to Senator Borah, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. The document is interesting. Among other things it accuses us of bad faith. "Under a mask of forest conservation," says the document, "Canadian manufacturers are trying to force the Dominion Government to stop the exportation of pulpwood." Further on the brief states: "They are trying to force the American operators to move their mills into Canada, where the wood would be transformed into pulp for the paper mills here. That accomplished, the next step would be to embargo pulp, thus forcing Americans to make their paper in Dominion territory under the domination of the Canadian paper industry."

Well, supposing we do all that. A million cords of pulpwood exported brings Canada some $10,000,000. Made into newsprint this amount of pulpwood is worth approximately $70,000,000. Is that worth while?

In their brief the National Publishers' Association admit their dependence upon Canadian pulp, and they further state that without Canadian pulp being freely admitted to the United Sates the employment of some 120,000 workers would be jeopardized. That can be readily adjusted, for they may work up here. That seems a reasonable solution.

Any objection to our looking out for our own interests comes with bad grace from a people who have done everything possible to keep Canadian products out of the United States market. And as they apparently have a great dislike to that word embargo, let us drop it and substitute the word duty—a duty on export. There can be no possible objection to a duty which will preserve our pulpwood for our own people in the same manner as the United States farmer and stockraiser and dairyman are preserving their own market for their own produce by placing an insurmountable duty against Canada.

Of course, this is not the first time we have heard of the National Publishers' Association. If we are not mistaken these are the same gentlemen, or was it their confreres, the members of the American Pulp and Paper Association, who employed expensive lawyers to trapes around with the Royal Commission re the pulpwood situation a couple of years ago, feeding the members of the commission such evidence as best suited their purposes, in their attempt to defeat the objects for which the commission was appointed.

As the Toronto "Mail and Empire" well puts it: "The pulpwood produced in this country is subject to the laws that are made in this country, with which our neighbors have nothing to do."

The framers of the Fordney tariff did not consult us previous to cutting out from under Canadian producers practically our entire United States market in certain lines, and it is indeed a poor rule that will not work both ways.

The contention of the National Publishers' Association that an embargo on pulpwood will advance the cost of newsprint and other papers cannot be taken seriously in view of the fact that Canadian newsprint makers are successfully competing with the United States manufacturers in their own market, and costs if anything are lower here than in that country.

There is no reason whatever why Canadian should pay the least attention to what the National Publishers' Association, Senator Borah or others from the United States have to say in respect to the distribution of our own products. This is a matter that is exclusively our own business, and the country as a whole is in practical agreement as to what should be done. Let Parliament at the coming session put into effect this embargo, or if they like it better an export duty on pulpwood. It is already two years overdue. The last shred of argument against it went by the board when the United States Government placed what is tantamount to an embargo against Canadian products.—Toronto "Saturday Night," February 14th, 1925.

A THOUGHT.

YOUR COLOR OR COMPLEXION

It is my firm belief that much of the illness and most of the failures in life are the result of misdirected thought.

When a man carefully considers what he should or should not do, this is the thought that is meant.

Thought is the thing after all. Most of us make mistakes because we do not stop to think. We move in where the devil himself would not take a chance.

After the experience of some stirring day, just have an hour in the evening of thought. It may save you much worry and disappointment on the coming day.

What we do or fail to do is tinged with the color or the complexion of our thoughts.

Constantly thinking of sickness develops the microbes of mental disease. Frequently expecting failure fastens the fangs of defeat in your heart.

Think what you want to do, then transfer your thinking into working, and your condition will change with the color or complexion of your mental attitude and the courage and common sense of your work.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, February 27. — Everything with a bit of flesh on it was bought up at the Union Stock Yards on Wednesday. The day's sales of cattle amounted to 1,469 head, and this included some re-sales. For yesterday the receipts were the usual light Thursday run, 13 cars, 151 cattle, 38 calves, 408 hogs, and 6 sheep and lambs.

The morning's cattle were easily disposed of at Wednesday's firm prices. Rogers & Maybee have only 75 cattle on hand for next week and will want enough for two boats.

Some culs from their this week's buy were sold yesterday morning at $7.50 for 1,300-pound steers and $6.50 for heifers.

A couple of export steers were bought at $7.85, cows at $5.50 to $6.00, and one bull at $55.00 a cwt.

Choice butchers' cattle sold from $7.25 to $7.60 a cwt., and good butchers $6.50 to $6.75. No butchers' cattle with any finish were to be had below $6.0 oa cwt.

Cows sold well yesterday morning and good mediums averaged $4.50 a cwt. There was nothing left on the market at eleven o'clock except some milchers or springers, which are again in rather light demand.

The small number of calves were quickly disposed of at about Wednesday's prices and the market closed with a good undertone. Two shipments were sent out to Buffalo this week.

Choice calves sold at 13 and 13 1-2 cents and medium to good calves at 10 to 12 1-2 cents a pound.

Lambs are almost without a market, with practicaly nothing on sale. A few sheep were sold, the good ones bringing 8 to 8 1-2 cents per pound.

For the few hogs not contracted for on Wednesday, prices as high as $11.355 and $11.40 a cwt. f.o.b. was paid. The packers bid at the close of the week is $11.25 a cwt. f.o.b., but the light supply of hogs in the country is liable to send the prices higher than they have been.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. — Wheat values went skyward to-day, with Europe purchasing in February United States grain to be shipped during July, August and September and for the most part yet underground. Prices for the July delivery jumped 8 1-8 cents a bushel, and the wheat market as a whole closed buoyant, 4 1-2 to 8 1-8 cents net higher, May 1.94 3-4 to 1.95 and July 1.66 1-4 to 1.66 12. Corn finished 1 7-8 to 2 3-4 cents up. Oats showing 5-8 to 11-8 cents gain and provisions at 7 to 17c advance.

It was estimated that 400,000 bushels of new 1925 domestic winter wheat was bought to-day for trans-Atlantic shipment after July 1, the end of the present crop year. Such European buying in this country at early a date was said to be heretofore unparalleled, this being the time when foreign needs are supplied from the Southern Hemisphere. The fact that buying so far ahead was being done in the United States gave an immense stimulus to speculative demand, and the effect was further emphasized owing to unfavorable crop advices, notably from Kansas City and Nebraska.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. —A peculiar situation developed in the egg market yesterday morning at Toronto. Local jobbing prices were reduced early in the day and then prices advanced on the Chicago produce exchange. This has given rise to a feeling that the market has probably struck bottom for the present. A car of eggs shipped recently from Victoria to Winnipeg cost extras 36, firsts 34 f. o. b Victoria.

Toronto specials jobbing 46, extras 44, firsts 41, seconds 38.

Montreal market unchanged in tone and price. Jobbing extras 44, firsts 42, seconds 33.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26. — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here to-as follows:

Sterling cables $4.75 1-4.
Sterling demand $4.74 7-8.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.— A moderate amount of business was reported by local exporters with the continent in wheat here to-day. Sales of a few odd loads of oats and barley with the United Kingdom for heavy shipment were also made. The local oat situation was stronger and prices were marked up one cent per bushel for all grades. Ontario No. 3 white was quoted at 67 cents and No. 4 grade at 65 cents.

Owing to the further strength in Canadian cash wheat situation at Winnipeg, the local spring wheat flour market was stronger and prices were advanced another 20 cents per barrel, making a net gain for the week so far of 40 cents per barrel.

While a firmer feeling prevailed for winter wheat flour, prices showed no change.

The feature of the market for baled hay was the weaker feeling in No. 3 Timothy and prices have declined $1.00 to $1.50 per ton on account of the increased offerings from the country. Prices are now quoted at $11.00 to $12.00 per ton, No. 2 was unchanged.

There was no further change in the condition of the egg market, prices being steady and the demand moderate. A firmer feeling prevailed in butter and prices ruled a trifle higher, which was attributed to the increased demand from a Western Ontario source for supplies and the fact that a large shipment was made to Germany. Prices for cheese were unchanged with fodder made No. 1 white and colored goods quoted at 20 1-4 to 20 1-2 per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19 1-4 to 19 1-2 cents per pound.

Beans were quoted at $2.70 per bushel.

PLANES CAN'T FIND FISH

Aviators Hired by German Fishermen Are Not Useful.

EMDEN, Germany, Feb. 27. — (Associated Press).—During the fishing season of 1924 herring fishermen tried out airplanes to aid in the locating of schools of herring at sea, but the results were distinctly disappointing.

Equipped with radio apparatus to report back to their base the air pilots cruised over the water looking for signs of the fish, but it was found that the planes move too fast, and that the herring swim too far beneath the surface of the sea, for the observers to detect them.

BRITISH TEST SUBMARINE.

Most Powerful Underwater Craft Does 37 Knots on the Surface

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Built at a cost of £820,000, Britain's giant submarine X-1 will soon conclude her trials and probably start on a tour to Singapore and back. She is declared to be the most powerful under-water craft ever built, and has developed a speed of 37 knots on the surface. Under water she has a displacement of 3,000 tons, and can be turned almost in her own length of 350 feet.

She is equipped with a large canteen, from which breakfast, luncheon, tea or dinner can be served while running under water.

CITIES SHOULD GIVE MORE FOR ROAD BUILDING

Contends J. R. MacNeilly, of Victoria County, at Convention.

HIGHWAY PROBLEMS.

Ex-Warden W. M. Fowlds Gives Address on Urban Responsibilities.

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—Various phases of highway problems were discussed at yesterday's session of the Ontario Good Roads' Association, in the Highways' Building, when the speakers included Hon. G. I. Henry and Hon. F. G. MacDermid, formerly Minister of Public Works for Ontario.

Hon. Mr. McDermid said he believed the drift of roadway construction would be in the direction of centralizing the county systems through which attention would be paid to smaller strips of road, and greater improvements would be made from year to year on the sections to which attention was given.

Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Public Works and President of the Good Roads' Association, threw out a warning to municipalities which had not abolished the system of statute labor that they could no longer expect to receive financial assistance from the Provincial Treasury.

In touching upon the county systems, the minister pointed out that there were now only five counties in the province which had failed to work out real systems and come under the government's requirement. They were: Oxford, Perth, Halton, Frontenanc and Leeds and Grenville. His message to them was that the government did not feel justified in continuing the assistance of previous years, but he hoped they would see fit to come into the general scheme. J. R. MacNeilly of Victoria County, felt that urban centres should contribute more largely to the construction and maintenance of rural highways.

Ex-Warden Fowlds

At the afternoon session yesterday, one of the principal speakers was ex-Warden Fowlds, of Northumberland and Durham. Mr. Fowlds, who resides at Hastings, retired in January after serving with conspicuous success in his county. He has a wide knowledge of the principles and mechanics of road building, and his address on "Urban Responsibilities Towards Rural Roads," was well received.

ENGLAND'S ZEP AN AIR MARVEL

Will Bring Remote Corners of Empire Close to London.

NEW MOORING MAST.

LONDON, Feb. 27. — Britain's new super-Zeppelin will bring the most remote part of the empire within nine days' travel of London.

The Airship Guarantee Company, with whom the Government has placed the order for the new 5,000,000 cubic feet liner, has obtained the Air Ministry's approval of plans submitted by Commander Burney and his chief designer, B. N. Wallis.

The airship is designed on the streamline principle, all excrescences being eliminated.

The passenger saloons are within the body of the vessel. The control and observation compartments are within the nose. The design considerably increases the range of flight.

Burney says the airship will be able to reach New Zealand in nine days by way of Bagdad, Colombo and Freemantle.

The new mooring mast is declared to be a triumph for Wallis, who also invented the first mooring mast. The latest type provides a new method of attachment, making it possible for the first time for a vessel to be moored consistently on a floating base.

DROVE INTO RIVER.

KINGSTON, Feb. 27.—(Special to The Examiner).—Ronald Van Luven of the firm of Van Luven Bros., automobile dealers, had a miraculous escape from being drowned near Amherst Island last night. The prompt action of a lad living on the island no doubt saved his life. Mr. Van Luven went to the island to deliver a tractor, when the front wheels of his car went into open water. Mr. Van Luven had gone up the main Bath road and had taken to the ice at Milhaven, which is directly opposite Amherst Island. When about one hundred yards out from the shore, Mr. Van Luven noticed a lad running out on the ice and shouting to him to stop his car at once. He responded to the request of the lad, and just as he applied the emergency brakes the front wheels of his car had dropped into the water. Only for the lad's warning he would have dropped into the hole. Mr. Van Luven was driving a sedan.

FORD PLANT IN JAPAN

Will Assemble Parts in Yokohama—Trade Excellent.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 27.—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, announced yesterday that a new company has been incorporated in Japan, to be known as the Ford Motor Company of Japan Ltd., and that an assembly plant would be established in Yokohama, the first to be opened in the Orient. Manufactured parts for assembly will be shipped from Kearney, N.J.

"Improving economic conditions abroad have made a large expansion programme imperative and the formation of our new company in Japan is simply a part of the general plan," Mr. Ford said.

"In Europe sale conditions have been improving all the time. Increasing demand for our products made it necessary last year to open a new plant at Stockholm and another at Rotterdam.

"In South America conditions likewise are improving. Early last year we opened a new plant at Santiago, Chile, and only lately established a branch at Pernambuco to care for increasing business in Brazil, as well as building large additions to our plants at Buenos Aires and Sau Paulo.

"Japan has been absorbing Ford products at the rate of more than 250 units a month."

The new Japan organization is expected to begin functioning about April 1, Mr. Ford said.

ACTRESS CHALLENGED.

Mistinguett's Legs May Halt Duel Thrilling Paris.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Insurance companies which placed $50,000 worth of insurance on the legs of Mlle. Mistinguett, famous musical comedy star, are reported to be strenuously objecting to the projected duel between her and the wife of Otto Etachguay, wealthy Frenchman.

Mitinguett slapped the face of Mme. Etachguay at the dressmakers' ball.

At the time of the incident Etachguay demanded that Mistinguet appoint a male friend to fight a duel for him.

The dancer replied that she did not need any man to defend her, and that she was quite capable of protecting herself.

Thereupon Madame Etachguay sent Mistinguett a challenge through two titled women whom she appointed her seconds. Mistinguett accepted the challenge, but the date for the duel has not been set.

Social and theatrical Paris is all agog over the coming battle and is wondering what weapons will be used. Rolling pins? Who knows? Perhaps the opponents will hurl powder puffs at each other.

The bridal bouquet was a corsage of ophelia roses To the bridesmaid as a souvenir of the event. The groom gave a bar pin with Lapis Lazuli and pearl setting, and to the best man a gold watch chain. Following the ceremony, wedding breakfast w served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. E. Cuff, 20 Winnipeg Avenue Mr and Mrs. McAuliffe left shortly afterwards for a honeymoon trip to Winnipeg and will return to Port Arthur to make their home.

Those are the odds you fight in the battle against Pyorrhea. Four out of every five over 40—as well as thousands younger, too—are afflicted with this sinister disease. Will you be a victim?

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result.

The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gum spots, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

DAM NINE OFFICE BURNS TO GROUND

Construction Records and Correspondence Lost Near Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27. — The construction office of the Hydro Electric Power Company burned to the ground on Thursday morning, about one o'clock.

It was not noticed till it burned out the line supplying lights to the power house. The operator went out to investigate and found the building in flames.

He raised an alarm but before the men got out it was too late to save any of the contents. Though the engineering office was only about one hundred feet away, no damage was done to it. The loss is estimated at twelve hundred dollars. The contents were valuable for it contained a considerable portion of the construction records, and all the local cost data and construction office correspondence was burned, with the other contents. The building was partly covered by insurance.

There was no one in the buildiing at the time, as the two clerks, who had a room at one end for sleeping, were both in Campbellford for the night. The cause of the fire is unknown. The two young ment lost all their personal effects with the exception of what they wore up town.

EQUAL DIVORCE

what is the taking of a drink, smoking of a cigarette, attending a horse race, to the breaking up of a Christian home?".

Legalized Adultry.

A. M. Carmichael, Progressive, Kindersley, expressed his disapproval of divorce. He could understand that there were cases where annulment of marriage was advisable, but they were very rare. He thought it amounted to legalised adultery when re-marriage was allowed after divorce.

Robert Forke (Progressive leader) declared that while he hoped that the percentage of divorces in Canada would never equal that in the United States, he would support the bill for the reason that it would remove many difficulties from which some women suffered, as compared with men. He wanted it understood, however, that he was not saying one word or would support anything that was against the sanctity of the home.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, after pointing out that he was speaking for himself, and not for the government, declared that he believed divorse was a nevil, he could not conscientiously vote for the government, declared that he found it impossible to support the legislation desired by Mr. Shaw. If as he believed, divorce was an evil, he could not conscientiously vote for any measure that would have the effect of making it easier to acquire.

Hon. J. B. H. Baxter, (Conservative St. John-Albert) stated that if any man or woman who belonged to a church which opposed divorce, came to a legislature or court asking that such a measure be granted to him, it was a matter, which that individual had to settle with his church. He did not want to do anything which would have the effect of breaking up any home; but it was a far cry from this to the case of an unhappy woman driven to live a that was unhappy.

STRIKE BREAKERS BEATEN ON STREET

Employees of Toronto Cloak Firm Assaulted by Four Unknown Men.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Constadin Shadoff and his wife, Mary, of Toronto, are in St. Michael's Hospital, suffering from head injuries sustained last evening when they were assaulted by four unidentified men while walking home from work along the street. Shadoff declared that one of their assailants struck them with a hammer then stepped into a taxicab and fled. Shadoff has one bad wound in his head which required several stitches and Mrs. Shadoff had several smaller wounds.

Shadoff and his wife are employed at a cloak shop where the employees have been on strike for some time.

MISS JEAN WATTERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27. — Word was received here that Miss Jean Watters, R.N., of Morristown, New Jersey, had died. The remains arrived in Campbellford this morning, and were taken to the home of her cousin, Mrs. James Walkinshaw, Second Street, where the funeral service will be held this afternoon at half-past two, and leave the house at three, for Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. D. Thompson, of Hastings, will conduct the service. The following are the pallbearers: Messrs. Frank Bonnycastle, Harry Townsend, Neil Morrison, J. D. Cumming, Andrew Govan and George Hair.

The late Miss Jean Watters was born in Campbellford at "Beaver Hall," the old James Dinwoodie place, and was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Watters. Mr. Watters died many years ago, and Mrs. Watters about five years ago. After the death of Mrs. Watters the family moved to Toronto. One brother, Mr. Allan Watters, of Detroit, and one sister, Miss Margaret Watters, of Toronto, are the only survivors of the family.

Mr. Allan Watters, Miss Margaret Watters and an aunt, Mrs. W. W. Cumming, of Toronto, are in Campbellford to attend the funeral, and are the guests of Mrs. Walkinshaw. The late Miss Watters was at the time of her death a nurse in one of the hospitals in Morristown, New Jersey. Having lived in Campbellford till she went to train for a nurse she was well known and much sympathy is felt for the brother and sister who are left to mourn her loss.

MRS. GEO. WEBBER.

Mrs. George Webber, Rear Street, died at her home early on Thursday morning in her fifty-ninth year. She has been in poor health since Christmas, and for the last five weeks has been confined to her bed. Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Albert Phillips, of Crow Bay.

The late Mrs. Webber was the third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Arnold, of Seymour. About thirty-six years ago she married Mr. Webber, and they have lived in Campbellford since that time.

Mrs. F. Reid of Belleville, Mrs. Geo. Barnum of Campbellford, and Mrs. G. McComb, also of town, are sisters of the deceased, and Thos. A. Arnold, of Tacoma, Washington, the only brother. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Though ill for several months, she was a very patient sufferer.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning. Service will be held at ten o'clock, and leave the house at half-past ten for Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. C. F. McIntosh will have charge of the funeral service.

Much sympathy is felt for the husband, as he has been in poor health for a few weeks.

CHARLES S. SAYLOR

HAVELOCK, Feb. 27—The death occurred at South Bend., Ind., on Saturday of Charles S. Saylor, a former resident of Havelock. The remains arrived here on the noon train Tuesday, and were taken to the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. F. Butters, King Street, from which place the funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon. The service was held at the house and was conducted by Rev. E. O. Seymour, pastor of the Methodist Church. Interment was made in Maple Grove Cemetery.

The late Mr. Saylor was born near Stirling fifty-one years ago and came to Havelock in 1902, residing here until 1913, when he moved to Belleville, and about five years later went from there to South Bend. During the time he lived in Havelock, he made many friends, all of whom deeply regret his demise.

There are left to mourn his loss, his sorrowing widow, two daughters, Miss Hazel Saylor and Mrs. Gladys Dagnea; two sons, James and John, of South Bend; his mother, Mrs. A. L. Saylor, Stirling; three sisters, Mrs. W. J. Whitten, Belleville, Mrs. T. R. Johnston, Bowsman River, Man., and Mrs. Chas. Boyes, Bowsman, Man.; two brothers, Harry of Belleville, and William of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The beautiful floral tributes paid in a silent way their tribute of love and respect. They were: Spray, Mrs. Fromm; wreath, Abraham Lincoln Lodge, No. 890, I.O.O.F., South Bend; wreath, Indiana Lumber Co.; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Hastel, Mr. and Mrs. Kendig, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas; spray, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Storey and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Moon; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grueger, Mr. and Mrs. Hue t Rozewicz, Mr. and Mrs. Long and Mr. and Mrs. Gerphide; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Grueger; wreath, Mrs. Grace Smith and Mr. and Mrs. D. J .Southard; family wreaths: pillow, (Father); wreath, (Husband).

Those who attended from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Whitten and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saylor, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rollins, Sterling; Mr. Robt. Matthews and Mother, Wellman's Corners, and Mrs. Harry Johnston and daughter, Thelma of Trenton.

The pallbearers were Messrs. James Laing, Robert Buchanan, Walter Clark, Alfred Spencer, Thomas Wright and Harry Burnett.

KELVIN FAMILY HAS STRANGE DELUSIONS

Claim That Indians Gave Them a Potion That Distorts Everything.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—A strange story is told by High Constable Fred Kerr on his return from a visit to Kelvin to investigate rumors of some trouble that had the residents of that usually peaceful village are in an uproar. A family, consisting of the father and mother, one son and two daughters, is the centre of commotion.

The father seems all right, but the others are laboring under the delusion that Indians are using some witchcraft on them that causes them to see things that are not so.

Those affected claim that Indians mixed a potion that distorts everything, and when Constable Kerr visited the place yesterday, he appeared to the inmates of the house as a black cat. They are firing off guns to ward off the evil spirits, neighbors' windows being broken in the attempt.

When threatened with incarceration in an asylum, one of the unfortunate creatures stated that crossing water was the only cure.

CHEAPER FREIGHT RATES NECESSARY

Economy in Transportation Essential to Unite Parts of Dominion.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Economy in transportation was essential before the scattered parts of the Dominion could come into a closer understanding of each other and before the products of Canada could be used for the retention of Canadian money in the country, according to the message of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in speaking at the annual dinner of the Ontario Good Roads Association at the Prince George Hotel last night.

While the Premier recognized the importance of good highways for rapid communication within the province and for the delivery of goods and produce, he felt that there was a Dominion-wide problem of even greater importance than that, and it was cheaper railway freight rates.

JOKE PUTS HIM IN HAY PRISON

Victim, Told He Was 'Wanted,' Nearly Dead When Saved 47 Days Later.

MICE ATE CLOTHES

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 27.—A "joke" that nearly cost the life of a man has just come to light here.

J. C. Taylor, an employe on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, was the victim, and only after he had been buried for 47 days under a stack of hay, without food or water, was he finally rescued, half dead from cold and exposure, with one foot frozen, and too weak to speak or move. His clothing had been eaten from his body by field mice.

Taylor had been working in a road gang near Parker and, being from the East, he was made the victim of many "practical jokes" by other members of the gang.

Hid Self Voluntarily.

The "joke" that ended disastrously started when Taylor's fellow workers told him he answered the description of a fugitive from justice for whom the police were searching. Taylor was induced to hide himself.

Taking his fellow workers seriously, Taylor went to the James ranch that evening, found that Mr. and Mrs. James had gone to Colorado Springs, surmised they had gone to find the sheriff, then disappeared. When he failed to appear that night a search was instituted, and the aid of the police of Denver was enlisted.

Once or twice Taylor left his hiding place at night for water, and somehow overheard that the police were looking for him. After that he dared not venture forth, having been told he answered the description of the man "wanted" perfectly.

Straw His Only Food.

As long as he was able he chewed straw, but at last became so weak he was unable even to do that. When he decided to give himself up, rather than starve to death under the hay stack, he was unable to move. Several times, he said, he heard voices near the stack, but he was too weak to attract attention. A small army of field mice added to his misery, but he could not fight them off.

When the hay was being carried to the barn, one of James' sons uncovered a man's foot. As the hay was removed, Taylor's arms, which had been folded across his breast, slid off. His eyes were open, but he could not utter a sound.

For weeks Taylor lay near death. He was fed soup and broths and gradually he improved sufficient to tell his story. He is now able to walk some, and, according to doctors, will recover.

CHINESE LEADER ABANDONED HOPE

President of Government of South China is Steadily Weakening.

PEKIN, February 27 (United Press). — All hope for the recovery of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the Government of Southern China, has been abandoned.

The President, who has been confined to his bed with cancer, is steadily weakening, and though only slightly conscious, is suffering intensely.

He continues to take some nourishment.

CROSSWORD PUZZLES SPELL OUT SUCCESS

Master of Five Languages Learned English Through Sport.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—"Success and crossword puzzles go hand in hand."

Authority for that statement is F. W. Niedenfuhr, sales manager for a large Chicago hardware firm.

Niedenfuhr came to America from Hungary 11 years ago. Although master of five languages he didn't know a word of English.

"I saw a crossword puzzle in a New York newspaper shortly after my arrival," he said. "It recalled to my mind my college days in Prassburg, Hungary.

"Crossword puzzles were then a great help to me in learning the French and German languages, so I immediately set to work on the puzzle.

"I attribute whatever success I have attained to the fact that I recognized the value of crossword puzzles.

"They are the surest means of increasing a man's vocabulary. And when a man has mastered the language," he declared, "he has established the groundwork for success."

Many people have the idea that crossword puzzles are just another fad, Niedenfuhr says.

"But there's nothing new about them," he asserted. "I worked crossword puzzles during my high school days in Hungary, as far back as 1904."

Puzzles that taxed the patience of Niedenfuhr and his classmates 20 years ago differed little from those popular today. The main difference was that in those days the puzzles were not so intricate.

TO GIVE PASSION PLAY IN CHICAGO

Cast of Five Hundred Will Repeat Performance Yearly for Boys' Work.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(Associated Press).—Feeling that no efforts at an adequate characterization could escape some unavoidable sacrilege, the Big Brothers, an organization of Chicago business and professional men, in their production of the Passion Play the revenue from which will be diverted to their work among delinquent boys of the juvenile court, decided to use a statue of Christ in portraying that role.

The first performance will be given March 15 with a cast composed of nearly 500 Chicagoans, each serving without pay and selected to play his part yearly through the next decade.

A sculptor has been employed for months contriving to give the statue supreme beauty, dignity and life-likeness that would better express the reverential spirit of actors and producers. Through the use of German prism glass which, when used as a lens, imparts a seeming movement to the statue, and through the use of moveable limbs, it has been possible to make the statue, under the lighting arrangements of the production, indistinguishable from real life.

A voice will issue from the stage, speaking the words of Christ, and the words will seem to come directly from the statue of Christ itself. But no one outside the cast will know what actor is speaking the words.

The cast has been rehearsing for more than a year. No member will be permitted to capitalize on any reputation made in the play and all are pledged to refrain from professional stage work during the decade. The Big Brothers, casting about for new ways and means to meet the suddenly rising criminal activities of boys in Chicago, hit upon the plan of dramatizing some religious work. They decided upon the Passion Play, which will be produced in utmost reverence to obtain money for boys' work.

In the Temple scene, a recreation of the actual structure, has been planned. Jewish rabbis have contributed historical data, lending gigantic candlesticks, altars, curtains and fittings that have been preserved as exact copies of the Jewish art and religious worship of that time. The rending of the Veil is to be accomplished by an ingenious electrical arrangement whereby a bolt of lightning will be seen to strike, while Judas prostrates himself on the floor.

The Crucifixion with its three Crosses in silhouette against a blinding light, and the kneeling women, has been rehearsed to obtain complete perfection.

A choir of 150 male voices, who will take the place of an orchestra, will sing and chant throughout the play.

TORONTO, February 27 (Canadian Press). — Caught between a wall and some loaded freight cars, while in his motor car, at the rear of the Edison Lamp Company's premises yesterday afternoon, Edward G. Brownlee, aged 41, was crushed to death.

Brownlee was superintendent of the Edison Company's plant.

The accident occurred on the C. N. R. siding.

PRINCE OF WALES' JOURNEY IS GOOD BUSINESS FOR ENGLAND

Finds Parliament on Rumblings From Ranks of British Labor.

LONG TOUR

By P. W. WILSON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Under circumstances of unusual interest and even of controversy, arrangements have been made for the Prince of Wales to set forth on his fifth extended trip from continent to continent—in this case, Africa and South America. Assuming that the health of King George is at that time normal, the Prince will set sail toward the end of March.

This tour differs from all the earlier trips made by this much-traveled scion of the house of Windsor. On previous occasions, the Prince has been regarded as a pleasant young man, wholly unspoiled by the hereditary honors thrust upon him, who is followed wherever he goes by the good wishes of all who see or hear of him. But this time he has to meet sharp criticism, and his tour has been the occasion of outspoken debate in the House of Commons. It means that the Prince of Wales is no longer a boy, "but a man of 30, that he is coming under the strict scrutiny of public opinion and must confront the challenge of a democracy which has watched the ignominious disappearance of thrones apparently as stable as that to which he is heir.

Labor's Protest in House.

It was from the extreme wing of the Labor Party that the House of Commons heard about the Prince. The significant thing was not that individual members like Kirkwood made violent speeches. That has often happened. What really mattered was that, on a test vote to reduce the appropriation for the expenses of the Prince's trip by £100—a vote which, if carried, would have caused Stanley Baldwin's Government to resign—no fewer than ninety members of the official Opposition, or two-thirds of the Labor Party, went into the lobby which indicated a censure; while others abstained from voting.

On the surface, the criticisms of the tour were based on sympathy for the victim.

"I am sorry for the Prince of Wales," cried David Kirkwood, the Socialist from Glasgow. "You are trotting him all over the world and making a clown of him." According to Kirkwood, the Prince would find worse conditions in the slums of Glasgow than exist among the aborigines of Africa, or in the Argentine. "Let him come," said this member, "and we will take him into the mines and workshops and let him see the awful conditions under which the people work who are supposed to be the backbone of this empire.

To this complaint, it may be answered that neither King George nor the Prince of Wales is responsible under the British Constitution for housing conditions in Glasgow. The body that must deal with such matters is either Parliament or the Corporation of Glasgow—in any event, a body elected by the people. If "the King can do no wrong," he can right no wrong. If the people have assumed powers which formerly belonged to monarchs, it means that is is now their fault if social injustices are not remedied.

Last year, the Prince of Wales visited Long Island and Canada incognito—that is, as Baron Renfrew. But on the forthcoming tour he will be received with all the etiquette due to the heir to the greatest of remaining thrones. Fresh of complexion, different in manner and, at times, bored with it all, he may look younger than he is, but the blare of trumpets and the boom of big guns will remind him and every one else that here is no less a personage than his Royal Highness Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, High Steward of Windsor, Knight of the Garter and of the Thistle, and otherwise decorated with stars and ribbons, Colonel of many regiments, a Captain of the Royal Navy and of the British Air Force. It is a good many things to be, all at once. And some people take these distinctions quite seriously!

The Solemn Announcement.

Hence the solemn ceremonial with which the tour was announced. At the opening of Parliament in December, King George sat on his throne in the House of Lords and wore his crown. At his side sat the Queen, while the Prince himself had his seat on the royal dais. The King then declared that the journey would include South Africa, a visit to which dominion had been arranged last year but had to be "unavoidably postponed" owing to the elections at the Cape.

"In the course of his journey," continued King George, "he will also visit my possessions in West Africa and St. Helena. I have no doubt that the happy results which attended his previous visits to other parts of my dominions will be repeated on this occasion." The King added, "I have received an invitation from the President and Government of the Argentine Republic for the Prince of Wales to visit the Argentine next year. I have gladly accepted this invitation on behalf of my son."

That is the time-honored diction of unshaken majesty.

On March 25, then, H. M. S. Repulse will set sail from Portsmouth. On April 1 she will call at Bathurst, the capital of Gambia, where there is immense activity already manifested among the wealthier ladies of color. Daughters of chieftains and of merchants are ordering from London wardrobes of elaborate dresses for indoor and out-of-door display, and the latest fashions are in urgent request. On the 3rd and 4th of April the Repulse will lie off Sierra Leone; between the 6th and the 10th she will visit Sekonde and Accra on the Gold Coast. Her longest stay in West African waters will be off Largos, where the Prince will be a guest from April 11 to 22—a period which allows for a glimpse of the hinterland. The Repulse will then steam straight for Cape Town, arriving on April 30.

Until July 16, that is, for ten weeks, the Prince will be occupied in seeing South Africa. He will be shown the gold fields of Johannesburg, the diamond mines of Kimberley, the native territories of Rhodesia and, doubtless, the magnificent falls of the Zambesi, not indeed equal in volume to Niagara but twice as high.

When the general election last year in South Africa resulted in the resignation of General Smuts as Prime Minister and the appointment of General Herzog there was an idea that a visit from the Prince of Wales would be little appreciated by the new Government of the Union, which is, of course, strongly Boer in sympathy. Prime Minister Herzog, however, lost no time in dispelling that impression, and the only sentiment among the Boers seems to be a fear lest the British in South Africa may monopolize "Wales" and leave him too little time in which to become familiar with farmers on the veldt.

From July 21 to 23 the Prince of Wales will see the sights of what King George calls "My possession" of St. Helena, where still stands the last home of Napoleon. The Emperor's body now lies in the Invalides at Paris, where also has been placed the stone that covered his original grave on the lonely island that he rendered historic. From St. Helena the Prince will be taken to Montevideo, the capital of Uruguay, a city of 350,000 inhabitants, which is the first port of call on the great estuary, the Rio de la Plata. According to the time table, the Prince should land there on July 31; and thereafter no arrangements have been made for his precise itinerary. He will proceed, of course, to Buenos Aires, the capital of Argentina—that is certain—but beyond this, he is, as it were, dependent on invitations. Will he touch at the Falkland Islands, also among "My possessions"? Will he then round Cape Horn, visit Chile and Peru, and possibly Ecuador and Colombia? That might suggest another passage through the Panama Canal and the circumnavigation therefore of South America.

Other Countries Want Prince.

Can the Prince accept hospitality from some Latin-American republics and ignore others? Must he not, in courtesy, pay his respects to Brazil? And will there not be anguish in Jamaica and the other islands of British West Indies if "Wales" overlooks those details of a great empire? Have not even the Bermudas a claim to a brief royal smile? In these isolated possessions there are scores of ancient cannon, eager to pour forth a patriotic salute. The tour will continue, we may be sure, until the Prince himself goes on strike. And his well wishers will pray that the weather at the Equator be not too hot.

Under these circumstances no one can prophesy precisely how long the Prince will be away from Britain. Six months appears to be the minimum period possible.

And thus there arises the final question whether this "Prince business" is worth while. What good does it achieve? Who is the better for it? It is possible to argue that in India the Prince of Wales left things no easier than they had been. If he had been seen, it might have been different. But care was taken by the extremists to insure that he should not be seen. Over his holiday last year in New York there was a good deal of gossip, not all of it friendly, yet here the people, who are, after all, the final jury, showed along Broadway and wherever they were allowed to recognize "Renfrew" that he was as much as ever enrolled among their favorites. As for the press, his popularity was attested by a collection of 60,000 newspaper cuttings! And this was during a "private" visit.

Excitement in Latin America.

All the evidences point to a similar furore in Latin America. It is true, doubtless, that there are fewer Kings and Emperors than there used to be. But this means that those who survive are, if only for historical reasons, the more fascinating to observe. It is not often that a crowd, say in Lima, sees a person of royal blood. It is thus an unusual experience which gives everybody something to talk about. Where Princes are concerned, a very little goes a long way toward making an anecdote. It may not be logical; it may not be democratic; but it is the fact. And every department store knows it by arithmetic. People like an occasion and royalty provides one.

It used to be said of the Kaiser that he was Germany's "traveling salesman." And so he was nor did he entirely lack success. There were many places, especially in the Near East where he put his country on the map. But the Kaiser was always the All Highest War Lord. Behind his visits lay the suggestion of armed force. The Prince of Wales may sail about the world on a battleship, but when he steps ashore he is wholly unarmed, save with a disarming smile. Those who come into contact with him find it impossible to imagine him rattling a sabre in anybody's face. He is frank, friendly, tactful, and even human in his occasional irritability under the stress of a long program. People like him and therefore like the country from which he comes. And to be liked is, after all, better than any amount of political scheming.

UNCOOKED VEGETABLES

Soda in Water is Old and Bad Way to Soften Vegetables.

Putting soda in the water to help soften cabbage, string beans or other vegetables in cooking is a bad practice, Mrs. Mann learned.

One of the most valuable food elements in vegetables is vitamins, and these vitamins are more readily destroyed in an alkaline medium, such as is produced by soda.

Cooking destroys so much of the best in many foods that it is well to eat some uncooked food every day.

In addition to green leaf vegetables, such as lettuce, young carrots may be grated and served with dressing as a salad.

This is but one suggestion. A resourceful housewife will be able to prepare many dishes from uncooked vegetables.

Vegetables should be cooked with the skins on as much as posible, and the skins eaten when convenient. The skins of baked potatoes are useful in helping to overcome constipation.

Water in which vegetables are cooked should never be thrown away. It contains much food material and health-giving quality. Save it for soup and gravies.

Her Suggestion to Avoid Divorce Courts is Don't Marry.

"IN DOUBT, SAY NO."

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press). — During the discussion in the Commons yesterday of a bill placing women on an equality with man in the divorce courts, Miss Agnes MacPhail (Progressive, Southeast Grey) said: "I would suggest to the honorable members a splendid way out of this difficulty of marriage. That is my way—Stay out."

"In the absence of the Prime Minister, I give my assent," interjected Hon. George P. Graham.

"When in doubt, say No," said Miss MacPhail.

Cost Of Living On Jump In Every Land On Earth

By HENRY WOOD.

GENEVA, Feb. 27.—(United Press).—Switzerland is now leading the entire world in increased cost of living, according to comparative statistics just completed here.

In order to show the precise relative increase in the cost of living in all of the leading countries the index figures have been reduced to the gold franc basis for each country.

As compared with the cost of living before the war, the present increase in the various countries are as follows:

Switzerland, 172 per cent., as against 166 in 1923.

England, 171 per cent., as against 149 in 1923.

Sweeden, 167, as against 152 in 1923.

Holland, 161, as against 145 in 1923.

United States, 159, as against 154 in 1923.

Norway, 156, as against 135 in 1923.

Denmark, 154, as against 140 in 1923.

Checho-Slovakia, 153, as against 142 in 1923.

Canada, 151, as against 150 in 1923.

France, 145, as against 123 in 1923.

Belgium, 145, as against 127 in 1923.

Germany, 145, as against 140 in 1923.

Austria, 145, as against 127 in 1923.

Italy, 142, as against 130 in 1923.

These figures show that without a single exception the cost of living is still on the increase in every country.

"Women often ask me — says Mrs. Experience — how I get my table linen so immaculate"

"I take it as a real compliment, because most women do try to excel in their table linen.

"Of course, I tell them the way I've found easiest and best is with Sunlight—just rubbing the linen lightly with Sunlight, rolling it up and putting it to soak. After soaking, perhaps a light rubbing here and there may be called for, then just rinse, and the linen is spotlessly clean. Fine linens should be protected and never come into contact with anything but the purest soap.

"As a household soap there is nothing better or more economical than Sunlight. Every particle is pure soap, with no wasteful 'filler'. Sunlight is mild and easy on the hands, too." Lever Brothers Limited of Toronto, make it.

Tried everything. Even operation. Only Kellogg's helped him.

Constipation paves the way to many harrowing diseases. But Mr. Williams' letter carries a message of cheer:

I have been using your ALL-BRAN for the past three weeks and it has done more for me than anything I have tried in the past fifteen years. . . I was troubled with hemorrhoids for years. About 18 months ago I was operated on with very little relief. I tried everything under the sun. Then my wife suggested Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and I say truthfully that it is the only thing that ever gave me relief.

Yours truly,
L. T. WILLIAMS,
(Address on request).

Cleanse your system of constipation's devastating poisons with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a bulk food that passes through the system, sweeping the intestine clean, stimulating normal, healthy action.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made in London, Canada. Sold by all grocers. Served in leading hotels and restaurants.

ADULT EDUCATION GETS HELP FROM ANDREW CARNEGIE FUND

Library in Peterboro is Monument to Scotch Boy Who Taught Himself.

A NEW PLAN

Seventy years ago a 13-year-old boy from Scotland had to go to work and in hours after his toil he set about getting an education.

Out of the hope and determination and ultimate success of the young Andrew Carnegie there has emerged a broadening assistance to the millions who, like him, must either get an academic education outside regular working hours or not get one at all.

In the belief that the adult of today feels the need of knowledge and training of the type commonly called cultural as distinct from the ulitarian, the Carnegie Corporation of New York, custodian of the bulk of Andrew Carnegie's fortune, has undertaken to extend its financial aido to studies designed to solve the pr blem of effective adult education. More immediately it includes the problem of making public libraries centres of broad education for those who have left school and even the university behind them. This new concept is reflected by Frederick P. Keppel in his report for the first year of his presidency of the Carnegie Corporation.

In this report the cultural needs of the American are no more than suggested briefly among statistics of grants and income. Behind this, however, is the implication of an America to which the moving picture and the radio no less than the library may bring instruction, liberal as well as technical.

"This country," says Mr. Keppel in explaining the ideas back of the report, "is already giving a vast deal of attention to the matter of making life better worth living as distinct from making living better. The whole thing is in the air. The interest of the Carnegie Corporation itself is a symptom."

The aim in the new lines of inquiry, undertaken somewhat tentatively as yet and as another spoke in the corporation's wheel of programme rather than as a substitute for work done previously, s analogous to the aim of the extension work of a university. Neither the figure nor the thought is Mr. Keppel's. He is insistent on the point that the corporation itself does no work but merely supplies funds to those whom it deems capable of achievement in certain chosen lines, securing the voluntary advice of the highest authorities and sharing responsibility with those who know.

Back of this theory of an educational hunger, however, there is already a deal of evidence. There are the extension classes themselves by the thousand. There are five-foot shelves and 5-cent reprints, workingmen's classes, lectures beyond counting and popularized outlines of human knowledge in fields practical and in fields useless in terms of pay day. There is the young man in the advertisements, overwhelmed by the calamity of mistaking Heliogabalus for a flower. The very etiquette books, selling like novels, become a token of unrest and dissatisfaction, and Babbitt himself, an objective figure from first to last, becomes a sign of the consciousness of a lack.

Mr. Keppel does not expand into such details. He says merely: "A tremendous lot is being done. Understand, I am not saying that things are terribly bad now."

All this work, however, is hit or miss. There is no programme. Nobody has yet made a survey to determine the work that should be done. It is such a survey, broadly, that the corporation has in mind. How much is being done outside of vocational training, as in the correspondence courses? Nobody knows.

"It seems relatively little," says Mr. Keppel. "The leading organized interest appears to be to improve one's job. The United States, however, is not all the world. England and Denmark have given the most attention to adult edueation and the study there is cultural. In Denmark the farmers send their children to folk colleges. They study Danish literature and history and gymnastics and folk dancing. It makes better farmers of them, partly because they learn to get along with others, but it has its intrinsic value. In England there are the workers' educational classes, and they make the best classes in the country. The Government gives a grant and a tutor comes from Oxford to teach one evening a week. The students sign for a three-year course and men who have worked with their hands all day really work at philosophy and literature. Such a man has come to the problem of learning for his own sake.

"In this country probably a great deal could be accomplished by an extension of existing vocational work by grasping a larger conception. For instance, a man takes a correspondence course in accounting because it will be of value to him on pay day. That is vocational. Then there is an intermediate zone in which the same man may study economics or the theory of advertising for some less direct advantage. But what if that man, as a human being, needs chiefly a knowledge of English literature?"

Such an example, cited offhand, gives scarcely more than a lay figure; yet it is such a man, with a need not essentially different, who stands revealed as tragic when a Hardy shows him, as in "Jude the Obscure," forever rejected by the university to which he aspired.

This problem of adult education is not entirely concerned with Judes, nor with immigrant boys who have to work for their living. It includes also the university graduate, for instance, who wants to go on from the point where college stopped. The desire of the President of the Carnegie Corporation is to secure the co-operation of specially fitted men, chosen by the association or professional group representative of the field under consideration. Adult education (in which no single group or agency is at hand to give advice) is not yet a matter of programme; the first steps for study are now being taken. The corporation's inquiry (through others) into the fine arts is only in the formative stage. Another part of the plan closely related to adult education, already has reached what might be termed the stage of field work.

This is an effort to improve library service, to develop library technique so that the librarian can take a larger part in a comprehensive scheme "to bring about the discovery, formulation and diffusion of true and useful ideas," which is the purpose of the Carnegie Corporation. In this inquiry the corporation obtained the assistance of the American Library Association, which created a commission on the library and adult education. It was through similar professional co-operation that the American Law Institute was organized somewhat more than a year ago, to handle for technical requirements the task of restating the principles of law involved in a flood of precedents and new statutes.

In the case of the libraries, the problem—whether practical or cultural—comse close to the individual than in statutes. A young saleswomen in a china store who wanted to become a buyer asked a public library for a reading lest on manufacturers' marks on crockery and glassware. It took an auditor of the library two days to assemble the data. How can the ordinary library be prepared to render such service? It takes experts to work out the answer.

"Consider," says Mr. Keppel, "the girl librarian alone in a North Dakota library, out of touch with new books and new ideas and trends. How is she to select the best among the latest books. Another problem: The library profession has grown up under very modest conditions. It resembles the academic profession in some ways, but it has no sabbatical year. That means there is no one to write handbooks and textbooks for librarians; there is no one with the time to spare."

The corporation paid for textbooks prepared by librarians. It assisted the Temporary Library Training Board. It made surveys and studies possible. And it turned professional attention to the question of adult education in its larger aspects.

The corporation itself in this instance made a contribution to the study. During the acting presidency of Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, Dr. William S. Learned of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching made a study of library conditions and wrote a memorandum which grew into a book, "The American Public Library and the Diffusion of Knowledge.I' In this he pointed out that Andrew Carnegie's gifts of galls and organs and gymnasiums in connection with libraries showed the donor did not consider libraries as all in all. Moreover, half the country's population has no convenient access to libraries, while registered borrowers of books are one in ten out of the population. He suggested a community intelligence service centering at the library and pointed to instances where such service had already been developed. The flood of available printed material on every subject adds difficulties even for those who know how to use books, and he found the pressure of need had redoubled since the war. The probable future use of radio and motion pictures in the diffusion of knowledge was indicated in this study, but of the present status of adult education Dr. Learned said:

"Yet with all this elaborate and boasted provision for the wholesale instruction of youth, at a cost which constitutes much the largest single item in expenditure from the common funds, the conscious and systematic growth in knowledge of the adult community has been almost overlooked. * * * Rhe vast majority have not consciously continued a process which the school has tacitly assumed to be its own exclusive province. * * * There are everywhere indications that our society is on the eve of a much more thoroughgoing organization of its intelligence service than has hitherto been attempted, and this, too, primarily, though not exclusively, in the interest of adults."

To Centre on Adult Needs

In England, collections of books are sent to workers' units. Some work of the same sort has been done in America, but how best to systematize such things as this, as well as queries like that from the crockery saleswoman, gives scope for ample study. In America and abroad $55,000,000 of Carnegie money has been spent on erecting library buildings. Such expenditure has now stooo stopped. The standard has been set for buildings; the task now is to broaden and improve library service. Hence the grant of $180,000 for the study undertaken by the American Library Association.

It is on such topics, having to do with adult education, that the corporation will centre its interest for the next three or four years, at the same time continuing to support scientific research.

"We are groping," says Mr. Keppel, "but these are things of the sort we want to foster now."

A contributing cause is financial. The corporation is reducing its liabilities in order to have from two-thirds to three-fourths of its funds unobligated. It has such big outstanding items as a conditional grant of $8,000,000 to the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, for which an amortization fund has been set up and, in the words of its President ,it means to keep a steady look on a few big things of such magnitude as the $2,000,000 grant to the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

Education in organized classes has been Mr. Keppel's province during most of his active life. He holds degrees from three universities; for eighteen years—eight of them as dean—he was an official of Columbia University; his writings include "Columbia University" and "The Undergraduate and His College." He has had wide experience with non-collegiate problems as an Assistant Secretary of War, director of foreign operations for the American Red Cross, a commissioner for the International Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the plan of New York.

It is with such experience that he says in his report: "It is now generally recognized that there is no fundamental distinction between the responsibilities of universities supported primarily by public taxation and those of institutions supported primarily by private endowment." It is a comparable view he holds of foundations such as that of which he is President: "For underlying social justification, our programme should have the largest possible participation."

Such a view leads to adult education it leads also to an effort to co-ordinate and benefit by the results of the work of all the Carnegie trusts, abroad as well as at home. The trustees from across the Atlantic—Robert Burns, Secretary of the Carnegie Dumfermline Trust, and Lieut. Col. J. M. Mitchell, Secretary of the Carnegie United Kingdom Trust—have been invited to New York to compare experiences. The American trustees will learn at first hand the results of the British trustees' recently establishing England's first dramatic loan library for the British Drama League and professional and amateur students of the theatre. That is one phase of work in the field of art in line with the policy now being followed in the United States.

GASOLINE POWER WASTED SAY TESTS

An Average of 30 Per Cent. Lost in Combustible Gasses.

Tests and gas analyses conducted recently show that an average of 30 per cent. of the power of gasoline used as motor fuel is wasted by being discharged in the engine exhaust in the form of combustible gases. While the presence of these gases may be due to many factors, the outstanding feature of several hundred road tests and gas analyses was that improper carburetor adjustment was responsible in most cases for the major part of the waste. The average carburetor was found adjusted too far on the rich side, or, in other words, an insufficient amount of air was admitted with the gasoline for good economy and proper combustion.

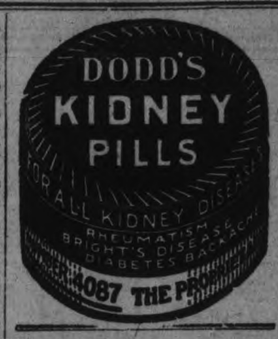
That the condition of rich adjustment exists almost universally is mainly due to the fact that the carburetor settings giving good power cover a wide variation extending from moderately rich to moderately lean adjustment, while those for the desirable combination of both good power and good economy are only on the lean side. This, together with the fact that under certain conditions the flexibility of operation decreases somewhat with the lean adjustment, would create a natural tendency toward a rich and more wasteful mixture. Also the markedly rich adjustments found in the summertime are to a certain extent due to the fact that no change has been made from that used during the cold winter months, when a somewhat richer mixture is desirable.

"The average automobile driver demands, first of all, power and flexibility of operation," says a statement issued by the Bureau of Mines. "He usually sets his carburetor rich enough to give those properties under the most adverse conditions of driving, as slow speeds in traffic, and even to offset the troubles of a cold motor. In this manner he usually obtains an adjustment that from an economical standpoint is too rich and unnecessary for the major part of his normal driving conditions, and after his motor has become warmed. This, however, is not manifest in the power, but only in the gasoline consumption, of which the driver seldom takes special note.

Many Reasons Outlined.

"Additional reasons for the rich adjustments is that the present-day automobile with its many auxiliary appliances, as hot spot, choke, preheated air and so forth, are but little understood by the average driver. He usually finds by experience that his car operates best when using a certain motor fuel. When he changes to another type or grade he often has difficulty in its use or obtains less miles per gallon. He does not seem to realize that in changing from a 'high test' grade to a 'low test' the carburetor will become leaner, the reverse of this being also true. Also by increasing the temperature of the intake air the mixture will tend to become rich. He merely condemns the fuel because it will not operate at the same carburetor adjustments as his previously used brand. However, in most cases he is merely allowing the carburetor setting and intake air conditions to prescribe the grade or type of fuel rather than exercising the flexibility and adaptability of the carburetor to conform to the fuel.

"In the adjustment of a carburetor it may be stated that for a certain design there are three major influencing factors, namely, the mechanical adjustments, the properties of the fuel and the intake air-heating devices. These are all interrelated and any one will influence the others. From the standpoint of economy the desired combination of these factors is that which will produce the leanest mixture that will give satisfactory operation for the normal or average driving conditions. To obtain this the bureau has developed a simple method of analyzing the exhaust gases which gives directly the exact gas-air mixture that is being supplied to the engine. This determination is made when the car is operating on the road at any desired speed, load or carburetor adjustment. This method also gives a measure of the fuel waste so that adjustments can be made until the waste is decreased as much as possible and still retain good operation. In other words, the motor is checked up on the amount of fuel it is wasting and its feed cut down accordingly.



AUTOMOBILE SENSE

Do you remember that the instruction book which came with your car recommended the use of a certain make and grade of oil? That was done to protect you against the trouble Doc refers to in the accompanying strip. Proper lubrication, nothing else, will prevent the "blow-by," which is one of the most serious troubles developed by an engine and one of the most expensive.

The piston and its rings must be carefully fitted if the car is to perform as you expect it to. It must move up and down in the cylinder with as little frictlon as possible, but must fit so snugly as to prevent excess leakage of gases on the compression and power strokes. Unless you use the best grade of oil and change it frequently, the piston, rings and cylinder walls will begin to wear and your troubles will begin.

The compression ratio in various cars differs but suppose that as the piston compresses the charge of gas and air before the explosion, the pressure in the explosion chamber and against the head of the piston is 80 pounds to the square inch, or more than the air pressure in the old fabric tires. If there is a leak around the rings, part of this gas slips by and into the crankcase, where it dilutes the oil and makes it unfit for proper lubrication of the bearings and the piston. When the charge is ignited, the pressure is increased to approximately 320 pounds to the square inch and still more gas is forced down into the crankcase.

Doc explains the loss of power caused by the "blow-by", but this shows where it can cause serious damage to the motor. If your rings leak, have them refitted and use the very best grade of oil in the future.

FABLES ON HEALTH.

For bones and teeth and for aid in digestion and for elimination of poisonous material from the body, foods, richest in mineral elements, are needed.

Mrs. Mann of Anytown learned that these mineral elements are found largely in milk, vegetables, whole-grain cereals and fruit.

Many a tonic is given to suppy these mineral elements which should have been in foods.

Milk is the chief source of calcium or lime as it is sometimes referred to. And unless there is an abundance of milk, or cheese for adults, there is a grave danger of calcium deficiency.

Doubtless many unaccounted-for headaches, fatigues, nervousness, pains, ailments of all kinds are due to insuficient calcium in the system.

In addition to all these elements, Mrs. Mann has learned about, there are at least four vitamins the body needs.

There is vitamin A, vitamin B, vitamin C and the fourth vitamin. This four vitamin was discovered in 1923. It prevents rickets.

PRIMITIVE RUSSIA PART OF THE EAST

Correspondent Kuh Says Land of the Soviet Not to Be Compared With Western Europe or the United States.

(By Frederick Kuh, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Feb. 27 — To an American, nurtured in an eight-cylinder civilization, life in Moscow is likely to appear amazingly primitive.

I do not refer to the cultural side of Moscow. For those who care for excellence on the stage, good music or superb painting, the theatre, concerts and art galleries of Moscow are an inexhaustible source of joy.

It is rather the humdrum mechanics of life in the Soviet capital which I have in mind—the nineteenth century plumbing, shortage of automobiles ,peculiarly inadequate tramways, insufficient sanitation and lame postal service.

It is a far cry from our cities of skyscrapers and from the land of superpower to the overgrown Eurasian village, which is now the heart of a union that embraces one-sixth of the earth's surface.

But the standards by which we measure our highly-industrialized American system simply do not apply to a country still overwhelmingly predominated by peasants; and our western background tends to hinder rather than help us to gauge the quality of a half-Asiatic culture.

We are too prone to assume that our western civilization is the closest approach to perfection, and that any country which deviates from our standard is inferior. The Russians regard themselves as apart from the western hemisphere. It is striking that whenever a Russian newspaper refers to "Europe,' it never suggests that Russia could possibly belong to that continent. In its customs, habits and philosophy, Russia remains apart from the west. The close political alliance between China and the Soviets, which emerged during 1924, and the recently concluded treaty between Moscow and Japan are, in fact, merely a reflection of Russia's aloofness from the west.

Many American observers in Russia have been led astray in precisely this respect—they have mentally placed Moscow alongside of Manhattan and, insofar as the two cities fail to coincide, they have placidly assumed that the difference clearly bespeaks Manhattan's superiority. Usually, such observers come to scoff and remain as prey.

If one is to secure a sound impression of Moscow today, one may not judge that city by its American equivalent; for there is no counterpart in the United States. The new arrival in Russia must attempt to disregard many of those experiences, acquired through years of shock-absorbed life in our mechanized cities. Otherwise, in trying to fit Moscow into the pattern of Manhattan, he is trying to solve a crossword puzzle which is insoluble. Or, to put it more exactly, he is in the position of the man who tried to measure his temperature with a yardstick.

The Russian today neither assumes that everything western is desirable nor thta what is Russian is good. The new society in Russia is undoubtedly attempting to preserve what it considers valuable in the old Russia—especially in art—and at the same time to borrow from the west, especially from America, the great technical achievements, in which the Soviet Union is woefully lacking.

That Soviet Russia, with its inheritance of the middle-ages, is technically backward is a truism. The American, coming from an environment which has attained the highest degree of machanization, ordinarily sees only the absence of those familiar mechanics and bases all his impressions upon that fact.

He is accustomed, for instance, to rapid transit in an American city which possess excellent street car, omnibus, elevated, taxicab, subway and suburban railroad service. He comes to Moscow to find that the means of locomotion are limited to walking, rickety one-hoss-shays or poky, overcrowded tramways. It is no unusual experience for the Mossow wayfarer to stand idly on the corner, deliberately missing his street-car half a dozen times successively, simply because each vehicle is more packed with humanity than the last. And if you try to ascend the tram-car, you will find by the nearest policeman if you are still on the step when the car starts. During the rush hours when citizens go to and from work, climbing to a street-car requires the tenacity of a bull and the clever footwork of a Dempsey.

It is the same story, in another form, when you visit Moscow bank to cash a cheque or make a deposit. You will be passed along from clerk to clerk; a single trifling transaction may demand the signature of six officials. During the long pauses while you lean against the bank counter, you have abundant time to contemplate the curious spectacle of a "western" business being conducted by eastern methods.

Here again, it is easy to realize that this niggling transaction, which would require three minutes in an American bank, needs two to three hours in a similar Moscow institution. But it is more to the point to realize that this business is being conducted in a peasant country, which is just beginning to adapt itself to the speed and efficiency of American commerce and industry.

Bathe a t apublic establishment; send a message at the telegraph office; make a purchase at a department store; in each case, you will find that your patience is put to the acid test. Time may be money in Moscow, but the currency of time there is sadly inflated. No matter how pressing your business may be it is wise to remember that his glass of tea is always more important to the Russian. Accustomed to a leisurely rythm of life, corresponding to the slow, vast sweeps of the illimitable steppes, the Russian will not be hurried.

TOWN LIBRARIAN'S FIRST STORY WINS O. HENRY MEMORIAL

Frances Newman Wrote Best Story of 1924—American Women in First Ranks.

REVIEW OF BOOKS.

Romance again rides in the wake of a literary prize award.

This time the scene is Nevada.

There, in a small town library, Miss Frances Newman was librarian. She had books to read and time to read them, and a good mind to study their values. Particularly she studied the short story.

Then she began to send "pieces to the papers." That is, she became a self-appointed critic. Her criticisms were printed. One of them concerned James Branch Cabell, now classed among the leading American literary figures. Cabell received it among his clippings. At once he recognised unusual ability and hurried a letter off to Miss Newman.

He wanted to know about her; what she was writing ,and then called the attention of Huebsch, the publisher, to this gifted young lady of the West.

Thus was this literary Cinderella discovered.

And now she is announced as the winner of the O. Henry Memorial prize for the best "short short story" of the year. It is "Rachael and Her Children," and it appeared in The American Mercury.

To complete the romance, it was her first short story.

Meanwhile, however, Miss Newman has become known to the literary world through "The Short Story's Mutations" (Huebsch), one of the finest critical works on the short story.

The prize for the "best long short story," which is the first prize of $500.00, goes to Inez Hayes Irwin, whose name already is well known to the reading public.

Her story, "The Spring Flight," published in McCall's Magazine, is written with real lyric qualit*y and the choice of the judges seems to be singularly happy. There may be some dispute over the theme, for it is a tale of Will Shakespeare and how he came to write "The Tempest."

Some may argue that the stories should be limited to American subjects, but few will have the temerity to question its beauty.

The selection in the "Prize Stories of 1924" (Doubleday, Page), is far and away the finest to be found in any of the many prize story books.

It gives proof that the American short story to-day need not apologise to its British brother, and proof, as well, that fine writing, theme, and style can find its way into the American prints in spite of the heaps of stereotyped trash.

It i particularly interesting to note that the two leaders of the field are women.

Speaking of women writers, it now seems that this year's most discussed and best selling novels will be written by women. There may be more men engaged in writing in America, but the women are providing the quality of the past two seasons. Thus, it was Edna Ferber with "So Big" and Willa Cather with "The Lost Lady" who held the stage last year.

Thus far this season it is Sarah Millin with "God's Stepchildren" (Boni, Liveright) and Margaret Kennedy with "The Constant Nymph" (Doubleday, Page), and there is nothing yet in sight to touch them. Possibly this will be changed when Theodore Dreiser's "American Tragedy" appears in the summer.

Already "The Constan Nymph" goes into several editions, and in England continues to be lauded as near-classic.

Miss Kennedy, the author, labored for years with historical compilation. Her writing was strongly influenced by Charlotte Yonge, say her publishers, and she decided to write of "large and complicated families." She is still under 30. Her style is delicate, though daring, and of great beauty. She comes of a most consetvative Cornwall family who, it is said, feel outraged that she should have written "such a book," inasmuch as it is in the Continental manner; frank and outspoken with a Molnarish humor and a sophisticated treatment.

If young Earl Sparling of Oklahoma City studied his book while he was at Tulane University with the same interest and understanding with which he studied the Old French Quarter of New Orleans, he must be a marvel of learning. His initial volume of short stories, "Under the Levee", (Scribners) sets out to do for the Quarter what O. Henry did for New York, and there is more than a touch of the O. Henry method in his structire. The theme of sudden death is often sounded in these 13 stories, as might be expected in a writer just getting his stride. There is abundant color and frequent happiness of phrase in these somewhat superficial tales, and the volume is entertaining pastime.

SMART STEPS

First glimpses of the Spring shoe tree indicate that the men's style subject is much broader than in past seasons.

As season upon season moves in and out, there is a pronounced weakening in the "jazzy" or extreme style model. While the young men's models are carved on strenuous lines embodying the spirit of the well dressed youth, there is a distinct tendency toward the medium conservative and more sensible models.

Contrast in Ages.

One feature that is brought out sharply in the Spring styles, is the noticeable contrast between the ideal type of shoe for the young men and styles for those of a more advanced age. Heretofore, the general style situation applied equally to youth as well as men of more advanced age.

Formerly, both young and more elderly men found equal acclaim in the same type of shoes, whether extremely "doggy" or conservatively plain. But the advent of balloon tires on automobiles and balloon trousers on the youth has founded a new note in youthful footwear. This is expressed in the broad and blunt toed oxford and shoe.

Almost every man other than the young blood finds this type of shoe too "swaggy," and there is a distinct preference among these older men towards the more conservative medium full toe. The wide range of the Spring style displays allows for an exceedingly large number of patterns to choose from.

Unusual is the Display.

Most patterns being shown are very attractive. Workmanship and designing skill have been effectively applied in producing some exceptional variations of the newest trend. Coupled with the commanding colors of the various leathers, an attractive display makes its debut on the Spring shoe tree.

The most prominent colors are tans and blacks—while one of the lighter shades of tan is marked by an absolute absence of red in it, another darker shade is contrasted by a faint tint of red.

Using More Pigskin.

Particularly pleasing in the spring assortment is the wide and varied selection of sport and golf shoes. Many experiments to combine new pattern effects with more practical soles and tops have resulted in many handsome and comfortable shoes. Pigskin, heretofore in the decline, is on the ascent towards popularity and is being made into many attractive and novel designs.

A man who works to forget is better off than one who forgets to work.

Miss Vera Little

Chatham, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was such a wonderful help to me in motherhood that I do not hesitate to relate my experience for it may help other women who suffer at this time. During my first expectant period I got into a terribly rundown state of health, my nerves gave way. I was very weak and my kidneys were bad. I was just as miserable as I could be, when, thru the advice of a friend, I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and from that time on I did not have any more trouble with either my nerves or my kidneys but kept well and strong and my strength came back very quickly afterwards. My child was very strong and healthy and always has been, (picture above) hardly having had a sick day."—Mrs. Cyril Little, 2 McDougall Ave.

"Not long ago there lived in Glenfruin an old woman who was celebrated for having a famous breed of turkeys. On one occasion she sold one of these to a gentleman named Browne. When cooked and served it was found to be so tough as to be quite uneatable. Meeting the old woman a short time afterward, he said to her: 'What did ye mean, Jean, by selling yon turkey to me?'

"'What was wrang with it?' 'It wasn't good at all,' replied the gentleman. 'No guid?' quoth Jean; 'it was bound to be guid. It won the first prize for eleven years at Elensburgh cattle show.'"

"'My good women, what is it that is troubling you?" said the clergyman to the widow who called to unburden her oppressed mind. 'Weel, sir, I was thinkin' o gettin' married again.' 'Oh, is that it?' said the minister. 'Let me see: surely that ceremony has been pretty frequent with you, ma'am?' 'Weel, this is the fourth time,' said she, in a tone of bitterness rather than sorrow. 'I'm sure there never was a woman sae completely tormented wit' sic a set o' deeia' men as I hae been.'"

REGRET LOSING CANON SAWERS

Cobourg Clergyman Recipient of Many Presentations and Addresses.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—Canon and Mrs. Sawers are leaving Cobourg for Toronto to take up their work at St. Matthew's Parish, where Canon Sawers will be inducted on Sunday evening.

St. Peter's Church here honored them before their departure with gifts and by a congregational gathering held in their honor in the Parish Hall. Mr. James F. McCullogh ably presided. Suitable addresses in which tribute was paid to Canon Sawers service as minister and to Mrs. Sawers cooperation in the work of the parish, were made by Mr. J. W. Bickle, one of the senior members of the church, W. F. Kerr, K.C., Crown Attorney; and R. Geo. Holdsworth, superintendent of the west end Sunday School. At an opportune moment, Mr. E. J. Wormington, rector's warden, read an appropriate address and Mr. D. Denton, the people's warden, presented Canon Sawers with a purse of gold. Mrs. Geiger presented Mrs. Sawers with a set of antique table silver, these gifts coming from the congregation. Canon and Mrs. Sawers made suitable and feeling reply. Lunch was served and a pleasant social evening spent.

Gift of Club Bag.

The members of Cobourg Rotary Club honored their vice-president, Rev. Canon Sawers, before his departure from Cobourg, by presenting him with a handsome club bag, accompanied by expressions of regret because of his removal and best wishes for his success in his new field of work.

There expression of regard are appreciated by citizen generally, for the broad-minded enthusiastic way in which Canon Sawers has worked with other churches and organizations for the best welfare of the town in every way, has won for him general esteem. Mrs. Sawers will be much missed also in social as well as church life.

Vernonville Votes For Union.

The Presbyterian congregation at Vernonville by a vote of 33 to 15 has declared in favor of entering the United Church of Canada. The associated congregation at Grafton had previously voted concurrence by a substantial majority. The vote at Vernonville was carried on at intervals over a period of two weeks, and was in charge of Mr. Robert Litster as returning officer and Mr. Andrew Robson as poll clerk. There were quite a number of the congregation away, and this, coupled with the bad state of the roads, and unpleasant weather, largely accounts for the small vote polled. Rev. S. H. Moyer is the minister of the Grafton and Vernonville congregations.

C.C.I. Contests.

Rev. W. A. Bremner, now associate pastor with Rev. R. F. Stillman of the United Church of Canada in Cobourg, gives a silver and bronze medal annually to the pupils of the Cobourg Collegiate Institute who came first and second in the annual contests in elocution and oratory. A third prize is also given and this by the C.C.I. Literary Society. These contests have just been held, with Rev. Mr. Bremner presiding, with following results: Elocution, 1st, Helen Navin; 2nd, Marian Wager; 3rd, Mary Hall. Oratory: 1st, Ruth McCullough; 2nd, Don Harper; 3rd prize a tie and divided between Ronald Harris and Mary Staples. The judges in the elocution contest were: Mrs. F. P. Lloyd, Miss Marian MacDonald, Miss McCaghey. For Oratory Rev. Adam Hamilton, Rev. J. N. Norton, Col. W. H. Floyd. The prize winners also made impromtu speeches. A large assemblage attended the event.

Haldimand Man Injured.

Mr. Norman Clarke, Haldimand, is stated to have met with an accident a few days ago while sawing wood whereby he lost a finger. He was brought to the Cobourg Hospital, where he is now reported to be doing nicely.

First Excursion On Monday.

The excursion season has opened early in Cobourg. On Monday a Rochester Yacht Club ran an excursion here, when the members came over by steamer Ontario and spent a short time in the town. They were accompanied by a small band and paraded up street, although rain detracted from the pleasantness of their visit.

Village Officials Appointed.

At a meeting of Newcastle Village Council the following officials were appointed: George Eilbech, assessor, at a salary of $60.00; H. W. Dudley was appointed collector at the same salary and H. C. Bonathan, clerk and treasurer, the latter t orecceive $185 per year. The meeting was held in the council room of the Community Hall, which is an ideal place for all civic conferences.

HORSES TOOK FRIGHT

Bolted Along Hastings Streets and Collided With 'Phone Pole.

HASTINGS, Feb. 26.—While the driver of the Imperial Oil tank was putting in coal oil in one of the local stores on Wednesday forenoon, the horses took fright and bolted across main street, upsetting the tank. The horses continued running up Front street until they collided with a telephone pole outside H. T. Lambert's hardware store, and the impact caused the horses to fall. They escaped injury however, and the only damage resulting was a little broken harness.

CAPITOL INCREASED.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—At the annual general meeting of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, held here yesterday, shareholders approved a by-law increasing the company's authorized capital from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000.

COLOR AND FUN AT WINTER FAIR

Hastings People Find Occasion to Laud Enterprise of Young Girls.

MUSIC AND LUNCH

HASTINGS, Feb. 26.—On Monday evening a Winter Fair was held in the school room of the Methodist church by the "Can I Help" Mission Circle girls.

The school room was artistically decorated in green and daffodil yellow. In various conspicuous places and on tables arranged throughout the room, hyacinths, daffodils, bloomed in profusion. The country store which contained nearly everything in the line of provision, was in charge of Miss Hazel Macdonald. The candy booth was in charge of Misses Helen Wilcox and Jean Macdonald. Dorothy Johnson took care of the miscellaneous booth. The fancy work booth wa sin charge of Misses Carrie Doxsee and Pancy Runnels, and the ice cream booth in charge of Miss Ruby Stinson. Miss Bessie Hinton proved an efficient cashier. Home made cooking was sold by Misses Kathleen Simpson and Evelyn Stewart. Lillian Hinton operated the fish pond.

The first part of the evening was given to a programme. Miss K. Simpson recited. Miss Jessie Wilcox sang a solo; Miss Bessie Hinton a reading; Miss Hazel Macdonald sang "Twas Mother's Parting Prayer." (Both words and music of this number were written by Herbert Treeneer, the blind musician.)

Lunch was served from daintily laid tables and the menu cards were very artistic, being painted in water colors to match the decorations of the school room.

Rev. M. L. Hinton acted in a most capable manner as chairman. Much credit is due the Circle girls who shouldered so successfully such a large undertaking.

Egg Prices Decline.

The prices of eggs are steadily on the decline locally. The prices now paid by the merchants are from 30 to 32 cents per dozen. Dairy butter is now being marketed in much larger quantities, prices ranging from thirty to thirty-five cents per pound.

Lenten Services.

Special services were held in some of the local churches on Ash Wednesday. Other week-day services will be held until the lenten season is over.

Road Travel Bad.

The heavy rains of Monday and Wednesday have made nearly all means of traffic very difficult. Many of the surrounding country roads are bare of ice or snow, water and mud being very plentiful. Sleighing for the present is a thing of the past and although considerable hauling of ice and wood has been done locally, for the present it is discontinued.

Reports have been received that many of the surrounding country and village wells and cisterns that were dry are now filling very quickly.

Personal News.

Mr. George Oliver of Campbellford was a visitor in Hastings on Tuesday.

Mr. T. A. Coughlin is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. G. B. Stevenson is spending a few days in Peterboro on business.

Mr. F. Fee of Peterboro was in Hastings on Wednesday.

Mrs. A. V. German spent Wednesday in Peterboro.

Miss Pansy Runnels was in Campbellford on Wednesday.

Mr. W. T. Tate spent Wednesday in Campbellford.

Mr. W. Montgomery is visiting friends in Peterboro.

Mrs. N. Beavis has returned home after spending sometime with friends in Peterboro.

Mr. B. Quinn of Havelock was in Hastings on Wednesday.

POUR A FLOOD OF MONEY INTO SUDAN

British to Modernize Region of the Upper Nile With Improvements.

By CLIFFORD L. DAY.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(United Press).—British financial interests are about to pour a flood of money into the Sudan, with a view to modernizing the region of the Upper Nile.

Deviating momentarily from irrigation and cotton-growing enterprises, the pound sterling is to be let loose on a new form of project for Egypt, the installation of up-to-date improvements.

A 3,500-foot bridge is to be thrown across the White Nile. Electric power and light plants are to be installed at various points, and electric street cars and modern water works put in operation. Last, but by no means least, ice factories are to rear their stacks amid the hot stands of the desert districts.

Capitalized at the equivalent of $1,780,000, the English-financed Sudan Light and Power Company has secured a concession from the Sudan Government enabling it to develop this comprehensive scheme of improvements. The project will centre on Omdurman, a city with a population of 80,000 and so far without electrical facilities or any street transport service excepting an obsolete steam street car line. A ferry service connects Omdurman with Khartoum, on the opposite bank of the White Nile.

Entire reconstruction of the street car system will be undertaken, not only in Omdurman, but in Khartoum and Khartoum North, which is located on the further bank of the Blue Nile. This involves construction of a bridge across the White Nile connecting Omdurman with Khortoum and linking up with the existing bridge over the other branch of the river, thus effecting a through-route of horse-shoe shape.

The new bridge will have a road width of 30 feet, capable of carrying a single line of street car track. There will be eight fixed spans of 240 feet each and a swing span of equal length.

A new generating plant is to be erected in Omdurman, connecting with an electric power station already operating at Khartoum.

While these steps are designed to facilitate trade primarily, conditions for the native population are to be improve through the installation of a complete waterworks system and the erection of plants for manufacturing ice from filtered water.

The financing group consists of Callenders Cable Company. Durman, Long and Company, the English Electric Company and the Prudential Assurance Company. Lord Meston, who has held a number of governmental financial posts, is chairman of the directorate.

PLAN IRISH RIVAL FOR MONTE CARLO

Financiers Would Build Casino to Compete With French Resort.

LONDON, Feb. 27.— (United Press).—Somebody's always trying to paint the shamrock a deeper hue.

Hitherto just plain wearin' o' the green has always been fully good enough for old Erin, but now come those who want a Monte Carlo in the land. And soon, they say, they'll have the Micks a-playin' o' the green.

All preparations for the enterprise have been arranged, or nearly all. The capital has been guaranteed. Proposals have been prepared for a very beautiful group of buildings, designed by a first-class architect. And the vanguard of players is assured.

But the address is lacking. A location on the eastern or southeast coast is naturally desired, the nearer England the better. Some of the Irish municipal authorities do not appear willing to entertain the project, although they are not asked to take a financial interest. As soon as a suitable site has been secured, it is understood, actual construction will commence.

The Irish proposition is one of a number the Britishers have made from time to time in an effort to pit an All-British casino against the famous French resort.

A number of promoters have had their eye on Jersey for a long time as the most logical point for effective competition with the real Monte. It is only thirteen miles west of the French coast. But the effort to establish a casino there is moving slowly although the islanders themselves are said to show a sympathetic majority. They believe the project would bring in a lot of new business and make the island a fashionable visiting place.

A small syndicate of wealthy sportsmen have offered very tempting terms for Jersey's Elizabeth Castle and have given the parliament assurances as to their financial stability. But the promoters are becoming discouraged by the apparent lack of support among the island authorities and municipal officialdom has declined to help.

QUEEN MARY IS OF OLD SCHOOL

Buckingham Palace is Spring Cleaned Regularly—Queen Goes Through Linen.

SEASON OPENS.

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—Not many women in England today do "Spring Cleaning," that annual ritual of scrubbing and cleaning that 20 years ago used to drive every man to his club for a couple of weeks. But "Spring Cleaning" is still part of the domestic routine at Buckingham Palace, and as soon as Queen Mary got back to town from their country place last week she started making plans.

Every year she goes through the entire stock of the palace linen and plate and visits every room in the Palace to see what she wants renovating. Then a long schedule is drawn up of what has to be done, and the "Spring Cleaning" starts. It is only fair to add, however, that the bulk of it is done when the Royal Family goes to Windsor Castle for Easter.

Proably the people who are most glad to see the Queen back in town for the season are the theatrical managers. She never misses a play worth seeing, and her visit to their theatre means a great deal. When she was Duchess of York she was known by her family as "The Critic." And King George's choice of plays is still in the Queen's hands.

LONDON SEASON

The London season may be said to have started with the wonderful banquet with which the retiring American ambassador and Mrs. Kellogg entertained King George and Queen Mary at Crewe House on Friday night. The great dining room was a picture of flowers and shaded lights, and Queen Mary wore a gown of cloth of gold sewn with diamonds and sapphires and she wore the lesser Stars of Africa in her corsage.

People are flocking back to town. On the day that the King and Queen returned, the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, who have been in Palm Beach, Florida, returned to their town house, and the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, the Earl and Countess of Bradford and Viscounnt Grey of Falloden are amongst those who have also opened their town houses.

The opening of Parliament has provided three dazzling political receptions and there was a flame of jewels at Lady Londonderry's and Lady Evelyn uinness's political reception at 10 Grosvenor Street, on Tuesday night. Political receptions, by the way, are not the dull, official affairs they were in the Victorian era. There was dancing to the Savoy Havana Band after midnight, and there were golden rivers of champagne.

The Kellogg's, by the way, are having the busiest weeks of a busy year. There have been receptions by the French ambassador in their honor; by Lady Astor and the American Women's Club, and the Premier's wife, Mrs. Baldwin, is taking Mrs. Kellogg to the great reception at Claridge's when Dame Ellen Terry is being honored.

LIMPS ARE FASHIONABLE

At the moment, accidents are fashionable in London; that if, if they entail a limp.

"Hurt my ankle ski-ing," they explain it to you, and you sympathise accordingly. When the boat train arrived from the Continent the other night, eight people were wearing carpet slippers. Not all the limps are genuine, however, and if you ask their owners to a dinner party or a dance it is remarkable how quickly they disappear.

Another conceit at the moment is to have "G.B." on the back of your auto. That shows that you and your auto have been abroad,—at least about one in three is the genuine label fixed by the French customs.

CLOCHE GOES

The death-knell of the cloche and the small fitting hat is now being sounded on all sides. Broad brimmed hats are appearing in all the smart restaurants, and coiffeurs are exercised to find a shingle to suit them. They are now "feeding" the shingles,—making the hair thicker on the crown which makes the big hat secure. As for the trimmings, the milliners have not yet revealed their full intentions but two big hats seen this week bore what looked remarkably like a bunch of vivid radishes," set at a jaunty angle; but for the most part there are definite signs that the big ostrich feather is to be the most popular of all trimmings. It is also going to be worn underneath the brims of these big hats.

Riding Breeches Not Fit Habiliment For Waitress

EDMONTON, Alta., February 27 (Canadian Press). — Because the Northern Trading Company, Ltd., decreed that riding breeches and a khaki shirt were not the proper garb for a stewardess to wear when serving meals in the Arctic Circle to hardy northerners and other denizens of the broad open spaces who were being transported on their boats, Alice Joyce, a university student, who had served several months of last year on the Northland Echo, lost her job and brough suit against the company for $50.00 for transportation and a bonus of $25.00 in the District Court before Judge Crawford.

The company alleged that Miss Joyce had broken her contract.

Judgment was reserved.

A. L. Sawie, a director of the company, stated that while he was on an inspection trip on the Northland Echo last year Miss Joyce appeared at different times in breeches and khaki shirt.

He objected to this costume, as he did not consider it a becoming one for a stewardess among such a class of men. He also objected to Miss Joyce sitting in the purser's cabins garbed.

Towards the end of the return trip in October, he asked her to wear her proper uniform on one of the occasions, and Miss Joyce refused He then told her if she continued to do these things she could consider herself no longer in the company's service, to which her answer was: "That's jake with me!"

NEW BRUNSWICK PROJECT NEEDS QUEBEC WATERS

Development of Grand Falls Water Power Depends on — Storage Basins.

REQUEST MADE.

Permission Sought to Carry Out Work in Quebec Parishes.

QUEBEC, Feb. 27—Consideration of the Bill which would permit the government of New Brunswick to carry out the work in the Province of Quebec necessary to the development of Grand Falls on the St. John River was adjourned yesterday by the private bills committee of the Quebec House of Assembly until next week. The bill would incorporate Premier Veniot of New Brunswick; Hon. Ernest Smith, president of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, and J. E. Michaud, minister without portfolio in the New Brunswick government, and members of the Commission into a company to do the work in Quebec. Hon. Mr. Michaud sat with the committee and explained the objects of the bill.

New Brunswick, through its commission, is developing at Grand Falls a water power development, and to that end it is necessary that storage reservoirs be created in some of the lakes and rivers tributary to the drainage basis of the St. John River.

These reservoirs in Quebec would be constructed in Kamouraska, Temiscouata and Rimouski Counties under the ordinary provisions as to expropriations applying to private companies.

The dams would be built on Lake Temiscouata, Orvadawaska River and its tributories. Jules Langlais, Conservative M.L.A., for Temiscouata, said that since New Brunswick was going to worry the farmers of five parishes in his county, the New Brunswick authorities should furnish the five parishes in question with power. He was asked to prepare an amendment, but laughingly said that he first wanted to know if the parishes in question wanted to get the power for nothing before he drafted the amendment, and therefore suggested adjournment of the Bill until next week. This was agreed to.

Hon. Mr. Michaud, in explaining the New Brunswick project, said the only feasible site for a power development was at Grand Falls, at which point there was a sheer drop of 74 feet, supplemented by rapids which make available a total natural head of over 115 feet.

The power to be developed at this site would be delivered by the agency of a high voltage transmission system to all settled portions of New Brunswick, and it was anticipated that not only would the entire population benefit thereby through the supply of electrical energy for light and domestic service, but that the energy thus made available would would stimulate industrial development throughout the province.

Mary Garden Now Claims Discovery Of New Mexico

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(United Press).—Mary Garden, prima donna, who has played "guardian angel" to a score of now famous opera artists, will take in hand the career of Hamilton Forrest, 24-year-old Chicago composer.

Forrest, a student at the Chicago Musical College, has completed work on his opera "Yzdra," which he hopes to have produced next year. Miss Garden has arranged an audience for "Yzdra" with Georgio Polacco, musical director of the Chicago Civic Opera, who may decide on production of Forrest's in March.

"I have met Forrest and heard a work that he has finished and found its value very great," Garden wrote in a letter to a wealthy patron of Forrest. "'Yzdra' quite surprised me.

"I am asking our musical director, Monsieur Polacco, to listen to the opera of Forrest. It would interest me so much to give an American opera—especially by an American boy."

Forrest has dedicated "Yzdra," which is taken from the story of Louis V. Ledoux, to Garden, his "inspiration and friend."

Mary Garden has figured in the careers of a number of opera stars. Her latest protege was Mary McCormick, coloratura soprano with the Chicago opera. Garden heard McCormick, a western farm girl, singing at a charity carnival, and being struck by her voice, financed the girl's education abroad. McCormick made her opera debut here two years ago.

In St. Paul's Church, mass was celebrated at 9 a.m. and benediction at 7.30. Special Lenten services will be held every Friday evening at 7.30 in St. Paul's.

In the account given of the Dixie Minstrels, the name of Mr. Patrick Devlin was omitted and a great measure of success was due to Mr. Devlin's part as stage carpenter.

IS FRENCH UNKNOWN SOLDIER A GERMAN?

German Society Says He is August Schultz of Wurtemburg.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Stahlheim, organ of the German society called Steel Helmet, reached Paris today with the accusation that France's Unknown Soldier is really August Schultz of Wirtemburg, picked up on Combres Hill, where the French and Germans lay mixed in huge piles of dead.

The Eclair, Nationalist daily, fulminates against the "boche brain which could invent such a lie" and defies the Germans to prove the story.

The Stahlheim reached France through Switzerland. The paper is forbidden in France or the occupied regions and circulates inside of Germany only surreptitiously. The passage which caused the storm says careful research has established that the Unknown Soldier is really August Schultz, Twenty-third Stuttgart Infantry, killed at Eparges on Combres crest in the autumn of 1915.

The Stahlheim, however, credits this information to "Swiss newspapers," without specifying which. It asserts that the French authorities actually found August Schultz's identity disk on the body after the solemn interment as the French unknown hero.

Stories of the Unknown Soldier's identity started soon after his interment when it became known that the authorities had taken especial care to choose the body at random so that nobody would know who he was. The first story had it that he was an American killed in 1917 and later that he was a Senegalese negro. It has also been rumored but never proved that he was a German picked up from the heaps of dead on the battlefield.

All over this big broad land of ours thousands of weak, underweight men are putting on pounds of good healthy flesh with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Charles Henry Denman, of Suffern, N.Y., who was gassed in France, gained 8½ pounds in three weeks. Read what he says:

"One day I heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—just about three weeks ago. I got a box and started to take them. Since then I have taken two more boxes, all but 16 tablets.

The result is wonderful—never since I was gassed have I been so strong and felt so good. I have already gained 8½ pounds.

For weak, run down underweight nervous men, women, children. 60 tablets—60 cents.

Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, and Jas. Lynch sells lots of them. "Get McCoy's, the original and genuine."

HAVELOCK HEARS BARONESS DE HUECK

Big Crowd at Entertainment Under Auspices of Literary Society.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 27. — A large crowd attended the entertainment under the auspices of the Literary Society of the High School in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening.

The celebrated talk by Baroness de Hueck, of Toronto, on Russia, and personal reminiscences, which included her escape from Russia, where she was a nurse during the forepart of the war, was the main feature of the programme and a rare treat.

Other well rendered numbers were as follows:

Chorus—Girls of the High School. Vocal solo — Miss Marjorie Post. Recitation — "A Scotch Sermon," Miss Leta Saunders. Vocal solo—"Smiling Through," Miss Velma Davidson. Piano solo—Miss Winnifred Barlow. Instrumental duet — Misses Elma and Marguerite Martin. Piano solo — Keith Chiles. Vocal solo—Miss O. Haig.

At the conclusion of the program the Baroness came on the stage wearing the Russian court costume of two hundred years ago, and gave the audience an opportunity to ask her any question they desired. She also visited the school in the afternoon and gave an address on school life in Russia.

At the close of the entertainment dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock.

NEIGHBORS HELP IN TWEED BLAZE

Good Will Shown in Use of Extinguishers When Chimney Afire.

TWEED, Feb. 27.—At about 6.30 p.m. yesterday a burning chimney at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bowers, situated at the entrance into Tweed on the Belleville road overlooking Lake Stoco caused the fire alarm to be sounded. The volunteer fire company knowing the danger under such a terrific wind storm were away like a gun-shot. It happened that one of the roomers, a High School boy, on going up to his room, noticed it was filled with smoke and gave the alarm, and the other boy ran across the road to Mr. Ed. Fitchett's, who was just starting supper, but seized his fire extinguisher, and the chimney being a double one, gave Mr. Fitchett a chance after quenching the fire to turn his extinguisher up the chimney. Mrs. Murray, next door neighbor, seeing Mr. Fitchett running with his extinguisher, called to Mr. Murray, who seized his extinguisher and rushed in just in time to replace that of Mr. Fitchett's, which was exhausted. Mr. Chesley Countryman, neighbor, had also seized his two extinguishers and was ready for service when Wallace Moon arrived with the town fire extinguishers, followed immediately by fire company and gas engine. But the men had already succeeded in stopping what would otherwise have proved to be a disastrous fire. Tweed residents and fire company are to be congratulated on their goodwill and ability so quickly and loyally expressed on such an occasion.

PAUL WHITEMAN'S ROMANCE

Was Anything But Romantic, Says His Wife—Started As Business And Continued On That Plane For Five Years—Suddenly Found Themselves in Love.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—One would expect that the love affair of a popular dancer and one of the jazz music kings of America would be a real romance.

But the Vanda Hoff-Paul Whiteman romance was anything but romantic, to quote Vanda Hoff, now Mrs. Whiteman. It started, she says, as business and continued to be business for five years before it became a love affair.

Back in the days before Whiteman had won national fame with his jazz orchestras, he was the leader of a hotel orchestra in San Francisco.

Vanda Hoff made a big hit with her dances to the accompaniment of Whiteman's music. They became good friends in a business way, as they talked about new dance and music stunts.

Although both of them soon left San Francisco, it seemed to be Fate's decree that they should meet again many times. Miss Hoff was sent to a hotel at Santa Barbara, but it wasn't long until the Whiteman orchestra was transferred there. Then Whiteman was sent to Los Angeles, and a few weeks later the young dancer was again tripping lightly to Whiteman music.

New Negotiations.

A year later Miss Hoff came east. But Fate didnt' leave Whiteman on the Pacific coast. They met again while Whiteman was directing an orchestra at the Palais Royal. He suggested that she again dance with his orchestra, but Miss Hoff was in a musical comedy, which was scheduled for a tour.

When she came back, negotiations were resumed by Whiteman but on a different basis.

"To be frank, we suddenly found that we were in love," admits Mrs. Whiteman. "It surprised us both, for we were accustomed by this time to being merely good friends. We had never even corresponded, except for business reasons, and had never gone through anything that remotely resembled a courtship. We made up for it, however, during the time we were engaged."

Determined to continue her career after her marriage, Mrs. Whiteman continued to dance with her husband's orchestra. Paul Whiteman, Jr., a chubby little baby, arrived about a year ago, but Mrs. Whiteman is again planning to resume her dancing.

"If I were not afraid of being trite, I should certainly call Mrs. Whiteman my severest critic," says Whiteman. "When we are in New York, she goes to all our rehearsals and afterwards tells me exactly what she thinks about them. She has a real knowledge of music and a great appreciation of it. She can detect a discord in the ensemble quicker than I can.

"I do not always agree with her criticisms at first, but in the end I generally heed them."

Mrs. Whiteman not only believes that marriage should not interfere with a woman's career, but is firmly convinced that every one, whether married or single, should have an intensive interest outside her home.

His Double Chin.

She can cook — too well, says Whiteman, who blames this skill for his double chin—and is completely versed in the care of a home and baby. She does not, however, feel that a mother and wife should be completely tied down by household duties.

"If the wife's outside interest fits in with that of her husband, it seems to me that there is every chance in the world for a happy marriage," she says. "I do not in the least believe that men should leave their business cares at the office or the theatre as the case may happen to be. It helps solve problems to talk them over and every wife ought to be intelligent enough to act as her husband's business confidant. Even though her advice is not any too sound to start with, she will find that her interest and knowledge will increase by leaps and bounds if she keeps at it."

PORCELAIN AS AN INSULATION

Engineers Hear Talk on Making High Voltage Insulators.

MILLIONS USED.

W. R. Goddard, President of the Canadian Porcelain Company, of Hamilton was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada in the Chamber of Commerce, last night. The lecture was well illustrated with slides and samples of different types of porcelain were handed around for inspection.

Mr Goddard said his subject, "Modern Porcelain Insulator," is much overworked of late and he considered the fraternity more than usually well informed on this special phase of engineering work. The chairman had asked him to address the engineers and as Porcelain is all he knew he assumed it entirely proper to bring up-to-date their knowledge of porcelain line insulators.

"If anyone has come here with the idea of a super-technicol lecture, he continued, 'I am afraid they are about to be disappointed for the potter's art is over 4000 years old and very little real progress has been made in the past 1000 years. It is certainly the simplest of all arts which perhaps explains why it is so tricky. Potters style themselves "mud mechanics" which is an excellent description of the modern potters methods.

That we may all be considering the problem from the same angle. I think it well to rehearse the matter from the beginning.

Porcelain to-day is recognized as the best available insulating material because it is practically indestructible and cheap. All other characteristics are possessed by other materials in equal or greater degree, but in the character of low first cost and indestructibility, porcelain stands absolutely alone.

Glorified Brick- Making.

Every potter making true porcelain uses clay, flint and feldspar, the clay for workability, the flint to limit shrinkage and the feldspar to flux all cements into a solid mass A process merely calls for thorough mixture of equal parts of the above material makes an excellent porcelain The process calls for thorough mixing, modelling to the required shape, glazing to provide a smooth washable surface and finally baking to a temperature of 2300 to 2500 degree F, in order to permanently solidify the whole mass. It is a sort of glorified brick making process.

The resulting product, more possesses rather remarkable properties, mechanically it is equal to cast iron, it is absolutely impervious to moisture, it has high di-electric strength and considering the intricacy of designs possible, there is no material so cheap in first or final cost.

Porcelain As Insulation.

Porcelain, as an insulating material dates from its use on early telegraph lines in 1847. At present, Canada alone, consumes nearly a million dollars annually of all classes of electrical porcelain.

Strictly modern electrical porcelain, especially for high voltage work dates practically from 1900 and from that date to the present every conceivable form of line insulator has been designed and manufactured in greater or lesser quantity. Some genius is always re-inventing designs which have been tried and discarded. For example, three times a year for twenty years someone has re-invented a tie-less or 'self tying" insulator. I think today, it is safe to say the design of line insulator has settled into pretty well defined channels and while we may expect steady improvement in design and in porcelain quality, the period of radicalism may safely be said to be past.

Simplicity and Permanence.

The law for the present day designer is "simplicity" forced on him by potter and engineer, the potter requires it that his modelling operation may not become too difficult and profitless and the engineer insists that his line shall be permanent. In porcelain practically anything can be made but permanence has to be first consideration.

One piece porcelain insulators, mounted on a screw pin and tied to the conductor are permanent in the strictest sense. Only the unusual condition such as flashover from lightning, a bullet or some such destroying agency can interfere with their indefinite proper functioning. Such one piece insulators are used up to approx 20,000 volts with perfect success.

Difficulties at High Voltages.

Voltages above 20,000 require large dimensions and to preserve porcelain simplicity it is necessary to introduce joints usually of Portland Cement. Such joints, if too intimately made, are the source of great trouble, in fact, the only important trouble existent on moderate voltage lines.

The slides we will now see are for the purpose of showing the only real difficulty experienced by users of large pin type insulators.

Some of these cracks have their origin in brittle material, some in unannealed porcelain and some because of expanding cement.

The answer to this difficulty is coming about in two ways—thoroughly annealed porcelain and loose joints, party a question of ceramics and partly of mechanics.

A general specification, for any high voltage insulator, cl. red of all superflous drivel calls for flashover at normal frequency, flashover at high frequency and a thermal test by subjecting to a bath in ice water, followed by a bath in boiling water. Insulators passing such tests will be permanent.

Mr. Goddard then passed some samples out for inspection as follows:

1. A typical one piece 20,000 volt insulator.
2. A 66,000 volt multipart insulator unassembled.
3. A standard cap and pin suspension insulator—unassembled.
4. A J. D.

JEW AND CHRISTIAN AS BROTHERS

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise Writes Plea for Understanding of Each Religion in Reverent Friendly Spirit.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise

BY RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There are many ways of approaching the problem, "The Relation of Jew and Christian." The simplest and directest way of dealing with the question is to say that Jew and Christian must face each other and try to understand each other and accept the creedal differences which obtain between them with that more than tolerance which is reverent, brotherly understanding of one another.

Jews and Christian are disciples of two great religious communions, bound together in many ways. The churches in Christendom must go before by stressing those priceless gifts of Israel to the world, which include religion, the Bible and the personality of Him who is come to be regarded as the founder of Christianity.

I sometimes think that relations between Jew and Christian can be better only in the measure in which Christendom emulates the life of Jesus, the Jew, rather than teaches solely or chiefly about the death of him who is become its Lord, Christ. Questions with respect to the matter of Jesus' death ought not to divide Jew and Christian who are at one touching the matter of his life. I believe that the solution of the problem which lies in the relations between Jew and Christian is to be found in the ever-deepening loyalty of the Jew to his own noble historical heritage and all the ever-increasing devotion of Christendom to Christianity as a faith and life. When Jews are become worthy of their great tradition and Christians equal their high professions, there will be nothing to divide them in practice and conduct from one another, whatever be the types of faith to which they severally adhere.

The foregoing statement of Rabbi Wise would be incomplete without a look at the man himself.

The impact of fiery energy and unlimited reserve impresses the beholder, whether Rabbi Wise is seen on the platform or in social greeting. A tall, bulky man quick on his feet, sharp of eye, dominating of manner, the red bow of the Legion of Honor at his lapel he probably is attended by a large and varied a congregation as any churchman in America.

He founded the Free Synagogue and now is rabbi of the Central and Free Synagogues. He founded the Zionist Organization in America and the Jewish Institute of Religion. In recent years he has spoken widely on his famousite themes of world peace and the relations between Jews and Christians. He has proved an ambassador from his race to all mankind inspiring confidence and good will.

SPRING GOWNS SHOWN IN PARIS

(By Hedda Hoyt, Fashion Editor of the United Press).

NEW YORK, February 26.—Spring fashion openings are now going on in Paris and each couture is showing special silhouettes, trimmings and colour schemes. Among the most noteworthy collections are those of Poiret, Georgette, Lanvin, Berthe, Lucien Lelong, Madelyn & Madelyn, and Germain.

Poiret uses a variety of silhouettes, as usual. There are straight unbelted lines, moulded bodices with full skirts, perky bustle frocks ,and tiered effects. Straight-lined frocks are of chiffon and designed for dinner wear . Usually they are slightly beaded. Moulded bodices with full skirts are for afternoon wear and some of these have very interesting sleeve treatments, such as the full sleeve, which is set into a tight armhole and tight wristband with fullness over the elbow. Another sleeve is tight from shoulder to elbow and flares in open effect at the wrist. Sleeves of afternoon frocks are very decorative in the Poiret collection. The bustle frock is confined to the taffeta evening models in pastel shades.

Berthe stresses straight lines and very short skirts. There are no flaring hemlines in this collection. Skirts are often but two inches below the bend of the knee. Daytime frocks are beltless, scant and short and of soft woollen materials. Occasionally Berthe displays an afternoon gown of figured chiffon with a long, slightly-fitted bodice and a three-tiered skirt.

Georgette, as usual, favours the more feminine note as evinced in lace-trimmed chiffons, soft crepes, flowing scarf-ends ,and feather trims. Whether plain or printed chiffon the Georgette frock uses a lace hem-line and the slips which accompany these sheer frocks are quite as lovely as the frocks themselves. They are invariabl yseveral inches shorter than the transparent hem of the frock. Blond lace frocks or blond chiffon trimmed in blond lace are favoured for evening wear.

Agnes is a strong sponsorer of the tunic frock, which is built on straight lines and extends just 14 inches from the floor. The tunic itself is of 42-inch length, so scarcely any of the slip is seen beneath it Both plain and figured silks are used for the tunic portion of these frocks In many cases the tunic is figured in black, white and red, while the slip accompanying it may be of a kasha cloth to harmonise with the five-eighths length coat of kasha which accompanies the frock. It is not at all unusual to see a silk tunic combined with a cloth bordered slip The cloth is set on a silk foundation so as to avoid extra bulkiness.

Evening colours closen by many designers are pastel combined with metal trimming. Metal, by the way, has become so popular that even Parisian furriers are using it in odd ways. For instance, seal is now dyed in silver and bronze shades and the effect on satin wraps of similar tones is lovely. Squirrel is dyed a new fawn shade to conform with the spring vogue for yellowish tones. And white fox is dyed the lightest beige imaginable. It looks as though it were merely tinted.

On white sports frocks gilt kik belts are used and matching them are the white felt hats with insets of gold kid. Kid flowers in gold and pastel colours trim several of the street frocks.

Lucien Lelong is stressing sports costumes with simple line, short skirt and mannish neck treatments. The skirts, in this collection, are 15 inches from the floor and flare slightly at the hemline. Reds, soft blues and greens are favoured for sports and day wear, while yellow and salmon pinks are the evening shades.

Germain favours the slender silhouette with the circular movement from the knees.

Simonin, on the other hand, exploits a silhouette with a long moulded bodice, flat front and back, and circular sides.

CHINESE TAKING HOLD.

Methodist Church Increas- Membership in Canadian ed in Decade.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.— In the decade since 1914 Chinese membership in the Canadian Methodist church in China has increased from 1,476 persons to 3,095. Chinese contributions to church and missionar ywork have increased meanwhile from $1,455 to $11,666 annually, it is reported to Rev. James Endicott, D.D., General Secretary of Foreign Missions for the Methodist Church. The average rate of contribution by the by the converts has increased from 99 cents to $3.77 annually.

BRITONS TRY CORNCOBS

American Pipes Are Not Expected to Supplant Hardwood Variety.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(Associated Press).—The cheapest pipe on sale today in London, the city which has perhaps two or three times as many pipe smokers as any other city in the world, is the old-fashioned corncob pipe from Missouri, which was given international prominence by Mark Twain. The corncob pipe here retails at 4 to 6 cents each, but even at that can scarcely be considered as having made any noticeable inroads upon the British pipe industry.

In fact, it may be said that the corncob pipe is considered more of a freak than anything else, and is bought chiefly by Americans, as a reminder of old corncob days back home, and by a few Britons who have lived at intervals in the west or middle west when corncobs were in their prime.

Pipe dealers say here that the corncob will never become really popular in London, despite the low cost, because of the fact that it does not last any length of time. The Englishmen are always eager to try a new pipe, say the dealers, but they prefer hardwood ones, and in buying a new pipe they endeavor to get one which will last a year or two, or longer. Premier Baldwin, the best known pipe smoker that this country has produced, has smoked one pipe in particular, almost daily, during the last seven or eight years.

In adjoining Manitoba municipalities, Anglo-Saxon farmers have $1,400 in land and chattels, and New Canadians only $70, reports Dr. Walter W Read. superintendent of Vita Methodist Hospital.

New Season's Spring Styles

THE TREND OF FASHION

SIMPLICITY in trimming is no longer a ruling factor in fashionable Frocks, and this is particularly evident in the Silk Dresses for spring wear. Lace, ribbons, embroideries, buttons, large bows, small bows and appliques are among the various things used for ornamentation, to say nothing of bright colored galons that liven-up many a dark Dress. Always, however, the basis of a Frock is simple though elaborate may be the trimming. Curiously enough and contrary to custom, there is no standard rule for the placing of the trimming. It is here and there and all over, in a haphazard manner, just inspired, as it were, by a momentary whim of the designer. The trend of fashion seems to be towards gayness—gayness of color and gayness of trimming—and perhaps no better examples of simple but gay Dresses can be imagined than those of the new all-over embroidered or printed materials, with jade green, vermillion or rose red grounds patterned in multi-colors, the Frocks themselves just simple.

Shipments of Coats, Dresses and Suits have been coming to hand all last week and are arriving daily, and a visit to the Barrie Store will certainly be worth while.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE AT AFTERNOON TEA

Millbrook Ladies Had Enjoyable Gathering—Musical Programme.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 27.—The "afternoon tea," under the auspices of the Women's Institute, held at the home of the president, Mrs. Chas. Thorndyke, on Wednesday afternoon, was a very enjoyable social occasion.

The unfavorable weather lessened the attendance considerably, but had no dampening effect upon the pleasure of the twenty or more members who braved the elements to attend.

The musical numbers on the order of programme included piano solos by Miss Estelle Hetherington, and vocal solos by Miss May Needham. A reading "Aunt Marthy Goes Visitin'," by Mrs Hilliard Lang, was much enjoyed, and the story "How a Woman's Institute Proved Useful,' read by Miss Pearl Burnham, was particularly appropriate for the occasion.

The guests entered heartily into the Picture Contest, hazarding a variety of guesses as the portraits, cut from daily papers and comic weeklies, were handed round, and so many minutes allowed for identifying the one thus presented.

The first prize went to Miss Ruth Thorndyke, and the consolation to Mrs. H. Lang.

The tea hour, when Mrs. Thorndyke, assisted by Mrs. W. Armstrong and others, served a dainty and satisfying repast, gave an opportunity for exemplifying the Institute spirit of helpfulness in all household affairs, recipes being exchanged, as well as other hints in domestic economy, the result of practical experience.

Among the guests were: Mrs. W. Rowan, Mrs. S. J. Hunter, Mrs. A. H. Barnes, Mrs. H. Lang, Mrs. T. H. Ingram, Mrs. (Dr.) Mitchell, Mrs. Hawthorne, Mrs. Wilbert Larmer, Mrs. O. Williamson, Mrs. A. Miller, Mrs. Fred Winslow, Mrs. Will Armstrong, Mrs. C. C. Garside, Mrs. W. G. Rowland, Mrs. J. N. McGill, Misses A. Thorndyke, M. Needham, L. Crocker, I. Handley, Estelle Hetherington, and others.

Lessons Reviewed

A very interesting and helpful review of the lessons of the past few weeks was conducted in the Methodist Sunday School last Sunday by the Superintendent, Mr. W. Fred Fallis.

The material presented covered the period from the Transfiguration to the betrayal by Judas. The lantern was used, the pictures thrown upon the screen helping to fix the facts more firmly and vividly upon the scholars minds.

Mr. Fallis has adopted the plan of using the lantern in teaching the Ten Commandments to the school, the one, or two, under study being thrown upon the screen so that all have the opportunity of studying it together.

News of the death of Rev. Geo. R. Clare, received on Thursday, came as a distinct shock to his many friends in this vicinity.

About thirteen years ago Mr. Clare was pastor on this circuit, remaining here for four years. It was during his pastorate that the present Parsonage was bought from the estate of the late Squire Ferguson, remodelled and thoroughly renovated, before the minister and his family took possession.

Mr. William Pendry purchased the former Parsonage at the east end of the village, improved it in many particulars, and made it his house for some time. It is now owned and occupied by Mr. C. C. Garside, and by Mr. Crossley, having been made into a double dwelling.

Rev Geo. Brown, now of Belleville, and supperannuated, succeeded the late Mr. Clare on this circuit. Deceased was making his home at Norwood at the time of his death, his youngest daughter, Miss Meta Clare, B.A., being on the teaching staff of the High School of that town.

Banquet Coming

Considerable interest is being taken in the banquet, under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood, which will be held in the Methodist Church on Friday, March 6, at 7 p.m.

H. B. Hosking, B.A., chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court, Toronto, and R. Downey, B.A., P.S.I., of Peterboro, will be the speakers. Community singing and other special musical numbers, will be a feature of the occasion

Members of the Brotherhood will supply tickets, and men of any denomination throughout the entire district are invited to attend. Covers will be laid for one hundred and fifty guests

Miss Eileen Higgs, teacher at the Marsh School, was called suddenly to Frankford on Friday, owing to the death of her uncle, the late T. Herbert Foster, who was accidentally shot on Thursday afternoon, while out with a party of friends rabbit hunting.

Mrs. A. Stinson of Janetville, who has been spending part of the winter with Mr. and Mrs. P. Stinson, returned home last week.

Rev. Ira D. Pierce, returned missionary from Armenia, will preach morning and night in Grace Presbyterian on Sunday, March 1st, 10.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. The pastor, Rev. T. S. Gervan and Mr. Pierce were intimate friends when at college together.

MAKING MONEY OUT OF DOGS

Pedigree Dogs Are Often Delicate, But Careful Feeding Will Save Trouble.

Since the war a large number of people have conceived the idea that dog-breeding is a very simple money-making proposition, to which there is no hard work attached. Many took country houses, and expected to keep them up from the profits from the kennels. And very many failed. Breeding puppies for sale is an excellent adjunct to an income, but not often a good income in itself. Like literature, dog-breeding is a good staff, but a poor crutch.

However, a very pleasant and even considerable addition to one's income may be made out of one's dogs if sound, business sense is brought into operation. In the first place, it is necessary to choose the breed in which you wish to specialize. Here great caution is necessary. There are fashions in dogs. Some years the public demand seems to be for one variety—a few years later the rush is for another. It is as well to look round for a variety that is just becoming a la mode. In this way you can stock your kennels comparatively cheaply. But buy the best pedigree dogs you can find. Nothing pays like the best. From second-raters you can, as a rule, only expect to breed second-raters. There are brilliant exceptions, but they are only exceptions.

Then remember that good dogs must be carefully housed. It is too often the case that people engaging in this business utilize any old stables or outpremises available. It is far better to face expense at first, and have your kennels built in a bright and sheltered situation. They should, if possible, be on sandy soil, and well drained. A clayey damp neighborhood reacts unfavorably on dogs. If possible, procure a field in which you can take your dogs for a good run. In these days of motors, it is often dangerous to exercise dogs on the high roads. Young dogs are often curiously stupid, and will almost deliberately run into danger. In fact, some dog breeders in popular motoring neighborhoods simply decline to exercise their dogs on the road at all. They know by painful experience how easy it is to lose a valuable puppy.

Then, when you have suitable dogs and accommodation for them, comes the serious question of feeding. Pedigree dogs are often delicate and fastidious creatures—sometimes shy feeders, sometimes inclined to gorge unduly. Careful attention should be paid to each individual dog's food.

Breeders often disagree as to whether dogs should be fed once or twice in a day. It is unusual for a dog to manage well on one meal. In such a case the dog will gorge his food. Half the time the stomach is over-loaded and the other half almost idle. Considering the fact that dogs digest more slowly than human beings, it is advisable that they should be fed twice, but not more than twice a day.

Don't increase the number of meals if the dog be a poor feeder. In such a case let it have food only once a day for three or four days. This will improve the appetite far more than by feeding at shorter intervals. A shy feeder will often eat better out of selfishness if its dish is placed amongst those of the other dogs. If this does not prove successful shut the dog up alone with his food, and remove the dish in half an hour, whether he has eaten his food or not.

The time of the daily meals does not matter, providing that the dog is fed regularly, and the times are reasonably far apart. The lighter meal should be given in the morning and the chief meal at night.

A dog's food should be a balanced ration. The ideal method of feeding is to make the first meal one of wholesome dog biscuits or biscuit in the form of hound meal or terrier meal. At night give a meal of soaked dog biscuit or terrier meal with meat or fish, and some gravy—not forgetting to include some well-cooked vegetables.

The best meat to use is beef—liver, heart, or chuck. Fish is valuable, and easily digested, but it is necessary to give twice the weight of fish you do of meat, and all bones should be carefully extracted.

But the base of profitable dog-breeding is good hound meal, terrier meal, dog biscuit, or the proprietary biscuit foods plus sound meat and enough vegetables to provide the vitamines needed for growth. Feed your dogs well and liberally on these lines, and you will be saved half the troubles that hamper careless dog-breeders.

It is only by care and watchfulness that money can be made out of dogs. Yet there is no business more fascinating, even if there are many more immediately profitable.

ATTRACTING ATTENTION

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press). — The trial of W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, and three co-defendants charged with conspiracy to defame his second wife, Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes, received increased attention to-day after the unexpected arrival from New York of W. E. D. Stokes, Jr. No announcement was forthcoming from the attorneys as to the probable part in the trial of the young man, who was mentioned in the defence's opening statement in the present trial, and who was sued by his stepmother in 1923 after a letter alleged to have been written by him in revelation of intimacies with his stepmother, Mrs. Stokes, was read in the first Stokes divorce suit in New York. Mrs. Stokes' suit is for $1,000,000 alleged character defamation. It never has been brought to trial.

"Darling Pop" Letter.

In outlining its present case, defence asserted that the allegations of intimacy with his step-mother, young Stokes made in what has become to be known as his "Darling Pop" letter, would be proven. That letter read: "My Darling Pop,—I am sorry to say that I was intimate with Helen at Narragansett Pier this fall.—W. E. D. Stokes, Jr. Jan. 11, 1919."

Stokes, Jr., was not quoted, but the Chicago Tribune said that he had a heated interview with his father upon his arrival yesterday, and there is every indication he will take an active, if sudden, part in the trial, presumably to clear his own name of any alleged misconduct with his stepmother.

CYRIL RICE RECITAL AT TRINITY

(By Jeannette.)

Owing to the very inclement weather, the audience at Trinity church last night for Cyril Rice, the boy soloist from "The Little Church Around the Corner" in New York city, was not exceptionally large. About two hundred and fifty people heard the singing of this young musician, who made his initial appearance in Peterborough last year at St. John's church. A native of Hamilton, Ontario, Cyril Rice has been for some years soloist of the well known Church of The Transfiguration in New York city, and was accompanied on this visit to Peterborough by two members of the boys' choir. The entertainment last evening was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity church.

Cyril Rice is the possessor of an unusual voice, that has a wide range, reaching from notes that are almost like those of a basso to a high falsetto register. Possibly the out of the ordinary character of this voice is its main attraction, and this may be why its owner takes such liberties with it. His habit of "scooping" to get an effect was not as noticeable as on his visit last year, but it was apparent enough to spoil several lovely songs for at least one listener. Waiting for the inevitable unnecessary "scoop" in "Abide With Me" was enough to minimize the otherwise beautiful contralto tones in which it was sung. This habit of singing for effect was also apparent in the pose and very dramatic interpretation given most of the numbers, and the meticulous enunciation that brought out with unneeded metallic insistency most of the final consonants. An old-time tradition in vocal music was to subordinate words to melody, so that an audience listening to a singer, particularly a feminine singer, didn't always know whether she was warbling about a sunset or just giving a little French aria. A succession of sweet sounds contented audiences in those days, but the mode changed later to an insistence on clearly-cut words. Cyril Rice is an outstanding exponent of this latter school.

That the young singer can depart at will from what is evidently a trained method of using his voice, and is possibly a result of choral work, was quite evident in what was his best number, if the applause with which it was followed was any guarantee of the pleasure with which it was received. This was "Vale" (Farewell) sung near the close of his programme, and was given in an unaffected style and with a sweet timbre to the delicate music that made it very pleasing. To the applause that it brought, Mr. Rice sang "I Love You Truly."

A pleasing attribute of the programme was the attractive nature of the songs presented. Mr. Rice's own numbers were particularly pleasing. They included, in addition to those already mentioned, "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Sunrise and You," "Old Black Joe," Love's Old Sweet Song," the lovely song "Smilin' Through," "Absent," "The Lost Chord," "You'll Get Heaps of Lickins," "My Ain Folk," and "Going Home," adapted from the largo of the famous "New World" symphony by Anton Dvorak.

The two small choristers who accompanied Mr. Rice were Anatole Lorraine, a native of Moscow, Russia, aged thirteen years, and Walter Dunrock, aged twelve, from St. John's, New Brunswick. "Picked up on my travels," as their companion introduced them, they were taken by Mr. Rice to New York, neither having sung a note up to seven weeks ago, and are now members of the boys' choir of the Church of the Transfiguration. With Mr. Rice, who played the organ accompaniment for the trio, they sang a pretty selection to the lovely setting of Beethoven's famous Minuet, and "The Swanee River," their clear, high treble very effective in the two charming pieces, with a haunting, unaccompanied refrain for the negro melody. Much applause followed the dual number.

Mr. Rice gave an entertaining talk on The Church of the Transfiguration, "The Little Church Around the Corner," and on the origin of its name. This little church is famous for the number of weddings solemnized there. On June 21st last year, thirty-two couples were married within its walls and thirty-five wedding ceremonies were performed on the Saturday before Labor Day. An income of about $40,000 yearly is derived from the weddings celebrated at this church. Mr. Rice, who has the reputation of being the youngest Rotarian in the world, also announced yesterday as being his birthday, but refused to divulge his age. He is said to be about nineteen years old.

A few words of warm appreciatoin were vouchsafed by the soloist to Mr. G. H. King, who was pressed into service at the last moment as an accompanist, no piano having been provided for the occasion, and Mr. Rice's official accompanist being able to play the organ. The soloist played his own organ accompaniments in splendid style for his opening quartette of songs.

Leave Them Alone And They Will Come Home Says Fraser of Antis

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (Special to The Examiner).—Rev. Dr. R. "It may take five years—ten years—fifteen, or even twenty years, but twenty years is a brief period in the life of a church. They'll come home," he said, in a calm and confident voice.

BETHANY NEWS.

Splendid Programme at League Meeting—Debate on Auto.

BETHANY, Feb. 27.—Mr. Bert Monk was a business visitor in Peterboro on Thursday.

Miss Lizzie Kerr is spending a few days with friends in Reaboro.

Epworth League was held on Wednesday evening in the basement of the church, under the able supervision of Mr. Edward Bray, and a very good programme was rendered. Reading, Mr. E. Welsh; duet, Margaret Jackson and Pearl Swanson; solo, Miss Lizzie Moines; reading, Mr. Casement.

An interesting debate was then indulged in, the subject, "Resolved, that the auto proves a benefit instead of a detriment to humanity." The affirmative put up a strong argument in favor of the auto, being represented by Mr. P. C. Brown and Mr. Frank Bigelow. The negative was ably upheld by Mr. J. C. Dawe and Mr. R. L. Crerar put up a strong defence against it. Mr. Milton Challice acted as timekeeper and each speaker was allowed ten minutes. The leader of the affirmative having three minutes for reply. The judges were: Mrs. W. Rowan, Mrs. H. Ryley and Mr. Darroch. The judges, after comparing notes and due consideration, gave their verdict in favor of the negative side by two points.

Mr. L. Staples held a successful auction sale on Wednesday, the weather was very unfavorable, but in spite of the slippery condition of the roads and the rain, which kept up all afternoon, a great crowd was present. Everything offered for sale went at a good figure.

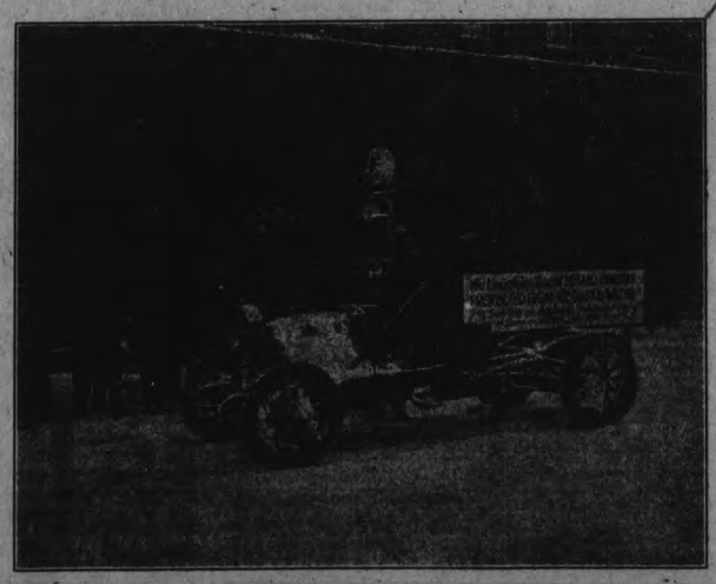
McLAUGHLIN-BUICK SEALED CHASSIS



That McLaughlin-Buick Chassis are built to stand rigid usage and excessive winter exposure is amply demonstrated in the above picture.

In January last A. Brown & Co., who are the local Agents for this popular make of Car, made this unique demonstration about the streets of Peterborough, when it was viewed by a great number of people. But so that every Citizen may have an opportunity of seeing this for themselves, it will again appear TO-MORROW, both Morning and Afternoon.

The Sealed Chassis construction, which has been developed almost exclusively by the McLaughlin-Buick people, makes this possible by the fact that all moving parts are enclosed behind steel housings, thus keeping in ample lubrication and keeping out dust, dirt and water, which everyone knows are the greatest destructive agents in any machine.

After this Exhibition on the streets To-morrow, this Chassis will be on view at the Show Rooms of A. BROWN & COMPANY, 383 Water Street.

TRYING TO TAX CHANNEL ISLANDS

Share of War Cost is What British Government Seeks

JERSEY DEFIANT

Isle of Man Demurs to Taking Money from Fund

The British Government are considering what steps they can take to secure from the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man their fair share of the costs of the war.

Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, is likely to raise the matter in the House of Commons soon.

The position concerning the Channel Islands is remarkable. At the beginning of 1923 the British Government invited Jersey to pay £325,000 and Guernsey £275,000 annually to the Imperial Exchequer.

Jersey's attitude has been that "neither legally nor constitutionally" can she agree to make any contribution, notwithstanding the fact that pensions and allowances disbursed by the Ministry of Pensions to men in Jersey total £46,000 a year, while pensions and allowances in Guernsey amount to nearly £60,000.

When the Government made the request which Jersey refused to meet, the total taxation of the island amounted to only £3 8s. a head. The amount payable in Great Britain is £17 a head.

The answer of Guernsey to the suggestion that the island should contribute £275,000 a year to the Imperial Exchequer was an offer of one payment of £220,000. Last year the Guernsey income tax was fourpence in the pound. The duties on tobacco, spirits and sugar are almost negligible. A bottle of whiskey costs six shillings.

Action now rests with Parliament, and the Government have decided to revive the whole matter.

The suggestion of the Government to the Isle of Man was that the statutory contribution of the island should be raised to £150,000 a year, including the temporary war contribution of £20,000 for twelve years, and that the Accumulated Fund of the island should be reduced by the transfer of £100,000 of War Stock to the Imperial Government for cancellation. The Isle of Man Legislature offered £200,000, with the proviso that the money should not be taken from the Accumulated Fund nor raised by taxation on food.

WOULD REGISTER HEAT OF BLUSH

Professor Unable to Find Blushing Beauty for Experiment

Although he has registered the heat of most things—from that of the moon to that of a candle nearly four miles away—Professor C. V. Boys, the physicist, has so far failed to determine the amount of heat radiated by a blushing girl.

When, many years ago, he began his experiments with the radio-micrometer, his invention which is now used universally in physical laboratories, he succeeded in registering the heat from a girl's cheek.

"But the girl was my niece— and she wasn't blushing," he explained to a reported. "The instrument was so extraordinarily sensitive that though she stood several hundred yards away from it the heat of that part of her face which was focussed was sufficient to set the instrument in violent motion.

"That being so, I am sure that it is possible to register the heat of a girl's blush. Probably I should have made the experiment before now had a blush been available—but I have never been able to obtain one! Young women are not given to blushing nowadays."

Professor Boys explained that in his search for a sufficiently sensitive registering medium he melted down all sorts of precious stone, including sapphires, rubies, and emeralds, in the hope of making a fine fibre. Finally he found that the only mineral which could satisfactorily be made into a fibre was quartz. He made quartz fibre of the fineness of 1-10,000th of an inch.

RAILWAYMEN TO BE OWN LANDLORDS

British Company Will Finance Scheme to Build Houses

The London, Midland, and Scottish Railway Company has decided to lend its workers £1,000,000 to enable them to build and own their own houses in London. Such a scheme, if widely adopted by other large employers of labor, would substantially ease the housing problem.

Houses are already being built under this plan in various districts of London by L.M.S. workers who have been transferred from the North of England. The men are able to borrow on mortgage 90 per cent. of the cost of the houses, up to £1,000, at 4 per cent. interest. Repayment is spread over ten, fifteen, or twenty years. The company is paying 4½ per cent. interest for this capital.

Nearly 300 men are already in occupation of their houses, and more than 4,000 applications are being dealt with.

"Other employers can do as we are doing," said the general manager of the L. M. S. Railway. "The financial problem presents little difficulty. Any employer of labor, even those in a small way, could raise money at the bank for such a scheme.

"We decided to build a number of steel houses of different types as an experiment."

VIKING'S DAY IN THE SHETLAND ISLES.

The Norse Festival of Up Helly-Aa is held every year at the end of January at Lerwick, Shetland. The principal feature of the celebration is the burning of a Norse war galley on the pier after a torchlight procession through the town. The men taking part are called Guizers and the Master of the Revels is known as the Guizer Jarl. All Guizers wear fancy dress, and the various squads make a point of keeping the details of their costumes a secret until the moment of starting the procession. The Guizer Jarl's Proclamation, which contains many amusing "digs" at local characters, is prepared secretly and posted at the Market Cross at dead of night. The picture shows the procession through the town and the formidable looking galley with its crew.

'FLU IS PUZZLE TO MEDICAL MEN

Some Useful Hints on How to Avoid Germs Fresh Air Cure

Do Everything Possible to Keep Fit—Avoid Crowds

Our annual enemy, influenza, is on us again at a season which is not unusual for its attack.

Of course many complaints are called influenza which are nothing of the kind, but the doctors themselves do not find it an easy task to define just what is and what is not rightly described as influenza. For the latest researches do not uphold the theory that one particular bacillus—Loeffler's organism—and one only is the cause of influenza. Whatever the exact cause is, it seems pretty certain that infection is generally acquired by way of the mouth and throat.

This entails gargling and syringing with salt and water or any weak alkaline lotion, and also the precaution that if you have an ordinary cold you should isolate yourself and go to bed for twenty-four hours. In this way you will not risk meeting the infection of influenza at the time when your air passages are especially prone to give it a welcome and to afford the germ, whichever he be, a warm and stimulating abode in the congested linings of your nose or mouth or larynx.

For the same reason, avoidance of infection, the less you frequent crowded places during an epidemic the better your chance of avoiding infection.

The better your state of general health, the better of course is your chance of defeating infection if you meet it. Therefore, in addition to your attention to mouth and nose and throat in particular, do all you can to keep as fit as possible, generally speaking. Take care that you spend a certain amount of time each day in the fresh air, even if it is only walking part of the way to work in the morning. He vigorous when you leave your morning bath, both in rubbing your skin and in performing a few minutes' body exercises.

If in spite of your care you get influenza, then go to bed at once, and rest assured that you will not have to stay there for more than a day or two. The present epidemic is, so far, not a virulent one, and, given reasonable precaution, it is only the aged or those already afflicted with chest diseases who are likely to succumb.

If you are wise you will get your medical man to see you at least once, for even the lay man or woman may make a mistake in diagnosis, and it may not be influenza at all that has driven you to your bed.

Shorts From The Courts

Cornwall magistrate: Why did you strike him? Man: He came up to me and said, "I thought they hanged you long ago."

Willesden magistrate: What is your husband? Wife: He is supposed to be a manager, but I think he is too quiet for that.

Policeman at East Ham: He had in his possession two pairs of black lady's stockings.

Wife at Willesden: My husband hit me because he said it was not the right time to do the washing when the church bells were ringing.

Wood Green magistrate: Are you speaking the truth? Woman: I have never told a lie in my life.

Bow tenant: I could become an astronomer, as I lie in bed looking through the holes in the roof.

Man in Nottinghamshire: I have been a staunch teetotaler for twenty-six years, but I have an occasional port wine or two.

COURT ORDERS HIS CURLS TO BE CUT

A pretty seven-year-old boy, with a mass of curly hair, appeared before the York magistrates, charged with begging. The Chief Constable alleged that the mother kept the child's hair long so that he would appeal to people. The magistrates ordered that the hair should be cut.

FOUR TOWNS IDLE THROUGH BLAZE

Explosion at Generating Station Cause of Great Trouble

SHORT CIRCUIT

Miles of Street Cars Held Up—No Lights—Many Workless

All the busy cotton factories that depend for power on the public supply, all the trams and all electric lighting of Stalybridge, Hyde, Mossley and Dukinfield, were suddenly stopped by an explosion at the electricity generating station.

In a moment the four towns were thrown idle and plunged into a gloom, which became actual darkness as evening drew on.

The explosion took place at about 11.30 this morning at the generating station of the Tramways and Electricity Board, which serves the group of towns.

It is stated to have been caused by the short-circuiting of a cable, the actual explosion occurring in the main switch gear in the engine house. The flames quickly swept the switchboards, which were burnt out in a few minutes.

FIREMEN USED SAND.

The local fire brigade, in charge of Chief-Constable Captain R. Y. Parker, found it necessary, owing to the nature of the fire, to use sand instead of water. One of the firemen, Constable Waterhouse, was severely injured by pieces of falling glass and had to be taken to hospital.

The effect of the explosion was felt instantaneously over a wide area. Tram services in the four towns were brought to a standstill, and only those factories that possess alternative steam power were able to keep the machinery running.

Thousands of workpeople, mainly cotton operatives, are rendered temporarily idle, and are not expected to resume work this week.

RUSH FOR CANDLES.

To large numbers of people in shops and private houses the first indication that something had gone wrong was the failure of the electric light, which was in general use owing to the gloomy day. There was an immediate rush for lamps and candles.

As soon as the flames had been got under, R. Blackmore, engineer-in-chief to the Electricity Board, took steps to get a supply of electricity from Ashton-under-Lyne, Stockton and Manchester, so that cars could start running again, and by arrangement with the latter city he was able to restore a through connection between Hyde and Manchester.

Restricted tram services were operating in most parts of the district, but cinemas were closed, with two exceptions, the streets were in darkness, and shops closed early.

None of the switch hands, fortunately, were injured by the explosion.

Leighton Buzzard Guardians have again refused the request of a widow that her relief should be reduced from 10s. to 5s. a week, as she does not want to burden the rates.

WOMAN PIANIST IN 103RD YEAR

Mrs. Eleanor Tylden, lady of the manor of Ingoldisthorpe, Norfolk, who celebrated her 102nd birthday, still plays the piano from memory.

She is a near neighbor of the King and Queen at Sandringham House and York Cottage, and she was visited by three Queens on her birthday two years ago. She and her family have been long known in the district, where her husband, the late Rev. William Tylden, was vicar of Dersingham, a parish adjoining Ingoldisthorpe, from 1873 to 1875.

IDEAL HUBBY IS NOT APPRECIATED

An ideal husband gave evidence at Manchester City Police Court.

"He said that when his wife returned from church on Sunday morning and found that he had not cleaned the floors of the house, she threw a poker and some plates at him.

"I had to go out to work in the afternoon," he said, "and when I left her I said 'Good afternoon, dear,' and kissed her."

For having margarine upon his premises, alleged to be intended for the adulteration of butter, Charles Blake was fined £5 at Taunton.

Quarter Million Loss In Shipping But Fights On

"I know that everyone concerned has had big losses. My own loss in this company is about £250,000," remarked G. A. Harrison, chairman of the Town Line (London), Ltd., in presiding over the annual meeting of that concern at Cardiff.

The bank, he said, had been worrying them to sell their remaining five ships, but he held the opinion that they had reached the end of the slump, and that if something were done to save the company and the ships this would be a golden opportunity.

A committee was appointed to draw up a statement of accounts, and the meeting agreed that on its report steps should be taken to raise fresh capital and thus save the company.

GUARDS ON MILK SHOOT LESS WELL

At the annual dinner of the Scots Guards' Association at Edinburgh on Saturday, Major Steuart-Menzies said it seemed extraordinary to notice that the canteen was now nearly always empty. Recently outside Chelsea Barracks he saw 12 young soldiers standing round a milk barrow drinking milk out of bottles. (Laughter.)

There was hardly any crime in the regiment. Whether that was due to the milk regime he could not say. Musketry was not so good as before the war.

A Voice: "That's the milk." (Laughter.)

TO LENGTHEN LAKE FOR WATER SUPPLY

A £10,000,000 water scheme has been decided upon by the Manchester Waterworks Department.

The plan is to add Haweswater to Thirlmere for the purposes of Manchester's water supply, and the work, which will start at once, will take nine years to complete.

The ultimate cost of the whole scheme will amount to some £20,000,000, which will be spent in making 74½ miles of aqueduct from Haweswater to the Heaton Park reservoir, 28 miles of which will be underground.

COVENT GARDEN AS DANCE HALL

The Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, has been given over for a period for dance purposes to Bertram Mills, of the Olympia Dance Hall.

"It is just an experiment," he said, "as there is nothing doing in the opera line at present."

It is understood that the theatre will be thrown open to the dancing public on February 18, and that it may be used for that purpose until the opening of the grand opera season.

It is believed there will be room for about 2,000 couples.

STEALING "FASHIONS" PREVALENT NOW

"I know you people stand outside the shops and steal the designs," said Judge Cluer at Whitechapel County Court.

"You cannot go by a shop window without seeing a number of people standing and sketching, or stealing, the designs," he added.

The judge was addressing a tailor's cutter, who claimed wages in lieu of notice.

Defendant said the man had cut out his own patterns during his employer's time.

This the man denied. He said he obtained the sketches in Paris on his own account. One establishment charged him 90 francs to let him make a sketch.

In face of strenuous opposition, Hertford County Council granted applications for seven day music licenses for cinemas halls at Watford and St. Albans.

DRAMATIC FIGHT WON BY WELLS

Great Battle With Canadian Soldier Jones Excites Crowd

ENDED BY FOUL

Wells Took Heavy Punishment in Tigerish Encounter

An intensely dramatic fight took place at Brighton between ex-Bombardier Billy Wells and Soldier Jones, who was disqualified for a foul.

After six hard-hitting rounds Wells, at thirty-seven years of age, had shown at last that he could take punishment and fight back. The crowd packed in the Dome went almost mad with excitement. Men yelled, and women, in evening dress and furs, cried out in excitement.

The great lithe bodies of the two men were speckled with blood before the fight had gone for, and Wells' right eye was almost closed, and a great lump swelled above it.

The features of Soldier Jones, the twenty-seven-year-old Canadian, settled grimly. In the final round there was a sudden hold, a wrench, an almost superhuman straining of the muscles of Soldier Jones, and Bombardier Wells went whirling across the ring to fall limply in the corner.

His seconds jumped up with upslung arms. "Foul! foul!" they cried.

They had called out the same thing during the round before, but their shouts had then gone unnoticed.

This time the referee, Percy Moss, gave his quick signal. The fight was over. Soldier Jones was disqualified, and Wells had won.

Jones stood as though petrified. Then he dashed round the ring waving his gloved hands and trying to shout above the uproar of the great crowd.

Jones was bewildered almost to the point of hysteria, and it was not until "Jim" Harris entered the ring and pacified him that he was persuaded to leave the arena.

It was a tigerish fight, fought from the beginning to the dramatic end at a terrific pace. Both men went twice through the ropes together.

Wells was sent down, and hardly had he risen when he knocked Jones through the ropes, but only to follow him.

The main impression left by the fight was one of extraordinary pluck shown by Wells in taking punishment and fighting back.

An Ideal Sunday According to Vicar Of Southsea Parish

The ideal way of spending Sunday is described by the Rev. Bruce Cornford, late chairman of the Portsmouth Football Club, and vicar of St. Matthew's, Southea, in his parish magazine. This is his programme:—

"7 or 8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

"9 a.m.—Breakfast.

"11 a.m.—Morning worship.

"12.30 p.m.—Light lunch.

"1.30-3 p.m.—Deep and profound sleep. (This is a fetish of all true Englishmen.)

"3 p.m., onwards—Cricket, football, tennis, cycling, anything you like, ending up the evening by hearing the best music or seeing the best picture in the place."

"In this programme," the vicar adds, "there is nothing whatever against the practice of Christian religion. We have to take human life as we find it, not as we hope it will become.

"On Sunday evenings there are thousands and thousands of young men and women in Portsmouth who are frankly heathen. By keeping them out of closed houses of amusement we do not shepherd them into our churches and chapels."

THREE DEATHS AT LEVEL CROSSING

A pilot railway engine ran into a motor-car at Lochside crossing, Blairgowrie, Perthshire, and carried the car a considerable distance down the line.

The three occupants of the car, James Paterson, a farmer; his son, William Paterson; and James Alexander, a farmer, were killed.

The car caught fire after the collision.

In gratitude for kindness at King's College Hospital as a wounded soldier, J. E. Manning, British Columbia, entertained children in the "Pantia Ralli" ward.

POLICE IN LONDON RAID NIGHT CLUBS

Home Secretary Behind New War on Illicit Joints

OWNERS ALARMED

Parts of Metropolis Swept Clear by Vigorous Action

Proprietors of London night clubs who have been making large profits by selling alcoholic drinks at exorbitant prices after legitimate hours are alarmed by the campaign opened against them by the Home Secretary.

Many are deliberating the advisability of closing down while they are safe. Others have already closed.

Recent raids by the police have proved to them that the Home Secretary is determined to stop illicit drinking.

Two raids made by Sub-Divisional Inspector Phillips, of Bow street, in the last few days marked the beginning of a new police war which the authorities are determined shall not cease until "drink-after-hours" abuses have been suppressed.

Conferences have taken place between the Home Secretary and his advisers and the higher officials at Scotland Yard regarding measures to be taken to meet the situation. There is scarcely a club where drinking after hours is suspected that is not watched by the police.

Raids and visits of inspection are planned in almost every district.

NEW MEASURES.

In the meantime the legal advisers of Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, are framing measures which will give the police greater opportunities of keeping observation on night clubs.

It is generally felt that Parliament will give the Home Secretary a free hand to deal with the evils of which he complains.

Hints have been dropped that the effect of the legislation contemplated will be that more daring night club proprietors will open clubs in the suburbs.

This move has not been overlooked by the authorities, and adequate measures will be taken to circumvent it.

One quarter of London where night clubs were particularly numerous a few months ago has been swept clean by the police broom.

OUT WITH BEAGLES IN HUNDREDTH YEAR

Richard Ferris, who is ninety-nine years old, still rides to the meet of the Brittania Beagles.

He said that he goes to bed early, rises early, always sleeps well, never worries, smokes a little after a day's work is done, and has one glass of stimulant before retiring.

He was formerly a farmer on a large scale, and he lives in a farmhouse at Capton, a hamlet near Dartmouth, and rides every day when the weather permits. His sitting-room contains relics of his hunting and racing days. He formerly owned three racehorses, and rode successfully at Exeter, Totnes and Newton Abbot meetings.

He never had a doctor for sickness until this week, when he caught cold, but forty years ago he broke his arm riding, and drove into Dartmouth to have it set.

When Queen Victoria was crowned he was a schoolboy at Mr. Jarvis' school, Dartmouth, and helped to roast an ox at the celebrations on Dartmouth new ground.

CURRIED RAT AS DIET FOR BISHOP

How the Anglican Bishop of Accra, in West Africa, made his dinner—to the best of his belief—of a curried rat is recorded in the January issue of the Golden Shore, published by the Accra Diocesan Association.

In an account of a six weeks' trek in the Bush, accompanied by no other white man, the Bishop, Dr. John Orfeur Aglionby, writes:

We had reached a barren country where food could not be obtained for love or money. I was strolling down to the river for a bathe when a man met me with an enormous rat in his hands, and he was going in the direction of our cook-house. That night we had curry as usual. I asked no questions.

At an old folks' dinner at Hampton-on-Thames a mother of 21 children took the prize for the biggest family.

CAT BURGLAR GANG'S MASTER MIND LANDS IN JAIL FOR 3 YEARS

Extraordinary Career of Swell Mobsman, Robert Delaney—Married Rich Widow, Squandered Her Fortune, Eloped With Niece

Head of the West End "cat" burglar gang, swell mobsman and soldier of fortune—such is the record of Robert Augustus Delaney, a well-groomed, well-spoken young man of 29, who was sentenced to three and a half year's penal servitude at the Old Bailey.

Delaney was caught red-handed attempting to break into the town house of the Duke of Rutland, and his capture enabled Scotland Yard to break up the most daring and langerous gang of "cat" burglars in London.

It can now be disclosed that this gang, responsible for many of the big Mayfair "cat" burglaries that baffled the police for so long, was composed of South African and Australian criminals.

Delaney, who was the master mind of the band, is a man of many aliases, with a picturesque past.

Seven years ago he married a young Lincolnshire widow with a fortune of £28,000. In three years he had squandered the whole of her fortune, and left his once-wealthy wife to work for her living while he eloped with her niece.

Delaney told his wife he was going to London to make his fortune. Actually, he plunged into a life of crime and dissipation.

WORTHLESS CHEQUES.

He gave dinner parties at fashionable West-end hotels, and spent money lavishly in night clubs. Wherever he went he left a trail of worthless cheques and dishonored promises.

Denaley is believed to be the original "cat" burglar, but he had covered up his tracks so successfully that when he was caught the police were unable to prove their suspicions.

It is known definitely that he was the moving spirit of a gang of overseas criminals, who brought off most of the big Mayfair coups, but the police were unable to trace the proceeds of any old burglaries.

Delaney himself gave them no help, and stoutly denied that his associates were fellow criminals. He tried to mislead the police in every way, and their inquiries showed that even his story of his own life was inaccurate in many respects.

Delaney declared that he had been to Jesus College, Cambridge, in 1911, but the University records were searched in vain for confirmation.

WAR AND MATRIMONY.

It is known that he was born in Cape Town, and his father is supposed to have been a prominent South African.

Delaney came to England in 1914 with the intention of becoming a civil engineer, but when the war came he joined the army and rose to the rank of sergeant.

He told the police that his father had left him £23,000, but he really obtained this sum by a judicious incursion into matrimony.

While in the army, stationed in Lincolnshire, he met Mrs. Sharp, the young and attractive widow of a wealthy farmer, who had made a fortune out of intensive fruit culture.

Delaney posed as a South African civil engineer with brilliant prospects and relatives who owned gold mines, and he induced Mrs. Sharp to marry him.

SOLD HIS WIFE'S ESTATES.

For three years he lived the life of a gentleman farmer on one of his wife's big farms, but he sold her estates for £15,500, and made frequent trips to London on the excuse of business, but actually indulged in secret rounds of debauchery.

Delaney bought hunters and motor-cars, and squandered his wife's money right and left, until he came to the end of her resources, when he left her to fend for herself.

His wife's niece, with whom he had eloped, left him shortly afterwards, a police officer stated in court yesterday, and Delaney advertised for her in the Press, describing her as his wife.

Before he settled down to a life of crime in London, Delaney went to Westcliff with a woman and bought a boarding house. One night there was a fire, which destroyed the house. Delaney drew the insurance money.

When he came to London, Delaney soon found his way into the underworld, and became mixed up with a fast and expensive set.

He was arrested with a companion and charged at Westminster Police Court with nine cheque frauds. His companion was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, but Delaney was bound over.

28 FEET STACKPIPE.

Afterwards he turned his attention to "cat" burglaries. One of his most daring exploits was a hand-over-hand climb up a 28 feet stackpipe to break into a big Mayfair mansion. The police regarded this as a very dangerous feat.

It was due to the watchfulness of a young detective named Symes, who was highly praised by the Recorder at the Old Bailey, that Delaney was brought to book.

The officer was on observation duty in Green Park after the gates had been closed. He heard a noise of someone moving in the bushes, and following footmarks, by the light of his electric lamp, he, and others, caught Delaney as he was about to break into the Duke of Rutland's house.

When he appeared at the Old Bailey Delaney pleaded guilty to attempting this crime, and also to breaking into the house of Lady Northcote, in St. James's Place.

It was stated that he had stolen a cheque book, among other things, from Lady Northcote's house, and had used the cheques for defrauding landladies.

CHIEF WHO FIRED HIS OWN CASTLE

Stronghold of Macdonalds Sold With Sporting Estate

The picturesque old Castle of Tioram, an island at high tide, and the stronghold of the Macdonalds of Clanranald, is included in the estates of Dorlin, Inverness, formerly the property of the late Lord Howard of Glossop, which have recently changed hands.

The castle was burned by the chief of the Macdonalds before starting to join the Earl of Mar in 1715, to prevent his foes, the Campbells, taking possession in his absence.

OLD TOMBSTONE IN ANCIENT INN

Probable Resting Place of Two of Cromwell's Victims

Interesting finds were made during demolition of the Crooked Billet, an old tavern standing some 200 yards north-east of the Tower of London, and said to be the oldest continuously licensed house in London.

In the wall of the cellar fragments of what had evidently been a slate tomb-stone were discovered, built into the fabric with bricks and mortar. These, being pieced together, revealed the following disjointed inscription:—

"After ....years' imprisonment.... Joseph Davis .... rests with ye Lamb .... also Ambrose .... 1659....that liveth by the sword....perish by the sword. ...."

The wording seems to indicate that one or both of the men referred to died after imprisonment in the Tower, where they were probably two of Cromwell's victims, and were buried in the neighboring church of St. Dunstan-by-the-Tower, which was destroyed a few years later by the Great Fire of 1666.

After that catastrophe the tomb-stone recording their lives, it is thought likely, became discarded and broken up, and was used some time later in rebuilding the Crooked Billet.

LIFE AT SEA IS QUIET NOWADAYS

After 46 years' service with the Union-Castle Line, Captain J. N. Culverwell, who is retiring, brought the liner Windsor Castle into Southampton for the last time.

"The life either killed a boy or made a man of him," he said to a reporter, recalling his early days at sea. "Nowadays boys get no buffeting. It's child's work—and I don't think they make as good sailors as in the old times.

Capt. Douglas Hoskins, of the Balmoral Castle, succeeds to the command of the Windsor Castle.

CHURCHYARD SPOOK IS RUN TO EARTH

Youth Hollowed Out Trunk of Tree as Bedroom

Rumors that a ghost was walking every night in the churchyard of the parish church of St. Nicholas, Tooting, have been causing local excitement.

The police were informed, and a strict watch was kept without result.

The "ghost" has now been identified as a boy of 12, whose parents live off Garrett lane, Tooting.

He has confessed that he used the churchyard as a bedroom for over a week, after escaping from a home to which he had been sent by his parents.

He hollowed out the trunk of a tree and made a bed inside.

"I used to go late at night, and took care to clear out early in the morning before the church officials turned up. After the second night I got an old sheet and wrapped this round me."

The police sometimes passed within 20 yards.

The lad was run to earth by his elder brother who saw him in the street and only succeeded in capturing him after an exciting chase.

SHRAPNEL-PROOF DEFENCE 'PLANES

Fifty-two Squadrons of All-Metal Craft for Britain

All-metal shrapnel-proof 'planes will be one of the main features of Britain's Home Defence Air Force, the principal centre of which is to be at Uxbridge.

Already one or two fighting and scouting squadrons are using these ironclads of the air. It is intended, however, to use them in nearly all the 52 squadrons which are to form the Defence Force. From the small scouts to the huge three-engined bombers, all-steel construction is to be used.

Even the wings, corrugated to give enormous strength with a minimum of weight, are fashioned out of metal. Ribs and spars able to bear the combined weight of several men, turn the scale at no more than a pound.

"The limit in the size of wood aeroplanes has been practically reached," declared an expert. "We are but at the beginning of metal construction."

One of the new shrapnel-proof fighters fitted with a super-charged engine is able to climb to a height of 30,000 feet in about ten minutes.

RIVER PLUNGE BY MOTOR CAR

A motor-car, in which two men and two women were going from Kirkby Stephen, Westmoreland, to Gateshead, crashed through a bridge wall at a hairpin bend and plunged into the River Belah, a tributary of the Eden.

All four occupants were able to scramble through a window of the car and on to the bank of the stream.

PETES' HOPES OF WINNING SENIOR O.H.A. DIMMED BY 5 TO 1 DEFEAT IN FIRST OF FINALS WITH FALLS

Blue and White Front Line Disorganized By the Illness of Bailey—Team Was Outplayed on the Attack and Outlucked.

ARENA PACKED WITH CROWD OF 7,000

Breaks Went Against Joe Dwyer — McLeod and Parker Best of Petes—Niagara Fast and Aggressive, and Led All the Way.

(By F. D. C.)

Peterboro's hopes of winning the Senior O.H.A. championship were shaken last night, when the big, fast Niagara Falls team, winners of the Big Six Group beat the blue and white 5 goals to 1 at the Toronto Arena in the first game of the series for the title.

A packed Arena with over 7,000 fans, many from outside points, saw the Petes out-played and out-lucked—the latter word used advisedly, for the team from the Big Roar got the breaks that generally seem to go to the winners, getting several soft goals while the Petes missed close-in opportunities that might easily have resulted in counters

The factor that contributed most largely to the defeat of the S.P.A. winners was the illness of Irvin Bailey, the Petes brilliant right wing player. Bailey, who had been in bed suffering from an attack of the 'Flu since the last game with Parkdale was in no condition to play hockey, but he gamely tackled the job, and started the game in his usual position. Weak as he was he gave everything he had, but he was but a shadow of himself and lacking his speed, dash and effectiveness, the Pete's front line fell to pieces.

Bailey has been the dynamo of the attacking division all season, and his value to the team was never more clearly demonstrated than it was last night, when the Petes forwards were like a ship without a rudder, without his usual brilliant work to act as an inspiration for the rest of the crew.

It was on the line that the battle was won and lost—there and in the nets, for "Wart' Mayo, the Falls diminutive goaler outplayed Joe Dwyer, the Petes great net guardian having his toughest luck of the season between the posts.

Falls Forwards Fast.

The Big Roar forwards outskated and outplayed the blue and white line, who failed to show their customary zip on the attack and whose back checking lacked the consistency that has been a feature of most of the games this season.

Kelterbourne, Herrington and Rice and Seibert, when he relieved the latter, formed an attacking division that on the night's play had a big margin on the Petes forwards.

In fact, only in the work of the Peterboro defence pair did any share of the laurels come to the No. 1 Group representatives. Bert McLeod was the Petes outstanding player, and he worked himself into exhaustion trying to turn the tide. He came down the ice time after time, got the only Peterboro counter after a beautiful rush and was a menace whenever he broke away, while his defensive display was on a par with his rushing. Parker was the next best in point of effectiveness, his poke checking breaking up many a dangerous attack, while he also rushed often and gave the Falls defence plenty of trouble.

The Niagara crew were always in front leading,—1 to 0 at the end of the first period, and 4 to 1 at the close of the second, and they looked like winners from the time they scored their first goal eighteen minutes after the start.

A Smooth Machine.

They have a heavy, fast and hard-checking outfit, plenty of speed and shooting ability on the line and weight and speed on the defence in front of a clever goaler. The machine-like team play of the Soo is not in evidence, but nevertheless the Falls gang are formidable opposition because of their fast skating and aggressiveness.

They looked at their best of course last night, because the Petes did not display the zip and speed that distinguished their game against Parkdale last Saturday, and the Falls line ran loose a good deal more after than they might have done with the blue shirts skating and checking as usual.

Petes Deserved More.

The better team on the night's play won beyond the shadow of a doubt; yet the score hardly does justice to the Petes, who had to be decided unlucky around the nets to be held down to one goal, while on the other hand the winners got one counter when a pass from behind the net resulted in a perfect carom off McLeod's skate—between the posts, and two more on shots that nozed in between Dwyer's pads when he had the drives apparently blocked.

Kelterbourne was the most prominent Falls player, the ex-Stratford left wing showing a world of speed and cleverness. Herrington was also lightning fast while Seibert and Rice besides getting a goal each, did a vast amount of effective checking; in fact, Seibert in particular was one of the stars of the night. Mayo, the little goaler, turned in an almost perfect game. He beat the Petes attack a half dozen times when goals looked certain.

The game, well handled by Lou Marsh, was fast and clean. There was too much at stake for the teams to take chances, and the penalty list was not a long one; the Falls suffering more than the Petes.

Arena Was Packed.

For the first time this season for an amateur game the Arena was packed. Tickets were at a premium and the officers and players of both teams were beseiged by fans unable to get tickets. Both Peterboro and Niagara Falls had big contingents on hand, hundreds came from hockey centres all over the province, and the Toronto fans turned out in droves.

The Teams

NIAGARA FALLS:—
Goal—Mayo.
Defence—Fraser, Kitchen.
Centre—Rice.
Right Wing—Herrington.
Left Wing—Kelterbourne.
Subs—Seibert, Molson.

PETERBORO:—
Goal—Dwyer.
Defence—Parker, McLeod.
Centre—Collins.
Right Wing—Bailey.
Left Wing—Ranger.
Subs—Rose, Burgess.
Referee—Lou E. Marsh.

Review of the Play.

It was lightning fast hockey from the face-off, and for some time the checking was so close that neither team could shake the other off long enough to be dangerous. Kelterbourne made the first real menace when he broke away on a fast rush to make Dwyer move fast for his swift low shot. A great rush by McLeod and a neat pass to Bailey looked promising, but the shot was wide. Bailey drew the first penalty for tripping Fraser with his foot, but there was no score while he was off. Kitchen and Rice in turn served a sentence in the box. It was up and down hockey with both defences working effectively and the minutes rapidly sped without a score. Just when it appeared that the period would be without a counter, Kitchen and Seibert broke together, and, taking a pretty pass close in, Seibert drilled a shot between Dwyer's pads for the first marker. Nothing of moment happened in the remaining two minutes of the period.

Second Period.

Early in the second dash the Petes lost several good chances of tieing it up. Mayo made a beautiful stop when Collins was inside, and saved brilliantly a moment later when McLeod tore in. The blue shirts had the edge on the play at this stage, but could not beat Mayo, and finally after ten minutes of hard going, Kelterbourne increased the Falls' lead by a beautiful rush. He skated around nearly the whole Peterboro team, and wound up with a pretty shot into the corner, just out of Dwyer's reach.

That counter was earned, but "Butch" got another shortly after that was a gift. He tried to pass the rubber out from behind the Petes' net, and the pass was converted into a goal when the puck was diverted into the net off McLeod's skate. That made it 3 to 0, and the "Big Roar" gang came back with another when Fraser rushed and gave Rice a long pass, the centre player driving one between Dwyer's pads.

McLeod got Peterboro's only goal soon after, and it was a spectacular play. He broke from his own end of the rink, stick-handled through a four-man defence, and went in on top of Mayo to hoist a fast one over the goaler's shoulder as he crouched to block the shot.

Unlucky in Third.

With any luck, the Petes would have picked up a couple of goals in the last period. They gave Mayo many busy moments in the early stages of the session, but could not drive the rubber past him, and after all this effort it was Niagara Falls who finally scored, Kitchen going down alone and blazing a fast one from outside the defence that hit Dwyer and bounced into the net.

SHOCKER BEGAN BEHIND THE BAT

Became Pitcher After Signing With Windsor Club—Joined Yankees in 1915.

Urban Shocker, former star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, who was the first member of the Yankees to sign a contract for the coming season, has been a member of only five clubs during his entire professional baseball career. Of these, three are minor league clubs, the others being the Browns and the Yankees. He first signed with the Windsor Club of the Border League in 1913 and while with that club during that season he won six games and lost seven.

In the following year he was bought by the Ottawa Club of the Canadian League. Prior to his signing with the Windsor Club Shocker had played with several semi-professional teams, but as a catcher, not as a pitcher. He also desired to be a catcher when he started his professional career, but he soon became convinced that his talents could be better employed in the pitcher's box.

During 1914, his first year with the Ottawa team, Shocker won a total of twenty games and lost only eight, for a percentage of .714. He remained with the Ottawa team during most of the season of 1915 and won nineteen games and lost ten that year. Late in the season of 1915 he was sold to the Yankees for a price reported to have been $750.

While with the Yankees in 1916 Shocker won five games and lost two. He appeared in only twelve games while with the New York club that year. However, he was sent on an optional agreement to the Toronto club of the International League. He took part in 24 games while with the Canadian club and he scored fifteen victories to three defeats. His average of earned runs allowed per nine-inning game that year was 1.31, a remarkably low total. Later in the season he was recalled from Toronto by the Yankees.

As a member of the Yankees during the season of 1917 Shocker took part in a total of twenty-six games. He won eight contests and lost five and his average of earned runs allowed that year was 2.61. Early in 1918 Shocker was traded by the Yankees to the Browns. In exchange for Shocker and several other players, the Yankees received Second Baseman Derrill Pratt, who later played with the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, and Pitcher Ed Plank.

During the season of 1918, his first as a member of the St. Louis club, Shocker took part in only fourteen games. He scored six victories against five defeats and his earned run average was 1.80. In 1919 he became one of the Browns' regular pitchers. During that season he won fourteen games and lost ten and took part in a total of thirty contests. His earned run average for that season was 2.69.

In 1920 Shocker continued to improve and he was soon recognized as one of the best pitchers in the two major leagues. During that season he took part in thirty-eight games and scored twenty victories against ten defeats. In the following year he won twenty-seven games and lost twelve. In 1922 he scored twenty-four victories against seventeen defeats. In 1923 he won twenty games and lost twelve, while last season he won sixteen contests and lost thirteen.

Joe Bush, who went to the Browns in the trade that brought Shocker to the Yankees, will be pitching for his fourth major league club when he takes the mound for the St. Louis team next season. He has already been a member of the Athletics and Red Sox in addition to the Yankees.

Bush started his major league career with the Missoula club of the Union Association back in 1912. He won twenty-nine games and lost twelve while with that team during that season, and late in that campaign he was sold to the Athletics. He has remained in the American League ever since. While with the Philadelphia club during 1912 he took part in only three games and he scored one victory against no defeats.

In 1913 Bush became one of the Athletics' regular pitchers. He won a total of thirteen games that year and lost only seven. In the following season he scored sixteen victories to twelve defeats. In 1915 re had a poor season, winning only five games and losing fifteen. For the next two campaigns he also had averages less than .600. In 1916 he won fifteen games and lost twenty-four, and to the next year he scored eleven victories against seventeen defeats.

After the season of 1917 Bush was sold by the Athletics to the Red Sox. Along with Bush the Boston Club obtained Wallie Schang, who is now a member of the Yankees, and Amos Strunk, and in exchange they gave Gregg, Thomas, Kopf and a sum of cash reported to be $60,000. During his first season with the Red Sox Bush won fifteen games and lost the same number. He pitched in only three games in 1919, but in the following season he had a record of fifteen victories and fifteen defeats.

In 1921, his last season with the Boston Club, Bush won sixteen games and lost only nine for a percentage of .640. After that campaign he was traded to the Yankees along with Pitcher Sam Jones and Shortstop Everett Scott for Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh and Pitchers Jack Quinn, Warren Collins and Bill Piercy. In 1922, his first season with the Yankees, Bush scored a total of twenty-six victories and lost only seven games. In 1923 he won nineteen and lost fifteen, while last year he won seventeen and lost sixteen.

As a member of three major league clubs Bush took part in five world's series. Pitching for the Athletics against the Giants in 1913 he won one game and lost none. Against the Braves in 1914 he lost one game and won none. With the Red Sox against the Cubs in 1918 he lost one game and won none. Pitching for the Yankees against the Giants in 1922 he lost two games and won none. Against the Giants in 1923 he won one game and lost one.

New York Yankees
Outfielder

Born—San Jose, Calif., July 19, 1898.

Major League Career—Purchased from Vernon club of Pacific Coast League in 1920 for cash and players. (Played third base for time.)

Outstanding Feats— Won sixth game and clinched the 1923 world series for the Yankees by driving a single through the box in the eighth inning, sending home the runs that spelt disaster for the Giants. Hit was especially timely and was a life-saver, in a way, for Babe Ruth had just struck out with the same opportunity offering itself. Batted .300 in 1922 classic. Made four assists in second game of double-header, played Sept. 5, 1921.

COBOURG BONSPIEL

Finals Have Been Reached, But Weather Holds Up Playoff.

COBOURG, Feb. 27.—In the local curling bonspiel the finals have been nearly reached and the Curling Club is anxiously awaiting colder weather to finish up the season. In No. 1 group Spageon Throop and M Boothe have to play off. In No. 2 group Potts has two games to play and Ed. Guillet one to play.

ALEXANDER'S RECORD TOPS LEAGUES

Fourteen Seasons in the Majors and Always a Winning Pitcher.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—To be a big league pitcher for 14 seasons is considered a real feat, especially in these days of lively baseball and free hitting. But to hurl as many campaigns without once falling below the .500 mark in the averages is something even more out of the ordinary.

That's the record that Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Chicago Cubs has hung up since coming into the majors. And it rates as one of the greatest pitching feats in modern baseball annals. It is even more noteworthy considering the class of teams he has had to work with as a rule.

Alexander came to the big show as a member of the Phillies back in 1911. He got away to a splendid start, winning 28 games and losing 13. It was only the beginning of a meteoric career, however. For ever since then the big fellow has been dishing out a winning brand of stuff. His major league record reads: 300 victories and 157 defeats, an average of .656.

All told, Alexander has topped the 20-mark in victories on eight occasions. And he has reached or got over the 30-game class three times. Over a three-year span—1915-16-17—he collected 94 triumphs to but 35 defeats, an average of .729. He is one of the few hurlers who have turned in at least 30 wins three seasons in a row.

One of Big Alex's greatest assets has been control. Like Christy Mathewson and Babe Adams of more recent times, Grover could put a ball in almost any spot he wished. His ability to toss them where he wanted to was uncanny to say the least. In 1923 he went through his first 51 innings without allowing a single base on balls. He handed out but 30 walks throughout the entire season.

Alexander has been in just one world series, that being in 1915. He has been wit hthe Cubs since 1918. His record surely speaks for itself.

THE 13TH HOLE

Mary K. Browne Sees Both Sides of the Golfer's Nemesis in Fight for Women's Title.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

BROWNE

Mary K. Browne, who combines tennis and golf with equal acility, knows what a leering, mocking thing the thirteenth hole can be. She saw both sides of the beast at the national women's tourney at Providence, R.I., last fall.

Her most magnificent gesture in that tournament was a victory, shocking and totally unlooked for, over Glenna Collett, a match which went to the nineteenth hole.

The break, favoring Miss Mary, came at the thirteenth. in this instance a rather longish hole. Miss Collett was one up at the time and in playing the thirteenth watched Miss Mary execute a series of Texas Leaguers to reach the green in four.

Miss Collett boomed away with a tremendous drive and cracked out an iron second that looked good enough to be well on. But it fell just short and found an impossible lie in the sand pits, from which she took three strokes to get out.

The hole was halved in sixes—which was a lifesaver for Miss Mary, for it extended the match and enabled her to win out at the nineteenth.

Miss Mary moved on to the finals, meeting Dorothy Campbell Hurd. All was well until they arrived at the thirteenth. Miss Mary was playing the hole none too well but still had a chance for a fighting half from a bunker, well short of the green where her second shot had landed.

But a careless workman had left a brick in her path, the sort of brick of which chimneys and fireplaces are built.

In front of the ball it rested, a sullen, red block which seemed to epitomize all the evils popularly associated with the numeral thirteen.

To play the ball out, brick and all had to come. It was a job for a dredging contractor. Miss Mary took a mighty swat and sure enough out they came.

But she was still many yards from the green and when she failed to get her dead on her next Mrs. Hurd won the hole and went on to win the match and title.

GRIMSBY BEAT KINGSTON.

Western Finalists Won First Game For Intermediate Championship 3-1.

KINGSTON, February 27 (Canadian Press). — Grimsby won the first game of the final round of the Intermediate O.H.A. here last evening, when they defeated Kingston by the score of 3 to 1. The winners were entitled to the victory as they outskated their opponents during the best part of the game.

Their stick-handling and combination play was simply wonderful.

The return game will be played in Grimsby on Saturday evening.

HOCKEY SCORES

Hockey games played yesterday resulted as follows:

SENIOR O.H.A.
Niagara Falls 5, Peterboro 1.

INTERMEDIATE O.H.A.

40,000 MATCHES TO BE PLAYED IN ENGLISH TENNIS TOURNEYS

LONDON, Feb. 27.— The lawn tennis boom of 1924 is likely to be eclipsed this year, the experts say. About 191 tournaments have been officially sanctioned. Taking a fair estimate of 200 matches in each tournament, nearly 40,000 matches will have been played before the end of the season.

KINGSTON HOLD-UP.

Young Lady Hands Purse to Man Who Escorts Her in Street.

KINGSTON, February 27 (Special to The Examiner).—A hold-up occurred on Johnston Street last night, when Miss Annie Keyes was accosted by a young man, who demanded that she give over her money.

Miss Keyes was very badly frightened, and without any hesitation gave the young fellow her purse, which contained quite a large sum of money.

The hold-up man then made his escape.

Prince of Wales Pays Dues In Press Union

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (United Press)—In the nick of time the Prince of Wales saved himself the ignominy of being forbidden to work as a pressman in Union press rooms.

Wales joined the Union during his visit and paid in advance until January 1st. The New York Pressmen's Union suspends its members who fail to pay up every two months at the rate of $3.50 a month. However with tomorrow looking ahead as the day of suspension, H.R.H. has sent a cheque for $7.

CURLING TO-NIGHT.

The vice-skips' bonspiel planned by the Peterborough Curling Club for last night was postponed on account of the bad ice. It will be played to-night with the same draws.

NAVY BLUE AGAIN.

Navy blue is a staple in the average woman's wardrobe, but it is being particularly featured for spring and is being combined with bright-colored buttons and color contrasts that lift it out of the mediocre class.

Y.M.C.A. LEAGUE.

Barries dropped the odd game to George Street in the Y.M.C.A. League on Monday. However, all three games were close, as Barries were up twenty pins on the total. BOWLING STOPS ASSIZES.

Australians Lost Seven Wickets For 239 Runs in Final Match.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—Though Collins, their captain, won the toss and thus by choosing to bat first gained the advantage of a perfect wicket, the Australian batsmen were stopped by the deadly English bowling, and when the stumps were drawn this evening had lost seven wickets of their first innings for 239 runs in the fifth and final match of the present test match series between England and Australia. Australia won the first three and England the fourth match.

ALLEN CUP SERIES.

Western Teams in Play Downs—Rossland Defeated Vancouver.

CALGARY, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press).—Further progress in the Allen Cup elimination series in Alberta and British Columbia was made last night when Rossland defeated Vancouver Monarchs 4 to 2 and won the British Columbia championship.

Coleman Tigers defeated Blairmore 4 to 1, winning the Southern Alberta championship and will now meet Edmonton Victorias for the Alberta championship and the right to play Rossland in the Alberta—British Columbia semi-minals.

The winner of the latter series will meet the Saskatchewan-Manitoba semi-final winners for the Western title.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The letter of W. H. Merrill in your paper on the somewhat acid letter of "Wellwisher" is timely. The lady speaks with all the fervor of the real woman. No one but a woman in heart and understanding could have written that excellent vindication of her sex. "Wellwisher," I do not think, meant to attack women; but whether he did or not, he did the public a good service in drawing from a woman of her age and long experience a good letter. I see by the list of these in your paper who were in gaol last year, that those of "no religion" were at the bottom of the list. Does this mean that it is better to avoid religion? I hope not.

RURAL SCHOOL PROBLEMS TOLD

Mr. Richard Lees, County School Inspector, Addresses Kiwanis Club.

BLACKSTONE THERE.

The speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon to-day was Mr. Lees, the County School Inspector. Mr. Lees spoke on the rural school problem. The great problem of the rural schools, he said, is the decrease in population in the country districts. This is not due solely to the glamor of city life but is principally due to economic. Where it took, one hundred years ago, three hours of a man's time to produce a bushel of wheat, it now takes less than ten minutes. The men released by this increased efficiency now work in the city making the machinery that helps the man on the land.

The result of the smaller population and smaller families of those that remain is that in the Province of Ontario there are over 500 schools with an attendance of less than 5 pupils. This, said Mr. Lees, means a great waste as the teachers cannot teach properly, and it costs in many cases more than $100 to educate a child for one year. It also requires a great many trustees and secretaries to look after these schools.

The present system is cumbersome and unequal. In some districts the grants from Province, county and township are large enough to support the school while in other sections a levy, very often as high as 30 mills on the dollar, is necessary. Mr. Lees said that all the leading educators advocate township school boards and consolidated school boards, but the rural population is the most conservative in the world, and at the recent convention of Rural School Trustees the members voted unanimously that township boards are not desirable.

After Mr. Lees' address Blackstone, the magician, showed the Kiwanians a few of his card tricks and also exposed some intimate secrets of the most respected members. He had his audience completely mystified, although some of them crowded right in on him to try and find how it was done.

Percy Bond was the booster for the day, and the prizes went to Hugh Niven, Walter Oke and Dr. Ed. Wood.

WAR AIR ACE KILLED.

Roger Ronserail, Avenger of Pegoud, Falls to Death From Air.

BAYONNE, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Roger Ronserail, known as "the avenger of Pegoud," and a famous war ace himself, was killed during an exhibition flight at Mont De Marsen, near here, yesterday.

CAUSING ANXIETY

TORONTO, Feb. 25.— (Canadian Press).—Rivers and ..g Creeks flowing into Lake Ontario through or near this city continue to cause much anxiety, following the thaws and the heavy rains of the last few days and consequent jams and floodings.

To-day, the waters of the Etobicoke 'creek,' just west of the city, have swollen to a ragi.. flood and blasting may be esorted to release ice at the lake front to let the waters out. In meantime, many suburban homes and new sewerage disposal plant are in danger of submergence.

BLACKSTONE, who appears at the Grand in his mystifying performance again to-night.

MAKING POULTICES

Old linen bags, if saved, can be turned into excellent homemade poultice containers for winter service, Mrs. Mann learned at the sewing club.

In making the poultices, fill the bag half full of the poultice mixture and then spread it flat by pressing between the palms.

If a boil or abcess is being treated, place a piece of sterilized linen over the sore; then wet lightly with olive oil and put on the plaster. If the application must be hot, make several such bags and alternate them.

When mustard plasters are used, wet with the white of an egg and the skin is not likely to be blistered. Wrap the poultices in soft flannel to keep in the heat and this also helps to abate severe pain.

To make a mustard poultice mix dry mustard with half its bulk of flour, wet to a soft paste and spread evenly, but keep it thinly distributed

THEATRES

BLACKSTONE WAS HELPED BY PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE.

Famous Magician Presented Awe-Inspiring Spectacle to Appreciative Audience — A Show of Shows.

Never has Peterborough been treated to a necromantic exhibition of such beauty and scope as Blackstone offered at the Grand Opera House last night in the first of a three-day series that will be varied nightly.

From the opening scene, when the audience is treated to some of the simpler scientific exhibitions to the last beautiful desert scene, there was not a dull moment. Every phase of the necromancer's art was displayed in a score of magnificent settings, the unexpected always adding its thrill to the wonderful, and the beauty of the costumes and staging supplying a fitting background for the marvellous dexterity and whimsical personality of the great magician.

The first assistant who offered to aid Blackstone was F. M. DelaFosse, who looked slightly apprehensive as his handkerchief dwindled in the magician's hand to the size of a lady's, then expanded to its original size, wriggled in ghostly liveliness on the performer's palm, and even walked across the stage with Blackstone a full six feet away from it. It lay down and stood up at his bidding, jumped into his hand held two feet away, and was still lively when handed back to Mr. DelaFosse.

Later, Mr. DelaFosse was one of four who inspected the marvellous spectacle of the suspended lady, who hung in the air without support and vanished before the eyes of the audience while the four investigators watched closely at a few feet distance. Then during the intermission Mr. DelaFosse was seen to purchase a book explaining how the scientific mysteries are performed.

Mammoth Show

This exposition of Blackstone's, requiring two cars to transport its paraphernalia, is gigantic in its scope, side-splitting in its comedy, mind-bewildering in its mystery, and hair-raising in its drama Eggs hatch before the spectators' eyes into ducks that waddle across the stage into the "Duck Inn," moving in a solemn two-deep procession that convulses the audience. Then the ducks disappear into thin air, and come out of it again on the magician's bidding. A dainty maiden in very summery clothes has her parasol filled with brilliant flowers from an empty poke; a heavy ball declares mutely that Newton only dreamed the apple hit him on the head; the spirit of Antigonish and the MacDonald house chills the spines of the audience and a silent drama writes itself on the window panes of an empty house.

Among the most attractive spectacles are the exhibition of ladies' wearing apparel direct from the Rue de la Paix by an unusual route; the bachelor's dream—that drew the greatest applause from an audience appreciative of the charming tableau appearing from nowhere; the dream of India, and the closing Arab spectacle also set in the Orient.

A little girl who was presented by the magician with a white and black rabbit squeezed it so hard that it turned into a box of chocolates was first asked to name the bunny and convulsed the spectators by naively enquiring, "Is it a boy?" It she named it "Jack," reminding the audience of the police station cat that the Peterboro force first name "Joe" and later changed it to "Josephine."

Blackstone will repeat his performance tonight and tomorrow night, with variations. He issues a request that anyone who wishes to see performed anything he ever saw, heard of, or read of, in the line of spiritualism will state his wants at the box office and the magician will reproduce the phenomena on the stage.

AT THE GRAND

SPIRIT STUNTS SHOWN TONIGHT.

Blackstone "Spook" Demonstration in Addition to Regular Magic Programme.

Tonight at the Grand Blackstone will demonstrate that every alleged supernatural spiritualistic manifestation can be duplicated in a purely scientific and natural manner. The necromancer does not go so far as to call this an expose of the methods employed by dealers in the occult, but he does assert that there is no experiment ever conceived that he cannot duplicate on a fully lighted stage within full view of an audience and still escape detection.

The "spook" feature will be provided in addition to the regular Blackstone performance, which includes "The Vanishing Horse" and scores of other diverting episodes. Tonight's demonstration will not be repeated. Tomorrow as an added attraction Blackstone will show for the first time in this city his new repertoire of original card tricks. Saturday night he will attempt to escape from a stout packing case. Saturday afternoon a large number of pretty rabbits will be materialized by Blackstone and presented to the kiddies.

Apart from the special events which occur for one day only, the greater portion of the magic program will be changed Saturday night. Blackstone's master piece, "Birth of Fashion," will be revealed. Only a few of the illusions from the first day will be retained by special request.

AT THE ROYAL

NAZIMOVA IN STIRRING FILM

Picture lovers have a treat at the Royal Theatre this week, where the Vitagraph picture, "The Redeeming Sin," opened a three-day run of this production, and Nazimova is at her superlative best.

The celebrated actress plays the role of a "queen of the Paris Apaches," a part that gives her an excellent opportunity to display her remarkable emotional powers and her decided talent as a dancer. Creditable as have been all her performances in the past, in this picture she rises to heights of artistry never attained before.

All the scenes are laid in Paris, the story having to do with an underworld gang in the French capital. The girl renounces her sordid life when she meets and is fascinated by a young aristocrat. Her reformation ends, though, when she discovers this man embracing another girl. This girl proves to be his sister, but Joan (Nazimova) does not know it at the time.

Lupine, the Apache leader, is madly in love with Joan, and to appease her he steals a wonderful pearl necklace for her. She asks that these be returned to their owner, however, and Lupine, much against his will, follows her request. Pleased with his devotion, the girl decides that, after all, she prefers Lupine to any other man.

A realistic fight among the Apaches in the Paris sewers is one of the startling highlights in a picture that abounds in thrills. The famous sewers, with boats operating through the passages, are depicted with remarkable fidelity to the graphic descriptions given by Victor Hugo and other French novelists.

"The Redeeming Sin," a J. Stuart Blackton production, was admirably directed. Viewed from whatever standpoint, the picture is splendidly done and should rank among the outstanding productions of the year.

ANDY GUMP AT HIS BEST

The best of the Gump series, is the verdict of the crowds who saw Andy's Hat in the Ring last night at the Royal. The stunts on the tall buildings puts Harold Lloyd in the shade.

WINNING NUMBER IS 219

Last night at the Royal, the winner of the ton of coal proved to be Number 219.

Mr. Rolly Denne officiated at the drawing, and after asking for assistance from the audience, Miss Betty Pillings came forward and drew the Number 219.

The holder of the opposite end of 219 was not in the theatre.

Somewhere in a Peterboro home or a pocket today is the Lucky Number 219. Will the holder bring it to the Royal and get their cheque for $16.50, the price of one ton of the best coal.

PETER THE GREAT AS THE SECRET SERVICE DOG AT CAPITOL

A NEW SCREEN STAR who actually leaps into immediate popularity is introduced in the interesting Metro-Goldwyn film now playing at Capitol Theatre. The new luminary makes his initial bow in the title role of 'The Silent Accuser," produced and directed by Chester M. Franklin and is presented by Louis B. Mayer. He is Peter the Great, a canine actor of extraordinary ability and appeal.

The story of "The Silent Accuser" has great strength and the rapidly moving, closely knit episodes furnish the talented dog with material that calls for almost human acting, but which the animal does in such a way that it seems natural and not trick stuff

Although the main interest centers on the dog, the huamn actors and the exciting story also grip the interest Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee and Earle Metcalfe are the featured players Incidentlly the popular Miss Boardman plays a youth during a part of the story which tells of how the hero's dog is the only witness to a murder and is solely responsible for catching the real criminal when his master is falsely accused The story was written by Jack Boyle and adapted to the screen by Frank OConnor, the assistant director and Chester M Franklin, who directed the picture

AT THE REGENT

RACETRACK FILM DRAWING CROWDS AT REGENT THEATRE

"Gold Heels," an Adaptation From Celebrated Stage Play "Checkers" by Henry Blossom.

BOBBY AGNEW IN LEAD. And Peggy Shaw Plays Opposite Him in Role of "Pert" Barlow.

That the motion picture theatregoers have long wanted a film about the racetrack and its followers is evidenced by the monster crowds turning out to see the William Fox special photoplay "Gold Heels," now running at the Regent Theatre.

The picture is an adaptation from that celebrated racing play of a decade ago "Checkers," by Henry Blossom, Jr., and was directed by W. S. Van Dyke. John Stone wrote the scenario.

Bobby Agnew and Peggy Shaw have the leading roles in the production. They are supported by an excellent cast which includes such film favorites as Lucien Littlefield, William Norton Bailey, Carl Stockdale, Fred Butler, James Douglas, Winifred Landis, Katherine Craig, Buck Black and Betty Hisle.

Bobby Agnew, as "Checkers" Campbell, upright little jockey who refused to pull his mount, is a decided hit as is Peggy Shaw, playing "Pert" Barlow. Lucien Littlefield's characterization of "Push" Miller, picturesque racetrack tout, will be remembered as one of the really humorous roles of screenland.

LINDSAY SPORTS TREAT SPOTTERS

Fine of $650 and One Month in Jail For Each.

APPEAL TAKEN.

LINDSAY, Feb. 27.—(Special). — At a session of the Police Court, which continued at the Court-House on Thursday from 9.30 o'clock in the morning until late at night, two local men, 'Trooper' Kennedy and 'Dude' Griffis, were each fined $650 and one month in jail for selling liquor. In default of payment of the fine, the two men will spend four months in the county jail. This case is the result of the visit of two Provincial officers to Lindsay a couple of weeks ago. The "spotters" won their way into the good graces of a number of Lindsay sports, and, according to the evidence, considerable liquor figured in their associations with each other.

The trial attracted a great deal of interest, the court-room being crowded to capacity. The evidence adduced was of contradictory nature. The "spotters" were not quite positive in their dates, and underwent a severe gruelling at the hands of the lawyers for the defence. The evidence on the whole proved conclusively that there is quite a traffic in liquor in this town, and that it is not very difficult to get a supply from those who are engaged in the traffic.

An appeal will be taken against Police Magistrate Bradford's judgment, the accused being allowed out on $1,000 bail.

FOUR SCORE DIE IN FIERCE GALE

Believed 84 Fishermen and Sailors Lost in Icelandic Waters.

THREE VESSELS.

HULL, Eng., Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press). — Eighty-four men are believed to have been lost in fierce gales which have swept the Icelandic fishing grounds in the last four days.

Fourteen men went down with the Hull steam trawler Scapa Flow, six Hull fishermen and twenty-four Icelanders were lost in the fishery steamer Field Marshal Robertson, and news has reached here that the Icelandic steamer Leiferbepar is lost with forty hands, all Icelanders.

MONEY RATES HIGHER.

Possible Rise in Bank of England Rates Next Thursday.

LONDON, Feb 27 — (Canadian Press)—Adjustment of money rates in New York to a higher level through advance of the federal reserve banks discount rate to 3 1-2 per cent caused some disorganization in Lombard Street this morning, it being found necessary there to adjust monetary rates to meet the new situation and prepare for a possible rise in tht bank of England rate next Thursday, which some authorities seem to think will occur.

DOROTHY PARK CLUB.

Pupils Addressed by Mr. John Crane on Development of Church Music.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Dorothy Park Studio Club took place Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, the Peterboro Conservatory of Music.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and passed, vocal solos were given by Mrs. Spriggs, Misses Violet Davidson, Geraldine Collins, Bertha Hill, and Mr. Shannon McPherson, also two piano solos by Miss Mary Hartstone, pupil of Mrs. Burford Curtis.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. John Crane; his subject being "The Development of Church Music."

During the refreshment hour, much to the surprise and delight of all, Messrs. J. Crane, M. Park, R. Brown and D. Carlisle entertained the club with some of their quartette numbers, and only those that have had the privilege of hearing this noted quartette, know the wonderful and harmonioius blending of these voices, and when one hears singing such as these one feels and understands the influence singing has on a number of people.

The rendering of these selections brought forth round after round of applause, this was one of the brightest of the club's meetings.

The two rinks of the Ladies' Curling Club that captured the Ontario Tankard and brought it to Peterboro for the first time in history, were entertained this week by the local Ladies' Club to a supper in Hooper's Palm Room, when thirty of the ladies were present and five of the members of the executive of the Men's Curling Club. The men presented the ladies with lovely corsage bouquets and also provided some of the roses with which the Ladies' Club decorated the tables. Mrs. V. Eastwood, Senior, was in the chair. The toast to the two winning rinks was proposed by Mrs. R. M. Waddell and replied to by the skips, Mrs. W. H. Hill and Miss F. Gladman. Speaking for the Men's Club, Mr. R. F. Downey congratulated the ladies on their victory.

If she only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To that grave not far away,
Where we laid our little Norma
Just two years ago today.

TAX RATE DROPS TO 36 MILLS WITHOUT FURTHER TRIMMING; ONE PER CENT. DISCOUNT LOST

Finance Committee Providentially Finds $6,600 to Apply on 1924.

DUTY TO PUBLIC.

Alderman Meyers Points Out That the Rate Is Proportionately Lower in 1925.

In session for the second time this week, the Finance Committee succeeded last night in its object to cut down the tax rate for the year from 36.36 mills to an even 36 mills.

This resulted from the finding of approximately $6,000 and the reduction of the estimates by that amount.

Attempts to reduce the rate still further were foiled by a general sentiment favouring the carrying on of public utilities in an efficient manner, Aldermen Fife and Jones being specially prominent on the side of efficient administration, while Aldermen Crowe, Phelan, and Stocker were strong supporters of the "lower tax rate at any cost" policy.

> At the 36 mill rate the taxes on an assessment of $3,000 amount to $108. This is an increase of $4.20 over last year, when the taxes on property assessed at $3,000 amounted to $103.80.

Alderman Crowe started the ball rolling by declaring vehemently for a lower tax rate than even last year. Having been elected by a large majority while some others "just majn aged to squeeze in," he expressed the belief that he should have more to say than some other members.

"I'm for cutit^g this tax rate down, even if we have to suffer. the way we're doing now, we're saving at the tap and letting it out at the bung-hole," he said.

Alderman Stocker was strong in support, and made concrete suggestions for the reduction of the estimates to be presented to Council.

'Cut $5,000 out of storm drains, $1,500 off the police estimates, and $2,400 off the fire, water and light and the Board of Works" he proposed, the total cut being $8,900.

The opposition first raised its voice through Alderman Jones, who took up arms in behalf of the Fire Department.

"If we had two big fires at once," he warned, "we have not enough hose to do. If there comes a big fire don't blame me."

Mayor Turner opposed the reduction of the police estimates. "You can't put the policemen out on their beats in rags," he said, explaining that clothing had been skimped last year to provide other necessaries.

Alderman Greene, one of the economically inclined, pointed out that in the last twelve years the population of the city has increased only 1,500. Twelve years ago there were eighteen or twenty open bar rooms; drunk men on all the streets ,and a police force of four men. "I can't understand why it is necessary to have a force of twelve men now," he said. "Two of them could be dispensed with at a saving of $3,000.

"The tax situation, both Provincial and municipal, is the biggest bugbear business men have to face, and some of the men sitting around this table don't know what we are up against. Some retail merchants are losing money every day they have their doors open."

Mayor Turner pointed out that twelve years ago there were not so many automobiles, and with the bars open citizens knew where trouble brewed, and could avoid it. The automobile has brought a menace to life ,and citizens must be protected. The town is wide open twenty-four hours a day ,and more police protection is needed. "There are other conditions," His Worship declared, "more menacing than ever the bars were."

Alderman Fife censured the members of Council of ten years ago who skimped the work that should have been done then in order to have a low tax rate.

"If we cut the tax rate in the face of what we have to do," he declared, "we are failing to give service to the people. Face big things in a big way, and let us give the service we are here to give."

Alderman Meyers drew the attention of the committee to the fact that considering the circumstances, the tax rate this year is really lower than last year's. With $13,000 deficit from 1924 and an increased demand of $16,000 from the Board of Education, the City Council is called upon to provide $29,000 more in 1925 than in 1924.

Mighty London Sleeps; Peterboro' Ever Awake

Mayor J. J. Turner, explaining the need for police protection in Peterborough, told an anecdote last night relating to his recent trip to England that showed the difference in type betwen the two countries.

During the night, His Worship said, London is still and dead. no busses run; very few taxis are seen, and the underground has a rest. Until 8 o'clock on Sunday morning there is no life on the streets except the movements of the milk vendors.

In Toronto, on the other hand, street cars must run at night, and even in Peterborough, with its much smaller population, there is never an hour during night or day when the streets are clear of traffic.

This, he contends, necessitates the employment of more police to safeguard the peoples' interests.

SPOTTERS USED YOUNG STUDENT

High School Boy Instructed to Buy Whiskey in Lindsay Cases.

MANY INDIGNANT.

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—(Special).—Considerable indignation is expressed by citizens as a result of the actions of the Government spotters who were sen to Lindsay in order to trip up local bootleggers who have been quite active of late in plying their vocation. It was brought out in the evidence in the actions against three local men that three or four boys—one of them a student at the High School—had been employed as "go betweens" or purchasing agents. It was charged that these boys were given money by the spotters, and told to purchase liquor from those suspected of being in the illicit business. One of the boys, it is claimed, is only fourteen years of age.

Mr. C. Frost, counsel for one of the accused men, severely scored the methods used in order to try to trap suspected bootleggers. He doubted very much if any temperance man in the community would approve such tactics. Another member of the legal fraternity, who was not directly connected with the cases before the court, stated that the methods employed by spotters in their zeal for convictions should be exposed.

HIRED AT SCOTCH RATES

Memorial Caretaker in Scottish Town is Not Overpaid.

ELGIN, Scotland, Feb. 28.—The town council has not erred on the score of extravagance, or upset any of the theories regarding Scotch thrift, by appointing a caretaker to look after the town war memorial, for two shillings and sixpence a week. For this sum the caretaker must—

Remove all withered flowers and leaves from the memorial;

Carefully arrange the wreath daily;

Prohibit the parking of motor cars near the memorial;

Prevent people from standing on the memorial steps, and see that the memorial and its surroundings are kept clean and neat.

BOLTERS RETURN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Sessions of the Indiana Senate, blocked for two days by the absence of Democratic members who left the State and went to Dayton, Ohio, in an effort to halt action on a gerrymander bill, were resumed yesterday when the truants returned to their seats. It is said they had secured a satisfactory agreement.

SEIZURE BRITISH BOAT ILLEGAL

U.S. Federal Judge Rules That Coast Guards Trap Not Justified.

TREATY VIOLATED.

BOSTON, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press)—Holding that the use of speed boats capable of making faster time than ordinary commercial craft used to make purchases of liquor from foreign vessels lying at anchor an hour's sail off the American coast, is "mere entrapment, quite outside the purpose and intent of the treaty," Federal Judge Morton yesterday handed down his opinion that the seizure of the British rum runner, Marjorie E. Bachman by the coastguard cutter, Tampa, last October, was illegal and ordered dismissal of the government's demand for forfeiture of the ship and her cargo.

The Marjorie E. Bachman was seized more than 21 miles off Gloucester on October 24 last, after the government had established the fact that she was selling liquor by sending the Sea Sled, capable of making 40 miles an hour, out to her, manned by officers who were instructed to make purchases. The men on the Sea Sled purchased a quantity of liquor. The rum runner was seized by the coastguard cutter, Tampa, the next day.

The treaty with Great Britain provides that any vessel flying the flag of that country may be seized if she is found to be sellink liquor within an hour's sail from the American coast.

PLOTTED TO SLAY PRESIDENT WILSON

Dastatrdly Wholesale Assassination in U. S. Thwarted During the War.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—Besides verifying the story of a plot to assassinate President Wilson, as told in Samuel Gomper's autobiography, which has just been published, Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the executive council of the National Civic Federation, disclosed yesterday, that attempt to kill J. P. Morgan, Charles M. Schwab and T. Coleman, Dupont, were discovered and thwarted during the war.

Easley said that the conspirators had planned to shoot President Wilson with a smokeless and noiseless gun from behind a tree on the White House grounds.

Although the plots against Wilson, Morgan, Schwab and Dupont were reported to him by a secret agent, called "Garland" in Gomper's book, Easley said the plots were discovered by another operative, a former New York policeman, who became a member of an anarchist society and attended their meetings.

WAND VS. BOGUE

Settled Between Parties.

The report in last evening's Examiner gives an erroneous impression regarding the action brought by Mr. Edmund Wand against James Bogue. As a matter of fact the case was not tried before His Honor Judge Cameron, but was settled amicably between the parties and in the adjustment of the accounts the action was settled by Mr. Bogue agreeing to have judgment entered against him for $700 and each party to pay their own costs. Part of the terms of settlement was that Mr. Bogue consented to his claim for damages being dismissed without costs. Consent Minutes of Judgment were endorsed on the back of the Record without any trial having taken place at all.

RAILWAYS TIED UP BY SNOW IN NORTH ONTARIO

T. and N. O. Trains Battled Drifts All the Way to Cochrane.

SLOW PROGRESS.

Fierce Gales Sweep Maritime Provinces—Rear-end Collision Near Matheson.

NORTH BAY, Feb. 28.—Points north of Englehart were completely shut off from railway connection with the south Friday, due to the severe snowstorm that has raged for three days over Northern Ontario. Northbound trains leaving here Thursday morning reached the northern end of the T. and N. O. line only yesterday morning. The Timmins, Iroquois Falls and other branches are completely at a standstill, with no trains moving. All available crews are endeavoring to get the main line to Cochrane open, but it would be a mere guess to say when it will be possible for trains from Cochrane or other northern points to get through.

The Canadian National line west of Cochrane is tied up and their Continental Limited are being detoured by way of the Long Lac cut off, Capreol and North Bay. Train No. 47 which left Toronto Thursday got as far as Englehart Friday and was turned there and went south last night. Train No. 17, carrying Montreal traffic for Timmins and the northern mails passed Cobalt Friday afternoon bucking snow drifts every hundred yards and making slow progress, but with hope of getting through.

Collision in Storm

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.— Traffic on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway was impeded for some time Thursday, says a report issued by the Canadian National Railway headquarters here last evening, due to a rear-end collision between the northbound Train No. 1 of the Canadian National running on the T. and N. O. lines from North Bay to Cochrane, and Train No. 47, at mileage 162, near Matheson, New Ontario.

The collision occurred in the midst of a blinding snow storm. Train No. 47 was standing in the main track when No. 1 ran into it. No. 1 was the Continental Limited, from Montreal to Vancouver.

The reports states that no passengers, members of the train crew or equipment of the Canadian National train were injured, and declares that at the time the Continental Limited was manned by personnel of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario system.

Four Trainmen Killed.

GARDINER, Me., Feb. 28.—Four trainmen were killed Friday when a westbound freight train crashed into the rear end of a stationary train.

Worst of Winter.

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 28.—Snowstorms in Quebec, reaching down into the province of New Brunswick, threaten the worst tie-up of the winter in the train services of the Atlantic region of the Canadian National Railways. According to reports at headquarters here, at two o'clock Friday the Ocean Limited was already fourteen hours behind schedule time with a plow stuck in front of it. On the trans-continental line no snow is reported south of Edmundston until this city was reached. There was a storm which threatened to become very severe accompanied by a high wind. The temperature dropped more than 35 degrees in 24 hours, and hovered around the zero point last night.

New Brunswick Gales

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 28.—With a 36-mile-an-hour wind blowing and a drop in the temperature, Spring weather reverted to Winter during Thursday night. A little snow also came. The high wind kicked up a heavy sea in the Bay of Fundy and the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship Empress had a hard time reaching Digby, N.S., from here Thursday. When she was half way out, a monstrous wave broke over the vessel, stove in the housing, smashed glass and did considerable damage in the saloon. The run took four house and a half, in place of the usual three hours.

FORTY KOREANS SHOT.

"Malcontents" In Clash With Japanese Police.

TOKIO, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press). — According to advices received by the Vernacular press here Friday from Seoul, forty Koreans were shot to death in a clash with Japanese constabulary troops on the Malu border. The Koreans were described as malcontents. A small quantity of arms and munitions was captured by the constabulary troops.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF GERMANY DIED AFTER A WEEK'S ILLNESS

Frederich Ebert Took Helm of New Republic at Critical Time.

REMARKABLE LIFE.

(By Carl D. Groat—United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, Feb. 28. — Frederich Ebert, President of the German Republic, is dead.

The end came this morning to the remarkable man who started his life as a saddlemaker's apprentice, and lived to see the German Empire overthrown and himself named the first head of the new democracy.

Suddenly stricken ill on Monday night and operated on on Tuesday morning, Ebert weathered the ensuing critical days until early to-day, when a sudden relapse occurred as his physicians were beginning to restore hope of his recovery. His sturdy physique, awakened by the poison of peritonitis, failed to rally and he died at 10.15 a.m.

Praise from Bernstorff.

BERLIN, Feb. 28— (United Press) —Count Von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, paid tribute to Ebert in a telegram received by the United Press from Starnberg, Bavaria. It read:

"President Ebert's historical merit is that he rescued Germany from Bolshevism. He did not wan: revolution but when the refusal of the Kaiser to abdicate made revolution unavoidable. Ebert took over the leadership with a firm hand and gradually restored order by retaining — contrary to te desires of the radicals —the good will of former officials. Thereafter he governed with fine tact and great non-partisianship. 'Silent dignity marked his administration."

Enemies Admitted Skill.

The former saddle maker whose skill in guiding the infant republic through the first turbulant years of its existence was acknowledged even by his bitter enemies, made a gallant fight for life, but his system had been undermined by an attack of influenza preceding the operation and his heart was not equal to the burden imposed by the poison, which had spread throughout his system.

Around his bedside when the end came were grouped his wife, their daughter Amalia and her husband, Dr. Wilhelm Jaenecke, and their sole son to survive, the war, Friedrich, Jr.

State Secretary Meissner was the only other person present aside from the doctor and nurses.

Herr Ebert was first taken seriously ill late on Monday night when hurriedly summonded physicians diagnosed his case as appendicitis. In the midst of a snowstorm he was removed from his official residence in the Wilhelmstrasse to West Sanitarium where Dr. August Dier, one of the most eminent of Germany's surgeons performed an operation at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning, assisted by Dr Richard Krueger.

The operation disclosed conditions leading the surgeons to believe that the President had sufered for years. The appendix was slightly perforated Helped Dawes Plan.

President Ebert was first of all, the German leaders to forget party lines when it became necessary to check the extremists, either in radical or conservative camps. He frequently brought curses upon his head from one side or the other by approving measures which they, according to their viewpoints, deemed either re-actionary or too radical.

His attitude won the confidence of the Ambassadors and Ministers accredited to Berlin, and he was a powerful factor in bringing about the acceptance of the Dawes plan which promised to calm the storm that had raged about the reparation problem for so many years.

Herr Ebert started in life as a saddle maker but years of experience as labor organizer and official of unions together with his wide training in practical politics developed him. His lack of early opportunities was compensated for by the training he won in world affairs.

The public received news of the President's death through the half masting of flags on the foreign office, the British and United States Embassies and Government buildings along the Wilhelmstrasse.

A meeting of the Cabinet was called for noon, and the Reichstag will be convened on Monday when it will probably arrange a new election date in advance of the one scheduled for June. The choice of a regular successor to Herr Ebert will relieve Chancellor Luther of the responsibility of carrying on the Presidential duties in addition to his own office.

FARMERS FIND GOLD.

Precious Metals Uncovered on Charleton Lake Farm Land.

BROCKVILLE, February 28.—A find of both gold and silver ,the extent of which has not been fully determined, is reported from Lot 23, Eight Concession, Township of Rear of Yonge and Escott, where prospecting of twenty years' duration has uncovered veins of both minerals. Whether the precious metals are in paying quantities is yet to be found by assay. The farm upon which the find has been made is owned by members of the Hudson family. The presence of the two minerals was discovered by Thomas Hudson ,and hos brother Jack Hudson. It is situated about half a mile from Charleston Lake and three-quarters of a mile southeast of Charleston Village.

THREE OF C. P. R. SNOW PLOW CREW KILLED ON SIDING BY PASSENGER ENGINE DERAILED ON MAIN LINE

Three Men Rescued After Drifting a Month at Sea

EASTHAMPTON, L.I., Feb. 28.—Adrift in the Atlantic Ocean for almost one month, three men in an open boat were rescued by the crew of the Texas Oil Company tanker, Lightburne, about 375 miles north of Miami, Fla., late yesterday afternoon, according to a wireless despatch picked up by the Independent Wireless Company's station here.

The trio, emaciated and facing starvation, are said to have been carried out from Miami by a storm.

The steamer Lightburne was outward bound from Norfolk, Va., to Galveston, Texas, when she encountered the drifting boat, according to the wireless message, the men were weak but are recovering aboard the vessel.

Trainmen Crushed in Splintered Cab of Plow—Wreck Near Lachute, Que.

HIGHWAY CROSSING.

Engine Probably Detrailed by Accumulated Ice—Crashed Into Standing Plow.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—Alphonse St. Jean was killed instantly and Joseph Franc and Leopold Desjardins succumbed later to injuries received when the Canadian Pacific Railway Local, No. 426, from Calumet to Montreal crashed into a snow plow about one half mile from Lachute, Que. All the dead men were members of the crew of the snow plow.

The snow plow had switched into a siding to permit the Calumet train to pass, but the local swing into the same switch, and travelling at full speed crashed into the standing plow. The engine of the passenger train mounted the cab and crushed t. Jean among the debris, also pinning down both Desjardins and Franc. When assistance arrived, St. Jean was dead. Desjardins and Franc were hurriedly conveyed by train to hospital in Montreal, but Desjardins died en route and Franc succumbed shortly after admission to the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Investigation failed to reveal the cause of the accident. The snow plow had switched into the siding after having cleared the track at Lachute Mills and it was headed west. The statement issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters here last night indicates the accumulation of snow and ice as a probable cause of derailment of the locomotive.

The statement says: "At 8.32 o'clock this morning the leading wheels of the engine on Canadian Pacific Train No. 426 were derailed at a highway crossing a short distance west of Lachute, where snow and ice had accumulated as a result of last night's storm. In consequence of the derailed engine truck, the train head into a side trick and struck snow plow, Extra-West, which was standing in the siding to clear the eastbound train."

CANADIAN NEWS SUBSIDY $32,000

Publicity in British Press — Agency Sends 10,000 Words Monthly.

GENERAL NEWS.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—A vote in the estimates of the Department of Trade and Commerce for $32,000, covering British and foreign news service, brought forth some discussion in the House of Commons yesterday.

Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, York West) inquired as to terms of the contract with Reuters' news service.

Mr. Low explained that by the contracts, 10,000 words per month were carried by cable.

Sir Henry Drayton said it was publication that was of interest to the House, and he wanted to know to what extent the cables were being published. Mr. Low said that 12,700 clippings had been taken from British papers of the news carried by the cable service.

A. Speakman (Progressive-Red Deer) pointed out that a phrase of the contract said it was "to promote the best interests of Canada." Who exercised the supevision?

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, pointed out it would make a difference if government statements were published without the other side of the case being presented.

Mr. Low said that the news was taken from all sources.

The vote carried.

BULLETS MISSING PRIOR TO TRAGEDY

Re-Trial of Montreal Watchman on Charge of Murder.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28—(Canadian Press). — Bullets that disappeared from the chambers of the revolver kept for the use of watchmen constituted a plant mystery for five weeks preceding the tragedy, John Sproston, keeper of the weapon, swore Friday afternoon at the retrial of Christopher White, charged with the murder of William Clarke, a fellow night watchman, on August 8, 1924, on the premises of Jenkins Bros., Ltd., valve manufacturers.

Five weeks before the murder, Sproston said, he had filled the chambers. A week later he had found only two shells, and inquiry had failed to account for the missing four. And after the murder, he had found one empty shell in the gun. As he had reloaded the arm a month before the night of the assassination, nine cartridges altogether had been unaccounted for.

The evidence prompted Mr. Justice Wilson personally to take up interrogation of the witness at considerable length. Much of the afternoon was spent poring over blueprints and photographs of the plant, the jury exhibiting a lively interest in the intricacies of the layout.

MURDERED FAMILY TO STEAL MONEY

Horrible Crime Is Brought Home to Two German Boy Thieves.

CONFESSION FORCED.

BERLIN, Feb. 27. — After three months of stubborn denial, two boys, one fourteen, the other sixteen, of the village of Weiher, in Bavaria, have confessed that they murdered their father, their mother and two other brothers, to steal their money.

The boys are Alfred and George Mausel. The murder was committed on the night of October 14.

They were put through the third degree. Three clergymen also questioned them. Stubbornly they denied the murder. Finally, however, Prosecutor Vogelsang, of the Criminal Court of Bayreuth, forced them to confess.

He first took the younger boy, Alfred, and in a fatherly talk urged him to tell the truth. The boy gradually softened. Then he said:

"George drove me into it. I had a hammer and went ahead. I hit father and mother and two brothers with it and made them unconscious. George came after me with an axe and killed them. After that George threw a shoe belonging to mother out of the window, and some clothes belonging to father were concealed in the barn so as to make it appear that burglars had committed the murder. After that George immediately took all the money that he found."

Reveals Where Body Of President's Slayer Lies

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).—John Wilkes Booth, assassin of President Abraham Lincoln, whose burial place has been a mystery, was buried in the basement of a warehouse at Portsmouth, Va., Colonel Hamilton Davison, formerly attached to the United States army post at Portsmouth, has revealed. Booths' body was covered with acid and the grave filled with limestone and dirt, Coolnel Davison said.

Seven men attached to the United States secret service buried Booth and were sworn never to reveal the burial place. The last survivor of this burial squad died recently without telling the secret. Colonel Davison says he was told of the burial place by Colonel Baker, head of the United States Secret Service at the time of Lincoln's assassination, who had charge of the burial Baker is dead.

ARRESTED ON A MURDER CHARGE

Alleged Slayer of a Fellow Boarder Traced From Connecticut to Oshawa.

LAW'S LONG ARM.

OSHAWA, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press.)— Giovanni Vottarie was placed under arrest here last night on the charge of killing Joseph D'Angelo and wounding Mrs. Amelia Scoata at New Britain, Conn., on Sept. 21st last.

Vottarie has been living in Oshawa for the last three months. The long arm of the law reached out when Detective Patrick Omara of Connecticut town arrived here yesterday, and with the help of local police arrested Vottarie. The accused was discovered in bed at his boarding house and when taken into custody said: "I have nothing to fear."

The victims of the affair last September were shot. Vottarie and D'Angelo had been fellow boarders at the home of Mrs. Scoata. The latter recovered. A reward was then offered for the arrest of Vottarie.

"Vottarie this morning signified his willingness to return to New Britain to stand trial, and left for the United States town in the custody of Detective O'Mara.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN WEEK'S TRADE

Collections Generally Reported Slow—Winnipeg Finds Some Improvement.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 28. —The weekly trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association Limited reads:

Halifax: Trade conditions generally are quiet but steady.

St. John— Wholesale trade reported to be only fair. Retail trade slow. Collections poor.

Montreal: Boots and shoes—A little more activity shown than last week, sales improving slightly, some improvement in sales noted, many firms getting ready for Spring trade but sales are reported not up to former years at this time. Collections slow. Groceries, same as reported last week. Collections fair. Hardware —Very little improvement shown as yet, sales fair. Collections poor.

Toronto — Wholesale and retail trade in general holding up fairly well and up to expectation for this time of the year. Industry—In a few cases there are signs of expansion but generally conditions are of a moderate tone.

Winnipeg: Wholesale and retail conditions generally are on the upward trend. Although no material change has been noted. Collections slow to fair.

Regina: Wholesale and retail trade not showing any material change over last week although better conditions looked for.

Saskatoon—Trade conditions reported quiet in wholesale lines and retail trade dull. Collections poor.

Calgary— Business conditions in all lines reported to be about the same as last week, and better prospects looked for with the advent of spring. Collections fair.

Vancouver—Not much change has been noted in wholesale and retail trade conditions, although business generally is up to expectations. Collections slow to fair.

PEER JOINS LABOR PARTY

Son of Famous Judge Throws In His Lot With Laborites.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Another of the noble lords of Great Britain has joined the Labor party, Lord Gorell, the second son of the famous divorce court judge, Justice Gorell Barnes. Lord Gorell is the third holder of the peerage. His elder brother was killed in the war.

Poet, novelist, journalist, cricketer and under secretary for air in the coalition government, Lord Gorell has led an active life, and is now chairman of the Miners' Social Welfare Committee. He is 40 years of age, was educated at Winchester, Harrow, and Balliol College, Oxford, and became a barrister in 1909. For more than four years he was on the staff of a London daily newspaper. He served during the war and then as depufy director of staff duties, arranging education courses for young soldiers.

AGONIZING RHEUMATISM

OF 5 YEARS STANDING COMPLETELY RELIEVED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. JAMES DOBSON

"Be good enough to publish for the information of Rheumatism sufferers how "Fruit-a-tives" relieved my Rheumatism which had at least five years' standing. "The trouble was in my right hip and shoulder; the pain almost unendurable. This kept up until I started to take "Fruit-a-tives". After a continuous treatment for about six months, I am now in first-class condition. This, I attribute to my persistent use of "Fruit-a-tives."

The above is the letter which Mr. James Dobson of Bronte, Ont., wrote after trying the wonderful Fruit Treatment — "Fruit-a-tives" — which consists of intensified fruit juices combined with tonics. If you suffer with Rheumatism, "Fruit-a-tives" will make you well and keep you well. 25c. and 50c. at dealers.

They Have Enjoyed the Picture

(By Jeanette.)

He is taking a girl to the movies. Not his best girl. She is out of town. But one of the "bunch" that he went around with. He selects his shirt and tie with care, and changes his cuff links for a pair with red stones. He departs into the dark night to escort his sheba to the classiest picture palace in town.

It is a sad picture. One of those pleasurably miserable affairs where the hero is pursued by a band of miscreants who purpose to deprive him, preferably by force, of his home and his spare cash and even his sweetheart. From the evil eye with which the villain regards his six-shooter, they may even have designs on his life. But the hero is a regular "he" man, with brawny chaps and a rolling walk and a wide-brimmed sombrero. Moreover, he has a trusty horse and dog by his side, and his heart is valiant.

They sit in what used to be termed, in the legitimate houses, the "dress circle." Their profiles, turned to each other ,intercept the view of the fat man who sits behind them. The girl has a "bobby" comb and employs the first five minutes in running it through her locks, fluffing them out thereafter with a practised hand. The youth disposes his coat and hat and tie on the front rail. The fat man behind cranes his neck in an effort to see the opening News Reel.

Through the opening which enlarges and shrinks as the two in front alternately converse with each other, then draw apart, he gloomily observes the comedy, a riotous jumble of pie-throwing in a restaurant and mad chasing with an auto of a pair of eloping citizens.

Then comes the feature. The youth hitches nearer the maiden as the heroine appears, a fluffy creature in a frilled frock and beautifully marcelled head. The fat man shifts his position.

The plot thickens. The hero is being "framed" by a group of thugs who have such evil designs on him and his happiness. Confidingly, the girl in the seat ahead thrusts her little hand into the moist clasp of her escort. The man behind, his neck twisted at an angle of thirty degres, rubs it crossly. It is beginning to ache.

Swiftly approaches the thrill of the piece. Now they have the hero chained in the burning building. Through the window peres his faithful hound, but the flames have reached his waist, and he writhes with pain. The audience squirm in sympathy, all but the fat man. He can see nothing but the nose of the dog and the head of the girl reposing on the shoulder of her escort.

Suddenly the horse arrives in the nick of time, unlatches the door, enters, and undoes the knots in the rope. The girl has taken her head away again and the fat man breathes more easily. He can see the picture.

Reeling along, the scorched hero thunders madly through a blazing forest, to rescue the heroine, immured in a rocky cave and threatened by the vile attentions of the leader of the bandit gang. As she spurns him, the girl once more lays her head on her companion's bony shoulder. The man behind peers at a precarious angle around the two headpieces.

Sudenly the hero arrives, just in the nick of time. The bandit is about to shoot the heroine, who has foolishly continued to defy him. As the faithful dog leaps upon him, while the hero menaces him in the rear, the youth in front kisses his sweetheart. The fat man swears audibly, gets up and goes out. He has left the lady and the gentleman of the picture in a terrible position, but he cares not. He bites savagely at the end of a cigar as he puts on his coat in the lobby.

The hero and heroine are in each other's arms. It is the final close up. In the "dress circle" seats, the youth and maiden kiss each other rapturously. Suddenly the lights come on. She arranges her hair and looks rather foolish. She is a plain-looking girl in a brown coat. The couple next them, who have preserved a correct distance or six inches apart throughout the entire performance, look at her superciliously.

The youth gazes downward to where his scarf has fallen, to the floor beneath. He prepares to get it. The girl puts on her hat and they go out.

They have enjoyed the picture.

GUNNING FOR DOGS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Alvin Eberhardt 70-year-old deaf hermit went gunning for dogs recently with a .38 calibre pistol in his belt. He met Miss Lucy Weeks, standing in front of her home with a collie dog. Eberhardt shot the dog. After being forcibly disarmed and arrested by a policeman Eberhardt told a city magistrate that "everybody was siccing their dogs on him and he had been bitten five times in a week."

TAX RATE DROPS TO 36 MILLS

Proportionately, then, Alderman Meyers indicated, the rate of 36 mills is lower than the rate of 34 mills.

The question was brought to a head by a motion by Alderman Jones and Mayor Turner that the rate be 36 mills, and by an amendment by Aldermen Stocker and Crowe that it be reduced by a half-mill.

The vote in Committee was:
36 mill rate	35½ mill rate
Jones	Stocker
Turner	Greene
Meyers	McIntyre
Denne	Crowe
Fife	Phelan
Mayor

This 36-mill rate will now go before the City Council in regular session on Monday night with a by-law, and further discussion may take place there.

A noteworthy point in last night's discussion was the fact that Alderman Turner was the only chairman of a committee to seriously suggest trimming his own estimate. In view of the general desire for economy he submitted his estimates for the pleasure of the Finance Committee and the good of the cause. Others had shown a desire to trim every other committee than their own, and some even sought an increase over the amount allotted.

No One Per Cent.

Because there is no column in the tax collector's book for entering the discount, the proposal to give taxpayers the benefit of a 1 per cent. discount for prompt payment of the full account on the due date of the first instalment was abandoned.

Aldermen Denne and Stocker fathered the motion, providing that the books are correctly ruled next year to take care of the entries in case the Council decides to make the innovation then.

Trent Waterway.

A delegation of directors of the Trent Waterway Development Association, F. D. Kerr, K.C., first vice-president, and J. Wells Fraser, and the secretary, Leon Frazer, waited on the Council to protest the trimming of the allowance for the development of the waterway and to ask further consideration.

The grant last year was $400, and it was proposed to cut it to $200 this year.

F. D. Kerr said he asked the City Council to co-operate in maintaining the city as the centre of the Trent system. Everywhere in the world where there is any pretence to scenery is making efforts to obtain tourist traffic—even Germany.

"I am absolutely behind the Council in the matter of economy," Mr. Kerr said, "but I ask you to consider that we are trying to keep the leadership in this organisation that extends from Georgian Bay to the mouth of the Trent."

J. Wells Fraser, in a dual capacity, representing the Association and the Chamber of Commerce, said the two bodies are closely linked in seeking tourist traffic. The Chamber of Commerce has done much in this way. It has ben estimated that $32,000,000 came into Ontario in 1924 through tourist traffic.

Leon Frazer pointed out that all other centres would follow Peterborough's lead in cutting the grants, and the required sum would not be raised. He pointed out that the following apportionment for the year had been made:

Bobcaygeon—$20.00.
Fenelon Falls—$100.00.
Lakefield—..$65.00.
Campbellford—$65.00.
Hastings—$50.00.
Lindsay—$100.00.
Victoria Council—$100.00.
Orillia—$200.00.
Peterborough—$460.00.
Trenton—$65.00.
Victoria Harbour—$25.00.
Midland—$200.00.
Penetang—$50.00.
Port Staunton—$50.00.
Waubaushene—$50.00.

This totals $1,600 ,and individual subscriptions bring it up to $1,900.

Three suggestions were made: By Alderman Jones and Mayor Turner, that $400.00 be granted; by Aldermen Crowe and Turner, that $200.00 be granted; and by Aldermen Stocker and Greene, that $300.00 be granted. A vote placed the amount at $200.00.

SCHOLAR LIKED ALARM OF FIRES

Three Years in Reformatory For Trying to Set Seminary on Fire.

SEVERAL ATTEMPTS.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press). — A young scholar of Three Rivers Seminary was condemned by Recorder Lord to three years in the General Reform School for having tried to set fire twice to the Seminary on January 21 and February 11. The young boy, who is 13 years of age, was arrested following an enquiry by the police.

He explained to the court he liked to see horses and fire wagons run to a fire. He had also rung false alarms on February 17 and 18.

At the Seminary, small fires were discovered in rubbish boxes several times, but on January 21 and February 11, the fires became threatening and it was then that complaints were made to the police, and the arrest followed.

Another scholar will be expelled from the Seminary. He knew of the fires and did not reveal the guilty party to the authorities.

McCORMICK FUNERAL.

Simple Service For Dead Senator in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press). — All stations of civil and political life in the nation, state and city were represented at the simple funeral services Friday for Senator Medill McCormick.

In accordance with his oft-expressed wish, the services at the Fourth Presbyterian Church included only prayers, Scriptural reading and singing by the choir, with no funeral oration or sermon.

The body will be entombed in Graceland Cemetery here until the final burial at Byron.

CAN'T ENFORCE DRY LAW

Finnish Government Finds Prohibition Leads to Increased Drinking.

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 28.—Finland, like the United States, has its prohibition difficulties and as a consequence a meeting of representatives of the larger towns was held here recently to discuss means of averting some of the evil consequences of the prohibition law.

The prinicpal speaker summed up the situation by saying that "in Finland everybody drinks except the president," whereas a few years ago Finland was one of the most sober countries in the world.

It was also declared that the well-organized smuggling traffic brought unlimited quantities of liquor to the most remote parts of the country, leading to increased drunkenness among both men and women. Even women and children, it was asserted, were taking to habitual drinking, and the moral standard was rapidly declining, resulting in increased criminality. It was decided to invite the authorities to take more stringent measures to enforce the law.

In Helsingfors some restaurants and clubs have been closed for offenses against the prohibition law.

WOMEN GET EQUAL PAY

Swedish Civil Service Pays Fixed Sum to Either Men or Women.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 28.—Sweden's working women have scored an important victory through the official recognition by the government of the principle of equal pay for men and women in the employ of the state. The recognition appears in the form of a recommendation submitted to the Riksdag by Minister of Finance Thorsson, along with the estimate for the next state budget.

In justifying his proposal Mr. Thorsson points out that the civil service law virtually gives women the same privileges and responsibilities as men, and it is only logical, therefore, that the salary of any given position should remain constant, whether the service is rendered by a man or a woman.

What makes the victory for the women the more striking is the fact that the budget estimate, in spite of the strictest scrutiny of every item, will involve an estimated expenditure of $11,000,000 more than last year. This means that, although no new or increased taxes are contemplated, all hope for an early tax reduction must be abandoned.

The minister of finance characterizes the economic situation in Sweden as generally good. He looks for stable conditions during the next fiscal year and says that, if there is any change, it is likely to be an improvement.

WOOD IN BARCELONA; MAY RETURN HOME.

Said to Have Offer of a Place in Buffalo—Paris Friends Expect to be Paid.

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 28.—Osborne C. Wood, son of Governor General Wood of the Philippines, against whom a complaint was filed recently at Biarritz in connection with an alleged worthless check, was at the Ritz Hotel here yesterday, but refused to see newspaper men who wished to interview him.

It was reported he was en route to Valencia.

DESIGNS DECORATE DANGEROUS DAGGER

Stone Age Hunters Had Eye for Beauty—and Retention of Property.

Hundreds of carved daggers have been found inside Europe's caves. The handles were often made from the antlers of reindeer. One such handle was cut in the shape of a mammoth. Of course, the bigness of the mammoth could not be shown well; but the tusks, head and legs were plainly made. Most of the blade of this dagger is missing, but what there is of it seems to show that the blade extended straight out in place of the trunk.

It seems that carving was quite often done just for the fun of it. For instance, the image of a horse's head has come down to us through the ages. It never formed a dagger handle, but was made because someone enjoyed the work.

We have before us a picture of this head. It was cut from ivory. Notice that the horse is whinnying.

From another piece of ivory a whole horse was carved. The animal was made about three inches long. When found, part of the legs had been broken or worn away, but the head, mane, body and tail were still plainly to be seen.

Now I am going to tell you something you may be surprised to hear —in a certain cave, an animal's tooth was found, but it no longer looked like a tooth. It was carved in the shape of the upper half of a woman's body!

Those artists of the Stone Age certainly made a mess of it when they tried to represent human beings. The other day I saw some of their paintings of women. You remember their wasp-like waists. It was just the other way around with almost all carvings. The women were made to look as if they were as fat as balloons.

In one case, however, a very good piece of work was done in shaping a woman's head. This bit of sculpture was found in a French cave.

Designs were often carved on handles of daggers Stone Age hunters used. Sometimes it was the image of a deer, sometimes of a bear or even a mammoth.

This was a handy thing to do because it prevented mixups. By means of the handles, men could tell which daggers were theirs. After they came in from a hunt, they could toss them in a heap and not worry about confusion.

IS NOT RICHEST GIRL IN WORLD

hasn't been that of the social butterfly. She didn't get a new frock every day. She's not the kind of debutante who goes into a closet chuck full of glittering evening gowns and says peevishly:

"I haven't a Thing to Wear."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has always made a will taking care of all those hundreds of millions that haven't been given away. And none of the six children is going to get any big part of it.

So, you see, when you come right down to it, Abby Rockefeller, daughter of John D., Jr., and grand-daughter of John D., Sr., child of a family worth half a billion dollars—is really a rather poor girl.

She could have married a millionaire or a multi-millionaire, perhaps. But she is marrying a struggling young lawyer who hasn't any too much money himself.

They'll live in a little apartment somewhere in the vicinity of Fifty-fourth street and Park avenue, but not on Park avenue. Park avenue flats are too expensive. They've looked at several places, but have not decided definitely on any of them.

They have one in mind—but they haven't signed the lease yet. They think, perhaps, they can get a cheaper place that is just as nice.

Society is speculating on the wedding, of course. It will be the social event of the year. But the probability is that it will be a very simple ceremony.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

Roads Impassable—New Organ For School—Auction Sales.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 28. — The roads are very icy and in a dangerous condition for travelling. There has not been any cars go through to Campbellford yet.

The Trustees of the Public School have decided to place an organ in the school, and have purchased one.

An auction sale was held yesterday at Mrs. Matilda Post's farm, Lot 4, Con. 13, Seymour. Horses, cattle, harness, vehicles and miscellaneous articles were disposed of by G. A. Hay, auctioneer.

Mr. Frank Toms held an auction sale of farm stock and implements at his late residence, the Johnston farm, on the Norwood Road.

The cold weather is favorable for the ice harvesters to finish their orders this week.

Advertising Rates on application.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1925.

THE TRENT WATERWAY ASSOCIATION.

It is unfortunate that the pruning activities of the city fathers in their efforts to keep the tax rate from climbing to unheard of heights have claimed as one of their victims the Trent Waterway Development Association, whose appropriation has been cut in two.

The association has to depend upon the municipalities of the district it serves for the funds to carry on its work, and the action of Peterboro in so materially reducing its grant may have the effect of causing other centres along the waterway to follow the local example, in which case the activities of the association will necessarily have to be curtailed.

The organization has done much to advertise the Trent Waterway and this section of Ontario, both by its display at the New York Motor Boat Show and by descriptive pamphlets that have been widely distributed and has undoubtedly been responsible for bringing many visitors here, who have spent money freely and been a stimulus to trade.

If some of its publicity efforts have to be abandoned for lack of funds just when the fruits of the earlier years' planning are being realized, the result will be a district loss.

A BUSINESS-LIKE PLAN.

The most business-like suggestion that has so far this session being advanced in the Federal House is that contained in a motion by Mr. G. G. Coate, Progressive member for MacLeod, who urged that the estimates should be studied by committees of investigation before being presented to the House.

These committees would have the power to examine witnesses as to the need of the respective expenditures, to recommend reductions where they saw fit and to supply the House with information as to their findings.

The plan will not carry—but it will be difficult to convince business men outside of Parliament that it would not be a very important step toward organized efficiency in dealing with estimates.

The present method does not tend to either economy or efficiency.

The members have little or no knowledge of many of the undertakings for which they are asked to provide money.

Followers of the Government hesitate to criticize, particularly when they are not sure of their ground, and the opposition is usually handicapped by the same lack of knowledge.

The result is an aimless and haphazard consideration of the estimates, with two days occupied in talking about a $10,000 item and another estimate involving millions slipping through almost without discussion.

Mr. Coate's plan would permit of something like an adequate investigation of the estimates, and would give Canada something approaching the budget bureau that operates satisfactorily in the United States.

VALUABLE PUBLICITY.

The statement of E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the Printers' Ink monthly that he considered it the duty of corporations such as the one over which he presides to instruct the younger generation in its history and significance, calls attention to the fact that the Canadian Pacific itself is blazing the trail in this respect.

Examiner readers doubtless have read with interest the advertising series published in this paper at the expense of the Canadian Pacific Railway and have realized that the publicity was an excellent thing for Canada, as well for the famous railway, inasmuch as these instructive advertisements are being published throughout the whole Dominion, with the result that Western cities are being exploited in the East and Eastern cities in the West, reminding Canadians that from St. John to Vancouver we are a nation, one and indivisable.

As President Beatty says: "My own view has always been that fundamentally all Canadian enterprise is based upon one conception, namely, confidence in the country and its future, and that this confidence will justify the establishment and maintenance of enterprises honestly conceived and efficiently administered.

The Canadian Pacific has always adopted the policy that the welfare of a great carrier is always indissolvibly bound with the welfare of the country it serves, and this educational advertising is another proof of the desire to closely follow that policy.

THE WEMBLEY EXHIBITION.

Hon. J. A. Robb, the Minister of Immigration and Colonization, is evidently determined that the Canadian display at the Wembley Exhibition this year will be one worthy of the Dominion.

The Minister has adopted the business-like course of advertising the enterprise in order to secure co-operation of Canadian manufacturers and to remind them that only three weeks remain in which applications for space may be sent in.

Mr. Robb is a firm believer in the value of the exhibit as a trade-developer for Canada.

The opportunities for making new and valuable trade connections are exceptional, he asserts, and the Government invites Canadian exhibitors to be fully represented.

When it is known that during the six months the Wembley Exhibition was open last year nearly eighteen million people attended the benefit of a worthwhile display from Canada will be realized.

There is no reason to believe that the attendance this year will fall below the 1924 figures, and while the Canadian exhibit last year was one of the best of the whole affair, Mr. Robb does well in seeking to make this year's display still more notable.

The advantage of being represented in the Canadian building at Wembley might suggest to some of Peterboro's manufacturers the advisability of accepting the Minister's invitation.

Peterboro factories manufacture many articles that can stand competition with the world, and the Wembley Exhibition offers, as Mr. Robb points, opportunities for establishing new trade connections of great importance.

ENGLAND'S "PROTECTION."

The event of the week in England was the forming of a queue of manufacturers, who are asking for protection under the new "Safeguarding of Industries Act."

The first applications were made by the following trades—pottery, glass, silk, tires, fabric gloves, carpets and aluminum hollow ware.

It will be a long queue. Before many weeks, nearly every industry in Britain will be in it.

The Government has at last solved its problem of adopting protection without breaking its pledges to free trade.

It has developed the "Safeguarding of Industries Act," which was a war measure introduced by Free Traders.

It has determined that "a rose by any other name would smell as sweet"; and so it is now using the new name—"safeguarding" instead of "protection." There is no more difference between the two than there is between tweedledum and tweedledee.

This solution of the problem has pleased nearly everyone. It has not been opposed by anyone except a few Liberal editors, who are denouncing it as a "scandal of protection." Bankers have had nothing to say against it.

The mass of English people are still Free Trade in conscience; but they are Protectionist in pocket. They have adopted a policy which they dislike, and they are grateful to the Government for the adroit way in which protection has been camouflaged as a temporary expedient.

The Government has decided that Free Trade is to be the rule, but that exceptions are to be made under certain conditions. These conditions are so universal that they will let in every industry in the British Isles.

Any trade may now apply for protection if it can prove that it is important, efficient and in danger by reason of unfair competition from abroad.

Once it passes these three tests, its request is to be considered by a Parliamentary committee.

If this committee reports favorably, then a finance bill is to be introduced into the House of Commons, giving a temporary protection to this trade. And there appears to be no reason why this time limit may not be extended indefinitely.

This is a long, slow, clumsy process.

No trade can possibly receive protection in less than four months.

There will be plenty of time for foreign nations to glut the English market, as all the proceedings will be carried on in public.

But this method avoids obstacles. It is a typically English compromise. That blessed word "temporary" has many a time helped a British Government out of a hole, and on this occasion it has been a godsend.

Most things, in England, are started as temporary expedients. Then they last for centuries.

The British constitution is composed of temporary expedients that have become permanent.

Even the high office of Prime Minister was created in this way. It was never established by act of Parliament. The Prime Minister was, at first, only the chairman of the Cabinet, temporarily taking the place of the King.

On this matter of protection, the fact is that Stanley Baldwin has driven a coach and four through free trade.

He had good reason to do this. He could not do anything else, in the face of the facts.

England is steadily losing her home market. She is being flooded with foreign goods. Here, for instance, is the excess of imports over exports in recent years:

1924	$1,740,000,000
1923	1,050,000,000
1922	900,000,000
1921	1,375,000,000
1920	1,875,000,000

This makes a grand total of $6,900,000,000 in the last five years.

England has always had an adverse balance of trade. Even in 1880 this balance was $625,000,000. But in pre-war days England had more foreign investments. Her "invisible exports" from investment, shipping, insurance and finance were vastly larger than they are today.

In 1924, for example, the net balance of trade in England's favor, is only $150,000,000. It is only $15 a family.

The British people have no prejudice in favor of British goods. They are all free traders when they buy. They were taught by Adam Smith to buy in the cheapest market, and they have never forgotten their lesson.

They are now buying Belgian lace in Nottingham, and French textiles in Manchester and German iron and steel in Sheffield.

They are buying American goods in every store in Great Britain. They prefer American machinery and automobiles and office appliances.

There is, at the moment, an exhibition in London of office machines and equipment; and fully 60 per cent. of the exhibits are American.

These are the facts and figures that have compelled England to move from free trade to protection; and there is every reason to believe that the new policy will be permanent. The new duties will not be taken off until other nations lower their tariff walls to admit British goods.—Herbert N. Casson, in Barron's.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Western Provinces doubtless are crowing over the Crow's Nest Pass decision.

It figures out that motorists are to get the privilege of driving at a rate of five miles an hour faster in exchange for a 3-cent tax on gasoline.

A New England bridegroom on his honeymoon yawned so vigorously that he dislocated his jaw. The bride has good grounds for divorce.

The debate on the Address still continues in the Legislature, to no purpose except to show that the stronger beer amendment is sure to carry.

The advantage of having a real river like the Otonabee is appreciated in the freshet season. Those fussy little riverlets like the Don and the Grand and the Moira are too small in the summer and too effervescent in the spring.

The Oke-Bowman alliance is the latest addition to the list of groups in the Ontario House. The roster now includes Conservatives, Liberals, Progressives, U. F. O. and Labour.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—A distinctly better tone to the cattle market generally has developed in the past two weeks. The improvement shown in last week's trading has been emphasized this week in a still better average of prices. Opening on Monday with a good active market for practically all the grades of cattle offering, prices closed 20c to 25c higher than the previous week's opening on all butcher cattle of good to choice quality. The run was not too heavy for a Monday's opening, and there was a comparatively small holdover at the end of the day. This and a light run of fresh cattle was pretty well cleaned up in Tuesday's market, with prices steady at Monday's advance. Wednesday opened with a lighter run than had been expected, and again the market was good and active, with prices showing a 10c to 15c further advance on the choicest butcher offerings. Choice handyweight butcher steers and heifers were quoted freely from $7.50 to $7.75, and choice quality heavy beef steers went from $8 to as high as $8.40 for the few tops. Fair to medium good butcher was steady to firm at the earlier advances, and rough and common stuff, not too plentiful, was fairly well cleared at good prices, quality considered.

The export trade is fairly active. Rogers and Maybee shipped out this week about 1,000 export cattle, and the H. P. Kennedy Co. about 400, besides the latter company's direct shipments from the west. Export buyers will be in the market again next week for about the same number of cattle. Export prices were steadily maintained at from $7.50 to $8.25 for fat steers; bulls, $4.75 to $5.25; heifers, $6.50 to $7, and good feeders, short keeps, $6.75 to $7.25.

All small meats held steady to firm.

Prices in the various sections are as follows:

Export cattle, choice and heavy steers, $7.50 to $8.25; bulls, $4.50 to $5.25; heifers, $6.50 to $7; stores, $6.50 to $7.

Choice butchers, $7 to $7.75; medium, $6 to $6.50; common, $4.50 to $5.50; baby beese, $8.50 to $9.

Choice fat cows, $5.50 to $5.

Stockers and feeders, choice shortkeep feeders, 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. $6.25 to $7; choice stockers, 800 to 950 lbs., $5.50 to $6; light western stock, $4.25 to $4.50; choice western, $6.25 to $6.75.

Calves steady.

Sheep and lambs steady.

Hogs higher at $11.25 to $11.40 f.o.b., and $12.25 to $12.40 off cars; selects, off cars, $2.22 per head premium.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 27. — Strong undertone on the wheat market today held around the high mark established yesterday. The bullish sentiment at one time sending May wheat up to $2.05 1-4. Buying pressure eased off slightly during the latter part of the session, respective closing figures being May, $2.03 7-8; July $1.99 3-4; Oct. $1.56 3-4.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. — Market situation generally is a little steadier, yesterday, the Chicago spot and February futures closed higher chiefly as a result of open contracts still incomplete. United States aggs continue to arrive in fair quantity at Ontario and Quebec Points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. — Persistent buying on the part of commission houses carried the wheat market sharply upward at times to-day in the face of heavy profit-taking sales. Unfavorable crop reports, especially from sections of Kansas were received and there was further export purchasing of the new domestic 1925 crop. Wheat closed unsettled 3-4 to 2 5-8 cents net higher, May 1.95 3-4 to 1.96 1-8 and July 1.67 1-2 to 1.67 3-4, with corn varying from 1-8c off to 3-8c gain and oats 1-4 to 5-8c down. In provisions the outcome ranged from 15c decline to 15c advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27. —With the exception of sales of odd loads of low grade oats for March shipment, the export trade in Canadian grain here to-day was quiet. There was no change in the condition of the local market for oats, prices being maintained at the recent advances noted.

The feature of the egg situation was the further weakness and prices scored a decline of one cent per dozen and prospects are that they will go lower owing to the Liberal supplies coming forward. A stronger feeling developed in the butter trade and prices advanced one cent per pound, which was attributed to the better demand from outside sources. The cheese market was quiet with fodder made No. 1 white and colored goods quoted at 20 1-4 to 20 1-2 cents per pound, and No. 2 grade at 19 1-4 to 18 1-2 cents per pound.

Beans were unchanged at $2.70 per bushel.

GREAT LAKE GULLS HARDY TRAVELLERS

Experts Find They Go As Far As Africa and South America.

Banding of gulls and terns of the great lakes by the Inland Bird Banding association, which is aiding the biological survey in the study of the life history of birds, has disclosed that they do not follow the same direction in their migration and that the world is their field in which to hibernate.

Two Capsian terns that were banded in the Beaver islands in northern Lake Michigan, have been found in Colombia South America according to William I. Lyon in charge of the association's work at Waukegan. A small common tern that was banded on the coast of Maine was found on the Niger river in Africa.

3,500 Birds Banded in Year.

A number of herring gulls banded in the Beaver islands were found in the Atlantic ocean near the Georgia-Florida line, and another young bird almost from the same nest, was reported from the north central part of Texas. More than 3,500 birds were banded by the association last year and as many more will be tagged this season.

"One of the conspicuous birds that come to our district in the winter is the tree sparrow," said Mr. Lyon today. "It nests in Canada as farth north as the Hudson bay and spends its winters around the great lakes. They are small and inconspicuous.

"Two years ago we trapped and banded forty-six of these birds and the next year we were surprised to have eight of them come back to the same district to be trapped again. During the season we added fifty more to the total and this winter already have had three of the eight that were trapped in 1922 and 1923 come back again. Twenty-five of the fifty banded in 1923 have been trapped this year again, showing how regular these small birds return to their winter homes."

By means of numbered aluminum bands on the legs of the birds, the survey seeks to learn how long birds live, what routes they travel in migration, how many miles they travel in a day, whether they return to the same locality or whether they keep the same mates. When these birds are found the association has asked they be reported to its offices at Waukegan.

GIRLS AGE FAST IN AGE OF JAZZ

Dancing and Joy Rides Produce Race of Prematurely Adult Women.

MOTHERS RESPONSIBLE.

CLEVELAND, [illegible] 28. — The heavy emotional stress of the present-day life of the younger generation, as exemplified by dancing moving pictures, joy rides, jazz and the like, has produced a race of prematurely adult women, who are over-stimulated under-nourished hypersensitive, and incapable of carrying on their share of the work of the world, Miss Bertha L. Swope, supervisor of Physical education for girls in the East Cleveland schools, declares.

She adds:

"Responsibility for present conditions is with the parents. Parents permit their daughters to indulge in all the frivolities of the time, and refuse to co-operate with teachers who are trying to guard their welfare."

Miss swope said that recently she sent invitations to mothers, asking them to attend a conference designed to take steps to make the girls in the schools better fitted physically, but that "not one mother" in the exclusive residential subarb accepted the invitation. She continued:

"I have noticed a great cange among the girls in the sixteen years that I have been doing this work. Then a girl of fifteen was content to be a child and to play like a child.

WOMEN COME FROM HUMBLE VOCATIONS

Very Few Ladies in Reichstag Had College Educations.

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Of the 493 members of the new German Reichstag, 33 are women. This is 6.6 percent of the total, or a little more than in the previous short-lived parliament, where the percentage was 5.7 The Socialists furnish the largest contingent, for of their delegation 13 percent are women.

Perhaps the most interesting woman is Johanna Reitze, who was first a servant girl, then a printer's assistant, still later a Socialist party secretary, and now parliamentarian. Another interesting character is Frau Ansorge, who started out as a textile worker when she was 13, then became successively coffee picker, shipping clerk, and newsstand saleswoman.

Only three of the women parliamentarians had the advantage of a full college course. They are Dr. Gertrude Baumer, a member of the Democratic party who recently lectured in the United States; Dr. Marie Elisabeth Lueders, also a Democrat and identified with the International Women's League for Peace and Freedom, and Dr. Elsa Matz, members of the German

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Not Likely to Squander Money on Abby's Wedding.

PICK APARTMENT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—When the newspapers told the country that Miss Abby Rockefeller, "heiress to the largest fortune in the world," was engaged to marry David M. Milton, Jr., a rather poor young man, perhaps a million bachelors sighed and said:

"Darn! There goes another opportunity."

For the benefit of these young men and others, therefore, the following facts are set down here:

Miss Abby Rockefeller is not the richest girl in the world.

She will not inherit much money.

Her father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., may leave her enough to live on, but no more.

Has About $100 a Month.

Her present allowance is about $100 a month.

She has a little income from her mother's side of the family. But that isn't enough to get excited about.

And furthermore, your children have probably had more money to spend than has Abby. And when your daughter marries, it is quite likely her wedding gift "from the folks" will be far more valuable than the one Abby Rockefeller receives.

No, don't get the idea that John D., Jr., will give Abby a bucket of rubies when she marries next May. He will probably give her something useful—but not extravagant.

It is not likely he will squander money on his daughter's wedding. It is not likely there will be any pomp and splendor in the ceremony. The Rockefellers do not believe in pomp.

Marriage For Love.

You see, therefore that young David Milton is marrying Abby only because he loves her and because Abby loves him.

The story is really unique.

It is unique because John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is unique.

Here is a man who controls perhaps more than five hundred million dollars. He and his father have given away as much as that. And, it seems, the more they give the more they have.

And yet John D., Jr., has only two overcoats. A new one and an old one. You have only one, perhaps. But you gave the old one away. John D. saved his old one. And he wears it every time it rains.

He believes sincerely that the money he has is not his, nor his father's, nor his children's. The money is merely in their custody. They are merely stewards, responsible for the expenditure of every penny, culpable for every cent that is wasted.

Wasting Money a Sin.

And wasting money, Rockefeller, Jr., knows, is a great sin.

He doesn't waste it, and he will not have his children waste it. He has trained every one of them — Abby and her five brothers—since they were old enough to know what money was.

No, Abby Rockefeller didn't go to the movies every night or to the theatre or to parties. Her life

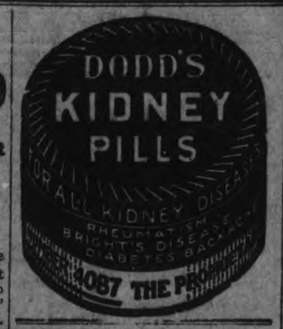
ELDERS ORDAINED IN UNION CHURCH

Interesting Inaugural Ceremony at First Church, Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Non-Unionists have persistently declared that there would be no ordination of elders in the United Church of Canada. This was contradicted at the inauguration of the First United Church of Otawa on Sunday, when eight members of the Congregation Church were ordained as elders by the laying on of hands.

The First United Church at Ottawa is in reality the first United Church to be established here, since the vote, by the coming together of Congregationalist and Presbyterian units. It is formed of First Congregational Church and Westminister



Presbyterian Church. Negotiations have been in process for some time between these two churches with a view to their being united. Both congregations having voted for entering the union they decided to come together in First Congregational Church and form the First United Church of Ottawa. The congregation is under the dual pastorate, Rev. W. A. Whidden, B.A, (Presbyterian) and Rev. A. F. Pollock, B.D., (Congregationalist).

The words of dedication, responded to by the congregation at the services, were as follows:

"For the glory of God, our Father; the exaltation of Jesus Christ oud Saviour; and for the ministry of the Holy Spirit, our Guide and Comforter,

WE FORM THIS UNITED CONGREGATION.'

"For the declaration of the gospel, and the Salvation of men; for the ministry of strength to the weak, and comfort to the sorrowing; and for the establishment of the Faith among the people.

"WE FORM THIS UNITED CONGREGATION.

"For obedience to the Master's Great Commission and for the establishment of the Kingdom of God at home and abroad,

"WE FORM THIS UNITED CONGREGATION.

"For the building of Christian Character; the supreme task of Religious Education; and for the training of the Young in the things of God,

"WE FORM THIS UNITED CONGREGATION.

"For the development of Brotherhood and Christian Concord, the removal of unworthy division in the Body of Christ and in answer to our Lord's petition, 'that they all may be one',

"WE FORM THIS UNITED CONGREGATION."

The inaugural message read to the congregation was, in part, as follows:

"The glad new days which lie before us are bright with promise. They challenge us to go forward in the spirit of self-sacrifice to the glorious ministry of making Christ known in all the fullness of His redeeming love and power. The measure of our loyalty and devotion to this supreme task will be the measure of our success."

NEGLIGENCE BY C.P.R. IS DENIED

Contend Before Privy Council Against Having Man on Tender Running Backward.

CLAIM FOR $1,500.

LONDON, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council yesterday reserved judgment in the appeal of Ouellette against the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was an action for damages in respect of the death of the appellant's two minor children in a railway crossing accident at Hull, Que.

The appellant Ouellette is a French-Canadian laborer who, on August 31, 1922, was driving a lorry across C.P.R. tracks in Hull, Que., when two engines that were being driven backwards caught his vehicle. Ouellette's two children, who were with him in the lorry at the time, were killed, and in the action for damages which followed the fatality a court awarded him $1,500.

The C.P.R. Company appealed and obtained a reversal of the judgment, the chief point in which was the alleged negligence of the company in not having a man stationed on the rearmost tender to give warning of the approach of the engines. Counsel for the railway company in seeking leave to carry the case to the highest British tribunal, remarked to Their Lordships that the company probably was quite ready to pay the $1,500, but the point as to whether the company ought to have a man on the tender of every engine which ran backwards was of much greater importance than the question of the money involved in the judgment of the lower court.

Leave to appeal to the Privy Council was granted by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in July, 1924, with the result, as noted above, that the judgment was reserved.

The Bible, printed in 1638, was found by the librarian, Mrs. P. W. Logan, and stamped names indicate three or more printers worked on it.

LIMPING LINER RUNS AGROUND

Steering Gear of C. P. R. "Mont Laurier" Damaged—Auxiliary Gear Fails.

FLOATED BY TIDE.

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, Feb. 28—(Canadian Press).—The Canadian Pacific Transatlantic liner Mont Laurier, with 434 passengers on board, was safely at anchor last night in Ringabella Bay, outside the western entrance to Queenstown Harbor, after a somewhat alarming experience at noon last Monday 230 miles west of Fastnet, when bound for St. John, N.B., when her steering gear was seriously damaged in a violent storm and had to be lashed from starboard to port.

The crew of the steamer, working continuously, succeeded in arranging an auxiliary gear, but it was necessary to put back to Queenstown. Reaching the entrance of Cork Harbor, the auxiliary gear went askew and the ship took a bad sheer and grounded on her starboard side forward the bridge on Chicago Knoll, just inside Roches Point. The steamer remained fast for two hours, with the Canadian Pacific tug Morsecock trying to help her off and two tenders standing by to take off the passengers, if such a step should be required.

Meanwhile the anchors were dropped and the captain had the vessel sounded throughout. It proved to be perfectly tight. The Mont Laurier's position at first looked precarious, as squally winds prevailed and the tide was falling. But after the winds abated and the tide came up again she was re-floated and towed into the inner harbor.

The damage to the steamer through grounding is understood to have been trivial; but repairs to her steering gear and rudder probably will necessitate her return to Liverpool.

The passengers last night remained aboard the Mont Laurier, but to-day, together with 4,000 bags of mail, was transferred to the steamer Montclare for the trip across the Atlantic.

The mails for Canada, Newfoundland, China and Japan will be considerably delayed owing to the accident to the Mont Laurier.

GERMANY LACKS ARMAMENTS TO MENACE EUROPE

Absolutely Helpless Without Heavy Artillery and Air Fleet, Says Welsh Savant.

PEACE GAINING.

Britain's Policy Towards the Geneva Protocol Depends on Attitude of Dominions.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28—(Canadian Press). — "There is no danger to Europe from a revived German army. Though in some respects the Treaty of Versailles has not been carried out by Germany, she is in reality absolutely helpless. She has no heavy artillery, or air fleet, which could possibly compete with those of her neighbors, and she lies absolutely at the power of the alliance."

This is the declaration of Professor C. K. Webster, holder of the Chair of International Politics at the University of Wales, under the terms of which he must spend part of each year in travel and research.

Professor Webster was also one of the secretaries at the peace conference at Versailles, called in on account of his expert knowledge of European treaties and European diplomacy.

Professor Webster said further: "There is of course a party in Germany which dreams of revenge, but it is a small party, though an influential one, which could only become powerful if Germany is treated unjustly by such unjust and foolish methods as the occupation of the Ruhr."

Europe Recovering.

Europe has made great progress during the past twelve months towards more peaceful conditions, in Professor Webster's opinion. He was in Geneva last September at the Association of the League of Nations which has become, he says, the great centre of world international life.

From Geneva he went through Europe, visiting among other cities, Vienna, Warsaw and Berlin, visiting universities, meeting prominent business men and people in political life. He was much impressed with the new movement towards peace.

"That has been expressed to a great extent in the creation of that wonderful instrument, the protocol, signed at Geneva, by which for the first time an agreement was made between nations that there shall be no more war," he said.

Some Re-action.

"No one expected such a great advance in international relations to be made this year. Only the atmosphere at Geneva and the fact that eight Prime Ministers and 31 foreign Ministers, past and present, had come together to discuss international relations made possible so remarkable an advance in world thought. True, since tthen there has been a re-action in Europe. The new elections in England and Germany have caused some of this atmosphere to be lost. At the same time the new British Government is anxious to find some way of establishing the principles of the protocol, although it contains some men who put the League of Nations in second place in international life. Mr. Baldwin has been and still is a friend of and believer in the League and Lord Cecil, one of the League's great supporters, is in his Cabinet."

Much depends on the attitude of the Dominions. Professor Webster emphasized. "If they showed no interest in world peace and were not prepared to make any constructive propositions to assist it, then it was probable that a mere negative policy would be adopted by the British Empire and in that case great harm would be done to the peace of the world."

SPLENDID PROGRAM BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Pleasant Event Under the Auspices of Marmora Methodist Church League.

MARMORA, February 28. — The senior boys' class of the Methodist Sunday School, under their teacher, Arthur Sweet, were responsible for the main part of the programme at Wednesday's meeting of the Young People's League.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, a large number wer present to enjoy the programme.

After devotional exercises, the class gave kazoo selections, accompanied by George Aunger at the organ, and sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

C. B. Leonard was heard to pleasing effect in a song new to the audience.

A. J. Cottrell gave a reading entitled "Listenin' In," and another able address based upon a story in "Portia" from Mr. Hann made up a vry entertaining hour.

News Paragraphs.

Mr. Joe Dicham has been renewing acquaintances in Havelock.

Miss Nellie Williams is on the sick list.

At the concluding euchre party, under the auspices of the ladies of the Sacred Heart Church on Tuesday evening, Bert Crawford and Mrs. Hugh Crawford carried off the prizes.

William Downey, formerly of Marmora Township, has passed away at Niagara Falls, Ont.

TWO PROVINCES OPPOSE SCHEME

Hopes of Hydro Financiers in Canada and States Get Setback.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(By Canadian Press).—"The hope of a number of financiers in Canada and the United States to link together the great potertial hydro-electric resources of the two neighboring nations has received a serious setback," the New York Times said recently in a market page article. The setback to the plans has come about through "agitation in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario against 'the export of Canadian waterpower'", according to the Times which based its assertions on the report of investigators who recently returned from Canada. These investigators are said to have been discouraged at the opposition found in Ontario and Quebec to the plans, which have been in the making for several years.

"Only an unexpected reversal of sentiment which might lead to favorable action by the Canadian Government, it was said, would revive the waning hope," the Times added, continuing: "Efforts will be made to encourage such action.

"The key to the project which would create a super power system in which utility properties of Quebec and New England would be co-ordinated lies in the small town of Carillon on the Ottawa River. Part of the town's assests is a series of rapids and its potential electric energy is great. The first feeder for the proposed system would be built there.

The Times said further that E. A. Robert, head of the Carillon Electric Development Company, had revealed that an offer of $50,000,000, the amount necessary for the initial expenditure in connection with the proposed development, had been made by New York barking interests. This offer, it was added, is now being held in abeyance, while efforts are to be made to elicit the support of the Dominion Parliament.

The plan goes beyond the harnessing of a portion of the St. Lawerenc Watershed, according to the Times, and contemplates ultimate pooling of the power resources of the two nations.

"This larger plan," the Times concluded, "would involve close to $50,000,000,000 of properties and would call for grouping by territorial sections. These would be so co-ordinated that each unit could help the other in an emergency."

NEWSPRINT EXPORT UP

Canada Shipped Millions of Pounds to United States During 1924.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28.—Newsprint totaling 242,870,900 pounds and valued at $88,993,785 crossed the international boundary from Canada into the United States last year, according to the annual report of the Canadian pulp and paper industry. This was an increase of 16,000,000 pounds over the exports of 1923. The American market now takes 97 percent of the total value of paper exports. Practically all of Canada's paper is used in North America.

HER TROUBLES QUICKLY DISAPPEARED

Quebec Lady Tells of Benefits Derived From Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She advises all persons who suffer from Diabetes and Kidney Trouble to use them.

Herbertville, Que., Feb. 27.—(Special.)— "I have found your Dodd's Kidney Pills excellent. For ten years I have suffered from diabetes and pains in my kidneys. I have consulted many doctors. I have had their treatments without results. They told me my case was incurable. I had heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I decided to give them a trial. I took several boxes and my health seemed to improve.

I continued taking them and today I am quite well. I can eat anything I wish. I always keep a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house and if my kidney trouble reappears I take a few and the trouble disappears. If anyone suffers from diabetes or bad kidneys they should take Dodd's Kidney Pills."

This statement is sent to us by Dame E. Guay of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills will relieve kidney trouble no matter where or in what form it is found.

KANSAS CITY HAS CITY MANAGER NOW

Plan Proposed for Peterboro Adopted by Third Largest in U. S.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 28.—Returns from the special elections indicated the adoption of a new charter for Kansas City under which the city manager plan of government will become effective April 10, 1926.

The charter will substitute a one house council of nine members, including the mayor, for the present two house system. The council will name a city manager who will employ department heads.

Kansas City becomes the third largest city in America to adopt the city manager plan, Cleveland having put the system in operation more than a year ago and Cincinnati having adopted it last November.

With only four precincts missing out of 413 in the city the vote was 36,946 for the charter and 8,803 against.

WESTWOOD HAPPENINGS.

Personal Mention —Dancing and Cards Provide an Enjoyable Evening.

WESTWOOD, February 28. — At the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Lawson, who was here in the interests of the Lord's Day Alliance, preached a very interesting sermon. which was much appreciated by those present. He took for his text, Proverbs 14 verse 34: "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Mrs. Charles Brackenridge is home after a very serious illness in Nichols Hospital, Peterborough.

Mr. Charles Hutchinson spent Saturday in Peterborough.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church held their regular meeting on Thursday last.

Manley Bros. were busy on Wednesday shipping grain from Birdsall Station.

Miss Claire Renwick, Villiers, spent the week-end at her home here.

Mrs. Thomas Brackenridge, who has been quite ill, is recovering.

Mr. Fred Wood's injuries are not of a very serious nature, and his condition is improving.

Miss Stella Boswell spent Wednesday at her old position in Manley Bros.' store.

A number of our young people spent an enjoyable time in the Town Hall on Monday evening. Dancing and cards provided amusement.

OTONABEE CHILDREN IN SCHOOL CONCERT

Miss Ivy Petrie Manages Successful Programme at S. S 12.

The young people and pupils of S. S. No. 12, Otonabee, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Ivy Petrie, put on a successful programme in the Schoolhouse recently. A large and appreciative audience was present. Mr. Charles Webster proved himself an excellent chairman for the children's programme, which was as follows:

Chorus, "The Land of the Maple."
Chairman's address.
Recitation, "Arabella Anastasia," Marie Heffernan.
Dialogue, "The Sick Doll."
Chorus "The Sewing Ladies Meet" (solo parts by Marie Heffernan, Margaret Mackenzie, and Bernice Hunter).
Recitation, "Girls' Whistle," Roland and Hunter.
Dialogue, "The Quarrel."
Chorus, "Mr. Postman."
Recitation, "No Kiss," Bernice Hunter.
Recitation, "Apple Class," Marie Heffernan.
Action duet, "Won't You Come and Play With Me?" Roland and Bernice Hunter.
Recitation, Margaret Mackenzie.
Dialogue, "Tending the Baby."
Chorus, "Little Boy Blue."
Chorus, "Polly Wolly Doodle."

The young people's part of the programme took the form of a minstrel show, with a troupe of nine. Mr. Harold Wall took the part of interlocutor, and music for the programme was provided by Messrs. James and Kenneth Petrie on the violins and Miss Pearl Petrie on the organ. Omitting the snappy jokes and hits, some of the programme was as follows:

Opening chorus.
Duet, "Hiram and Sophia at the Peterborough Fair," James and Ivy Petrie.
Recitation, "A School Day Kiss," Mac Petrie.
Ark chorus.
Monologue, "Mistah Johnsing's Defence," Kenneth Petrie.
Solo "Kemo Kimo," James Petrie.
Monologue, "Aunt Dinah's Views on Matrimony," Ivy Petrie.
Recitation, "Do You Know It," Harold Lancaster.
Action duet, "Sparkin' Liza Jane" Kenneth and Ivy Petrie.
Musical reading, "Fiddling in de Firelight," Earl Petrie.
Trio, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," Messrs. Petrie.
Solo, "I'se Gwin Back to Dixie," Mr. Thomas Petrie.
Solo, "De Wes' Wind Blows from De Wes'," James Petrie.
Solo, "Fifty-seven Varieties of Sweethearts," Earl Petrie.
Coon shout song, "Look Out Below," Kenneth Petrie.
Musical reading, "Speak Up, Ike, and 'Spress Yourself," Mae Petrie.
Fox-trat song, "Eliza," Earl Petrie.
Solo, "Piccaninny Boy," Mr. Thos. Petrie.
Chorus, "When There Isn't a Girl About."
Chorus, "I'm Looking for a Nice Young Fellow."
Recitation, "Mary's Lamb on a New Principle," James Petrie.
Closing chorus.

Miss V. Johnston, who was also to have taken part was unable io do so owing to a slight attack of tonsilitis.

After the above programme, the young people spent a few hours in dancing.

The net proceeds of the entertainment will go towards buying a new blackboard for the school.

WANT NORWEGIAN NAMES

Changing Place Names to Those Used Before Danish Conquest.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 27.—Since Christiania changed its name to Oslo for the purpose of wipiug out all suggestions of the time when Norway was under Danish control, many other cities have also expressed a desire to return to their original Norwegian names.

Christiansand now wants to be called Storesand; Trondhjem wants to return to the name of Nidaros, and Bergen hopes to be called Bjoergvin.

ARE YOU TORTURED WITH ECZEMA?

Eczema, or Salt Rheum, as it is commonly called, is one of the most agonizing of all skin diseases.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the parts are exposed to heat, are almost unbearable and relief is greatly welcomed.

The most reliable and effective remedy for this trouble is

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson, R.R. No. 1, Oshawa, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with eczema, and had that terrible itching and burning sensation, and could find no relief for it. Finally, I was advised to use B.B.B., and after my second bottle I began to see a great difference, and I can, now, advise anyone troubled as I was to use this wonderful remedy."

WATERLOO BRIDGE FALLING

LONDON, England, Feb. 28.—(United Press).—The celebrated Waterloo bridge, linking the West Eid with South London across the Thames, is in a sad state of disrepair. The bridge is one of the most beautiful and distinguished architectural features of London, and critics fear that the rebuilding in progress may damage its beauty. Nevertheless, the present structure is deemed by many authorities to be unsafe, and work on reclamation is going on. The aesthetes are indignant.

REVOLVER DUEL OVER A WOMAN

One Detroit Man Dead, One Seriously Wounded, From "Shooting It Out."

HIS BEST FRIEND.

DETROIT, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—One man is dead and another is believed to be dying as a result of a revolver fight yesterday between a married man and his "best" friend."

Louis A. Schultz, 42, shot five times is dead. Sam Lipman, 34, hit by four bullets, is not expected to recover. Stories to police by Mrs. Grace Schultz, 42, wife of the man killed, and by Lipman, were that Schultz returned home unexpectedly to find Lipman there. Schultz carried two revolvers.

He gave one to Lipman and kept one and the two men then went into the basement to "shoot it out."

BIRTHDAY SUPPER OF L. T. B. LODGE

Campbellford Ladies Gratified by Success of Their First Anniversary.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28. — The Birthday Supper of the Duchess of Clarence Lodge, L.T.B., No. 429, was a success on Friday, in spite of the very cold and windy weather. The long tables in the lodge room were loaded with many good things, and those present enjoyed the supper very much. The lodge is just one year old and the ladies feel gratified at the success of their efforts.

After supper a good programme of music and readings was given.

Mr. Chas. Long, of the Duke of Clarence Lodge, was chairman, and in his address spoke well of the work of the ladies' lodge. He also made reference to the sorrow of the lodge that it had lost on Thursday one of its officers, Mrs. Geo. Webber, who was chaplain. There was talk of postponing the supper on that account, but it was the wish of Mr. Webber that they go on with the supper as had been arranged.

The programme included a couple of selections from the orchestra, the members being, Messrs. Ernest and Harry Ayrhart, Otto Sarginson, W. Blue of Campbellford, and Mr. Clarence Heath of Springbrook. Reading, "No Laughinng Matter," Miss Beatrice Ayrhart. Accordion solo, Mr. Mack, who responded with an encore. Duet, Mr. Chas, Long and daughter, Mrs. Malhoit, and an encore. Recitation, Mr. Ernest Ayrhart, and encore. Violin solo, Mr. Gerald La Brash. Orchestra Selection Vocal solo, Mrs. E. Bates, and an encore. Orchestra Selection, with singing.

The lodge had a large birthday cake of three storeys, and each person present was served to a piece. The other two storeys were auctioned off by the chairman and sold to two of the gentlemen present, the money going to swell the funds of the lodge. Every item on the programme was well rendered, and showed that there was good talent among the members of both lodges.

It is hoped that the ladies may have many successful years in their lodge.

Commencement Repeated.

A splendid gathering met on Friday night in the assembly hall of the High School to hear again the programme and play given last Friday. Besides the choruses and trios of last week, which were repeated and the dance by Mildred Cowell, the following items were also given: Several solos by Mrs. M. G. McCarty of Toronto, and a dance, "The Highland Fling," by one of the students, Rosina Clark. And last but not least, the play, "Ellen," was repeated and was acted just as well, if not better, than last Friday. The proceeds of this entertainment, which went to the High School hockey boys, will help to pay some of the expenses they have been under during the season's games.

Three Fires on Friday.

The firemen were called out three times on Friday, one on the east side and two on the west side. But very fortunately not very much damage was done at any of them, considering the high wind which was blowing hard all day.

Personal.

Miss Anna Tinney, of Bancroft, is visiting her sister, Miss Sara Tinney, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bartley, Queen Street.

Miss L. M. Hawley, of Toronto, who has been visiting Mrs. F. Wood, Front Street, for two weeks, returned to her home in the city on Saturday.

Miss Lulu Gay, Rear Street, was suddenly called away to Essex to her aunt, Mrs. Jas. Gay, who is very ill.

Mrs. M. McCarty and little daughter, Gwendolyn, of Toronto, who have been the guests of Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson, Queen Street, for the past two weeks, returned to their home on Saturday. Mrs. McCarty's mother, Mrs. A. W. Free, returned to Toronto with her, where she will make an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clarke, of Toronto, are spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malcolm, Sebastapol Street.

Mr. R. T. Cowell's friends will be glad to know he is slightly improved in health.

EXPLOSION KILLS MANY.

Feared That Three Hundred Lives Lost When Dynamite Explodes.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 28 (United Press).—The tremendous blast of 3,000 cases of dynamite on the Island of Caju yesterday may have taken a toll of 300 lives, officials fear. The explosion came during an oil fire.

Hundreds of persons were severely injured, according to early reports, and some deaths came from fright. Scores have been made temporarily deaf.

This city, ten miles from the island, was badly shaken. The roof of the Phoenix Theatre here, crashed in. Windows were broken and frame cottages collapsed.

BURIED AT LINDSAY.

Funeral of Rev. G. R. Clare Largely Attended.

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—The funeral of the late Rev. G. R. Clare, ex-President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, who died at Norwood on February 25th, took place Friday with impressive funeral services at Cambridge street Methodist church.

A large delegation of the clergy of the Conference attended, as well as representatives of the congregations of Oakwood and Little Britain, where the deceased ministered for a number of years. Rev. W. H. Barraclough opened the service with prayer, while Rev. Mr. Foster, of Madoc, read the scripture lesson. Addresses, which were in the nature of beautiful tributes to the saintly character of the deceased, were delivered by Rev. H. M. Kenny, M.A., Belleville; Rev. Allan Terrill, M.A., Napanee; and Rev. L. S. Wight, of Tweed. Rev. W. R. Rogers, of Norwood, pastor of the church at which the deceased worshipped since his retirement from the ministry, also assisted in the service. Rev. Mr. McCutcheon, of Cannington, and Rev. Mr. Archer, of Fenelon Falls, and other chairmen of districts, also attended the funeral.

Interment took place at Riverside cemetery.

SHOE INDUSTRY HIT.

Quebec Manufacturers Appeal to Government.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.— (Canadian Press).— A delegation of shoe manufacturers from the Province of Quebec, headed by Roy Weaver of Montreal, waited upon Premier Mackenzie King, Hon J A Robb, acting Minister of Finance, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice yesterday, seking reduction in the British Preferential Tariff of Footwear.

The conference was in camera. The deputation, it is understood, took the ground that the present British Preference was operating to the detriment of the Canadian Boot and Shoe industry.

The members of the delegation refused to discuss the result of their interview, leaving immeriately afterwards for Montreal, and no official announcement was forthcoming in the matter.

SAYS BATTLESHIP IS NOW OBSOLETE

Admiral Sims Criticizes Naval Officers—Little War Starts on Allegations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, turned loose before the House Aircraft committee yesterday a broadside of criticism against the naval officers who still hold the battleship supreme in naval warfare, and also trained his fire against proposals for a unified air service as urged by Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant army air chief.

While the Admiral was declaring the battleship "obsolete" and attacking the navy for its "conservatism," Secretary Weeks, who will appear before the committee to-day, again took cognizance of the aircraft controversy by making public a letter to Representative Perkins, Republican, New Jersey, committee examiner, declaring "untrue" the recent testimony before the committee, and that junior army officers are "muzzled from telling the truth" by the war department.

BRITISH CIRCULATE GOLD

Boarded Sovereigns Are Being Turned Into Banks for Paper Money.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Recent reports that the British government had started minting sovereigns, as a step toward returning to the gold standard, has had a tendency to bring out some of the 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 gold pieces which bankers have calculated were being hoarded by people who had held them since sovereigns were withdrawn from circulation early in the war. The rumor that sovereigns were being coined was promptly denied by the government, but even after that the gold pieces continued to be brought out of their hiding places and exchanged for the paper currency at the banks.

The Bank of England particularly has been receiving quite a number of sovereigns every day recently which after being exchanged for paper, are placed away in the vaults until such time as the government sees fit to put the gold pieces in general circulation again. Bankers say the Londoner has become entirely accustomed to the paper currency and that it is doubtful whether sovereigns, even after England returns to the gold basis, will ever be popular again.

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

HEMP SUBSIDY BEFORE HOUSE

Members Discuss Act Passed Last Year to Develop Hemp Industry.

FOR THE WEST.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28. (Canadian Press).—The question of whether or not the payment was justified of a bounty to establish the hemp industry in Canada, occupied the attention of the House of Commons for some time Friday, when estimates of the Department of Trade and Commerce were under consideration. The item under discussion amounted to but $500,000 for the administration of the Hemp Bounties Act, passed last year.

Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor-General, explained that negotiations were now under way looking to the establishment of a mill at Winnipeg which, when comleted, would require the product of 20,000 acres of hemp in the manufacture of binder twine. The government had formerly been negotiating for the establishment of this industry in the west, but negotiations had fallen through owing to the death of one of the interested parties.

The men who proposed to invest their money in the establishment of the mill at Winnipeg, were, thought Mr. McMurray, entitled to some assistance from the government. They would be using the product of Canadian workmen, and would be turning out a product of the greatest value to the Western farmer.

Should Be Encouraged.

H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West) said he thought the government would be very short-sighted to haggle with people who were prepared to risk a large sum of money in the establishment of this industry. The government should show a broad spirit, and try and encourage the men behind the project.

John Evans (Progressive, Saskatoon) expressed the view that industries should stand on their own feet in Canada. He had heard, he said, that the British Empire Steel Corporation had received more from the government in the way of subsidies than it had paid in wages.

Westerners Lukewarm

T. W. Bird (Progressive, Nelson) declared there was a feeling among farmers that hemp growing would interfere with ordinary farm operations. He did not think that the Minister of Agriculture had carried his investigations far enough.

Mr. Motherwell was surprised at the luke-warmness shown by some of the Progressive members. He recollected that four of their number had interviewed him in the matter; and if they had since then suffered a change of heart, he would like to know what the reason was.

W. J. Ward (Progressive, Dawson) said he had been one of the four who had seen the minister on the occasion referred to. A factory should be established by all means, the hemp could certainly be produced, and he was not adverse to giving the assistance desired.

J. L. Brown Progressive, Lisgar) said that since it was a time for confession, he might admit that he also had been to see the minister respecting a bounty for hemp. If an industry was to be assisted, it should be by bonus, rather than by tariff, because there was some finality about a bonus.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie (Conservative, Victoria) said that if the industry was a good thing, and worth giving a bonus of 1 1-2 cents per pound, it was worth bonusing more generously.

Approving Protection

J. A. Clark (Conservative, Burrard) thought it was welcome news to hear the Minister of Agriculture and members from the Prairies approve of the protection principle to infant industries.

If an industry was worth protecting in its infancy, it was also worth protecting during its life.

Growers Disappointed.

Discussing hemp growing operations in Manitoba, R. A. Hoey (Progressive, Springfield) stated that the growers with whom he had discussed the matter, had been profoundly disappointed with the results of their efforts. The difficulty was that uniform crops could not be grown; the cost of harvesting machinery was prohibitive.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, stated that past experience had shown that the growing of hemp in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta had been eminently successful. No reports of an unsatisfactory nature had been received by him. One reason, possibly, for an unpopularity in respect to the growing of hemp, was that in 1921 extensive operations by farmers had taken place in Manitoba, in the expectation of the establishment of a plant at Portage La Prairie. Financial difficulties, however, intervened.

Harry Leader (Progressive, Portage La Prairie) stated that there was no question of the ability of Manitoba lands to produce hemp, especially around Portage La Prairie. He would like to ask the Minister of Trade and Commerce if the government had any intention of giving a bounty to the producers.

Hon. Mr. Low replied that he was simply administering the Act and this question was for the acting Minister of Finance.

DEFRAUD PROVINCE.

Two Men Found Guilty — $8,000 Involved in Thefts —Sentence Later.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press.)— Edward V. Donnelly and Harold R. Thomas, formerly in the office of the Provincial Secretary, were, by a jury before Mr. Justice Lennox, in the assize court last night, found jointly guilty of having conspired to defraud the province through the thefts of sums totalling more than $8,000 and in connection therewith "having concurred in the making of certain false entries in the cash books and vouchers of the department," but were found not guilty on charges in the indictment alleging the actual making of such false eptries. The jury added to their verdict a very strong recommendation to mercy. Sentence was deferred until March 6, renewal of bail being granted in the interval. The case has occupied a period of thirty days.

URGES PROTECTION.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen Blames Liberal Policy for Depression.

GUELPH, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—Declaring that the policy of the Liberal Government was the cause of industrial depression as a consequence of which thousands of Canada's best artisans were being driven to seek employment in the United States, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition in the Federal House, appealed to two thousand electors of South Wellington, assembled in the Armory last night, to support the protection policy of the Conservative Government, which, he urged, was the only one that would bring prosperity back to the country. The meeting was held under the auspices of South Wellington Conservatives.

SHOT IN BOTH FEET.

Lindsay Barber Was Cleaning Gun to Go Hunting.

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—(Special.) —P. Cook, a local barber, is in the Ross Hospital as the result of injuries sustained while handling a shot gun. He was cleaning the weapon preparatory to going rabbit hunting, when it was accidentally discharged, the shot entering his feet. It was found necessary to amputate two toes on one foot and remove part of the other foot.

Eskimo Girls on St. Lawrence Island Are Cutting Off Their Pigtails.

SEATTLE, Feb. 28.—On St. Lawrence Island, American territory in the Bering Sea, the Eskimo girls are cutting of their pigtails. The news that the bob's the thing has been carried there, relates Jonathan Wagner of this city, chief of the Alaska Division of the United States Bureau of Education, by a radio receiving set of wide range which the division installed on the island.

FINDS FAMILY DEAD.

Man Takes Mother Home and Finds Wife and Son Strangled.

DETROIT, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press). — Charles S. Trowbridge, salesman, left his office yesterday afternoon to meet the train bringing his mother and grandmother from Grand Rapids.

When they reached the Trowbridge home the doors were locked, and Trowbridge finally climbed through a window. The body of his baby son, obviously strangled, greeted him, and in the basement he found the dead body of his wife suspended by a rope from a furnace pipe.

Does your pen Qualify? Yes, it's a Waterman's

Any fountain pen's usefulness depends upon three things—the nib, the ink supply and the flow.

The nib must conform—the ink supply must be generous—the flow must be steady and continuous.

There is a Waterman's nib to suit every possible style of handwriting. The ink supply in every Waterman's is greater than that of any other pen of similar size. The "spoon" feed—exclusive to Waterman's—is the one method by which a steady flow of ink is assured.

It is because of these features—because of its ability to write properly at all times—that there are more Waterman's in use than all other makes of fountain pens combined.

FINANCE STRENGTH OF UNION CHURCHES

Church Union Bureau Issues Statement of Relative Values.

TORONTO, February 28. — A good deal of misconception is abroad regarding the relative financial strength of the Presbyterian and the Methodist Churches. Reports have been received by the Church Union Bureau of information that statements are being privately circulated to the effect that the Methodists are anxious for union in order to augment their financial strength.

The values of real property and funds of the Methodist Church are nearly $19,000,000 in excess of those of the Presbyterian Church, as the following table will show:

Presbyterian.

Real property value	$40,000,000
College endowments	1,623,184
Pension funds, endowments	1,919,317

WINTER SHUNS SWEDEN

Other North European Countries Report Very Mild Weather.

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Stories of the remarkably warm winter keep coming into Berlin from Sweden as well as from points in Germany.

The records of the Stockholm observatory, dating back to 1768, show that the last month of 1924 was the warmest December since 1789. Lack of snow in some parts of Sweden is interfering with the local lumber industry, and private observers say the average temperature has been 40 degrees Fahrenheit above normal.

Storks arrived in Kovno late in January to the great surprise of naturalists, who declare they have never known the birds to return so early in the year to the Baltic states.

In Hildburghausen, Saxe-Meiningen, a plum tree in full bloom has attracted attention, and adds to the strange freaks of nature noticeable throughout central Europe during his singularly mild winter.

FEAR THAT ENGINEER'S SKULL IS FRACTURED

PERTH, Ont., Feb. 28.—Engineer David Bourne, the most seriously injured in Thursday's wreck when the Canadian Pacific Railway, Chicago-Montreal train and freight train collided on a siding at Glen Tay, near here, was reported to be still unconscious and in grave danger by hospital authorities Friday afternoon.

Engineer Bourne was riding in the locomotive of the passenger train with the regular engineer on an instructional trip and jumped when he saw the crash coming. It is feared that his skull is fractured.

The other three members of the train crew who were also removed to the hospital, were reported as out of danger and progressing favorably.

INSURANCE MEN HEAR OFFICERS

President and Secretary of Life Underwriters' Association Address Local Branch.

SOCIETY PROSPERS.

"I am the servant of humanity, helping men by my advice and service to overcome the uncertainties of life and enabling one generation to hold out a helping hand to the next, thus serving most truly my fellow man and carrying out the divine purposes of God."

This was the creed of a life insurance man as expressed by J. J. McSweeny, president of the Dominion Life Underwriters' Association at the meeting of the Peterborough branch last night.

The meeting was held in the Empress Hotel, and was preceded by a dinner and a short programme, consisting of well-received solos by Miss Greta LeBarr, a short exhibition by Blackstone, and community singing. Miss Greene was accompanist for Miss LeBarr, and F. E. Smith presided at the piano for the community singing.

In continuing his address on "The World's New Wealth, Life Insurance Moneys," Mr. McSweeny gave a great many figures regarding the growth of life insurance in Canada. In 1914, he said, there were almost two million policyholders, and the assets of the insurance companies amounted to $375,000,000. In 1924, there were almost five million policyholders, and the assets were $865,000,000. This great sum represents gold which is the world's greatest power for good or evil, but Mr. McSweeny was confident that this insurance money was working for good. He gave his audience some idea of where this money is by charts showing it to be invested in all kinds of Government and municipal bonds and debentures, in factories for the development of commerce, in mortgages helping men to bear the financial strains of home building, and in other ways to the benefit of the whole nation. He also said that when the Dominion Government, during the late war, decided to float a loan in Canada, the insurance companies, by investing some of their funds, gave the people confidence in the securities and did a great deal in making for the success of the various loans.

Mr. McSweeny spoke of the good that has been done by the Life Underwriters Association in uplifting the insurance business. They have cleaned out all questionable methods and are gradually raising the business to the status of a profession. This was borne out by the report of A. McCamus, general secretary of the Association, who stated that 72 licenses had been withdrawn in 1924 for unethical practices.

Mr. McCamus also said that a charter had been granted to the association giving them power to hold examinations and grant the degree of Chartered Life Underwriter. He reported a large increase in the membership of the Association, and gave a financial statement showing the funds of the Association to be in very good shape.

Both speakers congratulated the Peterborough Association on the large growth in its membership, and expressed the hope that the coming year would be more prosperous than ever.

I. P. McNabb, president of the local branch, was chairman for the evening.

MODERN BOOKS NO GOOD

British Clergyman Contends Attitude of Present Generation is Ridiculous.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Feb. 28.—Almost all the books worth reading are books which have not been published in the twentieth century, in the opinion of Rev. Garfield H. Williams, secretary of the Missionary Council of the Church Assembly.

Addressing members of the Student Christian Movement conference in Manchester recently Dr. Williams contended that the attitude toward books as taken to-day by the modern student is "positively ridiculous." "Unless a book be dated 1924, or 1923," he said, 't'he modern student, one might say, virtually ignores it altogether."

"I sometimes feel," Dr. Williams asserted, "that modern youth is really the most conceited thing that has ever been produced."

ARGENTINE PRODUCES GAS

Petroleum Industry in South America is Making Great Progress.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 28.—The petroleum industry in Argentina is making such progress that in three years the country will have all the motor fuel its consumption requires, according to Dr. Tomas Le Breton, minister of agriculture, whose department controls the state oil wells.

Speaking at the opening of the Argentine Industrial Exposition Dr. Le Breton said the stage of experiment in old production has passed, the output of the state wells having doubled in the past two years, now exceeding 2,000 metric tons daily. With the completion of a big state oil refining plant to be built by an American concern, and an electrical plant for boring new wells, he said it would no longer be necessary for Argentina to import either gasoline or kerosene.

FLY BELOW SEA LEVEL

Planes Traverse Lowest Parts of Death Valley, California.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—The lonely wastes of Death Valley, end of the trail for a legion of hardy emigrants in the days of gold and the grave of many an adventurer even today, recently witnessed the turning of a page in the history of aviation when three Rockfield Field, San Diego, aviators, under command of Col. Harry Graham, piloted their planes over the valley 265 feet below sea level. At times the planes traveled long distances about 30 feet above the ground, and at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

CAUGHT IN TRAP THAT HIS WIFE SET

Paroled 'Lifer' from Alabama Turned Over to Police by Mate as Thief.

DETROIT, February 28. — Disarmed and arrested by a ruse, engineerd by his wife, Charles Winnagle was in the Highland Park Jail yesterday while the police wait to hear whether Alabama authorities wanted him to return there under an old life sentence.

Mrs. Nina Winnagle, the wife, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Slack, 262 Connecticut Avenue, Highland Park, called the police to the farm where she has been living near Brighton, Mich., and instructed them to pretend they were interested in buying a truck from her.

When the negotiations were under way the police suddenly disarmed and arrested Winnagle, who was with her.

If he is not wanted in Alabama, he will be tried here on a charge of breaking and entering his mother-in-law's home and stealing cash and jewellery worth $250 three weeks ago, the police say.

It was Mrs. Winnagle who obtained the parole by which he was released from Alabama last summer. They came here and were married in Septeber.

"I was sentenced for life for slaying a man in Tuscaloosa Ala., in 1916," Winnagle told the police. "He accused me of paying attention to his girl and attacked me with a revolver. It was his own revolver I shot him with."

He told of escaping from the prison mines by hiding in a tool box after serving five years.

"Then I was re-arrested in Akron by a former school mate who had become a detective and who recognised me on the street" he continued.

"Nina did all she could for me. She posed as a millionaire's daughter. I was paroled on the condition I would never be caught breaking the law again in Alabama."

He said he left his wife in the West in November after they had driven as far as Reno, Nev., in her automobile.

"I sold the car for $65.00, and went to New Mexico," he continued.

Mrs. Winnagle alleges he later demanded money from her in letters from Florida and Kentucky, and says she was in a Reno hospital when he left her. She charges since he returned here, three weeks ago, he has threatened her life to obtain funds from her."

"No one was at the Slack home when I called there on 4th February," Winnagle said. "I entered through a window, took a nap, found the jewellery and money, and went away."

DIET AFFECTS TEMPER

People Would Have Better Dispositions If They Ate Less.

LONDON, Feb. 28. — People throughout the world would be able to keep their tempers and be endowed with better dispositions generally if they did not eat so much, in the opinion of Dr. Leonard Hill, an expert on dietetics who advocated fasting as an aid to health.

The great virtue for most persons was in abstinence and even in fasting, Dr. Hill told members of the Peoples League of Health and the Medical Society here recently. It was fallacy, said the doctor, to believe that it was possible to feed people into strength; what was more apt to happen was derangement of the digestive organs.

Dr. Hill explained this had been proven by various experiments, in the laboratories of the Medical Research Council, where mice were fed on various deits. Given liberal amounts of food they became sleek, lazy and inert. Forced to fast for two days a week they became very active.

Dr. Hill said he was in favor of imposing a tax on white bread on the theory that whole wheat bread of whole grain bread was superior to the other kind, and because it would add 20 per cent. to the national food supply of Great Britain.

Much less meat should be eaten, the doctor asserted. The reason so much meat was being consumed everywhere was because it appealed especially to sedentary workers, as it gave them a feeling of warmth.

"RUN DOWN" MEN AND WOMEN NEED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality—and more

The expression "run down" comes from the feeble action of an unwound clock, and the comparison is a good one. Applied to health it means a condition in which the bodily functions are enfeebled. Appetite fails, digestion is impaired, the nerves impoverished, the complexion becomes pale and fatigue is a constant symptom.

No particular organ being affected, you must look for relief through the blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best blood builder known to medical science. As your blood becomes rich and red, the various organs regain their tone and the body recovers its full vigor. If you are weak, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and see how soon improvement will show in increased appetite and renewed vitality.

Mrs. Chas. Bourdage, Five Fingers, N. B., says: "Before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was completely run down. I did not sleep well, my digestion was poor and I would take dizzy spells. The use of the pills changed all this and I am now a strong healthy woman."

BRISK SALE OF CHICKENS TO-DAY

Thirty and Thirty-five Cents a Pound on the Local Market.

BUTTER 35c. AND 38c.

There was a sparse attendance of vendors on the open market this morning. Only a few things were on sale, although the marketing in the basket section was as brisk as usual, with a meagre supply of fowl sold out at an early hour.

Potatoes 75c Bag.

In the open section, a few bags of potatoes were on view, priced at 75 cents. Apples were on two carts, McIntosh Reds at 75 cents a peck, Peewaukees at 50 and 60, Ontarios at 60 and Starks at 45 cents. Beef and pork show slight advances over a month back, the former selling at 10 and 12 cents for front and hind quarters, and the latter at 18 and 19 cents.

Half a dozen loads of wood were on sale. A good-looking load of beech and maple was priced at $12, hardwood in smaller loads, cut and piled was $10 and $11, and a small load of cedar was $5.

Demand For Chickens.

In the basket section, chickens had a brisk sale, and were on the up grade with regard to quotations, they were selling at 30 and 33 cents a pound. Cream was 30 cents a pint.

Butter was 35 and 38 cents a pound one man showing his supply in round prints, neatly wrapped. Eggs were selling generally at 38 and 40 cents a dozen. Pure whites were 40, and a basket of light browns was priced at 42 cents a dozen.

George Street Sunday School were showing home-made cooking, "that our mothers made."

WEEKLY "Y" SUPPER.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Rose Addressed Young Men on "Guidance."

Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., was the speaker at the weekly young men's supper at the Y.M.C.A. last evening. He took for his subject "Guidance," and explained that the aids to guidance might be put under three heads: "instinct," "intelligence" and "inspiration." He gave many instances of the guidance of instinct among the birds and animals, and showed that man himself may be guided by instinct at critical times. Then the great guider of the human race is intelligence, but sometimes an inspiration to do a certain act fills a man. Mr. Rose gave a number of instances in his own life in which inspiration had a great bearing for good. Once when by inspiration he was able to save four men from drowning. The speaker explained that he thought inspiration to be the work of God.

Mr. Roper has lined up a list of especially good speakers for the next few weeks. Next week Mr. Wallace, the popular chairman of these supper hours, will speak on the subject of "Thrift."

PASSENGERS IN HEAVY WEATHER

Steamer Empress Had Cabin Wrecked—Ports Broken—Compartments Flooded.

SURGEONS NEEDED.

DIGBY, N.S., February 28 (Canadian Press). — Surgical attendance was necessary for numerous passengers of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's steamer Empress when it arrived here yesterday two hours late from St. John, owing to the rough weather in the Bay of Fundy.

When about half way across, the Empress was running broadside to a heavy gale, and was struck by a gigantic sea on the port side.

Windows and ports were smashed, compartments flooded, and the main and ladies' cabins reduced to desolation.

Passengers and their baggage were hurled in every direction, and many suffered minor injuries.

CHILDREN'S MOVIES.

Y. M. C. A. Provide Picture Show on Saturday Evening —Educational Value.

The Y.M.C.A. puts on a free moving picture show for each Saturday evening for the youngsters of the city. These pictures are shown in the gymnasium by means of the modern moving picture lantern possessed by the "Y," and are under the direction of Mr. F. G. McNeely, boy's secretary, but a few of the older boys themselves generally have the management of the lantern.

These pictures are entertaining and have a wonderful education value, putting natural phenomena in the most interesting manner. Last week the picture "The Years, the Seasons, and the Days," was shown and for tonight the "Revue of the Seasons will be shown.

These boys, under Mr. McNeely, put on some fine entertainments; a minstrel show or something of the like being on the bill every few weeks.

Hunting For a Girl Who Can Blush

LONDON, England, Feb. 28. —(United Press).—Add wonders of science.

Prof. C. V. Boys, the distinguished physicist, says that he will soon be able to determine the amount of heat in a girl's blush. He has succeeded in registering the heat of the moon, that of a candle four miles away, and that of the heat of a girl's cheek.

"But the girl was my niece—and she wasn't blushing," Prof. Boys explained.

"That being so, I am sure that it is possible to register the heat of a girl's blush. But I have not been able to find a girl to experiment with! Young

COURT CROWDS ARE A BORE TO LOUIE

So Alterie's Attorney Demands—and Gets—a More Private Hearing.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Louis Alterie, pal of the late Dion O'Banion, florist-bootlegger, this morning manufactured for himself a new role, that of a defendant whose hearings—even on disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapon charges—are held away from the motley throng and in a courtroom by himself.

Louis was arrested in the Midnight Frolics along with James Gould, Alfred Marlow and a young woman who gave her name as Miss Myrtle Sherman, a loop manicurist. Capt. Stege, of the detective bureau did the arresting and reported finding three revolvers under Alterie's table.

Yesterday morning his cases—one of disorderly conduct and the other of violating the Sadler firearms act—were called in the South Clark street police court. There were some scores of other cases.

Like to Oblige, But—

Attorney William Scott Stewart acted as spokesman for Alterie.

"Of course, your honor," he said, "we would like to have you try the case. But couldn't we have it uptown where your honor can devote ample time to it, and where other cases on the call won't press us? It's too crowded here, and this court room," the attorney waved his hand about the room and smiled disdainfully. "You see, judge, we have some things to show, and it may take a little time."

So Judge Howard Hayes set the case for 2 o'clock in the afternoon of March 3 in Room 801 in the City Hall. Justice had yielded again.

It was this same Alterie that on Monday, after spending a day and a night in a detective bureau cell, succeeded in calling Judge Williaim J. Lindsay from his home to the Criminal court building to hold a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus for him.

And not only did he further succeed in winning his freedom on a mere $1,000 bond on the two charges, but he obtained a denunciation by Judge Lindsay of the police officers who "wasted their time in arresting men like this." Yet there were three guns under the table.

Outcome Was Expected.

As Judge Lindsay discharged the girl in the case and ordered the men booked and released on the low bond, Capt. Stege shrugged his shoulders. He had expected this outcome.

A summary of the writs of habeas corpus handled by Judge Lindsay since the opening of the present court term in September show that he has released thirty men on the writs and released three on bail, whereas the numbers remanded to custody or whose petitions were dismissed total only twenty-two. The number of petitions exceed those of any other judge.

"Any general statement made by the police department with regard to the use of writs of habeas corpus will not be discussed by me," said Judge Lindsay today. "My policy is to follow the constitution and the law as laid down by our Supreme court. It may be that the constitution and court decisions should be changed, but until that is done no judge should allow himself to be a pawn or tool for any individual or group, irrespective of their position or status in society."

I.O.D.E. ANNUAL.

Officers Re-elected by Acclamation—Mrs. E. B. Clegg Again Regent.

At the 13th annual meeting of the 57th Regimental Chapter, I.O.D.E., held on Thursday afternoon, the present officers were all re-elected by acclamation, as follows: Regent, Mrs. E. B. Clegg; first vice regent, Mrs. C. S. Stapleton, second vice regent, Mrs. A. Stevenson; secretary, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson; educational secretary, Mrs. E. H. Howson; treasurer, Miss M. Roger; standard bearer, Mrs. B. H. Poole; executive: Mesdames D. Walker, J. Mills, R. E. Clark, R. Cottrell, T. W. H. Young, V. Eastwood, Sr., J. Crowe, W. Sharpe, H. Foote, Jas. Fanning and Miss M. Rush. Mrs. Birdsall of Birdsall's Station was nominated for the national and provincial executive.

Annual reports by various officers were given, and it was reported that each of the primary chapters had decided to give $25 to the National War Memorial Fund.

STUDENT ATTEMPTS FAST OF 2 YEARS

Will Try Slender Rations for Mental Test—No Meal Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Harold G. O. Holck, 38-year-old medical student of the University of Chicago, has started on a fasting diet that will last for two years.

The object is to determine just how much food is needed for keen thinking. He will eat only when hungry, paying no heed to ordinary meal schedules, and will eat very little, measuring and weighing every bit taken.

During the period, mental tests will be given him, including mathematics, puzzles and typewriting accuracy.

For the last two years he has carried scales with him to determine the amount of food he consumes normally. The mental tests showed his normal efficiency.

At the end of two years the results will be tabulated and physiology experts expect to work out from them an ideal human ration.

IMPROVING CONDITIONS.

British Empire's Return to Gold Standard Approved by Professor.

TORONTO, Feb. 28 Canadian Press).—There should be a marked improvement in trade conditions as soon as the British Empire returns to a gold standard, said Professor R M. MacIver, head of the economics department of Toronto University today. Such a move, he said, would undoubtedly lead to greater confidence in trade and the Empire will be relieved to a large extent of wide trade fluctuations.

DOMINION CRUSHED BY UNITED STATES

Unless a Policy of Industrial Protection Adopted, Says Mr. Meighen.

GUELPH,, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—At the big meeting in Guelph last night, under the auspices of South Wellington Conservatives, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen's policy of protection was heartily endorsed.

J. R. Howitt acted as chairman and associated with the Opposition leader were Hon. Dr. Manion, M.P., Fort William; Hon. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., South Wellington; Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, and Mayor George A. Drew.

Mr. Meighen spoke for an hour, contending that unless Canada adopted a policy of protection she would be unable to compete with the United States and would be crushed by that highly industrially developed country. The speaker stated that as a result of the alliance of the Liberal party with that of the Progressives, the Government was unable to put into effect the solemn pledges the Government has made to the people, and as a consequence there prevailed a spirit of apprehension and despair. Industrially, the country was paralyzed.

FOR MOTHERS OF YOUNG CHILDREN

Mothers are quick to praise anything which brings health and comfort to their little ones—any medicine that will make the baby well and keep him well will aways receive hearty recommendation from the mother. That is why Baby's Own Tabets are so popular. Thousands of mothers, throughout the country, not only use them for their own little ones, but are always delighted to be able to recommend them to other mothers. Thousands of mothers have proved Baby's Own Tablets to be without an equal in relieving their little ones of any of the many minor ailments which arise out of a derangement of the stomach and bowels. Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal laxative—easy to take but thorough in action. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; expel worms and make the teething period easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PETERBORO GIRLS KNOW PLURAL MAN

It's 'Men,' So Why Shouldn't Singular of 'Specimen' be 'Speciman'?

"How do you spell this?" asked the plump stenographer of the slim girl at the next desk, in a Peterboro office t'other day.

"Is it s-p-e-c-im-a-n or s-p-e-c-i-m-a-n?"

The slim girl looked puzzled and said: "There isn't any such word in the English language."

"Why, yes there is," the plump stenographer insisted. "Speciman" is singular and 'specimen' is the plural. What I want to know is, do they have an a or an i in the middle."

"There isn't any such word as 'speciman,'" repeated the slim girl. "The world is 'specimen' and its plural is 'specimens,' and it has an i in the middle."

"Well, that's news to me," declared the plump stenographer, as she flipped the leaves of her dictionary

The usual hum of typewriters was resumed, but not for long.

"How do you spell brass tacks?" queried the plump setenographer, suddenly.

The slim girl looked up incredulously. At the puzzled look of the plump stenographer she answered hastily: 'Why, b-r-a-s-s t-a-c-ks."

'Are you sure?"

"Sure and certain. Why."

"It looks to me as though it ought to be tax."

The typewriters hummed again for a full five minutes. Then the plump stenographer flew to her dictionary. After a lengthy search, she said, despairingly.

"Mr. Jepperly does dictate such queer things! Honestly, I don't know what half his dictation means."

'What's the trouble now?" asked the slim girl.

'It's this word here. I don't know whether it is c-u-t-i-e or k-e-w-t-i-e, and neither is in the dictionary."

'Perhaps you can tell by the context,' suggested the slim girl. "Read the sentence. And the plump stenographer read:

'Of course this is strictly on the q. t. between us."

Experiments With Insulin On Mice Are Encouraging

VIENNA,, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—The successful use of insulin in preventing recurrence of cancer in mice is reported in a paper read by Professor Friedrich Silberstein of the Vienna Institute of Experimental Pathology, before a medical association here.

Professor Silberstein described how he had verified by countless experiments on mice that when they were treated with maximum supportable doses of insulin after excision of their carcinoma, no relapse of the malady was observable in fifty per cent. of cases.

The Standard Four-Door Sedan

The same engineering and manufacturing genius which in the Chrysler Six produced results heretofore unknown, has now in the new good Maxwell scored its second great triumph.

Here, in the simple, economical four-cylinder principle, has been attained a degree of speed, power, flexibility and quick acceleration which literally amazes those used to paying a high premium for comparable performance.

Thus the great Maxwell organization and its wonderful plants have brought within the buying-ability of new thousands, unequaled pick-up and speed, combined with unexampled economy—long life and a distinguished exterior which wins sincere admiration.

To produce such a car at the astonishingly low Maxwell prices is possible only with such complete and splendid manufacturing facilities as Maxwell's.

PRESS COMMENT ON PETES' LOSS

Were "Outbrained" and Showed No Combination, Lou Marsh Says.

OTHER OPINIONS.

Niagara Falls' principal advantage last night was above the ears, says Lou Marsh in the Toronto Star.

They outbrained the Petes at every stage of the game.

The brilliant conquerors of Aura Lee, Parkdale and Varsity left every thing in the tack box but their legs courage and uniforms. They skated well, and shot well, and they played courageously, but their stuff was all individual. The "A.W.L." sign was on all that brilliant passing which won them the hearts and support of the Toronto crowd. They failed, almost utterly, on the 'all for one and one for all stuff." They had no combination or team play, and without that all their brilliant stick-handling and skating went for naught.

Team Play Won.

The Falls had team play—and they used team play all night, and that is exactly what told the tale. They had team play going and coming. Any time the forwards broke they broke two and three abreast and over half the time when the defense men grabbed the apple and started down some one of the forwards fell in line with him and went down with at least a threat which split the opposition for him if he wanted to go in for a shot himself. And any old time there was a defense man absent on a raid at least two forwards dropped back to plug up the hole.

That is team play.

In the second period the same wild pace was maintained for over half the journey. Then the Petes cracked for a few moments. The fuzzy-toped Kelterbourne landed two goals in 4 minutes—one was lucky—and when Rice chalked up a fourth for the Fall without a reply from the lift Lockers the Peterboro fans sagged down their coat collars and were ready to admit defeat. They were simply flabbergasted.

But the team did not quit.

Not by several versts.

They kept right on trying

Big Bert McLeod who is Old Man Courage's eldest son, stepped into the limelight with another one of his hard battling rushes. He broke through the backchecking forwards, crashed the defense and banged one by "Wart" Mayo.

That brought the Peterboro crowd to its feet cheering and they kept right on cheering as the rejuvenated Petes ripped back looking for more.

Petes Defense Good.

No one stood out on the Peterboro team unless it was Bert McLeod or Snap Parker, the defense pair. Their defensive work was not particularly appealing, but their rushes were well timed and always dangerous.

Irvine Bailey, the Petes front line star, did not shine last night. He has had a touch of the 'flu and was not in condition to do himself justice. Probably the knowledge that Bailey was not himself affected his team mates At any rate Ranger Collins and Rose who did forward line duty, did not hog much limelight. They tried hard but as has been said before their combination play was missing

As a matter of fact the best looking forward the Petes showed last night was the sturdy little Burgess He toiled hard every second he was out there and though howled over a dozen times by the husky Falls defense pair, came right back for more all the time and gave Mayo more trouble than any man on the Pete team. He almost beat the Wart several times.

Anyway it was a great game, and of the 7,000 fans present 6,700 went home satisfied with the performance. The other 300 were from Peterboro—and they brought a band, too, and were all prepared for a parade of victory.

From the 'Telegram."

Peterboro did not live up to expectations. Of course, there was some excuse in that Irving Bailey at right wing got out of a sick bed to play and should really never have been in action But Bailey's inability to do his best cannot be blamed for the fall-down of some of the others. A lot of the lack of dash and effectiveness was missing, of course, because of the close checking of Niagara Falls Peterboro didn't meet a great deal of class in their group and had the grind been a lot better for them.

Mayo Stopped Plenty.

It must not be thought that Peterboro did not have lots of chances. Mayo in the Niagara goal had some hard drives to handle and his work was nigh perfect. But taken all round the Peterboro shooting was much off color. On the other hand the winners had most of their drives right on. Also when Niagara stopped a Peterboro rush the attack was started instantly with little or no circling back. Peterboro on the other hand waited momentarily most of the time and it gave the Falls outfit a chance to get into position for defence.

Punch That Missed.

McLeod and Burgess were best for the losers. Parker tried hard but did not seem to have any 'punch" to finish off those dashes. McLeod and Parker made many more rushes that did the Ninagara defence pair McLeod was always dangerous. He scored the lone goal for Peterboro and had some real chances for several more. Burgess tried hard and was dangerous. Collins did a lot of skating, but like the rest of the forwards, was off color in the very important part of all attacks "the final kick."

LEVI JOINS YANKEES.

All-Round Indian Star to Report Early in March.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 28.—John Levi, Haskell's widely famed allround athlete, has left the Indian school for his home in Oklahoma to prepare to report at the Spring training camp of the New York Yankees early in March, it was made known here yesterday. The big Indian has left numerous records behind him at the Indian institution. He won letters in all four matches of major athletics. For three years he was high point scorer for the Haskell football team and for two years was national high point scorer on the gridiron. He plays first base or in the outfield and led in batting averages for two seasons. Levi bats and throws right-handed. He is 24 years old and a full-blood Arapahoe.

BROCKVILLE OUT.

Aura Lee Eliminated Island City Boys 12-2 on the Round.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Aura Lee qualified for the Junior O.H.A. finals by defeating Brockville 10 to 1 at the Arena last night and winning the round 12 to 2. They will meet the winner of the Owen Sound-Midland series for the championship on Wednesday and Friday of next week.

It is the first time since 1922 that Aura Lee have reached the junior finals and the fourth in the last ten years, and Marsden's youngsters have won three championships.

While Brockville were outclassed as far as scoring went in last night's game, the Island City lads did not do badly at all. They are fast and could bring the puck to the Aura Lee defence, but lacked finish to work it through for goals. Kennedy was the visitors' bright star, being about the fastest skater in the game and a pretty stick handler. He played splendid hockey throughout, while H. Garland was also good.

PLAYING BASEBALL SEASON BACKWARDS

Dollars at Gate in March May Mean Wrecking Championship Club.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, youngest of baseball's managers, is playing the 1925 season backwards, in the opinion of close followers of the national game.

Dollars at the gate in March may mean the wrecking of a championship club before the schedule is half played, it is argued, yet the Washington Senators, world champions, will meet the contenders in the last World Series, the Giants, in a score of early season contests and then go into a bitter series with the New York Yankees, who raced them to the wire in the American League last fall.

Possibly Harris figures that he can play the spring conteste with the Giants without thought of victory, but rather with stress upon the conditioning of the team. But this is not the spirit of baseball, and Washington and News York fans who will crowd the parks for this "second world series" will insist on something more than mere participation in baseball contest.

Furthermore, followers of the game contend, a club that enters the regular season after simply going through the motions of training is not tuned to the fighting qualities necessary to a championship combination, such qualities as the Senators possessed in large quantity during the seething days of the last campaign.

If Harris plays to win, as he must if he is to satisfy fandom in the spring contests with the Giants—for, it must be remembered ,the box scores are published in the leading papers—then he is likely to face the Yankees in the first battles of the American League schedule with a team already tired. In the Giants he tackles a club that knows how to hit in all seasons, training or otherwise, which will make the going hard for his veteran pitchers, Johnson, Ruether, Mogridge, Gregg and Zachary. The National League champions, on the other hand, have won four successive pennants without relying upon their boxmen, their offense being concededly better than their defense.

Should he elect to ignore fight and hazardous play in the preparation for the arduous schedule ahead, he may have to rebuild the morale of his club and explain to the lovers of the game how he happened to win a world championship.

LINDSAY CURLERS UP.

Have 19 Points Lead in Orillia Games.

LINDSAY, Feb. 28.—In the annual match between Orillia and Lindsay clubs, Lindsay curlers won at home by 19 points. Four rinks are yet to play in Orilla. The scores:

Lindsay:—		Orillia:—
Rev. Marsh		W. Thompson
Skip	10	Skip	18
M. Williams		M. Jamieson
Skip	28	Skip	10
E. Anderson		B. F. Stewart
Skip	15	Skip	14
L. V. O'Connor		Dr. Harvie
Skip	22	Skip	14

Majority for Lindsay, 19 points.

BILLIARD VICTORY.

HERE'S BIG FOUR IN BASEBALL

BIG 4

COBB HORNSBY RUTH SPEAKER

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Football last fall had its "Four Horsemen" in the famous Notre Dame backfield. Well, here's the "Big Four" in baseball—Cobb, Speaker, Hornsby and Ruth. Balldom's four trump cards, as it were.

Over a stretch of 10 seasons, or from 1915 to 1924, inclusive, these Goliaths of Swat have hung up a combined batting average of .351, a remarkable record for consistency of performance.

They will meet the winner of the Owen Sound-Midland series for the championship on Wednesday and Friday of next week.

During that period they have copped 11 batting championships, Hornsby having five, Cobb four and Speaker and Ruth one apiece. They have scored 100 runs or over on 19 occasions; made 200 or more hits 15 times and topped the .400 mark in swatting thrice.

Ruth and Hornsby rate as two of the greatest sluggers in all baseball history. They stand supreme in their respective circuits. They hold practically every slugging record for modern play.

Ruth holds the world's mark for home runs in a single season with 59; for scoring the most runs—177; for most total bases on hits—457, and for batting in the most runs—170.

Hornsby holds the National League record for home runs with 42; for most total bases—450; for batting in the most runs—152, and last season established a new batting figure for present-day baseball, hitting .424.

Cobb still holds the base-stealing honors for modern times with 96 thefts in 1915, and Speaker the two-base hits per season with 59 made in 1923. Moreover, Cobb and Speaker set numerous other marks before the 1915 season which are not taken into consideration, as Hornsby and Ruth were not in the majors in those days.

"Baseball's Big Four" is a mighty appropriate appellation for these four great all-round stars—Cobb, Speaker, Hornsby and Ruth. The game doubtless has never known such a selective group, all things considered.

N.H.A. LEAGUE IS NEARING CLOSE

Senators Must Win At Home To-night From Canadiens For Playoff.

JOLIAT DOUBTFUL.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—Another milestone in the final dash for National Hockey League play-offs will be reached tonight in the three league fixtures carded, when the league-leading Hamilton Tigers play Montreal here; Canadiens meet Ottawa at the Capital, and the St. Patricks receive Art Ross' Boston Bruins at Toronto.

The game here will be the last but one for the Montreal team on its home ice this season, the final contest being with Ottawa here Wednesday. It will be the third appearance of the league leaders against the maroon-clad local players here, the Tigers having won the two preceding games from the homesters by narrow margins.

Hamilton needs a win to make first place more safe. Both teams will be at full strength, and will be under the control of Referee Cooper Smeaton.

Much is at stake in the meeting between Canadiens and Ottawa at the Capital, and in view of the importance of the struggle, President Calder has appointed two officials to handle the contest; Mike Rodden and Dr. Jerry Laflamme, neutral arbiters from Toronto, having been named.

No definite announcement has been made as to whether or not Joliat will be used by Canadiens, but in the event of the doctor giving the injured Canadien player permission to take part in the game, it is certain that his stay on the ice will not be a steady one.

Joliat's absence, especially following the loss sustained by Canadiens in their game with St. Pats Wednesday has led to great speculation as to the outcome of the tussle at the Capital. Ottawa will be out to win if at all possible, as a defeat will mean absolute elimination of the Senators from a play-off position. Canadiens, however, feel that they can make a real battle of it even without Joliat, and they will be supported in their efforts by a large delegation of supporters who will travel up to the Capital on a special train with the team to witness the struggle. A win for Canadiens will qualify them for a play-off. A loss will still leave them with a good chance, for they will need only three more points to make sure of a berth, even Should Ottawa win all its remaining fixtures.

RITOLA REINSTATED.

Suspension Only Last Two Days—Poll By Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. — Willie Ritola, co-star with Paavo Nurmi in the distance running spotlight, was back in good amateur standing last night and on his way to Louisville to compete in the National Senior A. A. U. track and field championships after a suspension that lasted only two days.

The Finnish-American star's reinstatement was announced officially last night by the A A. U. on the basis of returns from a telegraphic poll of the National Registration Committee taken o nRitola's appeal from the suspension imposed upon him by the New England branch of the A. A. U. for failure to appear at the American Legion games in Boston last Monday.

The return from this vote showed 17 ballots in favour of Ritalo's reinstatement to only one in opposition that registered by the New England representative.

PRINTERS TIE WITH PACKERS

Combination Hockey, Soccer and Wrestling Game, With All Rules Suspended.

TO TRY AGAIN.

(By A. Neutral).

Last night's tie game between C.P.C. and The Examiner at Brock Street Arena showed the necessity for a revision of the antiquated rules governing hockey. Instead of the absurd off-side rule—to which no attention was paid anyhow—the players should be made to carry red and green lights and a "rule of the ice" should declare the side to which approaching players must pass. Last night Holland and Swanston crashed in midstream and had to be towed ashore. Then Franks fouled his steering gear and got in the way of a fast one that knocked him out. A system of signalling would do away with the danger.

Scates was the hero of the hour, and as goal-tender for the Printers, he was unbeatable except when one got past. Only four got through, and these are accounted for by a hole in Scates' stick. There would have been more scored if he had not been in goal, because several hit him. Jackson was kept busy in the C.P.C. goal, and the four that bulged the twine behind him were difficult—for him.

Holland was a bit difficult to manage, but Bobby Baker succeeded in getting in his way fairly often. Dugan was caught once trying to sneak on in aid of his hard-pressed team, and the referee threatened to ston the game.

The only man on the Printers' team with any speed to show was Collins, and he didn't do much, only score three of the four goals. The other is credited to Franks, but is still in doubt.

Graham and Johnson were like stone-walls on the defence, but played a good deal behind their own net with the whole Examiner line-up on the puck.

Towards the closing seconds the C.P.C. threatened to score, but Scates warded off the attack bloodthirstily. Score 4 to 4.

A return game will be played on Tuesday from 6 to 7.

The line-up:

Examiner—Goal, Scates; defence, Swanston and Dugan; centre, Collins; left wing, Franks; right wing,, C. Clarke; subs., Baker and H. Clarke.

QUATRAIN LOOMS ON TURF HORIZON

Sensational Three-Year-Old Must Be Reckoned With Following Brilliant Victory in New Orleans Handicap From Classy Field.

QUATRAIN, WITH E DDIE LEGERE UP.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27.—Much is expected on the turf this season of Quatrain, the remarkable three-year-old colt that recently captured the $25,000 New Orleans handicap at the Fair Grounds here.

Quatrain is the son of the great Omar Khayyam, who, it will be recalled, left New Orleans to win the Kentucky Derby some years ago. Many sportsmen are already predicting that he will come closer to attaining the prowess of Man o' War than any thoroughbred of the decade.

Not only did the sensational colt capture the handicap event from one of the classiest fields ever entered, but he also set a new record for the track.

Quatrain is eligible for the Kentucky Derby, and, judging from the way he took down the race here as well as other performances, will have to be reckoned with in turfdom's blue ribbon classic next May.

Examiner ladies win the first half of the competition for the G. N. Gordon Trophy, after an extremely close race. Examiners deserved their win, which can be attributed very largely to regular and consistent practice, as they started the season regarded as more or less as one of the inexperienced and weaker teams, and have shown steady improvement as the season has progressed. Predictions are that the Examiner ladies will prove their victory well earned by being the team to beat for the second section as well.

Penny Collection As a Tribute To Sea Victims

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(By Canadian Press).—Cardinal Hayes has given his approval of a penny collection to be made in the parochial schools as a tribute from the children to the memorial to be erected on the brink of the Potomac in Washington in memory of those lost at sea in peace and in war.

After endorsing the movement in a letter to Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, U.S.N. (retired), chairman of the directors of the Navy and Marine Memorial Association, which is directing the project. His Eminence stated that he was glad of this opportunity to have the children show their appreciation of the service done the nation by men of the sea.

AIDS ALASKA DOG DRIVERS.

New Hampshire Woman Gives $300 to Fund for Serum Carriers.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 28.—Mrs. William H. Schofield of Peterboro, N.H., has donated $300 for an "Alaska dog team reward," according to a telegram received here. The money is to be brought here next week by Bishop H. T. Rowe, of Alaska, who is in New York.

A letter accompanying the money to Bishop Rowe, read:

"I had two sons in the war, one of whom met his death trying to serve others, and perhaps that makes me understand what it means to endure to the end in a good cause."

The money will go to drivers of relay dog teams who took part in a 650-mile race against death with anti-toxin to combat the recent diphtheria epidemic in Nome, Alaska. Mrs. Schofield's donation brings the total fund to $627.50.

REDS SELL BOOKS AS PULP

100,000-Volume Library of Military School Goes to Paper Mill

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The staff of the Military Technical High School, "Vystrel," the Pravda says, has sold for pulp to a paper mill the library of 100,000 volumes, which had been collected for more than a century and formerly belonged to the Moscow Military College.

It contained valuable eighteen and nineteenth century books as well as many complete editions of Russian and foreign classics.

MAYOR TURNER EXPLAINS TAX IN OPEN LETTER

Many Demands Made on City Council Must Be Met.

ONLY COLLECTOR.

Aldermen Do Not Set the Amount to be Raised—Expenses Increase.

Kindly permit us a few remarks on your references to the tax rate for 1925, not by way of finding fault with what you said or in defence, but by way of explanation.

There have been expenditures which the city has been compelled to make added since 1913, which have been imposed on the municipality by the Ontario Legislature. These items in the estimates for this year are:

County suburban roads	$ 8,000.00
Mothers' allowance	10,000.00
Provincial suburban road	2,514.55

Another item which did not appear in the estimates for 1913, and as to which the Council has nothing to say, is in this year's estimates as follows:

Nicholls Hospital	$7,200.00.

This year there is in the appropriation $8,547.19 for patriotic fund debentures, which of course did not appear in the 1913 expenditures.

These items total $36,261.74, or nearly two mills.

There are several other bodies controlling expenditures which send to the Council statements of the amounts they require, and which the Council must collect, namely, the Public Library Board, the Board of Education, and the Separate School Board. The demands of these boards for this year are increased over the sums they required in 1913 by $156,707.97. I am not criticizing these boards for this increase, but simply pointing out the facts.

Another large item is the amount the Utilities Commission requires the Council to pay for water for fire protection and other public purposes which shows an increase over 1913 of $20,460.00 and the appropriation for the police department (over which the Council has now a certain amount of control) is increased over 1913 by $15,500.00. The Queen Mary Hosnital, controlled by the Board of Health, requires $2,365.00 more than in the previous year referred to.

The demand of the City Trust for interest and sinking funds on debentures which are paid out of the general rates shows the following increases in three items:

City general debentures	$50,507.14
Local improvement debentures	35,649.63
Public school debentures	20,915.18
	$107,071.95

In 1913 the effect of the law which requires a municipality to pay for indigent patients admitted to hospitals was first felt, and the appropriation that year was $2,000.00, while this year it is $5,000.00 more. Under the law a hospital which admits an indigent patient may require the municipality of which he is a resident to pay $1.50 a day for his treatment and maintenance. Here the Council, by arrangement with the hospitals, is protected by the relief officer enquiring into each case before admission, but this does not apply to outside hospitals.

These items, over which the Council of this year has little or no control, amount to $343,366.66.

It is true that the appropriations over which the Council has more direct control have also increased, and that if the assessment had not been augmented the rate would be higher. One explanation for this—and no doubt it will apply to the higher demands of the other bodies as well as the Council—is that the expenses of carrying on any business has greatly increased since 1913. If any ratepayer who has a business of any kind, or any householder, will compare his expenses in 1925 with what they were in 1913, he will recognize that his expenses have gone up, and the Council and other bodies have to meet similar increased expenses in carrying on the public business. Besides, the number of schools have been added to and other services increased in that time.

May we point out an error—perhaps not a very important one — in your article. The population of the city has increased over 1,500 since 1913.

J. J. TURNER,
Mayor.
N. E. PHELAN,
Chairman of Finance Committee.

Editor's Note: The fact that the City Council is asking for only $123 more than last year was made very clear in The Examiner report on Tuesday, when it was equally clearly pointed out that the increased tax rate was not blameable upon the 1925 Council. The heading in Tuesday's paper read, "Increase in taxes under control of 1925 Council is only $123.00." The responsibility for the increase in tax rate was distinctly placed upon the Board of Education and upon the overdraft from last year's Council. The comparison with 1913 in The Examiner of Tuesday, referred to in the above letter, related entirely to the increase of $138,239 in school demands compared with an increase of 1,000—or 1,500—in population. The population figures given by The Examiner were submitted to and checked as correct by a competent city official before publication.

LADY FORESTERS HOLD ANNIVERSARY

Queen Alexandra Circle Celebrated Its Twenty-fourth Birthday Thursday.

The members of Queen Alexandra Circle A.O.F. celebrated their 24th anniversary on Thursday evening, Feb. 26th, in the S.O.E. Hall, when they were honored by a visit by the High Chief Companion, Mrs. Stoneman, of Dundas.

After the regular business meeting was over, the boys of Juvenile Court White Lily, assisted by some of the members from Sunbeam Circle, gave a very enjoyable programme under the able leadership of Bro. Godfrey Matthews.

Programme.

Song—"Sally," Miss Harrison and Choir.
Dance—Miss Haggis.
Pianoforte duet — Mr. and Miss Fisher.
God Save the King.

The chair was taken by Chief Companion Mrs. Wiggins.

Mrs. Stoneman was presented with a basket of roses by little Annie Fletcher.

A very hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Stevens, seconded by Mrs. Adlam. Refreshments were served at the close.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL.

Miss Kathleen Sutton, of Millbrook, Was Artiste at Conservatory.

Miss Kathleen Sutton of Millbrook gave a charming recital of pianoforte music in the studio at the Conservatory of Music last evening. Miss Sutton, who is a pupil of Professor Gliddon, has a sympathetic touch and grasp of technique that makes her playing of difficult music very enjoyable. She was assisted by Miss Frances Robertson, a pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, who sang Lehmann's "At Sunset;" and "Ma Curly Headed Babby," with accompaniments by Miss Edwina Palmer. Miss Sutton's numbers included Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," Raff's "La Filieuse," Chopin's Ballade, Opus 47; Schuberts Impromptu, Opus 142; and the Verdi-Liszt Rigoletto Fantasie. Miss Sutton's programme was played entirely from memory.

AT THE GRAND

A SPLENDID STOCK COMPANY AT GRAND.

Mae Edwards Players Appear Before Large Audience—Performance Excellent.

On all sides to-day was heard the question, "Did you see the Mae Edwards Players last night at the Grand Opera House?" Certainly those who did not missed a great treat. With a silence since Christmas, with one or two exceptions, the Grand is coming back strong, and this week it has something really fine to offer its patrons. Miss Edwards is a charming and talented actress, and is supported by a cast of capable performers. To be in Kingston is to Miss Edwards something like coming back home, as she was born at Lindsay, and this is the first time she has played in Ontario with her own show.

The play last evening, "Adam and Eva," was intensely interesting, besides carrying a laugh along with it. It showed just what an indolent, grasping family of a rich New York business man could accomplish in the way of earning a living for themselves, when they "were put to it." And to the father, who was tired of paying bills for his family, and left them for three months to visit his rubber plantation, was proven the fact that it was pretty nice to have a family after all. Arthur Hebert, who played the part of 'father,' was splendid, and the other members of the cast filled their parts exceedingly well.

And that's not the half of it. Besides the play, Miss Edwards has to offer her audiences an excellent Novelty Orchestra, which makes wonderful music. This includes the Three Syncopaters, with Valmore Smith on the drums. These talented musicians give a splendid programme between the acts.

It is a long time since a ventriloquist has been in Kingston, and Mr. Jack Farr, who is with the Mae Edwards Players, is a very clever one. This is something the children would enjoy.

Mr. Chas. T. Smith, when thanking the audience for their patronage, announced that the company would be at the Grand for the balance of the week, and would present a complete change of programme nightly. On Tuesday evening it will offer "The Gutter Snipe," a three-act comedy drama, which is sure to please all. There will be two matinees during the week, one on Wednesday afternoon, and one on Saturday afternoon. The company is sure to draw full houses all week.—Kingston Whig.

HELENE CHADWICK IS CHORUS GIRL IN NEW PICTURE, AT ROYAL MONDAY.

The stage and the life of the people "behind the scenes" have a fascination that is irresistible. When contrasted with the butterfly existence of the exquisite society debutante, the highlights of dramatic contrast are intensified and quickened.

In "Trouping With Ellen," the picture showing at the Royal on Monday, beautiful Helene Chadwick plays the role of a chorus girl who renounces the luxury of a perfumed society boudoir for grease paint and a Broadway dressing room. "Trouping with Ellen" is an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story by Earl Derr Biggers, and is one of the finest pieces of fiction written by that popular author whose "Seven Keys to Baldpate" was a sensation.

Miss Chadwick, who, prior to her debut as a screen actress, was the most photographed girl in America, being known as "The Girl on the Magazine Cover," "The Harrison Fisher Girl" and "The Perfect Type of Beautiful American Womanhood" has earned an enviable position on the screen.

T. Hayes Hunter, who directed "Earthbound," directed Miss Chadwick in "Trouping with Ellen."

NAZIMOVA IS AT HER BEST.

"The inimitable Nazimova at her very best." Such is the testimony of reviewers who have seen "The Redeeming Sin," the Vitagraph production now playing at the Royal Theatre to-night. This celebrated emotional artiste is cast as a Paris Apache girl and gives, from all accounts, a remarkable performance.

Lou Tellegen has the leading man role, the Apache leader, and he also is said to outdo himself. Others in the well-balanced cast are Carleton D. Miller, Otis Harlan, Rosita Marstini, Rose Tapley, Eric Mayne and Violet Virginia. J. Stuart Blackton was the producer.

AT THE CAPITOL.

FITZMAURICE HANGS UP NEW THRILL RECORD.

Noted Producer Films Sea Depths and Clouds for Movie Scenes.

The last word in movie thrills is promised by George Fitzmaurice in his new Goldwyn-First National production, "A Thief in Paradise," which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday.

Among the scenes to be offered are:

An underseas battle between a man and a shark.

Another battle between two men, five fathoms underseas, on the ocean's bed.

An elabbrate dancing pagent of nymphs, staged at the bottom of the sea.

A polo game in which a quartette of beautiful blondes are staged against as many pretty brunettes. They wear one-piece bathing suits.

A mid-night elopement in an airplane.

Doris Kenyon, Ronald Colman and Aileen Pringle are co-featured in the picture, with Claude Gillingwater. Alec Francis and John Patrick heading the supporting cast.

Colman stages the two underseas fights and is said to have spent five hours, at two-minute intervals, in the briny depths to get these scenes. Powerful mirrors reflected the sunlight down into the water to afford sufficient illumination for the cameras.

He and Miss Kenyon actually make a nocturnal flight in a plane for the elopmement scenes.

Miss Pringle is said to wear a costume of 18,000 pearls for her dance in the underesas pageant.

The story is an adaption from Leonard Merrick's widely read novel, 'The Worldlings," and the action ranges from the dives of the South Sea isles to the exclusive social colonies of San Francisco and Del Monte, Calif.

"PETER THE GREAT."

Peter, the dog that created so much attention in the "Rin-Tin-Tin" picture in which he starred, is the hero of the feature picture, "Peter the Great" at the Capitol Theatre for the last two days of this week. The big Alsation shepherd dog, with his keen face and intelligent eyes, makes a wonderful central figure for an interesting picture. The manner in which he evades difficult situations and the almost human character of some of his escapades are remarkable. Peter makes a better star for moving picture than many men and women.

Eleanor Boardman is the heroine of the feature, which tells the story of a man wrongfully accused of a crime and put in prison. His dog stars in the rescue of his master and there is a thrilling scene in the episode where Peter overpowers the prison guard and assists his owner in making a getaway. The pursuit by armed men and the escape through a marsh afford one of those exciting moments that make a picture seem real to life.

Jack Tarrant, the hero, is played by Raymond McKee, and Earle Metcallfe is the villain of the piece. A characteristic of this production is the dark but very impressive photography. The scenes are filmed in an atmosphere that adds much to the reality of the screening. The outstanding figure, of course, is the dog, the vital animal that fights and goes down and fights again in his pursuit of the bad man of the picture. Animal lovers will enjoy a picture like this.

There is an 'Our Gang" comedy, entitled "Derby Day," as funny as the general run of these frolicking little boy comedies, and the usual run of interesting short reels.

GASOLINE TAX MUST BE LEVIED DIRECT AT SERVICE STATIONS

Is Opinion of Experts, in View of B. N. A. Act—Avoidance Possible.

MUST HAVE COUPON.

(Special to the Examiner).

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28. —Federal officials decline this afternoon, to discuss the question of the validity of the new gasoline tax to be imposed upon the motorists of Ontario by the Ferguson Government. They declare that it is matter for the courts to interpret and for lawyers to squabble over.

There are two sections of the British North America Act which may be involved for the interpretation in question. Section 92, which defines the "exclusive" powers of the Provinces, lays down the principle that direct taxation is within the rights of the Provinces for the purpose of raising revenues for Provincial purposes.

A direct tax is something which must be levied directly upon the tax payer, and of which he has complete cognizance. In order, therefore, that the Province of Ontario may be intravires in this matter, the tax must be imposed at the service stations and not upon the manufacturers, to be passed on in the nature of an increased cost. Neither can the tax be charged by the service stations without some special coupon being delivered to every driver indicating the fact.

Section 121 of the British North America Act provides that "all articles of Growth production or manufacture of any of Provinces shall from and after union be admitted free into each of the other Provinces."

Under the above section it would be quite possible for any persons or group of persons to bring in gasoline from a Province outside Ontario and entirely escape the tax imposed by the Ferguson Government.

It is all a matter of interpretation according to the opinion of officials here.

CONFERENCE ON FRENCH FINANCE

Premier Herriot Is Confident That Finances Can Be Restored to Health.

GREAT DIFFICULTY.

PARIS, February 28 (Canadian Press). — A financial conference of the first importance was held at the Quai d'Orsay last night to prepare for the debate on provisional credits for March in the Chamber of Deputies this morning.

The conference, which was called by Premier Herriot, continued until 3 a.m., and it is understood that an agreement was reached on all points.

In a statement to the Petit Parisien, after the conference, Premier Herriot said:

"We shall be confronted this year with numerous difficulties. I am sure believe me, that we shall surmount them all. Enormous sums have been disbursed during the years out of capital furnished by successive loans, and to-day we find ourselves confronted with this problem. We must meet current expenditure and assure reimbursement of part of the borrowed capital out of our ordinary resources.

"The situation is difficult and delicate. By collaboration of everybody we shall be able to restore our finances to a state of health. I am confident—very confident."

GUELPH CHURCH VOTE.

Rev. J. A. Mackenzie's Congregation Decides to Enter Church Union.

GUELPH, Feb. 28.— The result of the voting at Chalmers Church was announced last night at a congregational meeting. The vote showed 511 ballots cast for Union and 408 against, with 2 spoiled ballots.

This is the church where Rev. James A. MacKenzie officiates. Rev. Mr. MacKenzie was formerly pastor of Knox church, Peterborough. He is an ardent Unionist.

MONTREAL, February 28 (Canadian Press). — Because it had been their home for so many years, Thomas Corbeil, aged 86, and his wife on St. Jerome Street, in which they lived when it caught fire on Thursday night, and it was not until firemen had forcibly led them out that the aged couple left the burning structure.

IN MEMORIAM.

MILLS.—In loving memory of George Mills, who passed away Feb. 29th, 1924.
"You are not forgot, dear Brother,
Nor ever will you be, as long
As life and memory last
We will remember thee.
Oh, our loved one how we miss him,
Only God alone can tell,
But 'tis sweet to think we'll greet him
Where we'll never say farewell."
—Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brother.

CHICAGO

A moderate reaction in wheat values is expected today as Buenos Aires closed one cent lower and a lower Liverpool is likely. Bull leaders, however, say that the market is giving a wonderful account of itself considering the heavy unloading on the advance of the last few days, and they regard May wheat as established over $1.90. There is a rumor that July will work closer to May at the high point yesterday both May and July were up 20 cents from the low point of two weeks ago and it is said to be in good shape to respond to buying.

GIMMETT STOPS ENGLAND.

Australian Slow Bowler Makes Debut By Shocking Visitors.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press).—Grimmett, an Australian slow bowler, making his debut in Test match cricket, was mainly responsible for the disastrous first inning experienced by the Englishmen in the fifth and last of the present Test series with Australia. The Australian first innings batsmen were all out for the comparatively low score of 295 this morning, and the Englishmen went in to bat after lunch with high hopes. Optimistic at the start, they suffered a series of violent shocks culminating in disaster which left them a deficit of 128 on the first innings.

This Little Brandon Lassie Is Never "Dosed" for Colds

The Browns Now Use the "External" Treatment for Croup and Cold Troubles.

Mrs. John Brown, of 426 24th St., Brandon, Man., is the mother of this fine little girl and one of the many Canadian mothers who now use the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, in treating the colds of all the family. After using Vicks for some time Mrs. Brown writes:

"I have eight small children—aged from one to twelve years—and can certainly say that Vicks is the only cold remedy I have in the house all winter. If the cold is in the childs' head I just put a little up each nostril and it gives relief in a short time. If it is in the chest I rub Vicks well in at night and by morning the cold has almost disappeared. I also use Vicks for chilblains and for burns—in fact, I use it too for severe headaches and find relief in a very short time. I always recommend Vicks to my friends especially those who have children."

Vicks is the eternal direct treatment for cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. It is the ideal treatment for children's colds, just as good, too, for adults.

GENERAL ALARM AS EARTHQUAKE ROCKS DISTRICT

Clocks Stopped Ticking at Bethany and on Wescott Street.

EERIE PHENOMENA.

Millbrook Poultry Man Says 300 Hens Were Shaken Off Roosts.

Following close upon the heels of prognostications by a religious body that the world would end with the closing of February, Saturday night's seismic disturbance in Peterborough district threw many people into a state of terror. Two and a half hours before the last hour of February struck, the signal, according to religious fanatics who have once again guessed wrongly, for the destruction of the world, the earthquake picked up houses all through the district and shook them so that the dishes rattled, furniture moved, and even people's heads rolled from side to side. And yet, from reports received by The Examiner from all over the city and district the general impression among those who experienced the nerve-wracking sensation was that the foundations of their houses were collapsing.

The earthquake was recorded here at 9.20, and within a few minutes reports were being received from all parts of South Peterborough.

R. A. Davern, Monaghan, was the first to report, and from then until 2.30 on Sunday morning the telephone was busy. Some people saw their chandeliers swing like pendulums of clocks; others were amazed to see folding doors open up or close, and yet other watched milk dance and splash in open dishes. At Millbrook, it is reported, 300 hens were shaken from their roosts. At Bethany a mantle clock stopped at 9.21. People in bed at East Emily felt their beds shake under them. At Brighton people were made giddy by the swaying motion. In the south end of the city nearly every house was caught in the unheaval, and in at least one instance dishes were shaken off a rack and broken. The farthest north that the rocking sensation is reported is Brock street, but Water street and George street as far north as Hunter felt the shock distinctly.

The presence in the city of Blackstone was blamed by some credulous persons with the production of the eerie phenomena. It was mystifying for a sober citizen, quietly reading his newspaper, to see a cabinet door swing open, or his hanging lamp swinging, or to feel his rocking chair rock without any aid from him.

Wonderful help was given by the young ladies at the central office of the Bell Telephone Company, who put through thousands of calls in a short space of time. Every rural line and most of the city lines were busy as people called neighbors to ascertain the meaning and extent of the disturbance. And hundreds called Central, who is credited with knowing all things, to explain the situation. All enquiries were courteously answered, and the calls were expeditiously handled.

In the City

Following are some of the reports received from persons in Peterboro:

Mrs. Barnes, Cameron Street, felt her chair rock and saw a mirror shake on the wall.

A resident on Romaine Street felt the floor shake and saw dishes move and rattle.

R. A. Davern, Monaghan, was the first to report the tremor, telling of his house shaking.

A Chamberlain Street resident saw his chandelier sway like the pendulum of a clock.

Frank Sherwood, 110 Lock Street, saw the doors of his kitchen cabinet swing open and a table lamp rocked on its base.

Mrs. W. McLaren, 534 Chamberlain Street, was sitting at a table when she felt it shake and heard crockery rattling.

At 296 Prince Street chinaware rattled in a cabinet and the house trembled so that those in it thought the foundations were giving way. The cabinet itself moved.

Herbert Doig, Crawford's Grove, was seated in a rocking chair when it started to move. The house trembled, spoons rattled in a drawer and milk splashed in an open dish.

James Richmond, 568 Chamberlain Street, saw loose pieces of furniture move and felt his house tremble.

Miss Ethel Heron, 292 Brock Street, heard dishes rattling during the tremor.

A Patterson Street resident saw

STILL QUAKING AT MURRAY BAY

Centre of Saturday's Seismic Disturbance Is Firmly Settled.

SHOCKS TO-DAY.

QUEBEC, March 2. — (Canadian Press).—That the origin of the seismic disturbance that shook the north-eastern part of this Continent on Saturday night was in the vicinity of the Saguenay River, was proved beyond a doubt this morning as a result of a long distance telephone conversation with Agent Harvey, of the Dominion Express Company, at Murray Bay. That official gave out the surprising information that shocks were yet being experienced, the latest one having occurred at 8 o'clock this morning.

HASTENED DEATH

TORONTO, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Reports of minor damage from the earth tremors which caused citizens an anxious few moments on Saturday night were forthcoming from various points in Central Ontario this morning. In most cases the smashing of crockery and falling of suspended pictures was recorded.

Doctors at a local hospital are undecided whether the earth movement hastened the death of a woman patient who had been there for some time suffering from heart trouble. Immediately after the shock was felt she became violently ill and died a short time later.

Scores of incidents relating to the panicky feeling which overcame many Torontonians when they saw pictures and lighting fixtures sway and experienced a sensation akin to sea-sickness as chairs rocked beneath them are set out in to-day's newspapers.

ROBBERS ATTACK SEXTON, AGED 83

Caretaker of St. Barnabas' Anglican Church, Toronto, Brutally Assaulted.

FOUND BY WARDEN.

TORONTO, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Returning to the parish hall of St. Barabas' Anglican Church in the west end of this city, shortly before midnight, to find an article he had left there after the evening service, F. J. Perrin, one of the church wardens found Courtney Hockaday, the aged sexton, lying in a semi-conscious condition and bleeding from wounds to his head!

Mr. Hockaday, who is eighty-three years of age, had apparently been assaulted by robbers, and at the Western Hospital, whither he was rushed, it was found he was suffering from a broken nose and seven severe cuts to his face, while two teeth had been knocked out. He was unable to give any information the the police early today.

FREIGHT RATES ON HOUSE CARD FOR THIS WEEK

Proposed Subsidy For Shipping Due For An Airing on Tuesday.

NO TARIFF CUTS.

Preston Likely to Appear as "Witness" for the "Cabinet."

OTTAWA, March 2.—The horoscope of the session is reasonably clear from what is now before the House or what is known to be coming. It will not be a session, characterized, as many are, by the predominance of fiscal issues. Everything points to an intention on the part of the Government to let the tariff pretty well alone apart from indicating steps toward revision. No cuts are in prospect this year, but some adjustments are necessary and in that category, the demands are considerable and clamorous. Nova Scotia coal operators want a levelling up of the duty on bituminous coal, so that slack may be made subject to the same customs levy as the best class of the commodity. There are insistent representations also concerning the British Preference.

Another delegation of Quebec boot and shoe manufacturers was here Friday, complaining of injurious competition by reason of the preference and asking for remedial measures. The woollen people are also being heard from the same way. Something seems likely to be done to a certain degree, but any radical departure is hardly looked for. As the Budget may be down before Easter, the suspense will not be long.

All other questions seem likely to be reduced to a subordinate position in comparison with freight rates. The Petersen contract brings up the ocean rates issue, while the Crow's Nest Pass Judgment likewise throws the railway rates into the hopper. The ocean subsidy will be tackled on Tuesday and after the initial discussion, when the Bill is advanced to the secondary stages, it will likely go to a Special Committee. There, from all accounts, it will be fought out hard.

Recalls Past.

Members of the North Atlantic Conference regard the legislation as unfair to them and characterize the Preston report as also unfair in its findings and its implications. Mr. Preston will be on hand to justify his conclusions and that small company around here when this gentleman was a witness in the inquiry was a witness in the inquiry into the North Atlantic Trading Company, about 20 years ago, will recall his peculiar versatility as a star witness. The companies will argue that the existing rates are not excessive, and that subsidized competition is an unjust intrusion in their line of business.

On the other hand, it is said that representatives of the grain growers and cattle raisers and Canadian manufacturers want to be heard in support of the proposed measure. The Liberals generally favor the Bill, although a few of them are a bit critical about some of the subsidy provisions and what they may lead to. The Progressive attitude is very much the same. In both parties, the majority seem strongly inclined to favor the scheme. The Conservatives will be utterly opposed to the agreement and will fight it in the House and committee, and if it runs the gauntlet there, they will rely upon their majority in the Senate to keep up the warfare. The prospects generally are for a very enlivened period devoted to this legislation, importance of which no one is disposed to minimize.

The Supreme Court judgment in the Crow's Nest case was not a surprise. Many who followed the argument and the judical comments prophesied that the judgment would be just what it is. The situation satisfies no one and settles nothing satisfactorily. Parliament realizes that it will have to perform this belated function. Although some may suggest that specific rates be embodied in legislation, there is no such intention. Rather as intimated Friday, the plan is to give the Railway Commission a free hand to remove the disparities and discriminations, but in doing so, to endeavor to have regard to the claims of the Prairie West and British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces, all of which are sedulously engaged in putting forth their special pleas.

It may be assumed that the railways will resist a cut in rates, unless there can be some compensating concession, because they maintain that their operating costs are still at the maximum, while the American roads, with which

SEVEREST CANADIAN EARTHQUAKE EVER RECORDED SHOOK EASTERN PROVINCES ON SATURDAY NIGHT; MILLIONS OF PEOPLE ALARMED AS BUILDINGS ROCK.

Mouth of Saguenay River in Quebec Was Centre of Sharpest Tremors.

BEGAN AT 9:21:17 P.M.

Seismic Registration at Ottawa Fourth Largest Ever Recorded There.

NO FATALITIES

Theatre and Hockey Crowds On Point of Panic.

OTTAWA, March 2. — (Canadian Press). — Four times more severe than any previously recorded here, was the official report of the earthquake from the Dominion Observatory. At 9.21.17 p.m., the first preliminary tremors arrived, said the official report, and the vibrations continued to be recorded until midnight, although in the houses and public places it was felt for only a few minutes.

The earth variations were one-quarter of an inch. The distance from the epicentre is 540 kilometres or 335 miles, and the original was placed somewhere at the mouth of the Saguenay River.

Unfortunately, while the markings of the earthquake registered on the seismograph at the Dominion Observatory constitute a fine record, the preliminary tremors are but faintly marked due to the fact that the shocks arrived in such quick succession that the "stylus" swung with such intensity and so quickly that it had no time to trace the progress of the earth's tremors for about ten minutes, when the 'quake was at its worst.

Official Statement.

"The earthquake on Saturday evening was by far the most severe in its local application, which has been registered in the history of the Dominion Observatory," stated A. E. Hodgson, Government seismologist. "As a matter of fact it is the fourth largest ever recorded here. The others being the Frisco and Japanese 'quakes, and one which occurred on February 4, 1923, somewhere in the North Pacific Ocean, and from which the water wave, travelling at a speed of 400 miles an hour for three thousand miles, wrecked shipping in the harbor of Hawaii and destroyed sea front residences.

"The earthquake, felt on Saturday night, was most severe for about ten minutes, starting from 9.21, and it probably originated somewhere near the mouth of the Saguenay River, where the geologists have known for some time that there is a serious fault in the earth's strata. It was of such a severe character when recorded here, that undoubtedly it would be strong enough to rock, if not destroy, any but solidly built buildings, in the vicinity in which it occurred. For the first-time in the history of the Dominion Observatory, the 'quake was recorded on the microbarograph, which records sudden changes in atmospheric pressure. The markings on the barometric reading show a sharp jag denoting the big kick made by old mother earth."

Cause of 'Quakes.

Mr. Hodgson stated that the earth has been found to be about as elastic as steel, and that there are waves always travelling through it, both longitudinal and transversal. Earthquakes are due to many causes, amongst them the slipping of the earth fault line; building up of stresses: deposition of sediment and shrinking of the earth; earth tides, similar to sea tides, barometric pressure, and earth waves from a distant epicentre.

The possibility of Ottawa experiencing an earthquake of such an intensity as that which destroyed Tokio, is practically negligible, according to Professor Stuart, director of the Dominion Observatory, owing to the fact that in this district the formation of the earth is very old and settled.

Noise on Radio(?)

Mr. Stuart was somewhat surprised to hear that some persons had reported "hearing" the earthquake while listening in on the radio. He said this would probably be due to the barometric pressure affecting the electrical instruments such as amplifiers in the boadcasting stations.

The speed with which these earth waves travel is indicated by Mr. Hodgson who turned up the records showing that in the 'quake at Tokio, Japan, the preliminary tremors arrived after travelling a distance of 10,500 miles, in 13 minutes 26 sec-

GENERAL PANIC IN QUEBEC CITY

Buildings Swayed and People Fainted—Thought End of World Had Come.

SHACKS COLLAPSE

QUEBEC, March 2.—Quebec was visited by five distinct and severe earth tremors Saturday night and early Sunday morning and quite a lot of damage was caused throughout the city and district. The first shock occurred at 9.30 sharp Saturday evening and reached its maximum at 9.32, thereafter diminishing in volume, while the second was experienced at 11.30, with a third at 12.20, a fourth at 2, and the last at 4.18 a.m.

Neither the second nor third shocks were as violent as the first, during which buildings were shaken, and general panic ensued. This first shock was general throughout the city and a number of people fainted while some of them believed the end of the world had come. The large armories here, the huge Chateau Frontenac and other big buildings swayed perceptibly while some small shacks on the outskirts of the city were thrown down by the force of the tremor but up to the present no deaths have been reported.

A section of the roof of the Union Station, the largest in the city, was damaged while a considerable portion of the glass in the building was broken.

Rumbling Under Earth

MONTREAL, March 2.—Saturday night's quake, occurring at an hour when all the places of amusement were in full swing, near panic took place in several of them. In some theatres there was a rush for the doors.

In the uptown districts the earthquake seemed to have oddly divided effects, due to the kind of soil. In some buildings there was such a swaying motion that chandeliers rattled and dishes were moved. The effect was like the heaving of a ship at sea. On McGill College Avenue, where the substratum is none of the most secure, the effect was particularly noticeable and in most of the apartment houses the tenants fled to the street, minus hats and coats or overshoes. The most terrifying phase of the disturbance was the deep rumbling under the earth.

Curiously enough in other places shock was hardly felt at all. At the Forum, where the HamiltonMontreal National Hockey League game was in progress, people on the west side of the building felt the tremors while people of the east side did not.

One of the worst spots was centered around Beaver Hall Hill. At the top of it is the System Theatre. When the quake occurred somebody raised the cry of fire, and at once there was a stampede for the door, during which a number of women fainted.

Church Walls Cracked

At Shawinigan Falls it was found that the walls of St. Mark's Cathedral were badly cracked. Twenty feet of one of the transepts fell. It was decided not to hold Mass in the building Sunday. Much alarm was felt as to the effect of the disturbance on the great power houses on the St. Maurice River, but word reaching here from the district gave the assurance that any damage done had been slight. A portion of the roof of the Aluminum Company at Shawinigan fell, but the damage will not interfere with the operations in the plant.

FELT IN ENGLAND

Detroit, Mich., Hotel Guests Rushed Into the Streets.

NEW YORK, March 2. — Old Mother Earth shook herself just a trifle Saturday night, sending a vigorous little earthquake pell-mell throughout the North-eastern part of the United States and Canada.

The tremors were noticeable for about 2 minutes at 9.23 o'clock and, although not strong enough to cause damage, they shook territories from North-eastern New England to the Mississippi and from the Province of Ontario as far south as Wheeling, W. Va., Richmond and Louisville.

In the great centres of population—New York, Chicago, Montreal, Toronto, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Boston, Detroit and others—the quake was severe enough to alarm millions of people. In some cities, notably Detroit, hotel guests hurried into the street. In others, theatres and movie halls were vacated, their patrons mistaking the quake for a serious explosion. New York's many-storied canyons of steel and concrete felt the shock, too. In fact, reports from observers at Fordham University said that the tremors, lasting for more than 2 minutes, were the strongest ever felt in the metropolis. The needle of the Fordham seismograph jiggled over an amplitude of seven inches.

Intensity Varied.

The disturbance appeared to have been of varied intensity. Described by seismographic experts at the Georgetown University in Washington as "very severe," the quake was said to have lasted from 15 to 20 seconds in Hartford, Conn., but for more than 2 minutes in several other cities including New York.

Scientists in many cities and in several lands last night were endeavoring to find the point of origin of the earthquake which shook the North-eastern quarter of the United States and Eastern Canada Saturday night.

Seismic experts in the area affected found their data rather difficult to interpret, but their preliminary observations tended to indicate that the disturbance started in the region of the Great Lakes, perhaps near the mouth of the Saguenay river in Quebec.

Father Tondorf, who has charge of the five seismographs at Georgetown University, estimated that the quake centered about 620 miles from Washington and that its epicentral point was in the Lake District.

Scientists Agree.

Bearing out this approximation was the report of the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa which, howeved, definitely placed the point of origin at the Saguenay's mouth. Father J. S. O'Connor, professor of Physics at Fordham University, was not able to perform a positive conclusion last night, but the thought it "highly probable" that the Canadian scientists' deductions were correct.

Meanwhile, several other opinions as to the epicentral point were offered. The Oxford University Observatory cabled that the quake had been recorded there but that inasmuch as the seismographic record was rather imperfect, scientists did not care to make a definite calculation. However, unofficial reckonings at the English University put the quake's starting place " a few hundred miles distant from New York, probably near Washington."

Oxford's Reaction.

OXFORD, Eng., March 2.—The seismograph at the University of Oxford at 4.40 o'clock Sunday morning (about 11.40 p.m. Saturday American Eastern Standard Time) recorded an earthquake, which it was recorded was apparently a few hundred miles distant from New York, probably near Washington. The records of the disturbance were somewhat imperfect, and Professor Turner, who is in charge of the

STUDY STOPPED WHEN Y ROCKED

Students on the Y. W. C. A. Fourth Floor Felt Their Tables Moving.

RAN DOWNSTAIRS.

Students on the fourth floor of the Young Women's Christian Association Building on Simcoe Street were rudely interrupted in their studies on Saturday evening, when the earthquake shock which seemed to be discerned mostly by people on upper floors sent them scurrying downstairs, exclaiming that an earth quake had occurred. The tables at which they were seated and the books in their hands moved perceptibly, and on the third floor, rocking chairs started oscillating back and forth.

An elderly lady, resident on Murray Street, who had retired early, felt her bed swaying, and credited the fact to her imagination, making up her mind to joke with her family in the morning about the earthquake.

In the south end of the city bridge players were interrupted in an evening game by the moving of their table and the chairs on which they sat. These people also heard a rumbling sound at the same time, and immediately spoke of an earthquake. Two dogs who were on the verandah at the moment made no sound of any sort—during the disturbance.

PATRICK RYAN DIED AT MASS

Campbellford Man Passed Away at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday Morning.

HEART FAILURE.

Death came very suddenly to an old resident of Campbellford, who has been residing in Peterboro for the past two months, when Patrick Ryan was stricken with heart failure and died within a few minutes, at St. Peter's Cathedral here yesterday. Mr. Ryan, who was a devout member of the Roman Catholic Church, came to the eight o'clock Mass, intending to receive Holy Communion, but instead, received the last sacraments of the church in the vestibule and died shortly after his arrival.

The deceased, whose remains were sent to Campbellford on the noon train to-day, for interment there to-morrow morning, is survived by three brothers: Thomas of Marmora, James of Sydney, Ontario, Frank of Lindsay, and two sisters: Mrs. Heenan of Campbellford and Mrs. Keough of Rawdon, Ontario. His wife pre-deceased him about five years ago.

U. S. RUM SLEUTH KILLED BY BOMB PLACED IN AUTO

Infernal Machine Under Hood of Car And Attached to Starter Button.

COMPANION HURT

Car Had Been Left Standing in Front of House All Night.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 2.—Orville Preuster, most daring U. S. Customs officer in the fight against bootleggers and rum runners, was the victim of an infernal machine at four o'clock Sunday afternoon and was literally blown into the wind.

Preuster had left his car outside his house since last night and stepped into it and touched the starter. Immediately there was an explosion which killed him instantly and severely injured his companion, Elmer Whitacre. The latter was severely cut about the head and face and may lose his eyesight.

The bomb had been placed under the hood of the car and so fixed that pressing the starter button set it off. The police are without clues.

Preuster had received many threats on his life because of his fight against the traffic in liquor over the riper.

TURKS MOVE TO MOSUL BORDER

British Government Suspicious of Mobilization Near Disputed Territory.

KURD RISING RUSE.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The Kurdish revolt is being watched here with increasing suspicion. Turkish mobilization of whole classes to deal with a rising not believed important enough to warrant such measures, together with the relative proximity of the regions where troops are being moved to the disputed Mosul frontier, and the fact that the Anglo-Turkish Mosul dispute is soon to come up again before the League Council are sufficient to explain the disquiet in British official quarters.

News that France has permitted Turkish troops to use the Syrian railway to get to the scene of insurrection has led to pointed inquiries being made in Paris. The French have explained that permission was given because the disturbance is an internal one. When Lord Curzon protested, two years ago, against any French agreement to permit Turkish troops to use this railway, what are described as binding guarantees were given by France that the railway would never be used against the British in Irak.

Irak embraces much of the territory formerly known as Mesopotamia What is feared here is that it will soon be announced from Angora that the revolt of the Kurds had been quelled and that the army sent to suppress the insurrection will remain within a comparatively short distance of the Mosul regions in dispute, while the League Council wrestles with the problem.

BODY OF EBERT LIES IN STATE

Funeral on Wednesday Under Military Escort—Eulogy of Dead Leader.

SELECT COMPANY.

BERLIN, March 2. — (Canadian Press). — The body of Friederich Ebert, Germany's first president who died on Saturday, lies in state in his study. For the funeral service on Wednesday, the coffin will be removed from the study to a larger room in the executive mansion where Chancellor Luther, acting president, will deliver an address. The company which is to be limited to 250, will include members of the Federal and Prussian Cabinets, diplomatic corps and representatives of Federal States. A chorus of the State Opera will sing. There will be no religious services.

From the executive mansion, the body will be taken under military escort to the steps of the Reichstag building where a pause will be made while the President of Reichstag, Herr Loebe ,delivers an eulogy of his fallen chief.

The burial will take place in Berg Cemetery, Heidelberg, on Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

SAYS HYMNS CONTORT HEAVEN

Old Gospel Songs All Wrong in Their Sensuous Appeal of an Eternity of Ease, According to Rev. J. H. Snowden.

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 2 .—You can't sing your way into heaven!

And if you do get there you will not find a life of bliss which consists wholly of balancing upon the edge of a soft cloud and twanging a harp.

So—if on Sundays or at the Wednesday evening prayer meeting you swell the crescendos in the hope of earning everlasting ease—you will be disappointed.

Old gospel hymns are all wrong, writes Rev. James Henry Snowden of the Western Theological Seminary, Northside, Pittsburgh, Pa.

And his opinion may be said to be worth while for he was awarded

REV. JAMES H. SNOWDEN

$1,000 for the best treatise on the subject "The Christian Belief in Immortality in the Light of Modern Thought" offered by "The Churchman," a religious publication.

"If you look over the hymns we sang long years ago, there is practically nothing of service in them," writes Rev. Snowden.

"Whether everybody then was so tired that all they wished was rest, and, consequently, the religious ideals were made to fit the yearning, I do not know.

"But the hymns teem with expressions such as "flowery beds of ease,' 'flowing with milk and honey,' 'occupying a place in the celetial choir,' 'sitting at the foot of the throne,' and so on.

"The world was pictured as a place of continual conflict, but heaven was a place of rest when the fight was won and over.

"There seemed to be a sensuous appeal—that is, an appeal to the joy of eating, drinking, even it if was only milk and honey, an appeal to the joy of resting and of giving forth song.

"How can we fit that idea of heaven into our knowledge of the constant work needed to keep the world on its feet. Surely, even heaven must have some system of work.

"I believe that over there, we will have a great more work to do than here, the portion given each of us, balanced to our abilities.

"That is why I do not like hymns which lull us to a belief in an eternity of lolling upon soft clouds, playing with more or less accuracy, a glittering harp.

"Such a thought is not an attractive heaven to me, and I believe would be nauseating to the majority of persons.

"Our reason tells us that whatever Supreme Intelligence rules the universe, it is constructive, not passive. That is why I think the old type of gospel hymns are all wrong.

"And I believe, even the old-time singers would be very much disappointed if, when they rent the veil, they would find an infinity of nothing to do."

MINERS UNAWARE THERE WAS A QUAKE

Underground Workings of Northern Ontario Fields Unharmed on Saturday.

NORTH BAY, Marih 2.—(Canadian Press).—A complete survey of the Northern Ontario mining field, made yesterday and this morning by representatives of the Canadian Press, indicated that no damage was done to any of the underground workings by the earthquake Saturday night. One peculiarity of the 'quake seems to be that it was felt severely in some sections, yet in others, not more than a mile distant, it would not be felt at all.

Cobalt, for instance, hardly felt it, but at Haileybury and New Liskeard the shock was rather severe. Where there was sand or clay formation in the Sooth Porcupine field, the shock was sharp; on rock formation it was not felt.

In the 950-foot level of the Hollinger Mine the men did not know there had been a 'quake.

CANNIBALS ATE ELEVEN PERSONS

French Authorities Execute Six Men and Women for Slaying.

IN FRENCH GUINEA.

BORDEAX, France, March 2. (Canadian Press).—Six negro cannibals, among whom was a man sixty years old and a woman seventy, recently were executed by French troops at Victoria, French Guinea. The old man told the court martial that liver was the choicest morsel of human flesh, while the old woman said she preferred to eat the flesh of children, "in the hope of becoming as young as them again." The cannibals were convicted of killing and eating eleven persons.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., March 2. —(Canadian Press). — The British cruiser Repulse, on which the Prince of Wales will make his voyage to South Africa and South America, beginning on March 28th, arrived here this morning, having been detached from the Mediterranean fleet. The work of preparing the warship for the trip will be undertaken immediately.

RUSSIA ORDERS EXILE FOR ALL EX-LANDLORDS

Their Last Remaining Little Plots Are to Be Confiscated.

RIGA, March 2.—A "Bolshevist campaign to obliterate with fire the delights of their old nests from former landowners' memories," recently has been waged with increased vigor against the last sorry remnants of this landowning class notwithstanding the fact that the majority since the revolution, have cultivated their small remaining portion of land just like their neighboring peasants.

The Soviet Government has decreed eviction for all former landowners, without exception, from their dwelling and the last portions of their former estates which they hitherto have retained and cultivated with their own labor. All such plots of land retained, with dwelling houses, outhouses and presumably also machinery, implements and live stock must be confiscated, and the former owners cannot even rent or in any way occupy, cultivate or use such alienated property.

The decree divides the former landowners into three sub-classes. The first consists of those who have relatives abroad, those living near the frontiers and those who in any way participated in the struggle against Bolsheviki, or occupied any responsible position under the old regime. This class must be evicted and must even abandon the crops, which become state property.

The other two sub-classes may reap their harvest, but must leave their property before September 1 and December 1 respectively. The decree applies only to White Russia but very similar measures are being applied in other parts.

THE GUMPS—NOBODY'S CLAIM

SEVEREST CANADIAN EARTHQUAKE

Mouth of Saguenay River in Quebec Was Centre of Sharpest Tremors

onds; the secondary wave arrived in 24 minutes 46 seconds, and the long waves in 46 minutes 45 seconds. Mr. Hodgson explained that the long waves are rarely felt in earthquakes, but it is the preliminary and very fast tremors which are felt most and do the most damage.

Thrill at Hockey Game.

At the auditorium here, 8,000 people were gathered to witness the Canadien-Ottawa hockey match, and the earthquake came between periods. The building vibrated violently and a falling window created a tense atmosphere which threatened for a few moments to bring the crowd to the verge of panic. There was a slight movement towards the doors when the vibrations apparently faded away, and the crowd settled down again with slightly ruffled nerves to watch the game.

Rushed to Exits.

A crowd witnessing the annual pupils' concert at the Glebe Collegiate Institute responded quickly to the shakings of the building, and in the gallery of the assembly hall there was a pushing for the exits. Several women grew hysterical, but order was restored as the tremors became faint.

In the Royal Victoria Memorial Museum plaster from several of the arches fell without injuring anyone. The building is on "shaky" ground that prevented the completion of the museum tower years ago, hence it was particularly subject to the tremors. Some damage was done by the falling of a brass water container which regulated the moisture in the national gallery section of the museum building.

Hospital patients were particularly disturbed, and in many cases watch was kept all night for a recurrence of the earthquake. Apartment buildings were particularly affected, and even in private homes suspended chandeliers swung to and fro, rocking chairs rocked violently, and dishes rattled in their places. Plumbing and radiators shook in their settings, and the entire effect was sufficient to drive many people temporarily from their homes.

Was Studying 'Quakes.

Guy Rhodes, a student who was studying the subject of earthquakes on the top floor of the museum at the time the 'quake occurred, afterwards stated that he had distinctly felt the building begin to sway somewhere between 9.20 and 9.20 p.m., and the disturbance continued for about ten minutes.

"All of the windows where I was began to rattle and some of them in other parts of the building were broken," said Mr. Rhodes. He also stated that all of the book-cases running north and south in the room in which he was in, began to swing and the arches on all floors began to crack at their apex.

Realizing what was occurring, and becoming alarmed as to his personal safety, Mr. Rhodes stated that he had run and took shelter under the side of an arch, where skylights or glass which might become broken would not fall upon him. Later, to ascertain what damage had been caused, Mr. Rhodes made a tour of the building and found that arches had been cracked on all floors of the building, and that pictures in the art gallery had been sent askew by the force of the disturbance.

LINDSAY, March 2.—The tremor of the earthquake Saturday night was felt perceptibly in Lindsay and vicinity. The quake was particularly felt in one section of the town, on Sussex Street and vicinity where houses seemed to rock and where pictures fell and dishes rattled in some homes the chandeliers swayed. Hundreds in the picture shows were unaware of any unnatural disturbance.

The earthquake was felt at Blackwater Junction, and it was thought that the station restaurant would collapse, travellers rushing from the restaurant.

The shock was also felt plainly at Allandale and at other points in that section of the country.

Residences Rocked

ST. CATHARINES, March 2.—The earth tremor was very perceptible here Saturday night, lasting nearly a full minute. On the gravel ridge along which part of Church Street runs and the highest point in the city the larger residences were rocked to an alarming extent. Electric lamps suspended from the ceilings swung over an inch either side of the perpendicular centre and were still in motion for some time after the tremor subsided. A few windows were broken on the Western hill.

Windows Broken

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 2 (Canadian Press).—In this district the quake appeared to follow the St. Francis River. Many residents report window panes broken, while in other homes chinaware was rattled from the shelves in cupboards and shattered. The audiences in the moving picture houses were badly frightened by the shock and rushed to the exits. However, the damage done was slight.

Severe in Quebec

KNOWLTON, Que., March 2.—The shock was so severe in this district that pictures were hurled from walls in a number of houses. Several residents reported that candlesticks were toppled from mantelshelves to the floor. No loss of life was reported.

Rink Swayed

SUDBURY, March 2.—A distinct earth tremor was felt in Sudbury Saturday night about 9.30. While a hockey match was in progress the big building shook perceptibly and all lights swayed. Many people left the rink and comment was general on all sides wondering what had happened. Throughout town citizens report rattling of crockery and rocking chair swaying. Many district points report similar occurrence.

Caused Church Fire

MONTREAL, March 2.—St. James Bascilica, Episcopal See of Roman Catholics in Montreal, in the west end of the city was threatened with destruction Sunday morning when fire, which may have been caused by oil flowing from a heating system pipe broken during the earthquake of Saturday night caught to the furnace room ceiling.

Only the presence of mind of the engineer of the building in turning off the oil flow by a safety valve, and good work by the firemen, prevented the flames from spreading to the church proper.

As it was, the smoke penetrated the church and the many persons who had already gathered there for the 8 o'clock Mass were forced to leave. Damage is estimated in the neighborhood of $10,000.

observatory, hesitated to base a precise statement on them.

Prairies Normal.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 2.—The earth tremors which rocked the buildings in Eastern Canada and the United States, Saturday evening, did not manifest themselves in the prairie provinces, according to reports received here early last evening. The dominion observatory at Victoria, B.C., recorded the shock, beginning at 6.26 and continuing three hours. Officials stated the effect of the shock was about 2,800 miles distant from Victoria, probably originating in the West Indies.

his large heater sway as the house rocked, while pictures swung out from a wall with a decided rattle.

In the Grand Central Apartments on George Street doors swung open and when Constable Puffer arrived he found the tenants out in the hall, all fearing there had been an explosion in the basement..

His Third Experience.

W. E. Earl of St. John, N.B., who was visiting with Joseph Staples east of Ida, told The Examiner this was his third experience in earthquakes, the worst of his previous encounters being in Trinidad. In Saturday night's tremor Mr. Earl felt the brick house tremble for nearly a minute, and a man's head shook as he sat in his chair. John H. Earl was also present.

A Chamberlain Street resident reported that the radio made hideous noises and rocked.

A lady residing on Water Street, near Simcoe, felt her couch shake and experienced a nauseating sensation such as is induced by seasickness.

On Westcott Street a grandfather clock stopped ticking at 9.21, and a dog growled when the house shook.

A cat in a Parnell Street residence resented the disturbance that rocked the home and arched its back and spat.

H. F. Doig, Cameron Street, noticed a decided tremor.

IN THE DISTRICT.

Following are reports received from Examiner special correspondents:

APSLEY—Residents here noticed the earthquake in a series of tremors that rattled dishes and shook furniture.

WARKWORTH—Chairs and tables were seen to move and stoves rattled.

BAILIEBORO — The earthquake was specially noticeable west and south of the village, near the water. Mr. Barnard noticed his verandah roof shaking, and dozens of residents saw and felt their furniture move.

CAVANVILLE—In the parsonage at Cavanville and in other houses the phenomena of closing doors and rattling windows called attention to a percepible heaving of the ground.

BETHANY—The 'quake made a distinct hit in Bethany, shaking the houses with a sideways motion that bewildered a number of people. R. L. Crerar's mantle clock stopped at 9.20.

EAST EMILY—People in bed at East Emily were conscious of a pronounced shaking of the beds, and heard furniture move.

BRIGHTON — The earthquake made itself felt in Brighton in no uncertain way. Several residents were made giddy by the swaying motion. In the furniture store, chairs hanging on the wall were seen to swing.

SMITHFIELD—Dishes moved on shelves, hanging lamps swung back and forth from their hooks, and the heaving was distinctly felt.

MILLBROOK — Lights swayed, doors rattled, beds shook and chairs swayed when the 'quake visited Millbrook. At M. McDowell's poultry farm, near here, 300 hens were shaken from their roosts.

IDA—The tremor lasted nearly a minute here, and was very pronounced. A new solid brick house heaved in a way that made the residents think the foundation was sinking.

ROSENEATH—Oil lamps shook and chimneys rattled. Pictures swung on the walls, and dishes rattled in cupboards. The 'quake was felt in the village like a wave passing along the ground.

At Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Ont. March 2 (Canadian Press).—Oshawa people felt the quiver of an earthquake shortly after nine o'clock on Saturday evening which was of a few seconds duration. Residents of the King Street Chambers, who were quietly perusing the paper felt their chairs sway from side to side, and passed casual remarks on the occurrence, little thinking it was the effect of an earthquake shock.

CAMPBELLFORD—The Norham people felt the shock, and at the homes of Mr. Gus. Bertrand and Mr. Fox, near Meyersburg, five miles south of Campbellford, it was also felt. Mr. Bertrand, who was in bed, said it shook the bed and the whole house.

KEENE—Several people in the village felt the earth tremor on Saturday night.

NORWOOD:—Many people felt the shock here. Mr. Giffin, postmaster, noticed doors and windows shaking, and Mr. Cutcliffe, manager of the Union Bank reported feeling the upheaval.

OMEMEE.—Oil shook in lamps here during the earthquake and dishes rattled on shelves.

HASTINGS, March 2. — Chairs rattled in houses east of the town and a man was shaken away from phone as he stood talking.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, March 2.—Between forty and fifty members of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Northey last week for a social evening in honor of Mrs. W. J. Bartindale, who, with her husband and family, leave next week for Conquest, Sask., where they will make their home. Owing to illness, Mrs. Bartindale was not able to be present in person, but the address and gift were conveyed to her at her home.

Mrs. Bartindale has been a faithful and active member of the Ladies' Aid since she became a resident of the village and she will be very much missed. The following is the address:

Dear Mrs. Bartindale: We, the members of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church in Lakefield, learning with regret of your purpose to leave our community, have taken this opportunity to convey to you our appreciation of your integrity of character as manifested during your stay among us. Your kindliness of heart, your cheerfulness of spirit, your devotion to the needs of your family, and, as opportunity permitted, to the work of the church, have always been an example and an inspiration to us. So often we thus get help to live from others, and yet fail to give expression to our appreciation, and so deny to a deserving person the encouragement to live and serve in the sphere in which God has placed them. We wish you to go to your new home assured that you have not lived in vain among us.

Please accept this gift as a tangible reminder of what we wish you to know of our sentiments toward you, and may we hope that you may some day find your way back again to take up your abode among us.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid. Miss N. Webster, president; Mrs. R. Nugent, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. J. Northey, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Nixon, asst. treasurer; Mrs. S. Spence, treasurer; Mae W. Hamblin secretary; Mrs. J. Reid, M. J. Ray, Mrs. Jacob Payne, Mrs. A. Darling, Mrs. J. R. Northey, Mrs. Wm Purdy (asst. secretary), Mrs. Robert Bullock, Mrs. John Millage, Mrs. Jas. S. Millar, Mrs. Jeff. Moore, Mrs. T. Jewell, Mrs. John Northey, Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. F. H. Richardson, Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Mrs. Gertrude McConkey, Mrs. Dora MacMillan, Mrs. Percy Spence, Eva Spence, Mrs. G. Scriver, Mrs. F. J. Darling, Mrs. S. Pearson, Mrs. R. J. Lennox, Mrs. Robt. White, M. Theresa Reddick, Mrs. M. Owen, Mrs. Harry Scriver, Mrs. A. C. Carveth, Mrs. Nathan Payne, Ethel M. Nugent, Mrs. John Madill, Isabelle Sutton, Maud Nixon, Mrs. J. E. Galvin, Lauretta Northey, Mildred Purdy, Gwyneth Northey.

The members of the local committees for the support of the O.T.A. met on Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist Church to hear the report given by the delegates to the meetings held in the Metropolitan Church and Massey Hall, Toronto. Mrs. F. H. Richardson and Rev. P. L. Jull were the local delegates. There was a fair attendance at the meeting.

Quite a number of local hockey fans attended hockey match on Thursday night in the Arena, Toronto.

Lakefield Personals.

Mrs. W. E. Gillman is visiting relatives in Peterborough.

Mrs. Moodie-Heddle, of Oakville, was in the village on Wednesday.

Causes of Earthquakes Obscure Say Scientists

Scientists describe an earth quake as a shaking of certain parts of the earths surface, produced by causes not perceivable to our senses. This motion occurs in very different ways, having sometimes a perpendicular, sometimes a horizontally undulating, and sometimes a whirling motion. It also varies much in degrees of violence from a shock which is hardly perceptible to one which leaves wide chasms and changes the appearance of the ground itself. During these shocks, sometimes smoke and flames, but more frequently earth and torrents of water are discharged. There is little doubt that earthquakes and volcanic eruptions are kindred phenomena, the latter differing from the the former principally in proceeding from a permanent crater. All observations go to prove that both are due to disruptions produced by internal heat at a great depth beneath the surface of the earth. Of the particular way in which this force works, however, there are various theories. It has been thought by some that the center of earthquakes and volcanic disturbances is always near the sea or other large supplies of water and that the disturbances are directly caused by the filtration of the water down to the igneous matter, and the consequent generations of vast quantities of steam, which frees itself by explosion. Others have sought to explain earthquakes as part of the phenomena of a planet cooling at the surface or to the yielding of strata so as to slip downward upon each other.

VELOCITY OF EARTHQUAKES IS VARIABLE

From 1,000 Feet a Second to 9,000 is Estimated Speed of Propagation.

AT GREAT DEPTH.

Centre of Disturbance May Be 30 Miles Deep in the Earth.

The velocity of propagation of an earthquake is very variable. Thus in the case of the earthquake of Lisbon in 1755 it seems to have considerably exceeded 1,000 feet per second, while in the Lisbon earthquake of 1761 the rate was three times greater. At Tokyo, in 1281, the velocity, as estimated by Professor Milne, varied between 4,000 and 9,000 feet per second.

Various attempts have been made to estimate the depth at which the earthquakes originate. Mallett was of opinion that the centre of the Neapolitan earthquake of 1875 was probably 5 1-2 miles from the surface. The same eminent physicist thought that an earthquake centrum probably never exceeded a depth of 30 geographical miles. According to Milne, the angles of emergence of the earth waves obtained during the Yokohama earthquake of 1880 showe the depth of origin of that earthquake might be between 1 1-2 and 5 miles and he gives a table, compiled from the writings of various observers, which exhibits the mean depths at which certain earthquakes have originated. These estimated depths range from 17,260 to 127309 feet.

The eara disturbed by an earthquake is generally porportionate to the intensity of the shock. The great earthquake of Lisbon disturbed an area four times as great as the whole of Europe.

In a violent submarine earthquake, the ordinary earth wave and sound wave are acompanied by sea waves These waves may be 20, 60, or even 80 feet higher than the highest tide, and are usually more dreaded than the earthquake shock itself in such regions as the maritime districts of South America. The greatest sea wave on record is that which, on Oct. 6. 1737, is said to have broken near Cape Lopatka, at the southern end of Kamchatka, 210 feet in height

The chief regions subject to earthquakes are the Pacific Coast of North and South America, the West Indies, Southern and Southeasterr Europe, West, Central, and Eastern Asia, Japan and the East Indies The earliest recorded earthquake occurred in China in 1831 B. C.

Sound Waves.

The sound which accompanies many earthquakes is due to the transmission to the air of vibrations in the soal. To produce sound waves in the air the ground must be vibrating with a certain rapidity. No sound will be heard when the oscillations are fewer than 30 per second. Again, it matters not with what speed the surface waves may be running along the ground, the waves will be "refracted" into the air in a direction practically perpendicular to the surface, simply because of the much smaller velocity in air. Similar waves of compression will be propagated through water.

METHODIST CHURCH JUBILEE SERVICES

Hampton Congregation Hold Special Services for Fiftieth Anniversary.

COBOURG, March 2.—Yesterday the Golden Jubilee of Hampton Methodist Church was celebated by special services. Rev. Dr. G. H. Williams of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, was the preacher at both services.

On Wednesday evening last, a tea and concert were held. Rev. Dr. Stafford of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, lectured on "The Rise and Fall of Nations." Miss Joy Fawcett, a talented musician from Toronto, ably assisted in the programme.

Left on Thursday

Canon and Mrs. F. J. Sawers left on Thursday to motor to Toronto, where Canon Sawers takes up his new duties as rector of St. Matthew's Parish, and where he was inducted last night. They take with them the good wishes of the people of Cobourg generally.

Dr. Boyle Here.

Rev. Dr. Boyle, who has accepted the invitation accorded him by the Parish of St. Peter's Church here to become their rector, arrived in town Saturday and assumed his new work yesterday. He will move his effects to Cobourg shortly.

Will Remain as Pastor.

Rev. E. W. Cafley, a former pastor of the Durham circuit, has received a cordial invitation from his official board at Cressy to remain with the congregation for another year, which he has accepted.

Centreton Pastor Invited.

At the regular meeting of the official board of the Centreton Methodist circuit, a unanimous invitation was extended to Rev. Mr. Trompour to remain for another year.

Rev. Adsett Here.

The Presbyterian Church committee is supplying the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here until a permanent minister is appointed. The preacher Sunday was Rev. Mr. Adsett of Toronto.

Joined United Choir.

Five members of the choir of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church have come with their minister, Rev. W. A. Bremner and members of his congregation with the United Church and sang with the choir yesterday.

OBITUARY.

MRS. C. WEBBER.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—The funeral of the late Jennie Arnold, 37, wife of Mr. George Webber, who died on Thursday at her home on Rear Street North, was held on Saturday. Rev. C. F. McIntosh conducted the service, which was in charge of the Duchess of Clarence Lodge, No. 429, and the Duke of Clarence Lodge. There is a vacancy in the Ladies' Lodge as the late Mrs. Webber held the office of Chaplain. She was also a member of the Canadian Order of the Woodmen of the World, Maple Leaf Camp 161, which Lodge also joined in the service.

The pall-bearers were members of the Lodges represented, as follows: Messrs. J. Douglas, I. Boyd, G. Salter, E. Wilson, Chas. Hay of Campbellford, and Jno. Ibey (Meyersburg).

Among the beautiful flowers were —Gates ajar, Family; cross, Sisters and Brother; wreath, Ladies' True Blue Lodge; wreath, Duke of Clarence Lodge No. 35; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Alla Yager, Rochester; wreath, Mr. Harry Stephens, Rochester; wreath, Woodmen of the World, Maple Leaf Camp 161; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips.

Mr. Webber and daughter, Mrs. A. Phillips, appreciated very much the kindnesses shown by the members of the above Lodges and other friends. Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mrs. Reid, of Belleville, who is a sister of Mrs. Webber; Mrs. Yager, of Rochester, a sister of Mr. Webber; Mr. and Mrs. David Webber, of Warkworth; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Webber, of Hilton; Mr. Geo. Wright meyer, of Myersburg, and Mr. Webber's mother, Mrs. John Webber who is over eighty years of age, and lives at Meyersburg. Though she has been ill of late, she was very anxious to come, and drove the five miles in order to be present at the funeral of her daughter-in-law.

MRS. WM. WESTINGTON.

COBOURG, March 2.—Friday afternoon all that was mortal of one of the best known woman residents of this district, Mrs. Ann Westington, was laid to rest in the family plot in the old Bible Christian cemetery at Plainville. Her's was an eventful life. Born in Cornwall, England, on Dec. 14, 1827, she came with her parents and their family on their great adventure to make a home in a new county in her early girlhood.. The trip on a slow-sailing ocean vessel occupied several weeks. After leaving the ocean vessel the trip was continued up the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario, on a small schooner, until Cobourg was reached. Here a little wharf had been run out into the lake, upon which the passengers were landed. Up to five or six years before, passengers had been taken from lake vessels to shore when opposite this port, by small boats called "jolly boats." But in 1828 Cobourg boasted a wharf, and in order that the people of the village might be duly notified when a boat was about to come in, a flag was run up at this wharf. The colors floating in the breeze announced that Mr. and Mrs. Wood and their family, new settlers, had arrived. They were conveyed out to Hamilton township to a place now designated as Dale and there they made their home. When grown to womanhood, Ann Wood became the wife of the late William Westington, and they settled on the Rice Lake plains, doing pioneer homesteading there. The name Westington has ever since been associated with progressive agricultural life in that locality. Four of the eleven children born to Mr. and Mrs. Westington predeceased their mother, two of these being Wm. J. Westington and Luther Westington, prominent breeders and agriculturists.

Mrs. Westington was widowed also by the death of her husband some years ago. Of the family there survive, Richard of Canton and Andrew of Port Hope; Theoloftus, Markus and Mrs. Silas Hoar, Bewdley; Mrs. Wm. McKenty, Plainville, and Miss Tryphena Westington, who resided with her mother on the homestead near Plainville Before failing health prevented Mrs. Westington was a faithful church worker. She was a mother in Israel and a woman who was highly esteemed.

KEENE HAS MUMPS, TOO.

Many Events Postponed and Part of High School Closed Through Epidemic.

KEENE, March 2.—The Rev. Andrew McLauchlin is leaving for Millbrook, where he will address the Ministerial Association of Millbrook.

While going to the train in Peterboro prior to returning home, Miss Belle Weir had the misfortune to fall and severely injured her hip, necessitating her removal to the hospital, where she will be confined for at least ten days.

Friends of Mr. G. Howson will be pleased to know that he is improving nicely from his illness, due to pneumonia.

There are numerous cases of the mumps in Keene and vicinity, also quite a large number of epople are ill with the "flu."

Miss Alice Chapman has a very bad attack of the "flu."

Mr. Joseph Taylor is able to be around again after being sick for the last week or ten days.

The epidemic of mumps has caused numerous postponements of coming events. The Rink has been closed for two weeks, as there has been nobody able to look after it.

Mr. Thomas Stillman of Havelock is busy moving his stock and implements to the farm of Mr. Stan. Braden, from whom he has rented it.

Mr. Eric Kimball has rented a farm across the lake, and is busy getting his stock and implements over while the ice is still good.

EARTH ROCKED IN BIG QUAKE

Canada Visited in 1663 By Disturbance That Uprooted Trees.

LASTED A YEAR.

Among the Indians, traditions exist of several severe prehistoric earthquakes. The first recorded in the annals of the white settlers is that occurring in New England on 1st June, 1638 (o.s. shortly after the landing of the Pilgrims. Chimneys were thrown down, and in some places it was difficult to remain standing. This disturbance was preceded and accompanied by a noise resembling distant thunder. On 29th October, 1653, a great earthquake was reported, but no details are available.

On 26th January, 1663, a violent earthquake occurred over New England and parts of Canada, New York and Pennsylvania. The earth rocked heavily, and great fissures appeared; there were landslides on the hills, and trees were prostrated; springs and streams disappeared, the channels of rivers were changed, and the water in many cases was so charged with sulphurous gases as to be unfit for use. The great shaking lasted for several minutes, and tremblings continued for half an hour. Three lesser shocks occurred the same evening, and several during the following days.

On 29th October, 1727, another violent earthquake shook New England, and was felt from Pennsylvania to Maine, in which sand and sulphurous ashes were ejected from the fissures.

The most severe earthquake ever known in New England occurred on 18th November, 1755. The rocking and jarring continued for more than four minutes, and was felt at Halifax and far out at seo. At St. Martin's, in the West Indies, the sea receded five feet and rolled back to six feet above the normal level.

Lasted a Year.

The greatest earthquake of historic times in America was the so-called New Madrid Earthquake, which began on 16th December, 1811, and did not entirely cease for more than a year. It is famous in geologic history as the only known quaking of a river valley far removed from volcanic formations.

The first shock came at 2 a.m., and was preceded by a heavy, dull, rumbling noise. A second shock came at daylight. The ground rose and fell in long waves, the branches of trees were interlocked, and cracks opened through which immense quantities of sand and water, with coal in some cases, were thrown out, covering fertile fields to the depth of two or three feet.

Large areas of land were uplifted, and others engulfed. The tops of many oaks were snapped off, while many others were split from the roots up and overthrown. Lakes and ponds disappeared ,and forests and bottom lands became swamps covered with water. The Mississippi River was thrown into immense waves which tore down adjacent bluffs and felled acres of tall timber.

During the next three months 1,874 distincts shocks were recorded. The severe disturbances extended over 40,000 square miles; and the shaking was felt from New Orleans to Detroit, into Upper Canada, and as far east as Boston—an area of over one million square miles. The noises were heard all along the coastal region from Charleston to Savannah.

The greatest property damage occurred in Cincinnati, where a thousand chimneys were thrown down and many stone houses split open.

The continued recurrence of the shocks depopulated the New Madrid region. An inspection of the disturbed area verified the Indian tradition of a great earthquake there some 200 years before.

The next violent earthquake visiting the United States was that on 31st August, 1886, near Charleston, S.C., in which city 27 lives were lost and a property damage of $8,000,000 was sustained. This quake is notable for the high velocity of its propagation—reaching nearly 16,000 feet per second—which accounts for its great destructiveness. The shaking was felt from Northern Florida to Ontario, and as far west as Louisiana and Iowa—an area of about 800,000 square miles.

One of the greatest earthquakes of the world's history began in the Yakutat Bay region of Alaska on 3rd Septemebr, 1899, the most violent shock of the series coming on 10th September.

The area of severe disturbance was 432,000 square miles, and the entire area over which the quaking was felt was 1,539,000 square miles. Extensive changes in the topography of the country resulted. A maximum uplift of 47 1-2 feet was noted along the shore, the nearby glaciers pushed forward at the rate of half a mile a year, and the great Muir Glacier, 150 miles away, began to recede. In eight years it had fallen back nearly eight miles from its previous position.

FREIGHT RATES

they are interlocking relation, have higher rates than those prevailing in Canada, and may go higher still. The measure which is fraught with so many conflicting considerations and affects so many divergent interests, will not be hurriedly framed or disposed of, but will call for long and laborious endeavor. The rough unhewn substance of the sessional program is all in sight, but what the finished product will be few can hazard a guess. Imperative necessity calls for final action on the rates question this session and likewise there will be the Australian Treaty, certain adjustments in the Treaty with New Zealand consequent upon the former, the League of Nations protocol, which is very suscetible of rejection, amendments to the Criminal Code in respect of handbook-making, possible legislation in respect to Alberta's resources if the details can be worked out and a lot of controversial estimates.

SHIPS CARRIED 2 MILES INLAND

Lodged on Roofs of Houses By Huge Tidal Wave After Quake.

IN ANCIENT ROME.

In the second year of the reign of Valentinian and Valens, on the morning of the twenty-first of July, the greatest part of the Roman world was shaken by a violent and destructive earthquake. The impression was communicated to the waters; the shores of the Mediterranean were left dry by the sudden retreat of the sea; great quantities of fish were caught with the hand; large vessels were stranded on the mud; and a curious spectator amused his eye, or rather his fancy, by contemplating the varied appearance of valleys and mountains, which had never, since the formation of the globe, been exposed to the sun.

But the tide soon returned, with the weight of an immense and irresistible deluge, which was severely felt on the coasts of Sicily, of Dalmatia, of Greece and of Egypt; large boats were transported and lodged on the roofs of houses or at the distance of two miles from the shore; the people, with their habitations, were swept away by the waters; and the city of Alexandria annually commemorated the fatal day on which fifty thousand persons had lost their lives in the inundation.—(Gibbon's Rome, Chapter 26.)

SHOWER GIVEN FOR PROSPECTIVE BRIDE

Many Beautiful and Useful Gifts to Bride-To-Be.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mr. Wilson Thain in Seymour East on Thursday night, in honor of Miss Sara Tinney of Campbellford, who is being married shortly.

Three large sleigh loads went from Campbellford to swell the numbers. There were about one hundred guests present. The bride-to-be received many nice presents, among which was a beautiful mantel clock from Mr. and Mrs. Carr. The evening was spent playing cards and dancing, after which refreshments

THE HANDBOOK EVIL.

The amendment to the Criminal Code which Hon. Ernest La Pointe, Minister of Justice, will introduce during the present session making it illegal to publish tips or odds in connection with racing, should have general support.

It is the opinion of police authorities that the passing of such an amendment would practically kill the handbook evil, which could not exist unless this information were available.

And anything that will check the activities of the handbook operators is in the public interest.

The recent cases in Hamilton have shown the harm that is caused by this illegal betting, which carries the worst features of race-track gambling to every part of the Continent, and makes wagering on horse races possible throughout the whole year.

The man who confines his betting to the track has only a week to do his gambling—the handbook operator offers almost continuous facilities for losing money.

The traffic should disappear.

DEBAUCHING SCHOOL BOYS.

The most zealous advocate of a vagorous enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act would surely not attempt to justify the practice reported from Lindsay of the use by "spotters" of youths as decoys to bring about the conviction of bootleggers.

It is said that O. T. A. enforcement officers made use of a number of Lindsay boys, one of them a student at the High School, to trap the illicit vendors, the youngsters being given money to buy liquor.

There is nothing to be said on behalf of the bootlegging industry, and in these particular cases the men who callously sold whiskey to boys—one is said to be only fourteen years of age—richly deserved all they got.

But that does not justify the methods used to secure convictions.

If the Ontario Temperance Act cannot be enforced without debauching youngsters by using them as bait, a very strong case is made out for those who advocate that the measure should be expunged from the statute books of the Province.

Admittedly, it is a difficult matter sometimes to secure evidence against bootleggers, but that does not offer an excuse, let alone a reason for the plan adopted in Lindsay to obtain convictions.

The attention of the Attorney-General should be directed toward the report of these Lindsay cases.

UNCONTROLLABLE EXPENDITURES.

On behalf of the City Council it is well to point out—although it should not be necessary to do so—that a large amount of the expenditure for which it must find the funds is not under its control, but is incurred by the Board of Education, Public Library Board and other bodies.

The Council is, therefore, not responsible for a very large share of the public expenditure, and in justice to the Aldermen who are striving to reduce the tax rate, that phase of the situation should be understood.

It is argued that City Councils should have more to say about the expenditures of the other municipal bodies for the activities of which they must find the funds.

It is natural, of course, that Aldermen should desire more control of such expenditures.

But, after all, there is no reason to believe that if it were possible for the Council to administer the schools and other departments that the net result would be a saving for the public.

In other words, there is no particular ground for assuming that Aldermanic control of these other expenditures would prove in the long run any more economical than is the present system.

And, on the other hand, there is ground for the opinion that the task of managing all these departments would prove too great a strain for the average City Council, and that efficiency would suffer without any compensation in the way of lower expenditure.

BARN FIRES.

A striking paragraph in the report just issued by the Agricultural Inquiry Committee for Ontario concerns the increase in fire losses on barns, says the Globe. In 1919 these fire losses amounted to $1,124,403, while in 1923 the figures jumped to $2,599,812, an increase of 131 per cent. General fire losses in the Province for the first six months of 1924 showed an increase of 78 per cent. over the first six months of 1919. The committee finds that barn fire losses, and the losses of purely mutual insurance companies, have increased considerably more than general fire losses for the same period. As a result, it is pointed out, a number of fire insurance companies do not care to write policies on farm properties.

While the committee thinks that this subject is one calling for a practical investigation, some agricultural experts point out that undoubtedly most of these barn fires have been caused by spontaneous combustion with either sweet clover or alfalfa. It is contended that as the first alfalfa crop is harvested in the spring much of it has been improperly cured and placed in the barns when in a damp condition. This was particularly true of 1923, which was a wet year. Such harvesting of alfalfa, it is said, is merely inviting a conflagration from spontaneous combustion. It is pointed out that just as soon as the growers are properly informed on the curing of the fodder, fires from this cause will materially decrease. The same argument is advanced in the case of sweet clover.

Another theory for the prevalence of rural fires is that, since the country is being denuded of forests, the barns are less protected from lightning. In this connection, it is claimed, scientifically arranged lightning rods have been proved to be almost a complete preventive. In any event, a loss of two and a half millions from barn fires is a serious problem for agricultural authorities to combat.

The Aldermen seem to have converted the tax rate into a 36—but it will be difficult to convince the taxpayers that it is a perfect 36.

THE TAX RATE AND SERVICE.

The City Council in its endeavour to keep down the tax rate is forced with a choice set forth during the debate on Friday night.

Ald. Crowe ennunciated one policy when he said: I'm for cutting this tax rate down, even if we have to suffer."

Ald. Fife, equally as clearly, explained the other in the following words: "If we cut the tax rate in the face of what we have to do we are failing to give service to the people."

The two alternatives could not be more plainly stated.

Both viewpoints are honest and easily understood.

Which, in the final analysis, does the public approve?

A rising tax rate is not the most pleasant thing in the world, but, after all, a mill or two either way is not so important sometimes as the question of whether we get value in the way of service for the money we pay into the civic treasury.

That should be the real test.

Peterboro's citizens pay considerably more for the privilege of living in Peterboro today than did the citizens of fifteen years ago.

A reason for a part of that increase is the general increase in the cost of everything which civic governments can no more escape than can the individual citizen.

And a good deal of the rest of the larger expenditure is explained by the fact that the Peterboro of today provides its people with much more services for its taxes than was the case a decade or two ago—paved roads, more sewer accommodation, cement sidewalks everywhere, better drainage, a paid Fire Department with modern apparatus, better provision for the protection of the citizens against disease, free rinks, toboggan slide, civic swimming beeches, a modern Public Library, and a dozen other services that were not thought of by the Peterboro of yesterday.

If we could go back to dirt roads, wooden sidewalks, a volunteer Fire Department, no recreation facilities, little health protection, etc., we could take a substantial slice off the expenditure and lower the tax rate.

Is there a citizen of Peterboro who would want the old conditions back?

A STORM BREWING IN SOUTH AFRICA.

After pursuing the even tenor of its way for several months, following the submerging of General Smuts in his appeal to the country, South Africa is again swept by a controversy which has suddenly burst upon the country with a violence that presages a cataclysmic disturbance. The curious feature of the preliminary barrage was the enthusiastic reception given to former Premier Smuts, who is espousing the cause of the natives and Asiatics against whom the drastic Color Bar Bill is directed. It has always been a little difficult to appreciate the forces that operated to defeat Jan Smuts at the polls. The only excuse offered by his friends was that he had never been fired with the divine spark sometimes called "personality," which is a requisite of leadership, and that he had "lost the common touch."

General Smuts has a legal mind, and has never inspired the country as did the rugged, simple-hearted and great Botha. Yet his ability has never been questioned. Moreover, he is a master-strategist in political affairs, and something of this skill has been displayed in his handling of the issue by which the country is now torn. It is very seldom that the first reading of a bill is challenged in a British Parliament, but so keen is the interest which the Color Bar measure excited from its first introduction that the Union Parliament divided on the question at first reading. If General Smuts had thrown in his lot with Labor at that time General Herzog would have been in a very difficult predicament, but he voted with the Government on the express understanding that he would thereby assure a full discussion of the measure later. General Smuts did not hesitate to tell the House that the issue raised in this highly inflammatory and contentious measure "transcends the walls of Pariament and the fight will assume dimensions not contemplated by the Government."

When the bill was brought up for second reading General Smuts unlimbered all his artillery against the measure. The fight will be bitter, as such racial struggles always are, and the importance of the issue can hardly be exaggerated. For many years it has been the unwritten law in the mines of the Rand that no native shall be employed as a skilled worker. The custom has never been sanctioned by legal enactment. Two years ago the Supreme Court decided that the regulation embodying this practice in the Mines Act was ultra vires and was, moreover, "unreasonable, capricious and arbitrary." General Herzog's measure is introduced, therefore, to legalize the principle of the non-employment of natives at tasks which hitherto white men have monopolized. In addition to restricting the employment of natives, the bill has also been made to apply to Asiatics. As General Smuts pointed out, this is a challenge to Ghandi which the Swarajists will not be slow to take up. Whatever difference of opinion might exist as to the rights of a nation to restrict its immigration, even against fellow-members of the Empire, of which it is a member, there will be few to uphold the Herzog view that Asiatics, however skilled they may be, shall be discriminated against by prohibiting them by law from doing work which they are fully competent to perform.

The principle of a White South Africa will find many supporters throughout the Empire, but if a White South Africa can only be maintained by repugnant coercion of natives and Indians, some of those sympathizers will want to adjust their views of equity and justice.—Montreal Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, March 1 — The export trade in Canadian grain here Saturday was extremely dull owing to prices being below morning basis. The domestic trade in oats was also quiet, but the tone was firm. Ontario No. 3 grades being quoted at 65 cents and No. 4 grade at 63 cents per bushel, ex-store.

The weakness that has prevailed in the local egg situation of late was again most important factor in the market last week and prices scored further declines amounting to 6 to 7 cents per dozen, which makes a net reduction of 10 to 14 cents per dozen for the past two weeks which was due to the lower values ruling in the United States. The feature of the Butter trade last week was the stronger feeling and prices closed higher. The Cheese market was in Saturday 1 to 1 1-2 cents per pound active with fodder made No. 1 white and colored goods quoted at 20 1-4 to 20 1-2 cents per pound and No. 2 grade at 19 1-4 to 19 12 cents per pound. Beans were quoted at $2.70 per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. — Surprising fresh strength developed in the wheat market to-day largely as a result of likelihood that the United States visible supply total on Monday would show a decrease and that unofficial estimates of farm reserves will tend to enhance values. Wheat closed buoyant, 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 cents net higher, May 1.95 5-8 to 1.99 7-8 and July 1.72 to 1.72 1-4, with corn 1 7-8 to 2 3-8 cents up, oats showing 1-8 to 3-4 cent rise, and provisions at gains varying from 10 to 20 and 22 cents.

A THOUGHT.

UNTIL DANTE'S INFERNO FREEZES.

Humans go up or go down, as a rule, head first. That is, when we climb or when we fall, we follow the head.

Take the telephone or the telegraph pole-climber. He does not climb with his head down. This would not be climbing. But if he falls, nine times out of ten, he will fall head first.

Your head leads in the ups and downs of life. No man takes a step unless the brain telegraphs to his muscles to move.

The trouble with us poor humans is that we let our think-tanks go on deciding our steps without checking up. We do a dozen things every day that, if we would only stop to think more, we would make fewer mistakes in doing.

We automatically think and then act, but we "act" before we weigh well what we might know would be the result. A little more meditation and we will have fewer mistakes to mend. Chew the cud of meditation well and remember.

The average man looks through the telescope of optimism at the object he thinks is an opportunity without realizing that the lens has enlarged the vision and lessoned the distance he must travel to reach his hopes.

Meditate well before you move. The theory that any man "can who thinks he can," is the result of some writer dipping his goose-quill in the ink of illusion. You can do better than you are now doing and this is progress.

Meditate before you move. Then when you move, back up your plans and purposes with the hardest kind of hard work Stick until Dante's Inferno freezes.

SKIRTS GROW SHORTER.

The new skirts are barely knee length and those with the tailored costumes are narrow and straight. The sport models and afternoon frocks have much more of a flare, attained by circular or plaited flounces across the front. will kindly accept this.

Your Farm is a Business Proposition

YOUR farm is as much a going concern as a factory, a dry goods store or a railroad system. Your farm is as dependent as any other business on a policy of sound, forward-looking financing designed to meet the various situations that occur in the life of a farmer.

If you will regard your farm in this light—as a clean-cut business proposition—you will find it helpful to form a connection with the Bank of Montreal—a bank that has served the farmers of Canada for more than a century.

Each of our 600 branches has the strength and stability of the entire organization.

BATTLE GROUND OF MAMMALS

By A. M. EASTERLING.

BUENOS AIRES (By mail to the United Press).—The battleground of the prehistoric mammals of Patagonia and those of North America, discovered by Professor Elmer S. Riggs, assistant curator of the Field Museum of Chicago, contains one of the world's richest collections of fossils, according to Professor Riggs, who now is in Patagonia, continuing his researches.

The valley of Tarija, Bolivia, where the troops of animals met during simultaneous migration after a land connection, had been established between North and South America, is filled with the bones of great beasts which fought for mastery of the continent.

The carnivorous animals from North America, in years of fighting in which the sabre-tooth tiger played a terrible role, destroyed the herbivorous Patagonians, and spread over the entire continent. In turn many of the northern invaders, including the sabre-tooth tiger, gradually were exterminated.

Remains of the mastodon, the sabre-tooth tiger and other giant cats, of prehistoric horses, of the camel-like ancestor of the llama; of the glyptodon, the great grandfather of the armadillo, weighing tons; jaw bones and legs of lestodons; the huge scelidodon, with a foot like a hook, for he descended from a small tree-climbing animal; and of other strange creatures, are mingled there in the soil of the Tarija valley, forming an indelible record of a great war and furnishing scientists an intensely interesting field for research.

Some of the remains have been exposed for years, in the fields and by the side of the highways. The huge "bones of giants" are feared by the natives, although nearly every hut has a tusk or jawbone of some primordial beast in a niche "to drive away bad luck." The peons believe that if the remains of these "giants" are disturbed, they will blow up on the disturber, causing death.

Another native superstition is that the bones get up at night and go down to the creeks to drink. The peons speak gravely of this as though they had often witnessed it.

Tarija valley, where the fossils were found, is 115 miles from the La Quica-Atocha railway and is directly east of the city of Tupiza. Some fine specimens of the glyptodon were found within four miles of the city of Tarija, capital of the province. The valley is 6,000 feet above sea-level, with mountains around it from 10,000 to 12,000 feet high.

Professor Riggs' assistants, George F. Sternberg and John B. Abbott, collectors who were with him previously in Patagonia, went to Chicago this summer and the only scientific assistance the professor had was from his son, Harold Riggs, 19 years old, who two years ago worked with his father in Alberta, where similar investigations were conducted. Young Riggs, who will abandon scientific research with his father to enter Illinois University this fall, himself made some interesting discoveries.

Burros and peons were employed in transporting the fossils to towns where they were carefully prepared for shipment to the Field Museum.

Professor Riggs has asked for instructions from the Field Museum, upon which will depend his continued investigations in Bolivia. In the meantime he will continue his researches in Patagonia and in Brazil. He was forced to suspend explorations in the Tarija valley on account of the rainy season.

THE MISSING LINK FOUND

By JOHN GUNTHER.

LONDON, Eng., Mar. 2.—(United Press).—Once again the discovery of "the missing link" has come. And this time it looks genuine to experts.

According to reports from Capetown, South Africa, Prof. Raymond Dart of Witwatersland University has found the fossilized skull which carries us all the way back to the ape—and then some.

Buried in a lime cliff near Tuangs, Bechuanaland, the primeval link was found, Prof. Dart is naming it "Austai Pithecus Africanus." He says it is of a species entirely unknown and dates back at least 400,000 years.

"Geological evidence has been lacking in specimens of the phase of prehuman existence between the most primitive man and the most advanced ape," says his report. "This skull fills the gap."

He goes on to say that the Tuangs species was not human, yet was much more intelligent than the gorilla or the chimpanzee.

It was unable to talk, yet his brain had advanced in the direction of an ultimate ancestor who would be able to talk. It is to be regarded, Prof. Dart went on, not as an ape-like man, but as a man-like ape.

The fossilized skull itself is an almost perfect specimen, reports from Cape Town say, much better preserved than the Rhodesian and Broken Hill skulls found earlier in the same general region.

Both Prof. G. Elliot Smith and Prof. Sir Arthur Keith, both world renowned anthropoligists, said that Prof. Dart was of such high professional reputation that they considered the discovery important and certainly genuine.

Prof. Dart, who was a student of Prof. Smith's, went out to Africa only recently, following the suggestion of Sir Arthur that Africa, not Asia, would be found ultimately to be the real cradle of the human race.

Until the Dart find, Prof. Keith regarded "The Rhodesian Man" as the earliest human or sub-human species discovered. Keith estimates that the skull of the "Rhodesian Man" dates back at least 100,000 years.

In the marshy levels of Barotseland, at a spot called Broken Hill, there rose a limestone kopje at the base of which was an entrance to a cave. The limestone mound was worked by the Broken Hill Exploration Company, guided by several eminent anthropologists, and their excavations revealed a tunnel or shaft sloping down from the cave to a point 90 feet below the level of the ground. It ended in a small tomb, and here, Sir Arthur said, were found the skull and other remains of a man unlike any other scientists had ever known.

"He is an absolutely new type to us," declared Sir Arthur, "a type of man we had no idea of before. He is of a type so extremely primitive—so unlike races now living—that we have had to create a new species for him."

Sir Arthur said he could submit evidence which supported the speculation that the tomb dated back to the beginning of the Pleistocene period—at least more than 100,000 years ago and something under 200,000 years.

And what did this grandfather of the human race look like?

Sir Arthur had an answer. The bones show that he could walk in a... upright position and was five feet nine inches or a little more in height. His arms, apparently, were of comparatively normal length.

Although the skull had strong resemblances to the gorilla, the man was not so very low down in the scale as regards brain, being even higher than some of the low type of human beings alive today.

His face, however, was of truly immense size. The lower jaw was literally enormous. Sir Arthur demonstrated a chart of the teeth—great protuberant molars more like those of an ape than a human being.

One matter of unique interest developed from scientific examination of the skull. In the mastoid region there is a conical hole. Experts say that possibly this hole was caused by disease, and possibly—and Sir Arthur Keith agrees with them—possible by some primitive surgery.

In other words, this "Rhodesian Man," who roamed the African veldt tens of thousands of years ago, may have submitted to a surgical operation even as modern man!

"It is just these unusual characteristics which make the 'Rhodesian skull' so immensely important," said Sir Arthur. "It is one of the most important of all anthropological discoveries. It throws new and strong light on our early history."

EXALTED AGE 92.

Freemason Attains Royal Arch Degree at Advanced Age.

TORONTO, Mar. 2.—At the age of 92 years Charles William O'Hara has been exalted to the degree of a Royal Arch Mason in Madoc Chapter. This is without parallel in the history of Capitular Masonry. Mr. O'Hara is the oldest candidate ever exalted in the opinion of H. T. Smith, Grand Scribe E., who yesterday returned from the annual convocation of Grand Chapter held in Windsor. The exaltation of Mr. O'Hara was regarded as sufficiently interesting to be brought before Grand Chapter by the Grand .Z, W. S. Davis, of Hamilton.

St. John's Chapter of London, Ont., had the unique experience of conferring the Capitular degrees on two candidates whose applications were recommended by their sons.

BIRD PROTECTION WORKS

Seabirds Come Back to the Islands From Which They Had Been Driven.

HAMBURG, Mar. 2.—(Associated Press).—Efforts to safeguard the bird life on certain islands in the North Sea are resulting successfully. Terns and mews are coming back to the islands of Jordsand, Ellenbogen and Norderoog.

A century ago the Frisian Islands were a paradise for bird life. Naumann, the celebrated ornithologist, described them as having the appearance of a flake of foam floating on the sea because of the great number of mews, terns, dredgers and other birds. But in the meantime the islands have become bathing resorts and throughout the summer are alive with pleasure-seekers who have turned them into noisy amusement centres. Until recent years birds' nests were ruthlessly destroyed.

$20,000 FOR A LEG.

Five Year Old New York Boy Gets Damages For Loss.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Five-year-old Hyman Kaminsky, of No. 110 Monroe Street, will have $20,000 to compensate him for living the life of a cripple. A jury in Supreme Court yesterday awarded Hyman that sum in a $50,000 damage suit against the U. S. Trucking Company for the loss of his left leg in an automobile accident near his home, April 27, 1922.

The company contended that it did not own the truck which hit the boy and had no knowledge of the accident until papers in the writ were served.

CHICAGO BUYS LINES.

Transportation Will Fall Into Hands of City Council—$600,000,000 Involved.

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Chicago is to purchase and eventually take over the city's surface and elevated lines. Authorization for the project was passed by the City Council last night by a vote of 40 to 5. The price to be paid for the lines is in excess of $600,000,000.

There are about 1,000 miles of surface lines and 160 miles of elevated, and a total of 5,250 cars. Under the plan of purchase more than 400 miles of track are to be added to the system and more than 5,000 new cars.

ZOO IS WANTED; PAGE THE MAYOR

Detective Didn't Even Know How a Dingo Stalks a Wallaby.

POOR EDUCATION

"Business," declared Tinkle, "has turned the corner."

"Gosh," said I, "has it got away from us again?"

"Turned the corner—on the way to prosperity," Tinkle explained.

"I only hope I don't take the wrong corner going after it."

"You'd never make a detective," said Tinkle.

"That's where you're wrong. I have the good old camera eye. Why, I could identify a sardine."

"A sardine isn't a criminal."

"No, but it's very often a herring."

"All right, all right," said Tinkle. "But recognizing a sardine from its description doesn't make you a detective."

"It's a good start, though."

"I see that French detectives have to go into a dark room——"

"That wouldn't scare me."

"——and then come out, and describe the location and varieties of the furniture."

"They must have awful sensitive shins to do that."

"It's an ingenious test," said Tinkle.

"I could tell you the location of all the beams in the cellar where I live."

"Ah, ha," began Tinkle, "home br——"

"No, no!" I said. "Shoveling slate into the furnace. Every beam in the cellar has put a note of its location on my skull. The one over the coal bin has jotted down its position nine or ten times."

"It must be rather dangerous," said Tinkle.

"It is," I told him. "I'll crack my skull some day."

"I was thinking of the beams," said Tinkle.

"Mark my words, Tinkle. If I ever become a detecter, you're the first man I'll detect. I'll follow you like—like——"

"Like what?"

"You've seen a rattlesnake trailing an armadillo?"

"Migoodness, no!"

"Well, you know the way a dingo stalks a wallaby?"

"Can't say I do."

"You've watched a jaguar sneaking up on a capybara?"

"A jaguar! Do you think we live in the jungle in Nicholls Oval, where Mayor Turner is starting his zoo?"

"'S a pity you haven't been around a bit," I said. "Then I could have explained exactly how I—what was it I was going to explain, anyway?"

"A fine detective!" Tinkle laughed unpleasantly. "Why, you can't even follow a train of thought."

Cod Liver Oil Now in Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

SOVIET ENVOY WARNS CHINA

Asks Disbanding of Russian White Legion as Danger to Peace.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 2.—It is reported from Peking that the Soviet Ambassador has protested to the Chinese Foreign Office against the maintenance of 1,000 Russian Chite troops between Nanking and Shanhai.

The Ambassador is said to have urged the disbandment of the White legion without delay, declaring its maintenance threatens continuance of the friendly co-operation between China and the Soviet Government.

FIRE DESTROYS ALL IN HOUSE

Campbellford Family Escapes in Night Clothes—Everything Lost.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McCoy, who lived in the last house on Grand Road, was burned to the ground on Saturday morning. The inmates knew nothing about the blaze till Mrs. Copperthwaite, who lives in the second house away, noticed a glare in her room., and on looking out saw the McCoy home in flames. She rushed over in her night garments, and succeeded barely in time to awaken the family and get them out before the roof fell in. The inmates all had to rush out without taking time to dress or get any clothing. Everything was burned. The house and contents were partially covered by insurance.

There is in the family, besides the parents, a little girl of eight and a small baby. There was also an older boy boarding at the home, and it is said he ran from the house up the streets as far as the fire alarm at Benor's Mill, with nothing on his feet and only his night robe on. The cause of the fire is unknown. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. McCoy as they had only recently purchased this home from Dr. West. Till about two years ago the family lived at Percy Boom, and Mr. McCoy was engaged by John Boyce at the summer resort. The night was cold and wild, and this made it hard for the firemen or anyone else to hear the alarm. But the fire was away beyond control before any one knew of it, and it was impossible to save anything, as the house was a frame one.

141,609 FROM U. S. IN TEN MONTHS

Immigration To Canada Averaged 14,000 For Ten Months.

OTTAWA, March 2.—Immigration to Canada, including Canadians returning from the United States, has averaged a little over fourteen thousand a month for the ten month of the fiscal year up to and including January, according to a statement just issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization. The total is 141,609.

Regular immigration, not including returning Canadians, amounted to 102,977, of which 49,363 were British, 13,721 from United States, and 39,493 from other countries.

For seasonal reasons January represents a low point in Canadian immigration. The efforts of the Department of Immigration and Colonization are directed toward encouraging immigration of farmers and farm laborers, who do not arrive in numbers during the winter months. January immigration totalled 2,007, of whom 543 were British, 632 from United States, and 732 from other countries. It is of interest that for December and January immigration from the United States has exceeded that from Great Britain.

Canadians who in January returned to Canada after a residence of six months or longer in the United States and declared their intention to remain permanently in the Dominion totalled 1,715. The number of such returning Canadians since the beginning of the fiscal year is 39,032.

COMMUNIST SENTENCED.

Had Explosives in His Possession to Blow Up Town Hall.

LONDON, Mar. 2 (Associated Press Cable).—At Newcastle Assizes yesterday, Percy Gibson, aged 38 years, a member of the local Communist party, was found guilty of having explosives in his possession, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. It was charged against him that he had expressed a desire to blow up the Newcastle Town Hall and the power station, to rob a bank and cut off the water supply. After his arrest at the docks, when he was found in possession of nine cartridges and a tin of compressed gunpowder, the police searched his rooms and a basement, said to have been the secret meeting place of the Communists, and seized a quantity of Communist literature. It was stated that most of the laterature had come from Russia.

You wouldn't slam the door in their faces!

Every business has two doors, the street door and the telephone door.

Those people who are prevented from visiting your store — are you making it easy for them to buy from you by telephone?

Many of them would like to.

Would a polite, intelligent, cheerful voice answer their ring? Would the experience be such a pleasant one that they would wish to repeat it?

We have helped many stores to successfully organize their telephone departments for such trade. It would be a pleasure to help you.

RISKS HER LIFE TO SAVE 7 DOGS

Grandmother Crawls Out on Ice When Animals Struggling For Life.

BREAKS THROUGH.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Mrs. James Donnet, 62, a grandmother, and socially prominent in Irvington-on-the-Hudson, risked her life in icy water to save seven drowning dogs, and in turn was rescued by one of them.

Mrs. Donnet, whose husband formerly served as a Colonel in India, set out for a walk last Friday.

Broke Through Ice.

While passing Woodlands Lake, which is about 200 yards wide, the seven dogs, three of which were her own, suddenly started pell-mell across the ice. When they reached the middle of the lake the ice cracked and they all fell through into the water.

Mrs. Donnet looked about, but there was no one in sight. There were the dogs, fighting for life.

After throwing off her hat, scarf and skirt — she wore knickers underneath—Mrs. Donnet lay flat on the ice and began pushing a bench out toward the hole where the dogs were struggling.

Just as she was tilting the bench to give the dogs a better foothold the section of ice upon which she rested broke and tipped with her. She slid down into the open water with the dogs.

Dogs Climb on Shoulders.

Taking her as their own hope, the dogs crowded about her, and, except for her cool endeavors to quiet them, they would have dragged her down, for one of the dogs weighs 150 pounds. But she managed to swim to the edge of the hole and there induce five of the dogs to climb over her shoulders to the ice.

But she wanted to save all of them. She felt something drifting under her, reached down and seized Jappy, her Japanese spaniel, and threw him up on the ice, dying. The other, a dachshund, had drowned.

So, having done all she could for the dogs, Mrs. Donnet proceeded to save herself. Worn out by almost twenty minutes of struggle in icy water, she tried vainly to pull herself up on the ice.

Two of the dogs did their best to help. They tugged with their teeth at her shoulders so hard that they pulled one shoulder out of her sweater. The other dogs barked.

Rescue Completed.

The barking brought a woman and two men hurriedly to the scene. They started out on the ice, but Mrs. Donnet called to them to get a rope. In the meantime one of the big dogs in his frantic efforts to rescue Mrs. Donnet, fell back into the water with her.

Soon the rope was brought and Mrs. Donnet and her canine rescuer were dragged onto the ice, Mrs. Donnet having one arm tightly around its body.

FIFTEEN WEDDINGS ABOARD LEVIATHIAN

Will Establish Record This Voyage as Marrying-est Ship Afloat.

NEW YORK, Merch 2.—The steamship Leviathan, claimant of the title of largest liner afloat and swiftest liner afloat threatened to annex another title—that of the marrying-est ship afloat — when it emerges from its winter hibernation to-day for another season of transatlantic cruises.

Perhaps the suggestive influence of its skipper, Capt. Herbert Hartley, who recently took unto himself a bride in a romance which began and culminated on shipboard, has something to do with it. Perhaps it is something else again.

But the fact remains that the Leviathan has prospects of fifteen weddings aboard during its first crossing of the season. Accordingly, to help the erstwhile pride of the German maritime world play the part assigned to it by its prospective passengers, Capt. Hartley is preparing to break out a special "honeymoon flag"—two arrow pierced hearts on a blue background—after the first few hours at sea.

Vaudeville Star to Be Bride.

Preparations are ready for an elaborate shipboard wedding for a vaudeville star—her name is withheld as yet, but her fame is vouched for—and a New York banker, to take place as soon as the ship hits neutral waters.

And in the last forty-eight hours no less than fifteen other blushing couples—chaperoned or not, according to age and style—have sought out Capt. Hartley to make sure that he can tie a binding wedding knot. He assured them that nobody could tie a tighter one.

Two truckloads of paraphernalia, including tall palms and ferns, a wedding cake and other tidbits for a wedding feast already have been stowed away in Leviathan's hold for the big actress-banker wedding. The huge social hall of the ship will be especially decorated for the event and most of the first cabin passengers will be invited to see what a good job Capt. Hartley can do with a prayer book and a ring.

Imperial Suite for Couple.

The imperial suite has been reserved for the bride and bridegroom-to-be. It will be divided into two suites until the ceremony, when the skipper will present the key with appropriate ceremonies to the bridegroom.

None of the fifteen other prospective marriages actually has been settled upon, but given a couple of moonlit nights and the example of the actress and the banker, the captain is confident that he can strike off at least a dozen maiden names off the passenger list before the Leviathan docks abroad.

WIDE DRAPERY MATERIAL.

Fifty-inch drapery material generally cuts to better advantage than the wider or narrower weaves.

GODETS OF LACE.

Godets of lace are inset in some of the most lovely chiffon and crepe dinner gowns.

TIPS FOR SMART DRESSERS

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 28. — (United Press).—The present vogue for white at Palm Beach and other southern resorts has brought about the return of the white chamois or washkid glove. These are of slip-on type and are permitted to wrinkle softly about the wrist. They extend about half way between wrist and elbow. White parasols are also being carried this season and one gets the impression of white gloves, shoes, frock, hat and parasol. Occasionally the white hat is neglected for the brilliant red one. Felts are more popular than straws at Florida resorts and will undoubtedly be so up North this coming season.

* * *

The younger element are saying all sorts of things with flowers this season. Firstly there is the boutenière which needs no further mentioning. Then there are the huge silk flowers which are worn at evening time in back of the ear in Spanish fashion. These are usually bright red roses or royal poincettas. Lately introduced are the little nosegays of for-get-me-knots and tiny pink rosebuds which are worn on the wrist, tied with narrow ribbon of matching shade.

Costume slips have undergone a change in silhouette. The waistline has become lower and lower until now it is located at the knee flounce. The slip has just a suggestion of flounce, since its flounce cannot be as full as the flounce or pleats used on the dress itself. Shoulder straps that are worn on slips designed to be worn with sheer frocks are made of lace or net, rather than of ribbon, since ribbon is not sheer enough to be worn under transparent necklines. Whatever the shade of the slip—the lace shoulder straps are of matching shade since the lace is dyed for this purpose and is attached to the slip by means of snappers.

* * *

Among the smartest of ensembles which could be made by the dressmaker is a model of light tan kasha combined with stone-pink kasha. The frock portion is made of tan kasha in straight line until it reaches below the knees where a slightly circular flounce of stone-pink forms the hem. Where the pink is attached to the tan material a three-inch band of wool embroidery in pastel tones is set on as a trimming and blending for the two tones. The coat which is of five-eighths length, is made in the usual straight lines and is of stone-pink kasha. There is no trimming on the coat whatsoever. It is made with the front closing and when worn open displays the two-toned frock and embroidered band. Though very simple this ensemble is extremely effective. Stone-pink is a dull pink shade which would be becoming to almost anyone.

* * *

The peasant blouse has many uses this season. It may be worn with the suspender frock or a jumper with a pleated skirt or matching shade. Most of the newer models are embroidered in vest effect in front with rounded necklines, full sleeves caught in bands at the wrists and they are worked in colorful wool yarns on white materials.

* * *

It is predicted that as soon as women discard their fur wraps, larger brimmed hats will come to the fore. Already we see the passing of the simple little cloche, since most of the newer models are slightly wider as to brim and are flower trimmed.

* * *

The chiffon evening wrap will be one of the newest successes in the fashion world, according to many designers. We have already seen chiffon capes matching in color and line the frocks with which they are worn. These were among the early collections displayed for Southern wear. Now come the chiffon evening wrap which goes with the chiffon gown. One very lovely model is made of brown chiffon in slender lines with wide bell sleeves finished in a fur banding. There is a circular flounce at the hem of the coat and it is attached to the upper portion by fur banding. This is worn over a chiffon frock of tomato red.

ROSENEATH MAN'S FINGER SEVERED

Suffered Painful Accident While Sawing Wood Last Week.

ROSENEATH, March 2.— Mr. Norman Clark while sawing at Mr. Robert Linton's one day last week met with a painful accident, when he had the second finger of his right hand severed. He was rushed to Cobourg Hospital by Dr. Armstrong where he received treatment.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Friday last in the Orange Hall when progressive euchre and dancing was put on by the Royal Black Perceptory Lodge.

Eleben tables of euchre were played until midnight when lunch was served. The prize winners were: Mrs. Herbert McCracken, who won a box of chocolates and William Waldie, whose prize was a pack of cards. The consolation prizes, a stick of candy was won by Gordon Parker, and a clothes sprinkler was given to Mrs. Bruce Parker.

Music was supplied for dancing after lunch by Crowe's three piece orchestra.

Timlin—Lean.

The marriage took place on Wednesday by Rev. Pippen, Anglican minister of Hastings, of Miss Nita Lean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Lean, to James Leslie Timlin, third son of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Timlin.

After the honeymoon spent in Belleville they will return and take up residence on a farm near Roseneath. Both parties are popular young people of Alnwick township.

The W.M.S. of the Methodist Church met in the Centenary Church on Tuesday. There was a good attendance in spite of the bad condition of the roads.

The C.G.I.T. group intend putting on their play, "A Southern Cinderella" in Centreton on Friday evening, March 6th, under the auspices of the W.M.S.

The young people held a dance in the Orange Hall on Tuesday night which was well attended.

COACH IS POPULAR WITH THE PUBLIC

A Closed Car Which Competes With Open Models in Same Line.

(By Harold F. Blanchard)

The motor coach is distinctly a price proposition. In the eyes of the public it is a closed model which competes with the open models in the same line. Say "coach" to the average buyer and he immediately pictures a smart closed job with two doors giving access to the front compartment with the rear compartment made accessible by folding seats. The manufacturer may call it a coach and then again he may say it is a coupe, brougham or sedan, or use these words in combination, but "coach" is the public's popular definition.

Say "touring car" to the average buyer, and he'll answer, "Whadda I want with a touring car when coaches are so cheap." And there is the real definition of the coach. It is THE model that has taken the place of the touring car in the popular mind. The day of the open car is past.

An Elastic View.

The public thinks of the coach as selling at the price of the open model, but this is a rather elastic view, at the present time although it is certain to be correct with very few exceptions in just a few months. Hudson and Essex coaches are actually less than the corresponding open car models. Cadillac and Chandler coaches bear the same list price as the touring cars, and the same is true of the Packard six five-passenger touring coupe.

The coach at approximately open car cost is the latest achievement of mass production. In order to build a closed body cheaply, it is necessary to make it in large quanties, and further to follow the efficient productions methods used in the construction of the chassis rather than the methods of the old time body builder. These statements, of course, may be applied to any type of closed body, but the coach has proved the popular low-cost closed body type because of its simpler construction. Money is saved by fitting two doors as compared to three or four, and further, the coach is usually shorter than the corresponding sedan model and this helps keep the price down.

And It's Smart.

But the great popularity which the coach has won is not due entirely to its low price. Many people like it for its smartness, preferring it to a longer body with perhaps two more windows. Others consider that it combines the utility of the sedan and coupe. Like the latter, it may be used as a one-man car for business or calling; while it has the seating capacity of the former — when needed.

People with small children regard this body type as essential. You can put the children in the back and forget them, whereas with a three or four-door job the parents are constantly worried over the possibility a rear door flying open or being opened and the children falling out. Every family able to own an automobile is a live prospect for a coach.

A Public Longing

The coach certainly fills a public longing for cheap closed car, yet we must not overlook the fact that protection against the elements is only one reason why everybody wants a closed car. The motorist loves the sense of luxury which the closed car gives, and that sense is largely made or marred by the interior. He has moved from the woodshed into the parlor and wants parlor "fixings." The interior must be upholstered attractively with material which will stand up for the life of the car.

BAILIEBORO SEES SIGNS OF SPRING

Birds Are Returning And Sap Running — First Car Passes Through.

BAILIEBORO, March 2. — The first car of the season to make its way over the highway from Port Hope through to Peterboro, passed through this village on Tuesday afternoon. The motorist had a great deal of difficulty getting through the snow banks on the Baptist church hill at the north end of the village, but after a couple of hours work he managed to get through a distance of about fifty yards and wended his way on along the road enroute to Chemong. A number of the villagers very kindly turned out and helped to push the plucky motorist through the snow. This was the first car to go through the banks since January 17.

Already there are many signs of approaching springtime. During the past couple of days the sap has been running quite freely from the maple trees. The crows are around in large numbers, and on Tuesday a resident, residing near Rice Lake, saw a wild duck near his boathouse, while a neighbor saw several black ducks in an open space near the shore of the lake. Flocks of wild geese have also been seen flying north.

Mr. Howard Barnard is quite busy moving his household furniture from the farm to his fine new residence in this village. Mr. Barnard sold his farm to Mr. Houston of Peterboro, and purchased the new red brick house at the south end of Main street from Mr. Wm. Moncrief. Mr. Houston purchased Mr. Barnard's farm, stock, and implements and is now moving his furniture from Peterboro to his new home.

Mrs. W. H. Barnard has for the past week been visiting friends at Oakwood and Lindsay.

Miss Kathleen Isbister, of Peterboro spent the week end the guest of her parents.

The epidemic of mumps and whooping cough is starting to decrease in this district. There is a great number of people who are suffering from heavy colds, which seem to be very difficult to throw off.

The members of the U.F.Y.P.O. club postponed their dance on Friday evening last on account of so much sickness throughout the commuunity, and will put a good dance on sometime later.

Mr. Harold Bebee has been a guest of his brother, Mr. Dawson Bebee, of Port Hope, during the past couple of weeks.

No irritation for baby's skin

Do this and keep his clothing soft, pure and comfortable

Nothing is so sensitive as baby's skin! Even the slightest roughness in his diapers, shirts and bands will inflame and irritate it.

Much trouble is directly due to washing diapers with harsh soap—soap containing free alkali. The alkali clings to the little garments in the form of a fine, white powder—almost impossible to rinse out. This causes "diaper rash."

To save baby's skin, use Lux for washing all his clothes. It is the mildest, purest, gentlest cleanser in the world. Lux contains no free alkali, and the pure suds rinse out completely. Lux keeps baby's garments soft, clean, comfortable and safe!

How to wash diapers

Remove solid matter at once and soak diapers in cold water. Whisk two tablespoonfuls of Lux into thick suds in a tub of very hot water. Let diapers soak a few moments, then dip up and down, pressing suds repeatedly through them. Rinse thoroughly in three waters.

Billy Atwood is sure of an Education—

Frank Atwood had the right idea when he took out a $5,000 North American Life Child's Endowment Policy for his baby son, Billy.

"Some day," said Mr. Atwood, "I'm going to send Billy to University—going to give him a good education.

"Of course the best laid plans might go astray, but Billy's Child's Endowment Policy provides for every possible contingency.

"For instance, I might die to-morrow. In that case, there would be no more premiums to pay—but Billy would receive his $5,000 in 1940, just as I planned.

"If Billy died before the age of fifteen, I would receive back every cent I'd paid in—plus interest.

"If Billy died after his fifteenth birthday, I would receive the full amount of the policy."

Is your child's future provided for as securely as Billy Atwood's? It might pay you to investigate this unexcelled "Savings, Protection and Investment" policy.

The attached coupon will bring our booklet, "Child's Endowment." Write for it to-day.

CAVAN LUMBERING AIDED BY WEATHER

Snow and Ice Again Enables Teams to Haul Wood.

CAVAN, Feb. 28.—The slight fall of snow while the ground and ice were still soft, followed by frost made teaming again possible.

Many are taking advantage of this and getting logs to the mill, and wood drawn.

There is a great deal of work yet to be done in the lumber camp, which the sleighing will aid.

Mr. Cody has had teams drawing shingle bolts, lumber and wood to the C.N.R. siding, from the woods, to have it in readiness to load.

DIET FOR MOTHERS.

Fried and Highly Seasoned Foods Should Be Avoided.

Proper feeding of the mother should begin in the earliest foundation period of the pre-natal life, Mrs. Mann learned.

It seems to be one of Nature's mistakes that the mother's teeth often decay during this period.

This defect in the teeth is brought about by the growing child requiring much calcium for the development of its teeth and bones. The mother's food does not contain enough of this mineral substance for both bodies, so the mother suffers.

To protect both her own teeth and the child, the mother should drink at least a quart of milk daily, and eat some green, leafy vegetables every day.

Here's a proper diet for an expectant mother:

Milk, one quart a day; bread, cereal or macaroni of any kind; oatmeal, two kinds of vegetables every day, one leafy and one bulky; fresh fruit two or three times a week; meat, fish, eggs, cheese, beans, peas, lentils and any fat in moderate amounts.

She should avoid:

Fried or highly seasoned foods, and an excess of tea, coffee, candy, sweets and rich pastry.

Exhibit at WEMBLEY

THE Canadian Government has decided to continue its participation in the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley in 1925.

Eighteen million people visited the Canadian Pavilion last season, and an even greater attendance is expected in 1925.

The opportunities for making new and valuable trade connections are exceptional, and the Government invites Canadian exhibitors to be fully represented.

Applications for space should be sent immediately to J. S. McKinnon, Canadian Industrial Representative, 205 Royal Bank Building, Toronto.

March 20th is the last day for applications.

CHRISTIAN SOCIALIST STIRS ALL JAPAN TO SOCIAL REFORM

Kagawa, Leader of the New Movement Against Materialism, Influences Youths.

REAL LEADER

By GARDNER L. HARDING.

Social idealism and reform are such novel movements in modern Japan that it is still mostly young men who are leading them. The statesmen, soldiers and commerce builders, who have won and held for the Japanese Empire a place among the leading nations of the world, continue to dominate the national ego, but with that place secure and the pride in it acknowledged, a new expression in Western moral idealism and a spiritual quality altogether native and Oriental have made very marked progress in Japan within a few years. A pre-eminent type of a group of men who have thus led Japan into a new, and at the same time a very old, spiritual experience since the war is that of the slum Christian preacher, poet, novelist and social reformer, Toyohiko Kagawa.

He is now on a lecturing visit to this country, which he left something over twelve years ago as a promising young man who had taken a course and received a degree at Princeton Theological Seminary, but whom all his friends believed was doomed to an early death from tuberculosis. Yet in the meantime millions of Japanese have read books of his, written from the raw material of life as he observed it in the lowest slums of Kobe. His rise to fame has been no more remarkable than his complete cure in health, though he has sought the most degraded surroundings in modern Japan for his living place and has spent almost all his life among the criminal, the sick and the very poor.

Kagawa Emerges.

The combination provides a clue to his extraordinary personal ascendancy and also recalls to Westerners what the apparent predominance of material progress in Japan had all but made us forget in late years—that Japan is at heart a thoroughly Oriental nation, to whom the spiritual and mystic worlds are still realities to an easily kindled popular imagination.

Kagawa first came into prominence as the author of "Shisen-O-Koete," an autobiographical essay in partly novelized form of his life in the Shinkawa district of Kobe. It is translated "Crossing the Death Line." The story of how it came to appear in 1920 and of how over night, as the saying goes, it made its author famous hangs on the quick eye and appreciative instinct of a publisher.

Visiting in Kagawa's room one evening, he took up the manuscript, some two-thirds of which had been written thirteen years before and which its author regarded as an absorbing but very youthful indiscretion of his student days. The publisher wrote out a check for 1,000 yen before leaving the house. The author made some changes and added some new chapters, and the little book was launched. It took its public by storm; that is to say, it sold more than 15,000 copies in a few weeks. Its unvarnished, uncensored account of the dregs in a great industrial city came at a time when the ides of reconstruction, as in Europe, already had touched Japanese imagination.

Its author was unaffected by popularity. He did not move to Tokio and join the ranks of the young novelists, he did not set up a literary coterie, nor did he seek a quiet though costly villa in the hills to prepare to improve on his message. He put what proceeds his book brought him into what we would call settlement work in Shinkawa; and he continued to wear the clothes of the working classes, to eat their food, to live in his single room and to work twelve hours a day at his clubs, his meetings, his modest works for better conditions. Yet the popular acclaim for his writings was such that when his next book neared completion the booksellers of Tokio came to him and made an agreement that it would be put on sale simultaneously throughout Japan at half-past one on the afternoon of November 16.

This was the next year, 1921, and Kagawa had in the meantime so vigorously espoused the cause of the striking Kobe shipyard workers, many of whom lived in Shinkawa, that he joined some of their leaders in jail and wrote a good part of his book there. Yet when the day came queues of people, in some cases two hundred long, waited at the bookstores for copies of his book, "Shooting at the Sun." This sold an even larger edition than "Crossing the Death Line," and secured Kagawa's place as a national figure, a youthful Tolstoy protesting against the crushing materialism of contemporary Japan.

So many callers flocked to him that Kagawa, unable to relax the routine of his days, set aside his nights to see them. It was during this period he received an American journalist for an hour's long-sought interview at 11 in the evening. His first invariable appointment in the morning was a service for the early morning factory workers, which began promptly at 6 o'clock.

Kagawa is a Christian, and he is that most unusual and consistent type of Christian, one who has tried to carry out the original purpose of the faith in a land where its accepted forms mean little, yet where its spiritual purposes carry strong personal conviction. He has now a sturdy physique, virility, marked fighting quality and charm.

His writings are vignettes. They defy description in their combination of fragility and forcefulness. Yet one can say the manner is purely Japanese. A tragic episode, a casual character study, a page or two of reflections on the consequences of social equality, a love affair, an old man's shame, the beauty of a touch of sunlight on a wretched roof—the material is all plain to see. The perception is of an inner beauty. Kagawa has written poetry, though it is not different from that of other gifted young men of his day and all days in Japan. He is unique in that he has put his poetry into a social message.

He has also written novels. One of them, "Before the Dawn," is now being published serially in English and is in much the style and form of the works which brought him his early reputation. The growth of his ability to influence native conditions naturally brought Kagawa much more out of Kobe in recent years, especially since his social ideas have definitely taken shape in the direction of promoting a labor party in Japan. With the impending grant of universal suffrage in Japan, which will, if the present bill succeeds, at one stroke raise the Japanese electorate from three to some thirteen millions, such a development is a really practical issue, and Kagawa is at the present time the leader of what may be called the Christian Socialist wing of that prospective party.

Leads Christian Socialists.

It is not a chance title, for Kagawa's instinctive sympathies are with the policies of Kingsley, Toynbee, and those other pioneers in England who had a much larger share in present parliamentary developments than popular followers of the British Labor Party are inclined to remember, and who, at any rate, first won a hearing from the British middle classes through their spiritual enthusiasm. Katayama and others of the small band of Japanese Communists regard Kagawa in these circumstances with much hostility, for he has no sympathy with revolution and no general panacea for working-class ills, save by a long upbuilding of responsibility, self help and moral consciousness.

Considering the turbulent nature of the Japanese populace, wholly inexperienced in political power, even his leadership involves playing with fire, just as Gandhi has found he was playing with fire in Indian nationalism, and as Tolstoy unsuspectingly opened the gates of Bolshevism to Lenin. But Kagawa's organizing has been among the peasants as well as among the city dwellers, and his frankness among his followers is such that he bids them expect nothing from the ballot till after another generation of political education—till from experience in village council, local assembly, through prefectures and provinces to the national Parliament, they shall have a tried and practical body of working ideas behind them.

At present, like all Japanese leaders, Kagawa is personally concerned with repairing in as brief a space of time the ravages of the earthquake of 1923. Since that calamity he has in the task of rebuilding Tokio become an assistant to Professor Suehiro Gentaro of the Imperial University, head of theEarthquake Relief Societies' Federation, and here, among the emergency clinics, the reconstruction service work dealing with more than a million and a half homeless people the humanitarianism of his special message is being strongly felt. Houses are being very slowly built in Tokio, for though Baron Goto pleaded for 3,000,000,000 yen from the Government only 1,000,000,000 of it has been available, and the privations of Winter in the still exposed City of Tokio bring real tragedies.

To Send Student to Japan.

Owing to the larger scope of his activities and also in view of the fact that he has always protested that he has not intended to be strictly a literary man, he has produced since 1923 no outstanding new book. The one he has now prepared, and to which he confessed to the writer in a talk last week in New York, is of a different character from his more impressionistic and purely Japanese writings. It is to be called "Ten Years of Social Progress in Japan." Kagawa is in this country on a speaking tour of a month or two and as a delegate to several religious conferences here and in Great Britain to which he was invited three years ago. Added to affection for America was his wish to do something in the name of liberal Japan to help heal the recent breach in sentiment over the immigration question. Though America has always been to him his "second country," not one Japanese felt any other sentiment, as Kagawa puts it, than that of another earthquake, of wholly unexpected and unbounded humiliation. That matter may rest till another solution is found, but Kagawa is one of the committee helping on the side where help is most needed to repair the breach.

Part of the initiative that has been undertaken is to raise a fund among Japanese in America to send an American student to study for four years in a Japanese university, and to create from this beginning a permanent scholarship fund as a gift to the American people.

DEATH OF EBERT GRAVE EVENT IN FRENCH OPINION

Passing of President Raises Fear of Return to Monarchy in Germany.

VIEWS OF PRESS

Fate of Republic Regarded as Precarious — Marx May be Republican Candidate.

PARIS, March 2. — President Ebert's death is regarded in France as a grave event, of which it is impossible yet to forecast the consequences. Although the Presidential election is scheduled for June, it is felt that so long as Ebert was alive and a possible candidate, some hope remained of the success of the Republicans. His death has removed the only prominent figure of the revolution of 1918 and fear is very general that whatever the immediate consequences of his disappearance, it means the ultimate end of the Republican regime instituted on the abdication of the Kaiser.

For Ebert personally there was respect and confidence in France. His efforts to keep Chancellor Marx and prevent the formation of a Luther-Stresemann Cabinet proved not only his loyalty to the Republican form of government but his desire to seek fulfillment of the peace treaty on a basis of the Dawes reparations adjustment. His death at a moment when a frankly Royalist Cabinet is in office and the whole tide of German sentiment is setting directly toward restoration has awakened the greatest uneasiness. Under the Weimar Constitution any German over 35 years old is eligible for the Presidential office and it is being recalled that at a third vote on the Constitution the clause excluding members of all German Royal families was defeated.

Thus there is nothing to prevent the Crown Prince Wilhelm or a Bavarian Wittelsbach becoming a candidate and being elected. In France it was by popular election to the Presidential office that Louis Napoleon came to the Imperial throne and the possibility of a repetition of that historic event is being recalled with disquiet in this country, which has just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its own Republican Constitution.

In framing the Constitution it was the German Nationalists who pronounced in favor of a popular vote for President, and when, in 1920, Hindenburg loomed up as a possible candidate, Socialists and Democrats sought to obtain a revision of the Constitution to provide for the election of the President by the Reichstag, in a manner similar to the Presidential election in France. They abandoned their demand on the withdrawal of Hindenburg's candidature and election by popular vote was established.

There is little doubt here that whoever the candidates for the office may be there will not be elected so stanch a Republican as Ebert. It is pointed out that the powers of the President are very considerable and a kind that can be used as easily for upsetting the Republican regime as for defence. Thus Article 48 of the Constitution gives the President the right on his own initiative to suspend the Constitution and proclaim martial law. That right in the hands of a Hohenzollern or Wittelsbach is one which cannot be regarded in Paris with equanimity.

Jacques Bainville, writing in Liberte, says:

"Whatever may happen, the death of Ebert has very much the appearance of sounding the death knell of the German Republic."

Pierre Bernus in the Journal des Debats, says:

"If the head of the German State should be to-morrow a partisan of the old regime, the fate of the republic will have to be considered as already precarious, for the restorationists will have an accomplice with great personal power."

The Intransigeant foresees a fight between Republicans under Marx and Luther's Government for the choice of a candidate and that Marx himself may be selected as a candidate by the Republicans.

It is regarded here as certain the President's death will have the effect of delaying discussion of the security problem. All the Allied nations will wish to see which way Germany will turn.

LAST SING SONG.

Y. W. C. A. Winter Services Close—Special Programme For Occasion.

The last sing-song of the season was held last night at the Y. W. C. A. A large number of young people have enjoyed these Sunday evening services during the winter months, and regret was expressed that last night brought the series to a close.

A special programme was arranged for last night. In addition to the singing of hymns, Mr. Arnold Spencer favored the group with two violin solos, and little Marion Dryland gave several recitations, including "Little Black Sheep." Miss Laura McFarlane played for the hymns and solos.

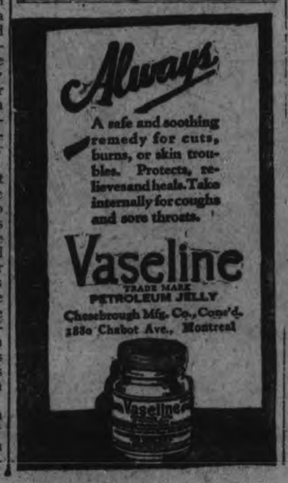
SIMLA'S NEW RESERVOIR.

Simla's celebrated old reservoir of Sanjouli, as essential a part of the literary geography of the place as Jakko, the Ladies' Mile, the World's End, Peliti's and other landmarks of India's Summer capital familiar to readers of Kipling's "Plain Tales From the Hills," ends its usefulness this year to make way for a much more extensive works suited to the Simla of to-day.

Ever since Lord Dalhousie moved the seat of British Government to Simla in the '50s, and the army authorities ten years later permanently located British military headquarters there, the absence of water has been the only flaw in the city's incomparable mountain situation.

The old reservoir, though a sturdy piece of engineering for its day, is not equal to the town's growing requirements. Now A. F. Henderson, one of the foremost sanitary engineers in India, has succeeded in bringing eight miles great pipes from the Nauti River, a tributary of the Sutlej, 4,000 feet up to high-perched Simla.

Already the Sutlej is the heart of a great irrigating scheme, and from its tributaries Simla obtains hydroelectric power for all its modern requirements.



54 SIKHS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Four to Die for Riot That Killed 21 a Year Ago.

SHRINE CONFLICT

LAHORE, British India, March 2.—A court Saturday found fifty-four defendants guilty of conspiracy in connection with the Babar Akali conspiracy case, which was an outgrowth of activities of the "Committee for the Management of the Sacred Sikh Shrines." The Government had declared this committee illegal in 1923.

Four of the defendants were sentenced to death, nine to life imprisonment and the remainder to varying terms of from three to seven years. The arrest and trial of the conspiracy leaders was the culmination of a series of raids and outrages extending over a period of years and resulting from factional strife within the Sikh community over the possession of the shrines.

Conflict Goes Back to 1859.

The "Shremani Gurdwara Prabanhak Committee" was organized in November, 1920, and consisted of a great number of what were termed "reforming Sikhs" who had taken umbrage at the administration of the temples and the conduct of the religious ceremonies by the manager appointed by the Government of the Punjab. As far back as 1859 religious trouble had been brewing between the various Sikh factions, and in 1881 the Government interposed to vest the control of Sikh religious affairs in a manager.

The followers of the tenth Guro, who constitute the major strength of the Sikhs, constituted themselves into a reforming sect whose professed aim was to redeem the shrines from whom they termed the maladministration of the priests appointed by the manager. Sikhs schools of thought were set up throughout the Punjab and the committee in a very short time acquired great influence. It soon became representative of extreme opinion and organized the Akalis, a militant puritan sect, into a regular militia for the execution of its orders. Bodies of Akalis, nominally peaceful in their methods, began to occupy the shrines. In February, 1921, members of an Akali band were killed by armed men whom the Abbot of the shrine at Nankanda Gurdwara had collected for his defense. In 1921 the Punjab Government tried to enact legislation that would satisfy the "reforming party," but these efforts broke, due to the opposition of the S. G. P. Committee. Throughout 1922 and 1923 a virtual reign of terror extended through the Punjab.

In October, 1923, the Punjab Government declared the committee an illegal organization and orders were issued to arrest its members. In February, 1924, there was a pitched battle in the Sikh State of Nabha between the Akalis and Nabha troops under the British administrator. Twenty-one Sikhs were killed and thirty-four wounded.

Agents of Soviet Russia are said to have taken advantage of the strife to circulate propaganda among the discontented Sikhs about the Government.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

SOCIETY WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH

Calls for Help But Men Stand On Pier Watching.

DURING BALL.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 2.—Mrs. Fulton Bagley, well-to-do New York woman, committed suicide by leaping into the ocean from the Breakers Pier. Her body came ashore with the tide in the morning. She ended her life just after 9 o'clock the previous night when all Palm Beach was preparing for the Washington birthday ball, the greatest event of social season here.

Mrs. Bagley, who came to the Breakers Hotel on Feb. 15 with Mrs. Foster Gilroy of New York, had dined with Mrs. Gilroy at the hotel. They left the dining-room about 8 o'clock and sat for a while in the lobby to listen to the music as was their custom. Mrs. Gilroy had arranged to accompany some friends to the ball, but Mrs. Bagley had expressed a desire to remain at home. About 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. Bagley announced that she was going upstairs for a wrap, and Mrs. Gilroy requested that Mrs. Bagley should bring one down for her. Their rooms adjoined one another.

Half an hour elapsed and when Mrs. Bagley did not return, Mrs. Gilroy went to get her own wrap. She paid no attention to the disappearance of her friend, knowing that the night was one of merrymaking and believing that Mrs. Bagley had perhaps met some friends and had gone off with them. Mrs. Gilroy then went to the ball.

Meanwhile a score of men in the Breakers pier were startled by a woman's cries for help about fifty yards from the boat landing. The cries were plainly heard on the hotel porch where many of the more staid guests were passing a few hours before retiring. But the night was pitch black with no moon and a strong tide was running out and not a man in the pier made an effort to respond to the cries.

Watchman Calls for Help.

Instead, they notified a watchman who in turn telephoned to Gus's baths, half a mile away, for aid. Five minutes elapsed, when the cries grew fainter and fainter and finally ceased.

Among those on the hotel porch who had heard the calls for help were two valets. They walked out on the pier to investigate. Near to the bait house they found a pair of woman's black satin slippers and a small black silk hat laid neatly side by side. These they took with them to the hotel where they turned them over to the management.

Mrs. Bagley, who was 35 years old, was formerly Miss Emily Fulton of Baltimore. She divorced her husband, a stockbroker, about five years ago. They had two sons, aged 11 and 12 years, who are now in school in Tarrytown.

Friends say that Mrs. Bagley has been ill for several months before she came to Palm Beach.

The body will be sent to Baltimore for burial aboard a train leaving here.

Canvassing for Stockholders to Erect Building at a Cost of $5,000.

MANY INTERESTED

STIRLING, March 2.—A meeting was held on Wednesday evening to consider the erection of a building to be used as a covered skating rink, the need of such a building being apparent. There was a good attendance. Estimates as to cost were presented and a good, strong committee appointed to canvas for subscribers towards the forming of a stock company as this is the plan decided upon in order to finance the affair, the probable cost to be $5,000. Those immediately interested are very optimistic as to the results of the undertaking.

The annual at home of the Orange Lodge was held in thier lodge room on Wednesday evening, with a good attendance present. An excellent banquet was provided, followed by a very pleasing programme consisting of a solo by Miss Bessie Conley, accompanied by Mr. Gerald Clute, an address by Rev. C. W. Barrett, an6d impromptu addresses by W. S. Martin, J. S. Martin, Dr C. F. Walt and G. H. Luevy on subjects handed them. There was also a musical contest.

A branch of the Dominion grocery stores was opened here Friday. They are located where Long's Limited formerly had their ice cream parlor, next to R. A. Elliott's restaurant.

Many of the ladies of the village availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the post nuptial reception of Mrs. Percy McGuire.

The Anglican church held their annual pancake tea on Tuesday night, which was well attended.

A congregational meeting of St. Andrew's church is to be held on March 9th, to make final arrangements for the polling of the vote re uniting with the United Church of Canada.

At the sewing meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Mrs. M W. Sine's there were 21 in attendance. A large amount of work was accomplished after which lunch was served.

There is considerable sickness here including measles and lagrippe.

The continued heavy rain of the past week has taken all the snow off and reduced the banks on the hills so that motor cars are running between here and Belleville. The streets were very slippery and getting about by pedestrians somewhat dangerous, early in the week, but there were no serious mishaps recorded.

Mr. W. Tulloch is recovering from a serious attack of erysipelas.

Mr. P. P. Coulter has so far recovered that he is able to be at his store again.

Mr. Chas. Halliwell is also gaining strength after a serious illness.

Mrs. R A. Elliott was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Green, of Peterborough, last week.

Mr. David McCook, of Campbellford, was a visitor here last week, and had tea with Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins.

Mrs. H. C. Martin and daughter Ruth spent a few days in Peterborough recently.

Mr. Lindsay Meiklejohn visited his daughter, Mrs. Hatton, in Toronto and attended the Hastings County Club banquet, also the Retail Hardware Merchants' Association convention.

Mrs Bissonnette attended the executive meeting of the Kingston Presbyterial held in St. Andrew's church, Belleville, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin left for Toronto yesterday to remain for a few days.

Mr. Geo. Clements and family of the 5th concession Sidney, visited his mother and sister recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barager on Sunday.

Mr Wilbert Hagerman left yesterday afternoon for New York to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Wilbert Cummins, who dropped dead just as he was entering his office.

Mr. German Sine received word yesterday of the sudden death of his brother Wesley in Toronto.

Mr. Dan Deary has moved into Mr. W. S. Martin's house on Wright street.

Mr. Will Wanamaker and family are moving to Mr. Richard's house, old Maromar road.

Whiten Cloudy Teeth

Under that film on your teeth (run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel it) are the clean, glistening teeth you envy. Combat it this way—see what pretty teeth you have.

IN the United States to-day, it is estimated that over half a million people a day are cleaning their teeth in a new way. These are people who used to have dull and dingy teeth. That is why you see gleaming teeth wherever your eyes turn.

Now leading dentists tell how to clear up dingy teeth. A method that supplants old type dentifrices — combats, without harsh grit, the stubborn film that covers teeth and makes them ugly.

Run your tongue across your teeth. You will feel that film. Under it are the prettier, whiter teeth you envy in others. This offers you free a 10-day tube of the way authorities advise combating it. Simply mail the coupon.

Film is the great enemy of tooth beauty. And a chief cause according to the world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

SOVIET EXPELS ESTATE OWNERS

Must Give Up Land to Proletariat and Receive Allotments.

LAST RIGHT GONE.

MOSCOW, March 2 (Canadian Press). — Nobles and landlords are given notices in a decree just issued by the Council of the People's Commissary that they must vacate all their land holdings by 1st January, 1926.

This extinguishes completely the few remaining rights of the members of the old regime, and places all property entirely in the hands of the proletariat.

At the same time it removes from the community a class of people whom the Bolsheviks have long regarded as inimical to their regime.

The eviction order does not include those who served in the Red Army or who helped the Russian Revolution or the Soviet Government.

The decree stipulates that persons expelled under the order are entitled to receive small allotments of land in distant colonisation areas on the same conditions as peasantry.

NEW AUTOMOBILE HOTEL

French Architect Designs Novel Concrete Building for Erection on Roadsides.

A new contribution to life on the road has been put forward by a French architect in the form of an automobile hotel. It is a light reinforced concrete building, to be placed anywhere along the main automobile highways. The ground floor is a garage with all the essentials; the second floor is a restaurant and the third floor a hotel, but a hotel of a peculier type. Instead of rooms, there are cabins, as if on a steamboat, which makes it possible in an emergency to house a large number of people for the night There is also a roof garden with radio and dancing facilities.

SPOOKY DOINGS IN STREETSVILLE

Earthquake Disturbs Saturday Night Calm — Novel Take on Real Thrill.

DOG BLAMED.

STREETSVILLE, March 2—The ancient calm accompanying Saturday night in the country was rudely shattered for all of a minute and a half last evening when, over an area of at least three miles, family chairs rocked merrily back and forth, pictures danced on the walls, stove lids shimmied and doors rattled spookily. Though at the time many of the onlookers believed themselves victims of mental pranks, a reasonable explanation was offered when the news of the earthquake spread.

Weeks Atkinson, a farmer, who lives two miles out of the village on the town line, was sitting quietly by the stove, when suddenly the stove, his chair and the table all joined in a rythmic, wave-like motion, lasting for almost a minute. An innocent dog was blamed for like commotion in the house of Mrs. Clipperton, south of Queen Street, who in company with two guests, had been listening to the radio.

Mrs. Henry Cook and her daughter were reading in their home on Main Street when the chandelier took to swinging precariously over their heads. The dangers involved in reading a thrilling book were realized by Miss M. Graydon, who, deeply engrossed in a story of Russion horrors, looked up and saw the silver candlesticks swaying.

DRAMATIC STUDY CLUB.

Mrs. L. J. Pettit Read Paper on Greek Drama and Theatre.

A meeting of the Dramatic Study Club held in the studio at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday after noon, presided over by the convenor, Mrs. W. McKee Bingham. An excellent paper on "Greek Drama and Theatre" was read by Mrs. L. J. Pettit, who also gave several extracts from Greek plays. Mrs. A. L. Amys sang in fine voice Godard's "Chanso de Florian," and a pretty encore. At the conclusion of the programme, tea was served.

The next monthly meeting of the club will include in its programme a reading of a play by Oliver Goldsmith, read by the members.

Mrs. Pettit introduced her subject with a brief survey of early Greek civilization, its language and its literature, and a reference to its lyric and ethic poetry before it developed into the later form of drama. This was followed by a description of religious dramatic productions, which were expositions of the religion of the people. The early Greek drama had its origin in the Greeks' conception of the gods and its staging was part of their religious worship. The Greek conceived his diety as either man or a woman, with more than human power, but susceptible to human joy and sorrow. The Greek god, Dionysus, with the pet name of Bacchus, appealed particularly to their human sympathies. He was supposed to be the giver of joy and excitement, the enemy of everything that could darken the vital spirit of man. The worship of Dionysus was characterized by the wildness of its emotion, and has bequeathed to modern language the word 'enthusiasm," which, in the ancient Greek, meant 'filled with the God."

A short description of the religious feasts which became the germ of the germ of the drama was given. In the beginning, the Greek drama resembled opera, but gradually the theme was taken by the actors and the chorus assumed the part of expression of the emotions which were supposed to be aroused in the audience by the recital of the exploits of the heroes and heroines of the play. A description of the Greek theatre, which was a sacred edifice, where tragedy and comedy were acts of public worship, was given.

The second portion of Mrs. Petit's paper referred to the ancient Greek writers and their works. Tragedies were written by Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides, while the satirist Aristophanes was an outstanding author of comedy. The Greek play in its early stages was divided into three parts and called a trilogy. The different portions were based on the same theme but were enacted at different times.

Mrs. Pettit concluded a very instructive and interesting paper with a reading of the first part of the Trilogy of Orestes, by Aeschylus.

Cowboy Carried Out Spirit Of His Dress

BROOKLYN, N.Y., March 2 (Canadian Press). — Returning from a masquerade, where he appeared as a cowboy, Samuel Lund was seized with the spirit of his garb, and held up Richard Lynch by pointing his finger at him, gun fashion.

Lynch didn't appreciate the joke ,and fired twice at Lund with a real six-shooter.

Goldfish Are Agitated As Earth Shocks Occur

Earthquake tremors on Saturday night struck terror into goldfish in the home of H. W. Barker, Fallingbrook Avenue.

Mr. Barker ,who is a member of the Council of the Royal Astronomical Society, was standing in the library of his home with a book in his hand.

Suddenly the glass in the library door rattled. The water in the goldfish bowl splashed over the sides, and the fish appeared greatly agitated.

When Mr. Barker noticed the commotion among the fish he thought that the cat must have been after them, but on learning later of the earthquake, he realised that the cause of the trouble was a form of terror older than the domestic cat.

EARTH TREMORS FOLLOW FAULTS

Saturday's Quake Followed Old Line of Activity—Scientific Data.

SLIPPING ROCK.

The earth tremors felt throughout Ontario and Quebec and the northeastern part of the United States, and attributed by some scientists to a slipping of the earth's rock formations, in general were felt all along the belt of old earthquake activity first pointed out by Sir William E. Logan, director of the Canadian Geological Survey in pioneering days. Sir William traced the belt by means of the great dislocations or faults in the rocks through the lower St. Lawrence Valley, a region shaken by an earthquake as late as 1663. The name Logan's Line was given to the series of dislocations in honor of its dicoverer.

The course of Logan's Line extends by way of the Champlain and Middle Hudson Valleys to the southwest as far as Alabama. Many explorers and observers have made studies of its extent through the Appalachian Range.

Sir Williaim Logan discovered the great earth fault or crack when he made a geological exporation trip through New York in 1857, following a meeting in Montreal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was accompanied by Professor A. Ramsay, representing the Geological Society of London.

Prominent among a series of faults running north-easterly and south-westerly in the northern part of New York State which were first observed by Sir William and described by him in the 1904 Bulletin of the Geographical Society of America, is the great lineament which follows the course of the St. Lawrence River from Lake Ontario to a point near its mouth, a distance of more than 400 miles, and continues south-west along the western border of the Allegheny Pleateau.

The series of lineaments known as the Champlain Line marks off topographically a series of plateaus increasing regularly in height after the manner of a flight of stairs, as they are observed by one passing inland from the south-east.

The topographical characteristics of the region where these faults occur, generally speaking, are much the same as those described by H. P. Cushing in the nineteenth report of the State Geologist of New York. He said that the greatest breaks had a north and south trend, although they might depart from that direction in some cases as much as 45 degrees. Instead of being persistent in direction, Cushing found, they curved largely, and that the down-throw more frequently was on the east side of the fault, with the result that more recent breaks were found as Lake Champlain was approached.

In his description of earthquake faults, Professor William Herbert Hobbs of the University of Michigan says they will manifest themselves as a fresh earth or rock wall leading up to a terrace where the ground has been raised.

EARTHQUAKE IS NOTHING SCARY

Ottawa Audience Feared Fire—Reassured by Leading Lady.

"ONLY A QUAKE."

OTTAWA, March 2.—Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise. On Saturday when Mother Earth succumbed to the jazz craze and Ottawa commenced to shimmy to the weird tempo of subterranean mutterings, an audience that filled the auditorium of the Lisgar Street Collegiate Institute was being entertained by some of the theatrically inclined among the scholars.

When the floor started to wabble some of those in the gallery made a dive for the exit, and the rest of the audience stood up, wondering what was coming next. Somebody whispered "Fire," and for a moment it looked as if there might be a panic.

But a diminutive leading lady saved the day by rushing out to the footlights, waving her arms and imploring:

"Sit down, everybody; please sit down; it's only an earthquake."

INSULIN HALTS SPREAD CANCER

Viennese Surgeon Says, After Experiments on Mice —Questioned Here.

VIENNA, March 2.—(Associated Press). — Successful use of Insulin in preventing the recurrence of cancer in mice is reported in a paper read by Professor Friedrich Silberstein, of the Vienna Institute of Experimental Pathology before the medical association here.

Professor Silberstein described how he had verified by countless experiments on mice that when they were treated with maximum supportable doses of insulin after the excision of their carcinoma, no relapse of the malady was observable in fifty per cent of the cases.

Professor Silberstein also stated that the development of cancerous growth slowed down or ceased entirely on continued treatment with maximum doses of insulin for mice not operated upon.

TORONTO, March 2. — Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, M. P. P., Minister of Health, when asked whether had received [illegible] on regarding the reported use of insulin in cancer cases, said that the Vienna despatch published in the newspapers was the first intimation he had received. He was not disposed to attach any significance to the report.

COUNCIL MEETING HELD AT APSLEY

Many Bylaws Passed by Burleigh and Anstruther Councillors.

APSLEY, March 2.—The following business was transacted at the second meeting of the Municipal Council of Burleigh and Anstruther, held at the Town Hall, Apsley, when the Reeve and all the Councillors were present. The collector's roll was extended till next meeting on motion of Councillors Tucker and Downing.

Moved by Councillors Coones and Tucker, that the Council pass a colonization roads by-law for the sum of $1400 to be spent on township roads, the same being filled out by the clerk and sent to the Government for approval. Carried.

The school attendance officer for 1925, R. H. Knox, refusing to act at a salary of $10 per annum, he asking a salary of $20, S. Carr was appointed at a salary of $10 on motion of Tucker and Reid. The auditor's report for 1924 was accepted on motion of the same councillors.

Moved by Councillors Tucker and Coones, that the application of Will Tucker, secretary of S.S. No. 2, Anstruther, re a debenture to borrow $500 with interest at five per cent. per annum to cover current expenses, said debenture to be for seven years, principal and interest to be paid yearly to Wm. Tucker be granted, and that the corporate seal of the municipality be attached to this motion to give it the effect of a by-law. Carried.

On request of Mr. Brown, the Council gave instructions for a review of township accounts for years 1920, 1921 and 1922. Moved by Councillors Tucker and Reid, that Rev. J. Ogden and Rev. C. Spence be appointed auditors to review township accounts. Carried.

The following accounts were paid, on motion of Councillors Downing and Coones: Thos. Stephens, B.O.H. meeting, $2. A. M. Windsor, B.O.H. meeting, $2. Municipal World, for dog tags, statements and five subscriptions for Council, $10.43. Peterborough Examiner, financial statements, election supplies, etc., $16.54. MINISTER IS HERETIC.

He Tells Congregation as He Resigns on Demand of Assembly.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2. —(Canadian Press).—Asserting that he would be "ashamed to live in this generation and 'not" be a heretic," Rev. Dr. Marry Emerson Fosdick, Baptist Minister, bade farewell yesterday to his congregation at the First Presbyterian Church, where for six years as special preacher he had taught a doctrine that brought a demand from the General Assembly, last November, that he resign or adhere to the tenets of the Presbyterian faith.

"They call me heretic," Dr. Fosdick said, in his sermon. "How respectable heretics become in retrospect of history. 'Well, I am a heretic if conventional orthoroxy is the standard."

Judge Learns Password; Lunch Room Serves Wine

YONKERS, N.Y., March 2 (Canadian Press). — Judge Boote dropped into a lunch room near the Municipal Court, and said to the waiter: "Give me a cup of coffee — the kind the manager drinks."

The waiter brought a cup of red wine.

The manager will have to explain things to the Judge later.

SAULT ALDERMEN BEHIND IN TAXES

Ratepayers' Association to Take Action to Unseat Three.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 2.—According to information in the hands of the Sault Ste. Marie Ratepayers' Association, three members of the City Council are not qualified to sit on the board, and a meeting was called on short notice to consider the matter, with the result that action will be taken. The aldermen in question, it is said, have not yet paid their taxes, which bars them from seats on the Council.

SLIP OF ROCK IN EARTH'S FRACTURE

Caused Earthquake Shocks of Saturday, Some Scientists Contend.

NEW PORK, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Having virtually decided last Saturday evening's earthquake originated in sub-strata rock movement in the extreme north-eastern part of the United States or in Eastern Canada, scientists today were endeavoring to chart the epicentral point more exactly.

Some held that the tremors which shook a large area of the continent were caused by a slip of rock, in the great fracture known as the "Fundian Fault," which lies deep in the Atlantic's bed off the Maine coast. Others placed the quake near the mouth of the Saguenay River in Quebec province. This region lies in "Logan's Fault," a geographical restless rock formation which extends from the St. Lawrence Basin to Alabama.

In the City of Quebec windows were broken and a few small shacks were thrown down.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ANTI-UNIONIST DOCTRINAL POSITION.

To the Editor, Examiner.

Sir: Has it dawned upon Presbyterians who are voting on Church Union that a number of prominent ministers and elders are to be haled by anti-unionist leaders before the law courts for teaching that "God in His gospel offers His all-sufficient salvation to all men?" It does not seem to be generally known that anti-unionists, through their lawyers, have served a writ citing unionist leaders to answer in the criminal law courts for a "breach of trust," because they omitted from the basis of union the "essentially Presbyterian doctrine," that non-elect men, women and children are irrevocably damned.

Some thirty years ago the late Rev. D. J. Macdonnell and Prof. Campbell were tried in the courts of the Presbyterian church for teaching the very doctrine which the unionists are now accused of teaching. These men refused to believe that a "fixed number" of children were born to perdition, and had no hope of salvation either in this world or the next. Both of these men were acquitted of heresy, and the "Reprobation" for the non-elect was to be omitted from the standards of the Presbyterian church in Canada.

Now, after a lapse of thirty years, anti-unionists are trying to reinstate and re-enforce this discarded and inhuman—and certainly undivine doctrine! Do anti-unionists conscientiously believe any such teaching? Can they hope to enforce upon their followers in the proposed new Presbyterian church? Can they hope to convince the law courts that all the money invested in the Presbyterian church in Canada was intended to maintain this horrible conception of God?

It is indeed an edifying spectacle to see the congregation of New St. Andrew's Church, King Street, lined up behind this clever dodge to have the unionist's doctrine of "salvation freely offered to men" declared heretical—the doctrine which its former minister, the great Macdonnell, proclaimed fearlessly from that pulpit.

University of Toronto, J. G. HUME.

REPLY RE COLBORNE AND LAKEPORT.

Editor, The Examiner.

Sir: The Board of Trustees, Colborne and Lakeport Presbyterian Churches, in what purported to be a reply to a Presbyter's letter on "Church Union in Peterborough Presbytery," very cleverly concealed the truth regarding the standing of their congregation in our Presbytery. Let the truth be revealed by the official reports of the General Assembly. The official report of the 1924 Assembly, giving congregational reports for the year 1923, pages 324-325, says that the two churches of Colborne and Lakeport had a total of 77 families, 355 individuals under pastoral care, and raised for minister's stipend the sum of $1,120.00, an amount far short of the minimum salary required by the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Assembly report for 1922, the preceding year, says they raised that year for minister's stipend the sum of $1,113.00.

If, as their statement implies, they were not augmented from the general Home Mission Fund of the church, they were in effect augmented from the pocketbook of their minister, which is even worse. Their statement can hardly be interpreted as raising their standing in the mind of the Presbytery or of the public. It is interesting, further, to note that, as shown by the General Assembly's report, there are at least two other congregations in the Presbytery with fewer families than this congregation, and fewer individuals under pastoral care, who paid their ministers not $1,120.00 but $1,800.00 each.

Yours truly,
PRESBYTER.

St. Paul's a Shrine of Empire

Plans to Avert Danger to the Great Dome. Cathedral is Last Resting Place of Many Honored Men. Wren's Masterpiece and its Story.

"Ladies think nothing well without an edging." So wrote Sir Christopher Wren when the committee which hampered more than helped him, insisted upon having a balustrade around his greatest work, St. Paul's-Cathedral. The sarcasm was lost upon the self satisfied men; it was unfair to the ladies. More than an edging is required for St. Paul's to-day. One of London's glories and a shrine of the Empire, the building is threatened with disaster. The danger arises because the pillars or piers supporting the massive dome are in bad shape. A way to strengthen them must be found.

Moving and still pictures, the works of great artists, the efforts of professional and amateur photographers, and the writings of authors famous and otherwise, have made St. Paul's known the world over. It has a majestic site in the heart of the Empire's metropolis, and it is dearer to the Londoner than many other buildings whose history reaches to still more distant centuries. Measuring from the portico it has a length of 515 feet, and a width varying from 102 to 250 feet. The height to the top of the cross on the outside of the dome is 365 feet. The sweeping western facade,—the main entrance,—looking down Ludgate Hill, has a width of 186 feet, and its arresting charm is such as to make one almost unconscious of the statue of Queen Anne, close by. Sentiment keeps that statue where it should not be.

It is not at closest range that St. Paul's is most striking; much of its impresaiveness is then lost in wonder at its size and design, and its interior paintings, stained glass work, and mosaic decorations which, in recent years have toned down much of the austerity of its interior. It is when seen at a distance on a clear day, standing serenely above great areas of a great city, or when its dome looms shadowy through rain and midst, or as it is caught by gleams of sunshine piercing a fog, that St. Paul's seems alike beautiful and majestic.

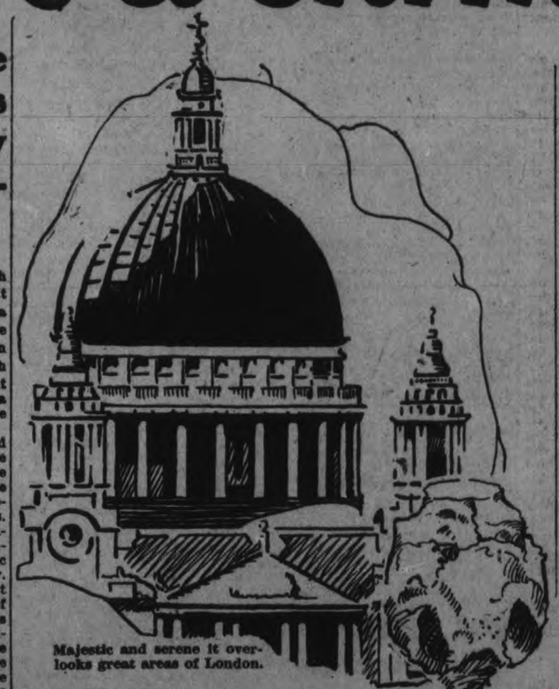
A variety of reasons are advanced for the menace to the structure which, with its predecessors on the same site, has been linked with the history of Britain and the development of the Empire for centuries. Tunneling for the underground railways and the sewers, and the unceasing jarring of surface traffic have had their part undoubtedly. Architects and builders say that scamped work by the contractors of Wren's day is a big factor. It is charged against them that they filled the stone shells of the massive pillars with very poor rubble "which has perished, while the stone casing itself is succumbing to the tooth of time."

Schemes of Reconstruction

A commission which two years ago reported certain schemes for combatting the defects, experimented on one pier by forcing liquid cement into it to take the place of the dissolved rubble. The outer stone, where in poor condition, was replaced. It was proposed to continue this and other repair work on a considerable scale.

While the plans for wider schemes of reconstructive work were under discussion, John Todd, district surveyor to the City corporation, gave the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's a shock that has been felt around the Empire, and in many other countries, in the form of an order bidding them remove the Cathedral as "a dangerous structure." He has since presented a plan for the installation of new foundations and piers, and the transference to them of the dome. The latter would be lowered about the three-thousandth part of an inch, which has been likened "to the thickness of a line drawn by a fine pen." Todd is confident that it could be done. He figures the cost at two million pounds, and says the cathedral would have to be closed for the twelve years required for the work. Incidentally the original structure cost one million pounds, which has been estimated as equivalent to five million pounds or approximately twenty million dollars today.

Another plan, perhaps as costly and which would occupy as much time, contemplates the piece-meal removal of the dome and its replacement, after the piers have been put into proper condition. The dome is said to weigh between 40,000 and 60,000 tons. That gives some idea of the magnitude of the task involved in the various proposals to make it secure. The dome, inside or out, is the most impressive single feature of the whole building. And by the way, "dome" is somewhat of a misnomer, for it is a double structure. Inside it is of brick and much lower than its outer shell, which is of wood covered with lead. Between the two is a hollow cone of brick work supporting the lantern, the ball and the cross. The inside parts of the dome are causing the trouble. It is too long and too technical a story to tell here, but this manner of building the dome was part of Wren's scheme to avoid making of the Cathedral the hybrid horror that the ever-interfering committee tried to compel him to do. They did succeed in having some changes made that came near to wrecking his conception of the whole building, but generally speaking he managed to get his own ideas across.



Majestic and serene it overlooks great areas of London.

Parts of the exterior stone and ornamental work on the dome and outside galleries have also been fighting a losing battle against the corrosion of time. Workmen, proud of the importance of the task, are making what repairs they can pending a decision on the larger scheme. While they work all Britain is contributing to the funds "to save St. Paul's," and pressure is also being brought to bear upon the government to make a large grant.

Wren's Great Opportunity

St. Paul's is at least the third cathedral or temple to occupy the present site. Tradition says it is the fifth and gives first place to a Temple of Diana long before the introduction of Christianity into Britain. The Cathedral that Londoners love and the Empire knows today, owes its being to the great fire of London in 1666. Wren, famous as a mathematician as well as an architect had, previously to the fire, submitted a plan for repairing and reconstructing part of the St. Paul's Cathedral of the period. The fire not only obviated the scheme, but gave him the opportunity to erect a new building. It was a work he entered upon with joy and thankfulness, for he was a man of vision. He so shocked the London of the period by using blasts of gun powder to remove the shattered walls of the burned building that he had to abandon that method and resort to battering rams. That was a forerunner of the obstacles he had to contend with. To the end of the great undertaking Wren suffered from the stupidity and officiousness of the committee which has been referred to. But in spite of their hindrances he managed to make of St. Paul's the beautiful and wonderful building that it is, and, in the words of an historian, "was able to build almost simultaneously upwards of thirty other City churches, no two of which are alike in conception or detail, though all bear an exact and harmonious relation to the great central building."

Making repairs on the outer decorations.

One writer has said: "In spite of the hide-bound ecclesiastics and their allies, in spite of all the contrary influences brought to bear upon him while the slow process of the building went on, his cathedral belongs to one style of architecture and one only. It is the Wren style. That style is characteristic and individual, wherever the elements in the combination come from."

The Mighty Dead

In his old age Wren was carried once a year to a spot beneath the dome, "where he could contemplate the work of his hands." Perhaps the veil was lifted for him at times and he glimpsed the greater glory that was to come to the building that his genius had created. He could not know that in the crypt, which extends beneath the whole of the church, the place of honor (immediately under the centre of the dome), received Nelson's remains, encased in a coffin made from the mainmast of L'Orient, flagship of the French fleet at the battle of Abonkir. Wellington sleeps there too, and the funeral car on which his remains were brought to the Cathedral has a place in the crypt. It is made from the cannon captured in his battles, and bears the names of his victories. Britain's greatest sailor and soldier rest with a great company of their own profession. In the church above are monuments and memorials to them and to others, whose names, like theirs, tell of epochs in Britain's history. Duncan, Collingwood, St. Vincent, Rodney, and others who held the seas, Abercrombie, the two Napiers, "Chinese" Gordon, Wolseley, Roberts, Scott of Antarctic fame, to mention only a few, are on the roll. The tombs of and monuments to many writers, artists and sculptors, are there, and a fine memorial to Florence Nightingale has a place of distinction. Fittingly enough Wren himself was buried in St. Paul's. Over his tomb and over the north door of the building, is an inscription which translated reads: "Reader if thou seekest his monument look around."

By some trick of fate the same inscription escaped a place in Westminster Abbey. When some restoration work was decided upon there he made plans and designs for a central tower. Failure of the authorities to go on with the scheme, seemed to give him closer interest in and deeper affection for St. Paul's.

Memorable Services

In our own time St. Paul's has been the scene of memorable thanksgiving and other national services. One of the objectives of many German air raids over London, it escaped with other buildings of national and historic importance. Indeed the facetious Londoner was convinced that the bigger the target in his city the more surely would the Germans miss it. In 1897 Queen Victoria attended the service at the foot of the wide steps at the entrance, held in commemoration of the completion of the sixtieth year of her reign. King Edward and Queen Alexandra attended the Thanksgiving service held there for the end of the South African war in 1902. At the close of the world war King George and Queen Mary were participants in another solemn thanksgiving services in the cathedral. All during the war, indeed, it was the centre of many services of a national character. Some of these in which large bodies of troops participated, were held in front of the building, with temporary altars on the steps. In the peace times of the present, crowded as they are with anxieties and problems, St. Paul's is still a mecca for thousands who love to worship there, and for visitors without number. Long may it stand, emblem of British genius and solidity; the resting place of those who have pressed on to the last of all ventures, but whose deeds live on the pages of history.

St. Peter's

It is a strange fact that the dome of St. Peter's in Rome, is also declared to be in danger and must be repaired. A book by an American architect, Victor Hafner, "The Dome of the Cathedral of St. Peter's," of which it is said the Vatican allowed only five copies to be published, reveals the trouble. Here again its is a matter of weakness in the pillars, or too much weight for them. An American writer in discussing the book says that the work of repair will be very costly.

"Italian engineers have decided that the damage can be corrected completely by careful restoration, which will be undertaken in due time," says the reviewer. All admit that Hafner's book will be of invaluable assistance when this work is begun. He was possibly the first architect in modern times to study the dome with such thoroughness, just as he was the only one who has made an absolutely perfect model of it, which is now in the University of Cincinnati. In fact, it is even more like the real dome than the wooden model made by Michael Angelo himself, which is in the Vatican, and which was the original design, though not the one erected.

It took over one hundred years to construct St. Peter's. In that time various architects deviated from or changed the original plans, with the result that the dome, erected in the sixteenth century, was made more massive than that proposed a hundred years previously.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

ADVISE FARMERS NOT TO NEGLECT BREEDING HORSE

Better Market Will Be Available in a Very Few Years.

NOT DOOMED YET

Dobbin Still Being Found Indispensable on Farms, Especially in Winter.

COBOURG, March 2.—The columns of the farm departments of our leading journals advise farmers to breed more horses, under the assumption that a better market for these lords of the animal world will be realized in a very few years, and that the horse-breeding industry will again be a profitable one. Farmers will do well to breed one or two mares this year, says one writer, for the foal will surely be profitable later on. Mr. H. A. Holdsworth, a well-known Northumberland County agriculturist, breeder and exhibitor, in discussing the matter with the press here gives some reasons why the horse-breeding industry has fallen off, and other reasons why it should be encouraged. Mr. Holdsworth says:

"During the war when every citizen was talking production, a well-known gentleman in town remarked to the writer how important it was to be able to see things from a farmer's viewpoint, and no doubt it was true. But, we know that it is true, that if an exhibitor of any branch of live stock wishes to be successful over a long period of years, he must learn to see his stock as others see them."

Not long ago two gentlemen in town commenced to talk on farm topics with the writer, and it being out of season for farmers' cars, one of them asked the writer if he had noticed the condition of the majority of farmers' horses coming into town. The other man wanted to know what had become of all the nice cutters and other rigs they used to see. These questions were a problem to the writer. We all admitted that occasionally there passed up the street a well-kept farm team and other appointments to match, and now that sleighing has come, a few well-kept single driving horses. But, as our friend said, the majority were just "horses," and a few of them were far from being a credit to the noble calling of agriculture.

One wonders why their owners did not blush at their appearance. A farmer remarked to the writer that he did not believe that all this fussing over horses, grooming, blanketing, extra shoeing, etc., ever paid. As he used to take such pride in his horses, I wondered at his change of heart, until he turned up one day with a new and costly car.

Why Lack of Interest?

But, to come back to the question, what is the cause of this widespread lack of interest in what once was considered the farmer's noble friend, the horse?" A writer in one of our leading farm papers lays the blame on the style of advertising of the motor and tractor companies, such as "The Passing of the Horse," "Poor Old Dobbin Must Go," etc.

The horse is doomed. Farmers might better give up horse breeding, and turn to things more profitable along the same line. The car is here to stay. Why, there is one at almost every farm, some places, two. Few deny the advantage of a tractor for such work as it can do on large, suitable farms, and we all know it is rapidly replacing steam on belt work. But what has this got to do with the passing of the horse?

Horses Indispensable.

This, Mr. Editor, is the third winter in succession that, on the farm, horses have been absolutely indispensable, to say nothing of summer work. Yet, every little while, we get a circular attacking the horse-breeding industry with a persistence worthy of a ticket seller at a circus side-show. Surely, after these years, companies and agents should be able to sell machines on merits without attacking any branch of the live-stock industry.

A wealthy gentleman's daughter once told the writer that her father, in driving through the county, always judged the farmers by their fences. So, while we are judging the editor by his paper, the merchant by his goods, so the urban classes are judging the farmer by his farm and home, and such of his stock and poultry as they are permitted to see.

SUPPLEMENTS BOOST MILK

Addition of Cotton Seed Meal Increases Amount of Butter Fat.

If cows have not been fed sufficient protein to meet the requirements for their milk production, the addition of cotton seed meal will probably increase the amount of milk and consequently the amount of butterfat the cows produce. Cows that are not giving any more than one to 1½ gallons of milk, or one-half pound of butter-fat a day, can get what nutriments they need by eating all the alfalfa hay and silage that they want. Cows producing more than this amount of milk will need some grain to support their milk production. The following grain ration fed in the proportion of one pound of the grain to each four pounds of milk the cows produce, will do very well; 600 pounds of corn chop, 200 pounds of bran, and 100 pounds of cotton seed meal. If the cows test more than 4 per cent. they should be fed this grain mixture in the proportion of one pound to each three pounds of milk that they produce.

OLD SOUP STOCK

Soup stock should never be kept for more than two days without being reboiled.

CAMOUFLAGE

When it comes to perfect camouflage it is hard to beat "Dame Nature." The photo above is not of a leaf, but is that of the leaf insect of Ceylon, who resembles the foliage of the Guava tree to such an extent, that it is practically invisible. And as the season changes the colors of the leaves, the insect changes to conform.

PRICE OF FARM PRODUCE RISES

Readjustment of Values to General Average Taking Place.

MUCH SHIPPING

While reports on wholesale and retail trade conditions in Canada during the months of January and February do not indicate a general improvement over the preceding year, says the Royal Bank of Canada, there has been a larger volume of sales in certain districts and in certain lines. Thus, Ontario dealers in knitted goods and underwear report satisfactory business, sales of automobiles in Manitoba and Saskatchewan mainly for spring delivery show a marked increase over last year, and wholesale business in hardware in Alberta has improved. Retail business throughout the Dominion is still somewhat slow. There is undoubtedly, however, a greater feeling of optimism than at this time last year, in regard to the prospects for spring trade. Further distributions by the Wheat Pool are expected to result in some improvement in sales and collections in the West. If the average price secured by the Pool is a high one, there is no doubt that business will be favourably affected.

In view of the somewhat conflicting reports on general trade received during the last six weeks, it is interesting to examine the statistics of car loadings. These figures for January indicate definitely that goods are moving in larger volume than in 1924. They show that, in spite of a decrease of 10,300 cars in loadings of grain and grain products, total loadings for January were some 10,000 cars in excess of those of the year before. The largest increase took place in loadings of merchandise in less than car-load lots, the figures in this class being 6,400 care above those of January, 1924.

The increas in agricultural prices, and the improvement which it is thought this should effect in farmers' buying power during 1925, are mainly responsible for a more hopeful feeling in manufacturing circles. The textile trades continue to do a better business. The sheet and metal trades also report more satisfactory conditions. Lumber prices are apparently firmer, but no general increase in sales is reported.

A very favourable development has been the moderate rise in livestock prices, Winnipeg having reported a steady improvement during January. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Price Compilations, the index number for livestock as of January, lower that the general commodity price average, which then stood at 165.2. A readjustment of livestock prices to a point at which they would be more in line with the prices of other products is necessary, if this important Canadian industry is to operate satisfactorily, and any tendency in this direction is very welcome.

Since the beginning of the year, wheat prices have undergone exceptionally wide fluctuations. There has undoubtedly been considerable speculation in this commodity, both in Canada and the United States, by people of moderate means, who came into the market at a time when prices were very high. Some buyers have no doubt experienced substantial losses during the recent decline. There has been a feeling in Great Britain, and perhaps elsewhere in Europe, that speculation played a very important part in the rise in wheat prices from June of last year to date. With this feeling we do not agree, since we think that the rise in price has been almost entirely due to reduced crops and to the operation of the law of supply and demand. The type of speculation to which we referred above has been a later development, and has probably not increased the average price paid for wheat by oversea buyers, since the recent rapid rise in prices to which it contributed was shortly followed by an equally rapid decline. The price at which the balance of the North American crop will be sold will depend, not on speculation, but on the world demand for and supply of wheat.

Branting Burial on Sunday.

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 2.—The funeral of Hjalmar Branting former Premier, who died on Tuesday, will be held on Sunday. King Gustav and Crown Prince Gustav Adolf have announced their intention of attending the services in person.

FARM SETTLERS CANNOT RESIST LURE OF CANADA

Find Opportunities Much Greater Here Than in the United States.

THREE EXAMPLES

Glowing Accounts of Prosperity Over the Border Proved to be Misleading

The Canadian Government Immigration agents come directly into contact with farm settlers returning to Canada from the United States, and consequently receive much inside knowledge of conditions of the two countries as they relate to agriculture. While some returning settlers naturally prefer to keep their own counsel, others are quite frank in discussing their experiences and the causes which have led them to return to Canada. Three examples occurring recently in a single Canadian Government office in the United States, are quoted hereunder:

Example No. 1.

Twenty-one years ago, Tony Hulskamp, of New Ulm, Minn., came to Canada, and after working for Foley Brothers, railway and general contractors in Western Canada, bought some farm land near Moose Jaw, Sask., on which he made a good living, but not a great deal of money. Hearing of the glowing accounts of the prosperity in the United States he decided to leave Canada, and sold his farm at a sacrifice in July, 1924. He went to Montana, but he did not find much prosperity there among the farmers, and could obtain no work. He then went to Minnesota and visited relatives in Brown and Redwood Counties. He found no evidence of great prosperity—the farms were heavily mortgaged; work also difficult to obtain; there was a general feeling of discontent. He and his wife, therefore, decided, before what little money they had left was gone, to return to Canada and stay for the rest of their lives.

Mrs. Hulskamp declares that in their poorest days in Canada they always had enough to eat, sufficient clothes to wear, plenty of good friends and good schools for the children, etc.

Example No. 2.

Fifteen years ago, Mr. S——, of Cresco, Iowa, came to Saskatchewan and located in the Maryfield district. He did fairly well, never had a crop failure, but owing, to other circumstances he became disheartened. He sold his farm at a sacrifice—and returned to Iowa, a he had heard glowing accounts of great prosperity there. He had been told that there was plenty of work with big wages, etc., etc. For about eight months after his return to the United States he went among his old friends and relatives, but could find no evidence of the great prosperity that he had heard about. He said that he found farm conditions, on the whole, not as good as in Canada.

Consequently he decided not to waste any more time in Iowa and he returned to Canada, a better and wiser man, he says.

Example No. 3.

In the spring of 1910, Adolph Slen, of Minnesota, and his brother came to Canada. Each had a capital of about $40 in cash on their arrival in Western Canada. They worked for a few months at odd jobs, and then took a homestead near Lloydminster, on which they did very well. Adolph made more money than his brother, but with his prosperity gained he had a longing for the "Good old U.S.A.", as he termed his native country, and as his wife had never been content in Canada, he sold out and returned to his former home in Minnesota in 1919. There he bought a farm, and, to use his own words, he lost everything he had ever had.

In February, 1924, he evidently had a desire to return to Canada, for he wrote to the Department of Immigration and Colonization for a copy of the "Canada West" booklet and asked for general information about the opportunities in Western Canada. His letter was referred to the St. Paul, Minn., office of the Department, and the agent there at once got in correspondence with Mr. Slen. He was visited at his home, and last May he returned to Canada, leaving his wife and two children at his old home until he got a second start in the Lloydminster district. Towards the end of October, 1924, his family joined him and he is now doing well. It is of interest to note that the brother, who remained in Canada, came to the assistance of Adolph and made it possible for him to get his second start.

PROPER FEED FOR BACON

Corn Should Compose Large Part of Ration for Hogs.

Good bacon is the result of the right type of hog and the right sort of feed. The large-frame and fat or lard type of hog ranks below the type of hog that is deep in the sides and flank and which yields a carcase showing a large amount of lean meat in proportion to the fat.

As for feedings, they greatly influence the quality of bacon. Oily grains should be fed in less amounts than commonly provided for hogs of the lard type. Since corn is a principal food for both lard and bacon hogs, it may compose as much as 75 per cent. of the ration. Middlings or barley and tankage may be used for the remainder Here in Canada, where bacon is much in favor, and in the Northwestern States, barley is a common food for hogs. It is fed both ground and soaked. Other foods used in combination with it are skim milk, peas and soy beans, oats and middlings. If oats are used they should be crushed.

Making Life Easier on the Farm

An Electrically Equipped Farm, Where All Chores Are Done By Power.

FARMING LIFE IS ATTRACTIVE

Energetic Young Men Now Find Much of Interest Than Elsewhere.

BOYS BETTER OFF

By CHARLES W. BURKETT.

It was Dean Cook, that level-headed, master-minded veteran dairyman, I think, who once said to me, "The only way to get a good farm foreman is to raise him." And the best way to get good farm men is to let them grow up on the farm. When boys start on a farm and grow up on it they know the ways of the owner—know the land and the stock, and the implements and the machines, and every year they become more useful and valuable. They are happy and contented, and will in time have farms of their own; and better still, know how to manage them and take care of the stock.

A young man is better off on a farm than in a city. Farming is no longer the dull, plodding, uneventful dreary existence that we have read about or heard our grandparents tell about. There is sufficient hurry, pressure and excitement to stir the blood and stimulate the efforts of any energetic boy or man. A farmer "just has to work lively." He must battle with the winds and storms, with rain and snow, with heat and cold. He must if he would win. He must be a plucky man. If there is no "snap" in him he had better find some slow, steady unvarying employment in a town or city. He is not the man for modern agriculture.

Our work on the farm constantly changes. It is rare, outside of special lines such as dairying, poultry raising, etc., that one finds a whole week devoted to the same kind of work. In the season of plowing, whether Spring, late Summer or late Fall, we plow, then harrow, then drill the seed or do something else. If it rains there are other things to do on the well-managed farm. We are constantly getting improved implements and machines, and needing more intelligence and skill in our operations. Hence, we need better men on the farm—better owners, in some cases, and quite generally better men as farm hands. We want these better men, and to get them we must commence with the boys.

More Married Men Needed.

We must also get more married men into the neighborhood and give their boys a good training on the farm. Farm work for the most part should be year-round work, not seasonal. Farm profits come from labor, not land. There should not be a large fluctuation in the demand for labor on our farms. Unsteady employment and high wages are utterly demoralizing. The one recourse is to plan work for the year-round and secure good men at reasonable wages, establish them in their own homes on the farm and let them feel that so long as they do what is right and square they will hold their jobs.

I have talked with a number of men working on farms, and invariably they tell me they prefer steady work throughout the year at moderate wages rather than higher pay for seasonal work. These men must have places to live and food to eat. If they work but seven or eight months during the year they naturally become discontented and never really get fully wedded to farm work. How different on farms where labor is employed for a twelve month's year, where the men are provided with homes on the farm and become fixed to it. It is this type that makes the best farm labor and helps the owner to darry on the farm and who can be cepended on through thick and thin.

PLAN PASTURE FOR PIGS

Shade and Green Feed Needed to Stimulate Growth for Breeding.

Pigs are usually weaned at the age of eight or ten weeks. Pastures are used for weaner pigs by many feeders and breeders. The pigs must be provided with some form of shade and a small amount of grain The amount of green feed will depend upon the purpose for which the pigs are being raised. If they are to be replacements for the breeding herd or are to be sold for breeding purposes, the run of a pasture with the addition of a small amount of grain is sufficient.

This will stimuate growth but does not build fat onto the frame. If the weaner pigs upon the pasture are being grown for a fall market, more grain should be fed to fatten and finish them. The most desirable and economical amount of grain to feed is from one and one-half to two pounds during the first week or two after weaning and then graually increase the grain as the pig develops and in accordance with the type of pig desired.

BRITISH SOW LITTLE WHEAT

Wet Weather Retards Winter Sowing Despite High Price of Grain.

LABOR TROUBLES

By WALTER BIFFEN.

A fortnight of dry, bright weather was lately experienced in most parts of Britain, and has been a great relief to the farmer and his live stock, after the incessant rain and wild gales of November and December. There has been no frost as yet, but a period of hard, frosty weather to pulverize the heavy lands before spring cultivation will be welcome. It is all to the good, however, that there has been an opportunity for the surface soil at least to dry out first, and if the frost now comes, young corn crops will suffer less harm. With drier weather farmers will resume their wheat sowings, interrupted since late autumn.

As the price of wheat is nearly 50 per cent. higher than a year ago, and market prospects still good for the grower, it is natural to suppose that a larger area than usual would have been sown this season. But weather conditions were more potent than the economic factor, and it is believed that up to the present the area sown with wheat is smaller than is common. Spring-sown wheat is usually but a very small proportion of the total British crop, but if weather allows there is no doubt that a much larger area of wheat will be sown this spring than is common so late in the season.

It has not yet been possible to complete arrangements for holding the agricultural conference, for which the Minister of Agriculture issued invitations in November last. The Central Landowners' Association, representing the landlords, agreed at once to the proposal, but the National Farmers' Union did not so readily accept the minister's invitation, and only came into line with the landlords after lengthy discussion and correspondence. Now the laborers are making difficulty, and urge as the ground of their unwillingness to participate that their representatives at the conference would be outnumbered and controlled by the combined representatives of the landlords and farmers.

If the proposed gathering were an executive government committee, with power of decisive action, the hesitation of an individual section of the agricultural community to attend and to commit itself to action would be more readily understood. There is no idea, however, of its being anything more than an advisory gathering of earnest men, all interested in the land and the prospeirty of the countryside. It is much to be hoped that the difficulties will be smoothed over, for, as the Minister of Agriculture lately said at a public gathering, "It is quite certain that the opportunity which the agricultural industry will have had of stating its case to the nation in its own way is one which is not likely to occur again in the lifetime of any of us."

Lambing Season On.

Lambing has been in active progress in the Down flocks of the South of England since early January, and the shepherd, in the practice of his age-long art, is once more the most important man on the farm. Drier weather conditions are particularly welcome to the flockmaster and his charges. The period of lambing varies in Britain according to breed of sheep and latitude. With the Dorset Horn breed, lambs arrive before Christmas, and this gives the breedes sap practical monopoly in eatliest fat-lamb trade, which is very profitable. The bulk of lands of the Down breeds arrive in January, with some in February. In the north ewes of the Cheviots and Blackfaced Mountain breeds of Scotland do not have their lambs till late April and early May. The Down breeds are adapted for close folding on arable land crops, but under the sodden conditions of the present year, folding has been bad for the land and bad for the sheep, the latter commonly sinking to their hocks in the churned mud. Flockmasters consider that there is no better succulent food for ewes and lambs in winter and spring than kale, and both the marrow stem and the thousand-headed kinds are increasingly grown.

Sheep Pay Best.

It is certain that no branch of English agriculture is at present more remunerative than sheep farming, and in the past year the flock has practically been the salvation of many arable farmers. Wool prices are on the average 40 per cent. higher than last year, while mutton prices are relatively higher than those of beef and pork. All kinds of sheep are in good demand.

Early Finish Desired.

The championship awarded to the Hereford yearling steer Deacon at the Chicago Live Stock Show makes it evident that American judges are less influenced by economic considerations than British judges in making their awards. In other words, their choice or the animal to receive the highest honor would not seem to be limited by considerations of what is practicable and profitable in the economy of the average farm. Bullocks under two years old are occasionally fattened for the butcher in England, but that the practice is in general an uneconomic one is proved by the fact that the number of such animals shows little signs of increase, and champion awards at British national fat stock shows are, in practice, exclusively reserved for animals of two years old and over. As things are already British farmers are prone to complain that the ideal animals of the show represent achievements not practicable on ordinary farms; and if exhibitions are to have the highest educational value it is desirable that awards should harmonize as closely as possible with economic principles and the best farm practice.

DEVELOPMENT IN CANADA OF PURE BREEDS CATTLE

Their Origination Traced From the Days of Dominion's Early Settlement.

A CONCISE REVIEW

By J. Frank Singleton of the Dairy Section of Agricultural Department.

The following history in brief of the early development of the dairy cattle industry in Canada since 1518, when Baron de Lery of France founded a colony on Sable Island, will be found of interest to dairymen and cattle breeders. It is the introductory text of an informative address by J. Frank Singleton at a recent banquet given by President Denne and directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition in the Empress Hotel, Peterborough. Mr. Singleton is chief assistant to Dr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the dairy section of the Department of Agriculture for the Dominion.

In 1518, Baron de Lery, France, sailed to Canada to found a colony, discouraged, landed horses and cattle on Sable Island and went home. These were the first cattle in North America. In 1598, Marquis de La Roche attempted to found colony with convicts. He landed convicts on Sable Island, and while searching for a suitable location, his ships were driven East and he returned home, leaving the convicts marooned. These convicts lived on cattle and clothed in their skins for seven years before rescued.

In 1630 those cattle were exterminated by an expedition of Massachusetts puritans, but the ponies still survive. In 1606, Poutrincourt brought cattle to a settlement founded by De Monts at Port Royal (now Annapolis, N.S.). That settlement and cattle were destroyed in 1613 by an expedition from Virginia.

In 1608 or 1610 the first permanent introduction of cattle was by Champlain at Quebec.

In 1660 the French Government began sending representatives of the best dairy cows of Normandy and Brittany. In 1671 there were 866 head of horned cattle in Acadia, and different settlements founded brought cattle. In 1783-4-5, United Empire Loyalists brought cattle to Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Eastern Townships and Ontario. In 1701, Cadillac founded a post at Detroit, and descendants of his cattle were the first in Canada, being brought across the river. In 1783-4-5, United Empire Loyalists made the first real introduction of cattle in Canada.

In the Prairie Provinces.—In 1813 Lord Selkirk shipped to his Red River colonists a bull and a cow via Hudson Bay, but it is doubtful if they ever reached their destination. In 1823, 300 head of cattle were driven from the South and sold to Red River colonists. In 1856, most of Hudson's Bay forts had cattle.

In British Columbia.—In 1837, cows were taken across the mountains to the interior of British Columbia. In 1843, Hudson Bay colonists, realizing the boundary question was to be settled and joint occupation of Oregon to cease, established a post at Victoria. The new fort was supplied with cattle in 1846 from Hudson Bay colonists' farms at Nisqually on Puget Sound. The Nisqually herds were founded from cattle driven from California and were Mexican (originally Spanish stock).

Pure Bred Cattle.

French Canadian.—These were recognized as a pure bred since 1887.

Ayrshires.—Imported by Lord Dalhousie in 1821, when governor of Canada.

Jerseys.—In 1868 Mr. Harrison Stephens, Montreal, imported a herd of Jerseys. In 1871 Mr. Andrew Allan imported Jerseys. These were added to Stephens' herd and thus founded the St. Lambert herd. In 1881, Valancey E. Fuller of Hamilton bought Mary Anne of St. Lambert, and three years later refused $26,000 for her.

Guernseys.—In 1878-81-83, Hon. Sir John Abbott imported Guernseys, probably the first importations.

Holsteins.—In 1882 and 1883, five Canadians—M. Cook, Aultsville, Ont., J. S. Hallman, H. Hillgartner, C. Wagler, New Dundee, Ont., and J. W. Lee, Simcoe, Ont., acting independently, imported Holsteins from United States. Neither was aware of the others' importations till they met at the quarantine station at Point Edward, Ont., where the cattle had to remain three months. In 1884-85 direct importations from Holland were made.

Shorthorns.—In 1825 or 1826, the Board of Agriculture for New Brunswick imported the first pure bred shorthorns.

The 1921 census gave 3,736,832 dairy cows in Canada.

FASHIONS IN AFRICA.

In anticipation of the coming visit of the Prince of Wales to Africa the big London houses now are receiving urgent orders for modern street and evening frocks from the women folk of native chiefs, says a London correspondent. Huge consignments of white silk stockings are being dispatched. Worn over brown legs they should produce the fashionable blond effect.

Hulless Oats Give Good Results As Poultry Food

The hulless variety of oats named Liberty, originated at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, has been used for four years in experimental work carried on by the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union. Dr. C. A. Zavitz, in his report of the Union for last year, states that the Liberty gave good satisfaction in the co-operative experiments throughout the province, and also on the college plots. The average yield during the past two years was 34.14 bushels to the acre, standing in fourth position in the varieties tested over the province. The Liberty oat, being without hull, is particularly suited to the feeding of poultry, especially the young birds, and when ground is excellent feed for young pigs. It is a stiff strawed variety, yielding an average of about one and one? third tons to the acre.

FRUIT HANDLING ON THE PRAIRIES

Situation Not as Bad as the Public Are Led To Believe.

REBUTTAL EVIDENCE

WINNIPEG, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Winnipeg fruit jobbers displayed the keenest interest in the report of Lewis Duncan, the commissioner who recently investigated the handling of fruit on the prairies. It was stated by one jobber that everyone in the business in Winnipeg knew that something of the greatest importance to the fruit trade of Western Canada was about to be made public and they were not surprised at the revelations. At the same time all the fruit jobbers said there were two sizes, and rebuttal evidence, which they would put in if the charge came to a trial, would perhaps change the complexion of the report. The commissioner, the jobbers claimed, did not take into consideration the matter of shrinkage in fruit and vegetables on consignments coming a long distance, which was always a very serious consideration in regard to every line, including cabbages, not to speak of berries of all kinds, tomatoes, canteloupe and rhubarb.

All the jobbers stated they wished the investigation to go further now that the commissioner has made certain charges as they feel assured that the situation is not as bad as the report might lead the public to believe. The question of jobbing houses accepting brokerage fees as well as jobbing profits was not defended.

All the representatives of the Nash interests are out of the city. Mr. Symington, the leading officer, is in Florida; others are in California and Minneapolis; and it is stated along "fruit row" that many changes in the location of the Nash managers will be announced soon. Mr. K. Nash was in Winnipeg ten days ago. The other brother is in California.

WEEVILS CAUSE BIG LOSS

Carbon Bisulphide Fumes in Granary Kills Pests in Grain.

Every year there is great loss of grain due to weevils. This loss may be entirely avoided by using an inexpensive substance known as carbon bisulphide. The method of treatment is to place the chemical in an open dish, setting this on top of the grain in the granary. The fumes are heavy and will sink down, passing through the mass of grain, killing the weevils, as it penetrates to all parts of the storage bins or granary.

Naturally, the bin or granary must be tight so as to prevent the fumes being carried away by the air. If the bin ois open overhead, a heavy canvas or other cloth may be used for covering. Leave in this manner two, three or four days. By that time the chemical will have evaporated and all the weevils will be killed. But there is a word of caution. The fumes of this substance are highly inflammable, and hence one should not approach the storage place with any form of light, lantern, candle or cigar. And do not strike a match near the place. This chemical may be purchased at the local drug store. Use one teaspoonful for each one bushel of grain.

Carbon-bisulphide will also rid a field or lawn of moles if used in cotton-batting or other absorbent and placed in their runs. The fumes are deadly to these and other rodents.

A COOKING HINT.

When dry ingredients, liquids and fats are called for in the same recipe you can measure them in the order given and have but one cup to wash afterward.

FACTORY SYSTEM MAKING CHEESE AND BUTTER

Where and When Creameries and Cheese Factories Were First Introduced.

GROWING INDUSTRY

Which Has Followed the Settlement of All Provinces in Dominion.

The Examiner is indebted to J. Frank Singleton, of the Dairy Section of the Dominion Agricultural Department, for the following concise review in summary form of the development of Canadian cheese factories and creameries since 1864, when the first cheese factory was started in Canada. Its perusal will be found of absorbing interest.

Ontario.

In 1861 there were over 1,000,000 cows in B.N.A.

In 1864, Harvey Farrington, from Herkimer Co., N.Y., started the first cheese factory in Canada in the township of Norwich, Oxford Co.

In 1865 four more cheese factories started in Oxford, and P. W. Strong started a cheese factory at Athens, Ont.

In 1866, M. K. Everetts built a cheese factory at Frankville, Ont.

In 1866, Ketchen Graham and Hon. Robt. Reid started "Front of Sidney" cheese factory in Hastings.

In 1875 the first Ontario creamery was started at Teeswater, Ont.

Quebec.

In 1865 the first cheese factory opened at Dunham.

In 1873 the first Canadian creamery started at Athelston, Huntingdon Co.

In 1882 the first centrifugal separator used in North America was brought to Ste. Marie, Beauce Co.

New Brunswick.

In 1868-69, in the winter of these years, G. H. Wallace, of Sussex, was sent to Ingersoll to gather information.

In 1869 a factory started near Sussex. John Graham, of Ingersoll, was the first cheesemaker.

In 1884 the first creamery started at Sussex.

Nova Scotia.

In 1870 the first cheese factory started at Paradise, Annapolis Co Failed on account of lack of support.

In 1892 the first creamery was built at Nappan, Cumberland Co.

Prince Edward Island.

In 1882 the first cheese factory started at Little York.

In 1891 the Government organized, and supervised building, and for several years managed a number of cheese factories in P.E.I. They were built entirely by local capital and operated on a commercial basis.

In 1894 the first creamery was opened at Tryon, and another at Crapaud a little later the same season.

Manitoba.

In 1886 the first cheese factory started at Shoal Lake and operated about three years.

In 1888 some factories started east of Red River and have continued operations.

In 1886 the first creamery started at St. Pierre.

In 1887 two Manitoba creameries exhibited butter at Toronto and Ottawa, winning a first and a second prize.

Saskatchewan.

In 1891 a cheese factory started at Springfield, Sask., but closed on account of lack of support.

In 1890 the first creamery started at Saltcoats.

Alberta.

In 1886 a cheese factory started at Springbank, near Calgary.

In 1894 a combined factory at Innisfail contained the first creamery plant.

Alberta and Saskatchewan creameries were managed by Dominion Department of Agriculture for some years on a commercial basis, and work was continued by the new provinces when set up in 1906.

British Columbia.

In 1895 a cheese factory started near Chilliwack, but cheese has been unable to compete with high butter prices in British Columbia.

In 1895 the first creamery started near Ladner.

Condensaries and Milk Powder Factories.

In 1883 the first condensary was established in Canada at Truro, N.S. The first milk powder factory was established at Brownsville, Ont.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of the Farm Page:

Dear Sir,—As the spring is drawing nigh and people are planning their gardens and lawns for the coming season, I wish to draw the attention of all good citizens to the fact that last year our city possibly displayed its unsurpassed beauty. Among the beauty spots was Victoria Park, representing our civic administration; the Normal School grounds, representing the educational institutions; the lawns of St. Peter's church, representing our religious bodies; the surroundings of J. J. Turner & Sons, representing our manufacturers; and the many homes, ranging from the beautiful home of A. W. Cressman, one of our leading business men, down to the humble home of that popular little mail carrier, Geordie Downer on Morrow street, who might be seen in the morning dawn and in the twilight among his roses, asters, gladiolius and etc., showing a spirit of true citizenship. For our citizenship is largely shown by our surroundings, and just let me say to the lovers of the canine sort (and we all love the beautiful dog) just remember your neighbors border with its springing narcissus and budding tulips and keep the dog at home and the child in control.

Thanking you, I remain,

Yours and etc.,

W. H. MERRILL

THIRD MEETING OF LOCALS AND FALLS TONIGHT

Petes Conceded a Slight Chance to Pull Down Four-Goal Lead.

WEEK OF FINALS

Greyhounds Are Considered By Some the Best Hockey Machine in Country.

The Toronto Star Weekly surveys this week's hockey features as follows:

The Arena this week will be the scene of the greatest hockey program that has been witnessed for a long time and with both the Junior O.H.A. finals and the play-off between the senior O.H.A. champions and the Northern champions down for decision, the fans will receive a real treat.

The annual northern invasion is usually productive of the best hockey of the season and the local fandom will welcome another chance of a visit from the ever popular Soo sextet.

Soo Again Cup Favorites.

The McNamara brigade enter the Ontario finals as Allan Cup favorites for the second year in succession and any team to which they are forced to succumb will need to be a stellar organization.

Makes Fifth Northern Visit.

Since the northern champions first came south to play the O.H.A. champions five years ago, they have been returned winners on two occasions and have lost out on three, so that this season they are presented with a royal opportunity to tie the count. This is the third successive trip for the Greyhounds who were beaten out by the Granites after a terrific struggle two years ago, but reversed the verdict last year when they trimmed Hamilton after two great battles. The Soo were also the challengers in 1921 when they were beaten by Varsity.

Greyhounds the Best?

By many critics the Greyhounds are considered to be the best hockey machine in the country whether amateur or pro. When comparisons are made among amateur teams, the two Olympic teams are usually taken as a basis and from this standpoint the Soo have established a real reputation, as they forced the champion Granites to the limit to win the senior S.P.A. final a year ago.

Meet Intermediates Tuesday.

The Greyhounds will be stacked up against the Peach Kings from Grimsby at the Arena on Tuesday night unless Kingston pull a big surprise in the return game in the Niagara valley town. Going at the top of the form that has characterized their play all season the intermediate champs will present the northerners with a real obstacle and it will take all the elusiveness of the Phillips, Woodruff, Lessard line and the strategy of the Walsh, Brown, Donnelly defense to subdue them. The local debut of young Burke on the Greyhound substitute will also be awaited with interest.

May Furnish Surprise.

So far the northern champions have always succeeded in vanquishing the intermediate title holders but in recent years the O.H.A. winners with such teams at Stratford and Niagara Falls have forced the northerns to shoy all they have. Some day the N.O.H.A. champs may get the idea that all they have to do is to appear on the ice, when they will receive the rudest jolt that has ever come to any team.

Falls Detonated Bomb.

In a season that has been featured by surprises it was left to Niagara Falls to detonate the largest explosive when they sent Peterboro's championship hopes sky high, and none who saw the Fraser clan perform but was convinced that if the two teams met the northern champions will have foemen worthy of their mettle.

Have High-Class Team.

The Rice, Kelterbourne, Harrington, front line may not have the team work that many years playing together has built up for Phillips, Lessard and Woodruff, but individually they compare favorably with the Allan Cup holders and when they can play rings around a front line such as Stratford could produce they cannot be far behind any front line in the business. In Walsh, Brown, and Donnelly, the Falls trio, Mayo, Fraser and Kitchen, are asked to invite comparison with what is considered one of the best rearguard in the game, but even against such a handicap they are able to stand on their own feet and when the series is over the defense crown may rest on other shoulders.

Petes Still Have Chance.

Peterboro still have a chance to figure in the big games, but outside of Stratford, where they have no faith in leads, there are few who think that the Petes have much of a chance. The downfall of the S.P.A. winners was a distinct disappointment to a large body of the local fandom who were counting on the Lift Lock team giving the Greyhounds a real argument. The two teams have met on three occasions this season, the Petes winning the S.P.A. final, but losing the exhibition games both in Peterboro and the Soo, although in the last encounters they had as much of the play and almost as much of the score as the northerners.

However, if the Petes were able to hold the Greyhounds, the question is what will the Falls, who look to be the better team, be able to do to the northern champions?

Juniors' Close Argument.

After all kinds of hairbreadth finishes Aura Lee have won their way into the junior finals, and should render a good account whether they are stacked up against Owen Sound or Midland. It was generally expected that last year's champions would be again in the finals, but they were apparently fortunate to hold Midland to a tie. After their strenuous battles with Toronto Canoe Club and St. Andrew's the local juniors will be ready for any kind of a fray.

Midland and Owen Sound settle their differences at the Arena on Monday with the winner having the home game on Wednesday with Aura Lee and playing the return game at the Arena on Friday.

Have Hard Games Here.

St. Pats have no easy task before they wind up the season at home with Montreal a week from Monday, and it is a good thing for them that they are as well placed as they are. After playing Hamilton on Wednesday they journey to Ottawa on Saturday, and if the Senators are still in the running there will be wigs on the green.

For the first time in over a month there will be no pro. games at the Arena next week, but this is compensated for in the class of the card that is staged by the amateurs.

CHAMP WALKER

WILLIE PLANT

It took two decisive victories over Ugo Frigerio, champion of Europe, to have the real ability of Willie Plant, America's premier walker, appreciated.

Frigerio came to this country expecting to create as great a sensation as did Nurmi, but found in Plant a walker who had it all over him. Plant represents the Morningside A. C. of New York.

PETES TO LONDON

Play Exhibition Game Tuesday Night—At Falls Tonight.

The Petes left yesterday afternoon for Toronto where they remained last night going on to Niagara Falls at noon today for the big game tonight. The squad is in good shape and were resolved to make a real effort to pull the round out of the fire. On Tuesday the Petes will play an exhibition game with the London Seniors at London.

FIGURE IT OUT!

Toronto led the International League clubs in hitting with a mark of .310. It topped Baltimore, which finished second, by over 10 points. And yet the Dunn entourage edged Dan Howley's crowd in the pennant canter by exactly 115 points or 19 full games.

SENATORS WIN FROM CANUCKS

Boucher's Long Shot Caught Vezina Napping for Only Goal of Game.

MONENZ HURT

OTTAWA, March 2.—(By Canadian Press).—Ottawa Senators triumphed over Canadiens here Saturday night by a score of one to nil, in another great game of hockey. In keping with the brand usually served up by these two teams here, the packed house which attended saw some really brilliant hockey in the last two periods which amply made up for any slowness that marked the opening twenty minutes.

The only counter of the game came three minutes and ten seconds after the third period started. Coutu had wended his way as far as the Ottawa defence, where George Boucher relieved him of the puck. Boucher swung in the center, and from the Canadien blue line, whipped in a whistling drive, waist high, that caught Vezina unawares and nestled in the net. It was a really long shot, not at all the kind that is usually secured against the habitant net minder, but it was sufficient to decide the issue, from then to the finish it was ding-dong hockey, Ottawa meeting the Canadien offensive with the same style of game, with the result that the fans were on their feet continuously.

Morenz Took Count.

With about five minutes left to play the Canucks swung the line in for an extra closing spurt. Morenz sped in with the puck, but lost it at the outer defence. Whirling through with the momentum of his rush, he met Gorman head on, and went down and out, having to be assisted off the ice. Odie Cleghorn stepped into the breach but the crimson-shirts could make no impression against the battling Senators.

Nighbor In Forms.

The game was featured by the return to real form of Frank Nighbor. Rarely has Nighbor turned in such a splendid exhibition. He was a stonewall in front of Canadien attacks, always dangerous on the offensive, and directed operations masterfully. Opposed to the flashy Morenz he more than held his own, the latter only stepping out in streaks. This was no doubt due to the absence of Joliat from left wing. The added work told on Morenz, but he stayed prominently in the forefront until he was hurt. The goaltending was also of the rare variety. Both net guardians were at their best, Vezina stopping Hooley Smith no less than five separate times when the latter had no one between him and a goal but "Chicoutimi" Georges. At the other end Connell was no less brilliant, a number of his saves being of the sensation kind.

ST. PATS BEAT BOSTON BRUINS

Victory Gives Winners a Firm Hold on Second Place.

CAN CATCH TIGERS.

TORONTO, March 2 (Canadian Press).—St. Patrick's 5 to 1 victory over the tail-end Boston Bruins at the Arena on Saturday night in the second last local game of the regular N.H.L. seoson was well earned, and in addition was a very valuable one. It was the ninth in succession for the fast going Irish; it gave the locals a clean sheet for their eight games in February and gave them a margin of four points on Canadiens who are in third place. The Irish must drop their remaining three games and the Canadiens finish with three victories to knock the locals out of second place, but one of the most important angles to the situation at present is that Montreal's 1 to 0 victory over the leaders puts the locals just one point behind the Hams in first place and the "Bhoys" have a chance to take the leadership by winning in Hamilton on Wednesday night.

OSHAWA CATCHER SIGNS CONTRACT

Alfred Warren Tyson, of C. O. B. L., Is Tied Up For Life.

HAPPY ABOUT IT.

OSHAWA, Mar. 2. —(Special). —Catcher Alfred Warren Tysno of the Oshawa Central Baseball team is no longer among the hold out class for on Friday evening last he attached his signature to a life contract when he was united in marriage to one of Oshawa's popular young ladies, Miss Mabel Smith, with Rev. E. T. Cotton of the Christian church, officiating and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roddick as witnesses. Only once since Al's entry into the Central Ontario Baseball League in 1921 has he been known to argue with an umpire over being "called out" and now that he has taken unto himself a life official arbitrator, ball enthusiasts in Oshawa and around the leagues circuit feel assured of his and his better half's happiness in teaming it through life.

HE WINS SKATING HONORS

Francis Allen, International Amateur King, Grabs American Ice Honors at Lake Placid.

FRANCIS ALLEN.

Golf is regarded as one sport where past performances count for but little.

Champions come and go in golf with almost monotonous regularity. Title holders are dethroned annually.

Walter Hagen is one of the very few leaders in golf who is ever consistent. Hagen is the one champion who for years has lived up to his title.

Speed skating is almost as fickle with its champions as the good old Scottish game of golf.

Each year some new flash bobs up. Upsetting the dope is a favorite pastime among our best ice skaters.

The latest phenom is Francis Allen, holder of the international championship. Recently Allen added further laurels by winning the American diamond trophy and the national title at Lake Placid, N. Y.

Allen finished with a total of 80 points, just enough to top Charles Gorman of St. John, N. B., defending champion.

Allen, who hails from Chicago, triumphed over one of the classiest fields ever entered in the Lake Placid classic.

D. DOUGLAS WINS CAMPBELLFORD TROPHY BY 15 TO 13 IN EXTRA END

Defeated F. J. Smith in Game That Wound Up the Annual Open Bonspiel.

A GREAT FINISH

Jack Bacon of Peterboro Retains Reindeau Trophy for Second Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—Don Douglas won the Campbellford Cup in a postponed final of the open bonspiel here, Friday, defeating F. J. Smith by 15 to 13 in an extra end. The two local rinks had won their semi-final games during the bonspiel, Douglas beating Paleiser by 13 to 11 and Smith had eliminated Wood by 11-10.

The finalists played off on perfect ice Friday afternoon, and before a big gallery of curling fans. It was a memorable battle and a worthy conclusion to one of the most successful curling tourneys ever held here. Douglas was three up coming home, but Smith tied it up with three shots on the last end. Douglas came back in the extra end and it was all over but the cheers and congratulations.

The finalist rinks were as follows:

H. Anderson	N. A. McColl
Dr. Bussey	Geo. Nicol
J. A. Stewart	J. P. Archer
F. J. Smith	D. W. Douglas
Skip—13	Skip—15

In the two other competitions for the Riendeau and Victoria trophies Jack Bacon's Peterboro rink was the sensation, winning the Riendeau and running up to the final in the Cup from John Gay by 14 to 11, Victoria trophy series, in which he was defeated by R. A. Dunk of the local club by 14 to 11. This is the second successive year Bacon has carried off the Riendeau Cup, and throughout the bonspiel his curling was an outstanding feature. The finalists in these two series were as follows:

WARM WATER FOR PIGS

Cold Water Retards Growth and Chills So They Won't Eat.

One thing that retards the growth and development of fall pigs is forcing them to drink cold or icy water. It is harmful for two reasons. They won't drink as much water as they should, and it chills them so badly they will not eat as well as they otherwise would. Give them warm water and give them most of it during the early part of the day. Give them a little real warm water in the evening. If they have a warm bed they will then keep comfortable and warm all night long.

GRIMSBY TEAM O.H.A. CHAMPS

Win From Kingston 8 to 3 and Take Round By 11 to 4. TO MEET SOO.

GRIMSBY, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Grimsby Intermediates are champions of the Ontario Hockey Association, winning the game on Saturday night from Kingston by 8 to 3, and the round by 11 to 4.

They will play against the Soo on Tuesday night at Toronto Arena. The game on Saturday night was one of the cleanest here this winter, and though there were seven penalties, none was serious, and Kingston drew only one of them.

The largest rock-filled dam in the world will be shortly compelted on the Dix River, near High Bridge, Ky. It boasts artificia falls of 235 feet. The falls at Niagara are 165 feet.

MAROONS BLANK HAMILTON TEAM

One Goal Victory in Montreal—Tigers' Lead Over St. Pats Cut to One Point.

RACE TIGHTENS UP

MONTREAL, March 2.—(Canadian Press).— Montreal Maroons placed a check upon Hamilton's aspirations of finishing in first place in the N.H.L. race and thus drawing a bye in the initial play-off series when the local "pros" took a 1 to 0 victory from the league leaders here Saturday night. The defeat pulled the Tigers down to one point over Toronto St. Patrick's.

The teams battled throughout the first two periods with no score and six minutes of the third had passed before "Dinny" Dinsmore batted the disc into the visitors' net for the only counter of the contest. The goal came after a neat rush by Reg Noble, who carried in close to Forbes and shot. The goalie blocked the puck and Noble nearly got his own rebound. In stopping the second shot, Forbes fell to one side of his net and Red Green jumped into the breach and was immediately called upon to stop another shot which came netwards. This time the disc dropped right in front and Dinsmore poked it in.

Shots Wasted.

The Maroons might have had more goals but wide shooting spoiled their efforts. Montreal had the edge in the play, especially during the first and third periods, and Forbes had about twice as many stops to make as Benedict. The latter, however, had no easy time. One save in particular made by Benedict was brilliant. Near the close of the second period, Billy Burch got through upon the local tender and it looked as if the league leaders would break into the score column. The local goalie, however, was not bargained for and as Burch endeavored to find the corner of the net, "Clint" fell sideways and robbed the visiting centre of an almost sure goal. In the third period, Charlie Langlois got right through on Benedict but the latter rushed out of his net and knocked the puck away from the Hamilton defenceman's stick.

Hamilton's play was mostly individual with Billy Burch doing most of the dangerous attacking. Reg Noble and Dinsmore were the stars of the Maroons, these two carrying the brunt of the offensive work. Both forwards showed improvement in their offensive tactics over the previous games, and they were aided in their work by several nice combination plays.

Montreal— Goal, Benedict; defence, D. Munro and G. Munro; centre, Noble; left wing, Dinsmore; right wing, Broadbent; subs, Cain, Berlinquette, Skinner, Rothchild, Lowrey, Parres and Scott.

Hamilton—Goal Forbes; defence, Langlois and Randall; centre, Burch; left wing, 'Red" Green; right wing, W. Green; subs, McKinnon, Roach, Spring and Bouchard.

Referee—Cooper Smeaton.

LOW CREDIT SCORE.

Australia Made 203 For Six Wickets In To-day's Play.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 2. — (Canadian Press). — Low scoring was again the rule when Australia started their second innings in the fifth and last cricket match of the present England-Australia test series to-day. When the stumps were drawn at 530 owing to bad light the antipodeans had lost six wickets for 203, this, however, being a better score than England made on Saturday when they were all out for 167.

"TY" COBB EXPLAINS.

Asserts Woman Did Not Hit Him on Head With Glass.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 2.—Back home Saturday, "Ty" Cobb, one of the nation's baseball idols and manager of the Detroit American League nine, denied that he had been attacked last night in Atlanta by the wife of a restaurant manager. The story was that Cobb got into a dispute with a waitress over his bill and that the manager's wife brought a glass down on his head.

"I simply called the cashier's attention to an apparent mistake in the amount of the check" Cobb explained. "She became incensed and made a remark which prompted me to reply that I was as much of a gentleman as she was a lady. She then became further inflamed and called a policeman who was eating at a nearby table. This officer did not know of the argument until he was called—that's how much argument there was. But the officer told me to 'get out' without giving me an opportunity to explain. I politely remonstrated, telling him that the restaurant was a public place and that he had no right to eject me unless I was causing a disturbance.

"This officer, evidently wanting to get his name in the papers at my expense, still refused to let me explain and seemed intent on provoking me into causing a disturbance. When I again remonstrated against being ejected like a bum, he gruffly informed me that if I didn't get out it would be because I was the best man. He then took me by the arm and fairly pushed me out of the place, but I didn't resist.

"The statement that I was hit over the head with a glass by the wife of the restaurant manager is preposterous. There was no woman concerned except the cashier."

CRICKET NEWS.

Royal Oak Cricket Club to Meet on Tuesday.

A meeting of the Royal Oak Cricket Club will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, George St., at 7.30, and all interested in the sport are cordially invited to be present. There are quite a number of beginners joining up this year and it will be a good opportunity for any others desiring to learn or renew their acquaintance with this old game to join up also.

BEWARE OF SWEETS

Contain Concentrated Energy That Gives Temporary Relief From Fatigue.

Sweets make a good servant but a bad master, Mrs. Mann of Anytown learned in her study of foods for health's sake.

They contain concentrated energy, which makes them capable of being transformed very quickly in the system to energy.

This explains why one, when fatigued, feels freshened up so quickly after eating some sweets. This relief does not last long, however, and if more sweets be eaten the edge of the appetite is dulled so that one does not eat enough of the proper foods when meal time comes.

Children, especially, are too apt to satisfy the pangs of hunger by sweets. They have learned that they get satisfaction from it, but they do not appreciate the danger.

Sweets are a good food in their place, but they should be in cooked foods or at the end of the meal.

Overcome the candy habit in children if you would have them strong and healthy and able to resist disease.

Too much candy robs the cheeks of their roses—fruit helps to keep them, or to bring them back when they have been lost.

NEW OFFICER AT CAMPBELLFORD

The Salvation Army Stations Lieutenant Bradley of Toronto in the Corps.

GOOD MUSICIANS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2. — Lieutenant Wm. Bradley, who has been at Clinton for the past seven and one half months has come to Campbellford, to assist Captain A. Fisher of the local corps of the Salvation Army. The lieutenant comes from a Salvation Army family of Toronto, his father and mother being two of the oldest soldiers in the Temple corps in Toronto. Lieutenant Bradley attended the Salvation Army training college in Toronto. His mother holds the office of Cradle Roll Sergeant of the Corps Cadet guardians. His brother and wife attend the Riverdale Corps where Captain Ernest Green, whose father went down inthe 'Empress of Ireland" is the commissioned officer and Mrs Green is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Jacobs who are well-known as the Colonel is the staff officer on Canadian East and west Territory. The brother at Riverdale plays in the famous Riverdale Salvation Army Band, and his sister-in-is one of the leading singers. The Lieutenant has come to Campbellford with the one ambition of being a blessing and a help to the Town of which already he has met some of the business men and other citizens and has formed a good opinion of Campbellford.

The Lieutenant is a musician of no mean order and can play almost any kind of wind instrument and in this way will be a great asset to the local corps of the Army in Campbellford.

Captain Fisher when in Cobourg, last week, to take Mr. Babcock to the old folks home, said he saw Mrs. Babcock and that she was looking well and was very contented there. He, also visited the jail and talked with some of the prisoners among whom was one from Town.

While in Coburg, Captain Fisher was a guest at the home of Captain and Mrs. Morgatroyd of the Salvation Army Staff.

Mr. M. Frederick Ill.

Mr. Marten Frederick, Maple St., took a stroke on Tuesday of last week and then seemed to rally but again on Wednesday he had another stroke and all of his left side is paralyzed. The last few days he has been much worse and on Sunday he was very low. He is seventy six years of age and the doctors fear for his recovery.

Mission Circle Sale.

The Mispah Mission Circle of the Methodist Church held a cooking sale and tea in the Sunday School room of the church, on Saturday afternoon, and it was a great success. The donations to the candy booth were generous and the girls in the tea room were kept busy.

Those who assisted at the booths and in the tea room were: Mrs. F. Phillips, Mrs. W. Lowe, Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, Mrs. D. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Malcoln, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Harnden, Mrs. W. Phillips, Misses Edith Bowen, H. Redden, M. Forde, V. Sanders, Jean Blake, Ruth Plumpton, Winnifred Burley and A. Arnold.

The proceeds amounted to some few dollars over fifty dollars, which will go toward the money sent to the branch treasurer for mission work.

Miss Grace Payne kindly furnished music on the piano during the afternoon.

The president, Miss Keir, and treasurer, Miss G. Plumpton, were present for a short time.

Mrs. John Herriott of Wilson Settlement, who has been in Campbellford for the past two weeks, having medical treatment, returned to her home on Saturday. While in town she was the guest of Mrs. John Bateson, Victoria Street.

Mrs. George Barnum, Frant Street, who has been ill for the past few days, is a little better and on Sunday was feeling quite a lot better.

Mrs. Walter Bateson of Grafton is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. John Bateson, Victoria Street.

Mrs. Nelson Miller, Grand Road, who has been ill for weeks is not improving, and seems to be growing worse each day.

Miss Olive Moore of Oak Hills, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Sidney Wood and Mrs. John Bateson.

Mrs. Duck, who is a very old lady, residing at the home of her son, Mr. John Duck, Havelock Road, is very ill and for the past few days has been seriously ill.

Mr. Norvel Sweet of Toronto is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sweet, Maple Street. He leaves next week for Winnipeg.

The New Plan Of Baraca Bible Class Works Well

The new plan at Murray Street Baptist Church of having Sunday School immediately after church at 12 o'clock is working out splendidly for the Baraca Young Men's Class. The class has grown to be the largest Bible class in the city. They have a total of 83 members on the roll, with 51 members present yesterday.

The plan of individual members taking part is bringing a strong feeling of Christian fellowship into the class. The class was divided into two parts for the reading of the Scriptures, under the leadership of John Ward and Graham Eastwood, after which Graham Eastwood led in the opening prayer. Mr. W. W. Richmond, the teacher, conducted the lesson with his usual spirit which makes the lesson interesting to all.

The class extends a hearty welcome to all young men of the city who have not as yet joined any other Bible class in the city.

I.O.D.E. ANNUAL REPORTS HEARD

The Peter Robinson Chapter Elect Mrs. F. Hooper as Regent For 1925.

GRANTS MADE.

The tenth annual meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held in the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday afternoon, the retiring Regent, Mrs. F. C. Webber, in the chair. Immediately preceding the annual meeting was a brief business session at which $200 was voted toward the maintenance for one year of Peter Robinson, Junior, the little Armenian boy adopted by the Chapter last year. $25 was voted for the War Memorial Fund, as the Chapter's gift to mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the foundation of the Order, and $25 was voted for the local Boy Scout movement.

After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, the secretary's report was read by Miss M. Conner, and the treasurer's report, in the absence of Miss Evans, was read by Mrs. J. Wearing, both reports showing the past year to have been the most successful in the history of the Chapter.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary Regent, Mrs. F. C. Webber; Regent Mrs. F. Hooper; 1st Vice-Regent, Miss Olga Johnson; 2nd Vice-Regent, Miss Geraldine Glover; Secretary, Miss M. Conner; Treasurer, Miss M. Evans; Standard Bearer, Miss G. McCarthy; Echoes Secretary, Mrs. F. C. Webber; Educational Secretary, Mrs. L. Soden; Councillors: Mrs. J. Hughes, Mrs. J. Wearing, Mrs. W. Belleghem, Mrs. J. McNabb and the Misses P. Dawson, H. Buller, H. Morphet, E. Nichol, R. Clegg, R. Mulholland.

The following committees were appointed for the year, with power to add to their number: Child Welfare—Miss Helen Howson; Decorating—Mrs. N. Birks, Miss G. McCarthy; Ushering—Mrs. F. C. Webber (convenor), the Misses H. Buller, M. Grieve, C. Clementi; Cards—Miss E. Richardson; Refreshments—Mrs. J. McNabb (convenor), Mrs. J. Hughes, Mrs. D. L. McLaren, the Misses P. Dawson and G. Patterson. Representatives to Local Council of Women—Mrs. F. C. Webber, Mrs. J. Hughes and Mrs. D. L. McLaren; Flowers—Mrs. F. Hooper.

Before giving over the reins of office, Mrs. Webber, the retiring Regent, thanked the members for their loyal support and asked them to show the same consideration for the new Regent, saying she was glad to be followed by so worthy a successor, Mrs. Hooper not only being a most energetic worker but also a charter member of the Chapter.

Miss G. McCarthy moved a very hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Webber, who has been a very popular Regent, for her services during the past three years.

The tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. J. Hughes and Miss H. Buller. Mrs. W. Belleghem poured tea at a table beautifully decorated with mauve and yellow, with mauve sweet peas in a yellow bowl and mauve and yellow candles in silver candlesticks.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. F. C. Webber was presented with flowers.

A summary of the secretary's and treasurer's reports will appear in to-morrow evening's paper.

FRANCE AND GERMANY IN TEMPORARY ACCORD

Trade Agreement is Signed, But Negotiations Will Continue.

PARIS, March 2. — Commercial letters exchanged on Saturday between the Minister of Commerce, M. Raynaldy, and Dr. Trendelenburg, chief of the German trade delegation, which were interpreted in official circles as a temporary commercial agreement between France and Germany appear on examination to have simply fixed the principle of a temporary accord, the details of which are to be settled after Dr. Trendelenburg's visit to Berlin to consult his Government.

The chief of the German delegation will return here on 16th March, when negotiations will be resumed.

The principle of the provisional accord, as laid down in the letters, is that, pending the negotiation of a permanent treaty, Germnay will give to France the benefit of the most favoured nation clause, except on a specifically excepted list of products.

In return, France would supply to German products, according to category, the minimum tariff or a rate intermediary between the maximum and the minimum.

It is agreed that in the final treaty Alsatian products will receive favoured treatment. France will be treated as a most favoured nation, while duties on German products will be reduced by stages.

COMPANY NOT ASSIGNED.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 2 (Canadian Press). — Colonel H. G. Jacques, D.S.O., ranking medical officer of Military District No. 6, at present on leave, has been appointed Director-General of Army Medical Services, with headquarters at Ottawa. He is to be succeeded here by Col. J. T. Clark, who will be succeeded at Quebec by Captain G. Bouthillier.

SOME IMPROVEMENT.

Local Factories Show Slight Betterment—Unemployment Conditions.

The employment situation in some of the local factories shows a slight improvement, but others show none as yet. The weather has not been favorable to outside work. There were last week 32 new applicants at the Peterboro office and 25 placements.

FIRE LOSS SMALL.

February Saw Only $78 Lost—Last February $20,193.

Saturday evening at 6.41 the fire department was called to 253 Wolfe Street, where overheated stove pipes had caused a slight blaze.

February was a very good month for the fire brigade. There were only 29 alarms and the total loss was $78. In February of 1924, there were 48 alarms and the property loss amounted to $20,193.

ST. JOHN'S BOYS MET.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., Spoke on Boys and Their Games.

At the regular weekly meeting of the boys of St. John's Church, F. D. Kerr, K.C., gave an interesting talk on "Boys and Their Games."

Mr. Kerr is a sportsman of ability and has always been intensely interested in boys.

The speaker for this week is Mayor Turner. It is hoped that the boys will greet him in good numbers.

The meeting is called for 7 o'clock instead of 7.30.

'Whiskers! Sheiks must wear them to win success," declares Ponsonby, labor member of of the British Parliament, shown in lower center. With him are three artistically treated Smith Brothers, Charles Ray Smith, D. Fairbanks Smith and Thomas Meighan Smith, each very popular with the girls.

"The whiskerless young men of today are dominated by the girls, and willingly submit," writes Mrs. Ponsonby.

"Today you will see the girl stride with an air of mastery and assurance her brimless hat crushed over her eyes, a long cigarette holder suspended from her lips and behind her trots the little man. She orders the meal, and if there is any swearing to be done at the waiter she will do it.

"None of the bewhiskered gentlemen of the old school would permit anything like that—would they?"

NEW ARTS SECTION

Dominion Government Preparing for Good Display at Wembley Exhibition.

OTTAWA, Mar. 2—It is announced that the Dominion Covernment has made all preparations for a new fine arts section at th British Empire Exhibition this year. Works of art intended for the Exhibition will be received at the National Gallery here up to March 7.

Word has been received here of the purchase for the Leicester Public Art Gallery of F.N.Loveroff's picture, 'Snow on the Hillside." This was one of the pictures in the Candian section of the Wembley Exhibition last year, and is the sixth purchased from the Canadian section. The Canadian section on the close of the British Empire Exhibition last year, was specially invited to tour some of the most important of the provincial cities of Great Britain The tour began at Leicester, and then went to Glasgow, and is now at Birmingham. Other important British galleries will be visited.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

HOLLYWOOD 'FOLLIES' TO RIVAL ZIEGFELD.

Polo Match Between Film Bathing Beauties Gives Rise to Idea.

Hollywood may soon have a "Follies" that will rival that of Ziegfeld. The idea arose during the filming of the new Goldwyn-Fitzmaurice picture, "A Thief in Paradise," which First National will offer at the Capitol theatre to-day. Producer Fitzmaurice was recruiting a polo team of blondes to play against a team of brunettes as one of the picture's novel sequences.

No fewer than six hundred girls were interviewed before finally the necessary eight were found. Virtually all the girls were beauties, but as the players appear in one-piece bathing suits in the picture, they had to qualify as to form as well and be expert riders.

Most of the girls had had chorus experience, and many of them beautiful voices. While neither Samuel Goldwyn nor Fitzmaurice have any intentions of entering Ziegfeld's field, a syndicate of West Coast theatrical producers, who heard of the polo incident, sent representatives to take the names and addresses of the applicants, and their qualifications for stage appearance. Hollywood is all agog over the prospects of having a "Follies" of its own, and picture producers welcome the idea, in that it will provide employment for extra girls when no studio work is available.

Doris Kenyon, Ronald Colman and Aileen Pringle are co-featured in "A Thief in Paradise," which was adapted from Leonard Merrick's novel, "The Worldlings."

AT THE REGENT

A CLEVER STUDY OF MARITAL LIFE.

Elaborate Production Offers Wealth of Real Entertainment.

Said to be one of the most elaborate productions of the year, "So This Is Marriage," Hobart Henley's Metro-Goldwyn picture, is coming to the Regent Theatre to-night. This photoplay takes for its theme the subject of marriage, and puts it under a sort of movie microscope, showing that the home of to-day is influenced by the same set of conditions that sprang up for young couples even in the days of the ancients.

The central feminine role, that of a flapper who remains still a flapper after the wedding, is played by Eleanor Boardman, who has lately risen to stellar heights in filmdom. Conrad Nagel appears as the young husband, a part of much delicate humor and character strength. Lew Cody, the Dangerous Dan McGrew in the recent film version, dons dress clothes in this picture to be the suave romantic figure who appeals when one's husband bores.

Others in the large cast include Clyde Cook, of comedy fame, Miss DuPont, John Patrick, Claire de Lorez, Shannon Day, Jack Edwards, Estelle Clark, Thelma Morgan and Francis McDonald.

Big Biblical Interlude.

One of the big features of "So This Is Marriage" is a cut-back to the court of King David to illustrate the relating of the Old Testament story of Bath-Sheba's treachery to her husband, Uriah. This sequence is said to be the most beautiful and breath-taking ever filmed, having been done in natural color to bring out the lavishness of the background.

Seventy-five girl dancers appear in what is promised as the most startling dance yet seen in a picture. Their bodies are covered with a silver paint, so that every movement is caught in the glint of the sun. The court itself is a careful reconstruction, according to its description in the Bible, and other historical data on Jerusalem.

The chief players of the Biblical interlude are Warner Oland, as King David, Mabel Julienne Scott, as Bath-Sheba, John Boles and Edward Connelly.

SPECIAL WIRE TO-NIGHT. PICTURES OF PETERBOROUGH TEAM ON SCREEN.

A running story of the game to-night at Niagara Falls will be given to-night at the Royal. Also some excellent pictures of Peterborough's own team will be shown. The usual 25 cents will be charged.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE ROYAL.

Dear Sir (or Madam):

Have you ever longed to look behind the scenes after the curtain has fallen? Have you ever wondered about the real life of a chorus girl—not the gilded make-believe existence so often pictured in the movies, but the real joys and sorrows that are, after all, not so very different from those of all of us on or off stage?

If you have, I am sure you will not want to miss "Trouping With Ellen," the photoplay which the Royal Theatre has the pleasure of offering you for three days beginning to-day.

This picture, the screen version of the famous Saturday Evening Post story by Earl Derr Biggers, lifts the curtain after the curtain has fallen and shows you the chorus girl as she really is.

Charming Helene Chadwick is the star and her brilliant supporting cast includes Gaston Glass, Mary Thurman, Basil Rathbone, Ernest Hilliard, Tyrone Power, Zena Keefe and others of equal note.

The production is beautifully executed. Beauties from many of the New York Revues appear in the chorus.

This drama of love and laughter is splendid entertainment.

Don't miss it

Cordially,
W. P. McGRACHIE, Manager.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR

In fulfilment of Divine prophecy, knowledge is increasing, apparently on all lines, not excepting "Biblical knowledge," the latter giving many to know more of the righteousness, wisdom, and love of God. Yet, at present, to the great majority of mankind the Bible is an unknown book. Light and truth is gradually spreading over all the earth. Some of us are tempted to think it is doing so slowly. An old lady said to me some years ago, "God Almighty is very slow ,but He is very sure." I do not think she was irreverent, but that she saw a truth a little clearer than some of us. In the commencement, that, that was prophesied concerning the redemption of man, was but a glimmer of light, but gradually has been increasing as the ages went by; and now we are nearing the time when the full glorious light shall fill the whole earth. Prior to this grand climax, God has in this Gospel age, been selecting a little company, and when the full number has been gathered out, they will comprise the "Bride," who associated with Jesus, will judge the world and certain angels. The whole creation is waiting of the manifestation of the "Bride," for then will be the day of judgment, a day of rejoicing. Then it will not be merely a well of water springing up in the hearts of the elect; but it will be the universal invitation given by the "Spirit" and the "Bride," for all to come and take freely of the river of the water of life. The "Bride" is the firstfruits; there must of necessity be a harvest, else the word "firstfruits" would be meaningless.

KILLED HIS RIVAL FOR WOMAN'S LOVE

Police Say Vottari, Captured in Oshawa, Confesses to Crime.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., March 2.—(Canadian Press).—Giovanni Vottari, brought back here from Oshawa, Ontario, to answer to the charge of first degree murder of Joseph D'Angelo, shot and killed here September 24, 1924, was arraigned in police court to-day and held without bonds for trial in the Superior Court.

Police say Vottari confessed to the murder and also to the shooting of Mrs. Amelia Scorsoto, his boarding mistress, over whose anecdians he and D'Angelo are said to have quarrelled.

Society

Friends of Mrs. George Stevens, Mark Street, East City, will regret to learn that she is dangerously ill with plood-poisoning, thought to be caused through endeavoring to extract a splinter from her finger with a pin.

Miss Daisy Murray, of Springville sang at both services in George Street Methodist Church yesterday in a manner that delighted her audience. Miss Murray is a pupil of Mr. George H. King, and received her degree of A.C.A.M. last year. She is the possessor of a fine soprano voice, of excellent range and clear, true tone.

Kenneth Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Graham, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Nicholls Hospital this morning.

Miss Constance Lewis, Aylmer Street, is in Toronto visiting Mrs. Thomas Bishop, 141 Glenmore Rd.

Mayor Turner was in Toronto yesterday attending the induction of the Reverend Canon Sawers as Rector of St. Matthew's Church.

The friends of Mrs. J. P. Archer, Campbellford, will be pleased to know she is progressing favorably after the fracture of her ankle last Wednesday. She is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Touchbourne, 22 Aberdeen Avenue, while in the city.

CHURCH FALLS IN EARTHQUAKE

Splendid Stone Edifice at St. Hilarion Collapsed on Saturday.

NO ONE HURT.

QUEBEC, March 2. — (Canadian Press).—With a roar and a crash, the Roman Catholic Church at St. Hilarion, sixty miles below Quebec, on the north shore, collapsed on Saturday night at the time of the earthquake.

The church, which was built entirely of stone, was one of the finest to be seen in any of the down-river parishes. No one was in the church at the time, but a number of worshippers had left the church a short time before.

REV. F. J. SAWERS TORONTO RECTOR

Cobourg Man Formally Inducted at St. Matthew's Anglican Church.

TORONTO, March 2.—St. Matthew's Anglican Church was crowded to the doors last evening, when the institution and induction of the new rector, Rev. F. J. Sawers, formerly of Cobourg, took place. The ceremony of institution was conducted by the Right Rev. Bishop J. F. Sweeny; the induction proceedings were in charge of Ven. Archreacon Warren, Archdeacon of York, and the mandate was presented by Rev. Canon Baynes-Reed, Rural Dean of Toronto.

In a brief address, Bishop Sweeny commended Rev. Mr. Sawers and his wife to the care and earnest consideration of the congregation. His previous record in the ministry of Christ was sufficient, he said, to mark him as one whole-heartedly devoted to the extension of the Kingdom, and the Bishop was personally convinced of his ability to assume charge of the pastorate. The speaker recalled that St. Matthew's had had, in all, six rectors, and it had been his privilege to preside at the induction of four of those.

Whether the Church, as a whole, was consumed with the love of souls which Christ had intended it should have, was the subject of an impressive sermon by Ven. Archdeacon Davidson. In almost all walks of life, he said, one found the desire for economic success overshadowing the one real mission which Christ had given to His followers to carry out: the inspiration of souls with the love of the Redeemer. Preaching the gospel of the atonement had been the paramount duty which Christ had imposed upon believers, and to-day there were still thousands, even in Toronto, who were hungering for the true Word.

Canon Sawers is a former Rector of St. Luke's church here, and Archdeacon Warren and Canon Baynes-Reed were also connected with St. Luke's during the illness of the first Rector, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The Total For February Was $5,475—Highest in Several Years.

The building permits issued in Peterborough for February were for a total of $5,475.00. This sum includes $2500 for a dwelling house at 89 Princess street being built by G .A. Brenton, a warehouse, garage and tanks to cost $1800 for the British-American Oil Company on Robinson street, and $500 for converting a single house at 98 London street into a duplex house.

In February last year, there were no permits issued and in February 1923, the total was $4,595. The years 1922 and 1921, also saw smaller amounts than this year.

VITAL STATISTICS.

CHICAGO.

Buying of new wheat in mid-winter by foreigners can mean only that they realize their needs and their dependence on North America for supplies after the heavy movement from the Southern Hemisphere has run its course. Complaints of dry weather are coming from the winter wheat belt and reports are due to increase from now on. With continued improvement in outside trade prices should go higher. It is indicated feeding operation on farms will increase if there is any drop in the market price of corn. Rye continues in a class by itself. It looks stronger than any other grains and only needs a little more outside support to advance rapidly. Provisions are enjoying a broader trade with investment purchases encouraged by advancing hog prices and strength in corn.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS AT CHEMONG PARK

Meeting To-morrow to Determine Course of Action by Residents.

It will be decided to-morrow afternoon at a meeting of the Chemong Cottagers' Association whether steps will be taken to have electric lights at the Park and in the cottages at Chemong.

Residents and farmers of Bridgenorth and the immediate vicinity have expressed their desire to have this improvement undertaken, one of the chief reasons being the elimination of possible fires through the use of the oil lamps.

IN TORONTO TOO!

People Called Newspaper Offices To Know What's the Fuss.

If it did no actual damage, the earthquake succeeded at least in demoralizing the telephone service. The tremors of the distinct shock had scarcely died away before half the city tried to telephone the newspaper offices to find out what it all meant.

"It was worse than an election night," said Frank Kennedy, Manager of the Bell Company, stated last night. At once all boards were ablaze with lights, and the calls continued to pour in until after midnight. With only 50 per cent. of the normal day staff on duty, the operators had a most difficult time in giving service.

The evening staff was kept at work until long after the usual quitting time, and assisted the night workers in handling the unusually heavy traffic.

Despite the somewhat annoying circumstances, operators were most courteous in dealing with the flood of inquiries turned suddenly upon them.

In another column The Examiner tells of similar incidents at the local office.

WALLACEBURG, March 2. — The earthquake shock on Saturday night was plainly felt in Wallaceburg, and reports show that, although no damage was done, kitchenware on shelves was thrown to the ground and the moving of pictures on walls was visible. On a farm close by chickens at roost were reported to have been thrown off their roosts. People sitting in their homes complained of a feeling of dizziness during the quake.

BETHANY NEWS.

Farmers Hail Recent Snowfall as Blessing—Personals.

BETHANY, March 2.—Mr. Allan Cody has a gang loading lumber to outside points.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bigelow were visitors in Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. Walter Stewart, formerly attached to the local staff of the Bank of Toronto has been transferred from the Kingston branch to the Coldwater branch.

Owing to the heavy wind and snow storm on Friday Mr. Milton Challice had to postpone his auction sale until Tuesday, March 3.

Mr. Harvey Fallis was a visitor from Peterboro on Saturday.

The snowfall of Sunday will be a great benefit to the farmers and others who have wood to draw. It also will be a good protection to the fall wheat and clover left exposed by the recent soft weather.

BUSINESS ON ETHICAL LINES

Business Methods Committee Urges Practice of Rotary Principles Among Competitors.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

The meeting of the Rotary Club today was in the hands of the business methods committee, of which G. A. Gillespie is chairman. Mr. Gillespie outlined the duties of this committee, which include the collection and dissemination of information about proper business practices, the formulation of written codes for business use, and fostering the organization of craft societies in different trades, businesses and professions.

Code of Practices.

Mr. Gillespie dealt particularly on the necessity of a written code of practices in every business. He said that many customs and unwritten laws were not always ethical, specifying the wrongful designation of goods by the use of misleading trade-marks. By having a written code to hand to department heads and to new employees many unethical practices could be avoided.

It is the duty of the business methods committee of each Rotary Club, said Mr. Gillespie to foster and encourage correct business methods among the individual Rotarians, and in the business world. The responsibility for the first rests on the officers and committees of the clubs to provide proper information for their members, while it is the duty of the members to set an example by applying correct Rotary principles in their dealings with others to inculcate correct business methods. Local and larger organizations of crafts and professions provide an opportunity for the Rotarians to spread these principles.

To Advance Business.

The idea of these organizations has changed through the centuries, he said. Formerly their sole purpose was to foster the training of skilled workmen. Now the ideal is to advance everything connected with the business, trade or profession represented. Mr. Gillespie said that it was the duty of every Rotarian to belong to such an organization as they were of great good. Among things that had been eliminated was the old ruinous competition.

Translation of Ideals.

G. A. MacDonald, another member of the business committee, spoke on the translation of Rotary ideals into relations with competitors. He said that the old method of Might is Right, seeking to eliminate competitors by unfair methods, had passed. The ideal now is helpfulness and frankness. It has been found that helping one's competitor, advanced the trade and was equally beneficial to the helper. The old way of forcing a competitor out so as to have a monopoly resulted very often in someone buying up his stock at a sacrifice, and gave the stronger man a competitor with a smaller overhead to contend with.

The idea of service and live and let live was illustrated by the success of the United States Steel Company and the various oil companies, said Mr. MacDonald. Good relations between competitors were not only right, but are good for business.

J. W. MacDermid, president of the club, was chairman.

WINDOWS CRACKED AND CORPSE MOVED

Undertaker Startled — Woman in Bath Frightened Into Street.

ST. THOMAS, March 2.—Quite severe earth tremors were felt here about 9.30 o'clock on Saturday evening, but, other than a few cracked windows and dislodged bricks, little damage was done. The quake caused considerable panic, however. The tremors lasted about half a minute here, coming in what was like two waves, the first wave the more severe. Buildings rocked gently back and forward. One woman who was taking a bath at the time hurriedly donned a bathrobe and rushed out into the street, while an undertaker is reported to have become so startled when a body he was embalming started to move that he also made a hurried exit from his establishment.

Canada's Trading With United States Decreases

OTTAWA, March 2. —(Canadian Press). — Canada continues to buy less in the United States. In 12 months ending January, according to returns from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, imports from the United States were $518,000,000 decrease of $80,000,000 compared with the corresponding twelve months previous. Canadian Exports to the United States in the same period were $416,000,000, a decrease of six millions.

Members Eastern Star L.O.B.A. Stage Very Successful Function.

The dance and euchre party held last Friday evening at Victoria Hall, under the auspices of the Eastern Star, L.O.B.A., No. 525, was a very successful affair. Twenty-six tables of cards were played, and nearly a hundred enjoyed themselves in dancing, the music being supplied by Aitken's Orchestra.

Prizes for cards were awarded as follows: Ladies, first prize, Mrs. Gilmour; gentlemen, first prize, Mr. H. O'Neil.

The committee in charge was Mesdames Staples and Lockie, Misses Frost, Meldrew, Hill, Sexsmith, Davis, Trennum, Agnew Hartford, and Messrs. Freeman F. Brown, Bertrand, J. Brown, M. Sproats, Reynolds, A. Spenceley.

T. Sproats made a capable floor manager for the dancing.

LARGE ATTENDANCE ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Non-Union Presbyterians Heard Eloquent Sermons Morning and Evening.

The congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday —about three weeks now since voting out of the United Church — heard Rev. John McNicol, M.A., B.D., Principal of the Toronto Bible College, morning and evening.

That the choice of the Pulpit Supply Committee was appreciated was evidenced by the large congregations notwithstanding the bad weather conditions.

Rev. Mr. McNicol took for his text in the morning ,the first two chapters of the Book of Job. The subject of Job's afflictions was dealt with in an intensely interesting and convincing manner, the clear-cut phrases and soft, clear voice of the speaker acceptably carrying the message of Job's piety in the midst of trouble and sore distress. These anxious times in life of the Patriarch of that day, the speaker said, were brought home to present day life, where we fall down and away from the help and strength to be derived from following in footsteps of the Great Creator, and linking up the Old and New Testaments to show where God is supreme.

In the evening Mr. McNicol added another wonderful exposition of the Scriptures, this time taking as his text the 8th verse of the 3rd chapter of the Epistle to the Ephesians. Here the Apostle Paul tells of preaching "the unsearchable riches of Christ," his grace and love.

In a clear and comprehensive style ,the preacher dealt with the plan God had for his people of today, as in the days of Paul; how He gave his son as a propitiation for the sins of the world, and that God expected some sacrific from us if we intended to follow in His path.

The music for the day was of a high order, under Choirmaster Chenhall, at the evening service the ladies featuring the three-part chorus "Come Unto Me," with recitative by Miss Greta LeBarr.

Congregational Meeting.

Next Sabbath Rev. Mr. Lennox, from Knox College, will be the preacher, and a special congregational meeting is called at the close of the evening service.

The Presbyterians of the city who are making or intend to make St. Paul's their church home will be glad to know that Rev. John Inkster, of Knox Church, Toronto, has been invited ,and will conduct the communion services in this church on Sabbath, 22nd March.

CHICAGO RESPONSIBLE?

Perhaps Readjustment of Nature's Balance Compensated for Water Taken.

SIMCOE, March 2.—The earthquake tremors Saturday night a trifle before 9.30 were decidedly, although temporarily, alarming in many shops and residences. Fixtures in electric supply stores went gaily into dancing, china chattered in many homes, doors went ajar and walls rumbled. The impresison is probably abroad that the readjustment of nature's balance which took place should have been expected to compensate for the billions of tons of water taken off the Great Lake systems by the Chicago water theft. Throughout the day no broken gas pipes or leaks in the water system were reported.

ALLIES FIND GERMAN MATERIALS OF WAR HIDDEN IN SECRET SHOP

Walled Up in Steel Mills Containing Tubes to Be Made Into Cannon.

GAS FACTORIES

Germans Maintain General Staff and Could Mobilize a Strong Army.

PARIS, March 3.—The opinion of Marshall Foch and his colleagues of the Allied War Committee is that the report of the Military Control Mission shows that the Germans persis in their determination to maintain a complete staff of officers for an army such as existed prior to 1914. Also, the committee believes, Germany is educating not only officers and subalterns to this end, but, under all sorts of camouflage, is training enough young men to mobilize a strong fighting army whenever it wishes to do so.

This, the committee says in a written opinion, which the Ambassadors' Council is considering today, is of far graver inport than the discovery of unauthorized war material, although it is pointed out that the existence of illicitly manufactured rifles, machine guns and parts of cannon, emphasizes the seriousness of the situation.

Secret Shops Found.

Among the details of the control mission's report to which the military experts refer is the discovery in steel mills of secret shops walled up from the eyes of the indiscreet where are stored patterns and moulds for the most improved type of cannon, and even unfinished tubes that in a short time could be completed into guns ready to fire. Tips given by German pacifists lead to many finds of this sort, including more new rifles than would be required to arm the entire German army on the basis of Versailles Treaty.

Information given by workmen employed in chemical factories led to the finding of conclusive evidence that facilities for the production of asphyxiating gas have been left intact as they existed at the end of the Great War. The report on this point confirms evidence which the Allies have had for some time to the effect that the Germans had erected new factories that could almost instantly be devoted to the production of vast quantities of the most deadly weapon which the war developed and which had just begun to demonstrate how deadly it could be made when the conflict ended.

Military Staff School.

These discoveries, in the opinion of the military experts, are rendered all the more important by proofs of the existence of a military staff school and the training of young men of Germany for an amy such as that with which the country enterer the Geat War.

The opinion in diplomatic circles last evening was that the Ambassadors' Council will give both reports a sort of casual scutiny, and then the governments will discuss the idea of calling an Allied conference to deal finally with the matter. This conference probably will not be called until after the Belgian elections, as it would be held in Brussels.

QUAKE STARTED CLOCK.

Heirloom Had Not Run For Forty Years.

FREDERICKTON, N.B., March 3.—One of the peculiarities in connection with the local manifestation of Saturday's earthquake was the starting of an old grandfather clock which had not run for over forty years. The clock belongs to Mrs. H. H. Gunter University Avenue, and has been regarded as a precious heirloom. Several clock experts have inspected the clock from time to time, but although they found the mechanism perfect they were unable to succeed in making it function. Immediately following the earthquake the clock started to run.

IN EARTHQUAKE BELT

MONTREAL, March 3. — An earthquake analogous to the one recorded by the Jesuits in 1653, occuring Monday, would practically destroy Montreal, declared Dr. J. ustin Bancroft, professor of geology at McGill University, on Monday, in discussing Saturday night's disturbance. The professor said that Montreal was, in a sense, undoubtedly "in an earthquake belt,"—situated along the margin of the Laurentian Mountains, where there were a considerable number of crevices or "faults" beneath the earth's surface.

EXPLOIT BRITISH DRESS.

Company Being Formed to Sell Clothes of English and Scotch Fabrics.

LONDON, March 3—A company is being formed with a capital of $500,000 for the establishment in London and other cities of an exhibition for the sale of model dresses made from English and Scotch dress fabrics. The models will be sold to wholesale house and particulars supplied of the firms who made them so that wholesalers may then sell to the retail trade.

Trouble In Kurdistan A Religious Conflict

SAN REMO, Italy, March 3—Mohammed VI., former Sultan of Turkey, who is living here, in an interview Monday concerning the events in Kurdistan, expressed himself as being grieved over the fact that blood had been shed there.

"The abnormal state of affairs in Kurdistan" said Mohammed, "could not have been done otherwise than bring about the present bad situation. The trouble is due chiefly to the evident conflict between the present form of government and the deep religious sentiments of my people who are strongly attached to the traditions of their race and their history.

"May God protect those who work for the good of their country struggling along the sacred road of justice."

ALLEGES GOLD MINE "SALTED"

Witness in Winnipeg Case Said to Have Filed Gold Bars.

HEARING HELD UP.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—Introducing a witness alleged to have been engaged on several occasions by the defendant to file down gold bars for the purpose of salting the Bingo Gold Mine property the Crown caused a mild sensation in the preliminary hearing Monday of Joseph Myers managing director of the company who is facing charges of issuing false statements with intent to deceive.

Strenuous protest was lodged by defending counsel against taking evidence of the witness produced by the Crown. H. P. Blackwood, K.C., declared that the dice were loaded against his client, as the prosecution had access to private files of the accused, whereas he was debarred from seeing them.

Following a lengthy argument a remand was granted to Thursday for the purpose of arguing on the particulars desired by the defence.

TORONTO CITY TIES 8 ON CHURCH UNION 24

Summary of Voting Gives Each Side Twenty-two Congregations.

TORONTO, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Church Union and anti-Unionist forces in this city are placed on an even basis by the victory for the former in the voting by the congregation fo St. Giles Church, the result of which was announced last night.

A summary gives each side 22 congregations, this tabulation including all the churches within the city limits except missions and several on the borders of Toronto.

Unofficial figures for the Toronto churches are as follows:

Votes for union, 13,303.
Votes against union, 14,51.
Margin for anti-unionists, 1,128.
Total votes polled, 28,187.
Church membership rolls, 35,484.

COUEISM FOR CITY.

Citizens of Sheffield Talk Improvement of Trade to Bring Confidence.

SHEFFIELD, Eng, March3 (Associated Press)—A group of manufacturers is trying the Coue system on the populace by placarding the town with posters urging "Talk improvement," "Talk revival," in connection with trade. Even on the telephone exchanges there are posters urging people to "Talk prosperity."

The manufacturers claim that experience shows this policy is recommended by force of the increased confidence it begets, and to its adhesion is attributed the fact that conditions in the steel and allied trades have progressed during the past four years.

BAREFOOT IN SNOW.

Sarnia Man's Ordeal After Poker Game.

SARNIA, Ont. March 3.—Jules Laymere, a Belgian, is in the Sarnia General Hospital today with both feet badly frozen as a result of wandering through Sombra township shoeless at the week-end. Some mystery attaches to Laymere's ordeal, which is believed to have followed a poker game in Detroit in which he lost all his money. He was observed by residents of Sombra township Sunday and despite the condition of his feet he gave his would-be rescuers a chase before being caught. Constable Whiting brought him to the city where it is hoped to save his feet from amputation.

HUGE LOANS TO HYDRO ELECTRIC

Comparatively Small Sinking Fund to Provide Against Maturity of Advances.

CASH FROM ONTARIO.

TORONTO, March 3. —(Canadian Press). — The Province of Ontario has advanced one hundred and thirty eight million dollars in cash to the Ontario Hydro Electric system and has also guaranteed bonds of Hydro to the extent of forty two millions of dollars, and against this outlay there is less than five million dollars of sinking fund to date, according to Engineer Wyer report on Ontario Hydro enterprise to the Smithsonian Institute recently started a controversy with Sir Adam Beck, chairman of Hydro Commission.

Mr. Wyer is in Toronto to-day, and he has given to the Toronto Star some details on which he based his report to the Smithsonian Institute. He declares that his conclusion was based in figures obtained from Mr. Pierdon, accountant for Hydro Commission. Regarding his controversy with Sir Adam Beck, Mr Wyer says he has not made a statement that Gregory report had been suppressed but rather that all data in the report had not been passed on to the public.

Mr. Wyers figures supplied to the Star show $138,454,638.95 in cash advanced by the Province to Hydso and against this there stands a total sinking fund of $3,902,495.77. Against this investment of $42,000,000 which was raised on bonds guaranteed by the Province there is a sinking fund of about one million dollars.

Mr. Wyers also announces that the Chippawa development has cost to date seventy three million dollars.

PRIVATE BILLS PASSED TO-DAY

Acts of Incorporation and Town By-laws Approved By Committee.

CHURCH UNION MET.

TORONTO, March 3 —(Canadian Pess). — Private Bills committee of the Legislature got busy this morning and disposed of its menu in an hour.

Acts to incorporate the Township of Paipoonge in the Fort William district carried without opposition as did a bill to make Ripley in Bruce County an incorporated village. Another bill making valid the by-law passed by the town of Harriston, Wellington County, accepting a certain sum as payment of a debt by a manufacturing company to the town also passed. Notice was given this morning that the Church Union Bill would be considered by the Private Bills Committee on Monday, March 9 and other dates thereafter.

Credit of the Dominion Coal Co. Is Curtailed

SYDNEY, N.S., March 3 (Canadian Press). — The curtailment of credit at the Dominion Coal Company stores is not confined to Camps Numbers 2, 4 and 6, but is general throughout the district.

Notices suspending credit at all company stores in Cape Breton South, which includes over 14 mining towns and villages, have been posted.

DEPARTMENT IS NOT NEGLIGENT, ROBB DECLARES

Acting Minister of Finance Replies to Auditor-General's Annual Report.

ACCOUNTS GOOD

Only Small Amount in Audit Report Not Collectible, Robb Says.

OTTAWA, March 3. — (Canadian Press).—Hon. James A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, in a letter to Georges Gonthier, Auditor-General, replies to statements made in Mr. Gonthier's annual report which was tabled in the House of Commons early this session. Mr. Robb addresses his reply more specifically to statements made in the introduction of the report.

Mr. Robb states that he main reason for establishing the Board of Audit, of which Mr. Gonthier is chairman, was to standardize a system of accounting in Government offices, yet as a result of the Auditor-General's report this year, charges have been made that there was no standard system.

"It would appear to me," states Mr. Robb, "that your first duty as chairman of that board, would have been to have had such an enquiry made, and a report thereon furnished, and not to have set out in your report, the view that 'the effective control of public revenues and expenditures can only be effected gradually, and after you, as Auditor-General, are in a position to inquire into the system of accounting followed in the various departments,' this was the duty imposed by Parliament upon the Board of Audit and not upon the Auditor-General."

Mr. Robb's letter concludes:

"In view of the publicity given to these matters, I should like to have you write me a full explanation of the position you take in regard thereto."

It is understood that Mr. Gonthier is at present preparing his reply to Mr. Robb's letter.

The Minister's Letter.

In his letter to the Auditor-General, Mr. Robb says:

"I would like to call your attention to an article appearing on the front page of the Financial Post, Toronto, of the 27th instant, evidently founded on your introduction to the report of the Auditor-General, 1924. Prominently outstanding in the headlines of this article are two disturbing criticisms of my department.

"First, over $168,000,000 of past due accounts carried without investigation into collectivity. Of this amount, $154,696,040.89 is attributable to the Department of Finance and forms the major part of the total $158,,000,000 commented upon in your report, and in connection with which you expressed the purpose of having a careful examination made of the accounts involved to ascertain the degree of collectibility of such amounts.

"So far as the Finance Department is concerned in this connection it would appear to me that it would have been more fitting to have refrained from featuring in so prominent a manner in your report this $168,000,000 as being outstanding arrears, and by inference involving the Finance Department in being negligent in not looking after the interests of Canada, and intimating that this looseness would be a matter of careful examination on your part. If you had given a little thought to the services making up these arrears I cannot help but feel that you would have refrained from broadcasting to the public such misleading statements.

Outstanding Interest.

"$146,000,000 of the above amount is for outstanding interest on large amounts loaned to railways, forming part of the Canadian National Railway system; such interest is not charged up in our accounts against the railways as it is not expected to be paid until the railways may in the future as it is not expected to be paid until the railways may in the future be in a position to help out with their earnings. To have it otherwise would be washing one hand with the other, as it would mean voting that additional amount for the requirements of the railways.

"There is a further amount of $7,700,000 due from the Quebec Harbor Commissioners, which was one of the matters I asked the Audit Board, of which you are the chairman, to investigate and report upon as to the changes of recovery. I received the report of the board in this connection stating that an examination of the accounts of the Quebec Harbor Commissioners has been made and that it was not possible for the Commission out of their revenue to meet these interest charges.

"The Three Rivers Harbor Commission and the Montreal Turnpike Trust are in arrears to the extent of $379,407.56. The Montreal Turnpike Trust has been for some considerable time practically out of commission: in like manner so has the Three Rivers Harbor so far as the Finance Department is concerned.

Seed Grain Account.

"There is a remaining account, seed grain, Saskatchewan Government, $191,118.53. This is a large account and is subject to the terms

FOUND HIS BODY AT END OF ROPE

Secretary St. Catharines Lodge, Sons of England, Takes His Own Life.

BOOKS WELL KEPT.

ST. CATHARINES, March 3 (Canadian Press).—The body of J. Walter Legg, secretary of Victory Lodge, Sons of England, was found this morning suspended by a rope from the ladder in an ante-room of lodge quarters on Queen Street, where he had apparently hanged himself. The ladder was placed upon two cupboards and his feet were almost touching the floor, indicating that he had kicked a chair from beneath him.

No cause can be ascribed for the act, other than that he had been worrying over dullness of business. He conducted a shoe repair shop and was secretary of the Ontario Shoemakers' Convention. He was 56 years of age, coming to St. Catharines with his parents as a youth. He worked on his books in the hall till midnight, leaving with a brother officer of the lodge, and returning later. His books were complete to the last possible entry.

NOVEL BATTERING RAM.

Convict Smashes Open Gate of Penitentiary With Motor Truck—Recaptured.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 3 (United Press).—Using a heavy motor truck as a battering ram, Burton Carter, convict, crashed the big iron gate of Ohio Penitentiary today for a scant few minutes of freedom.

C. F. Bittac, a carpenter, who was passing the prison at the time, heard the cries of Deputy Warden Woodward, gave chase and captured Carter single handed.

Carter had left the truck, virtually wrecked, and was fleeing west on Spring Street when the carpenter overtook him.

JAZZLESS DANCING.

TOKYO, March 3. — (United Press).— This is no longer the "danceless Capital" of the world. During the Christmas and New Year holidays a movement was started again to have dancing at the Imperial Hotel. The Community Center, recently completed, also is vying with the hotel as the "social center of the Capital." So now the regular Saturday night dance at the hotel has returned after more than six months of idle week-ends, caused by the ruffians who broke up the dinner dance early in June last. But there is no jazz.

EVILS OF RACE TRACK BETTING TOLD IN HOUSE

Abolition of Gambling Machines at Canadian Racing Meets Urged by Members.

TWO AMENDMENTS

One Proposed the Prohibition of All Odds and Tips—Hits at Handbooks.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Abolition of "public gambling operations" in connection with race track meetings was urged upon the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by W. C. Good (Progressive, Brant) in discussing his resolution.

Mr. Good's resolution reads as follows: "That, in the opinion of this House, the special privilege now given to racing associations under the Criminal Code of carrying on public gambling operations in connection with their race meetings, is detrimental to the best interests of Canada ,and should be abolished."

The resolution was seconded by J. J. Denis (Liberal, Joliette).

Mr. Good said that the resolution was the same as one presented by him two years ago. He had put the resolution on the order paper again last year, "but owing to the Government taking private members' day quite early in the session, it had not been reached." He was not very easily discouraged by such a defeat as he had experienced two years ago.

"I believe that 'if at first you don't succeed ,try, try, try again,'" said Mr. Good, "so, I propose to give the House an opportunity of dividing on this resolution again."

The member for Brant said that he believed there had been some misunderstanding two years ago, when his resolution was before the House. On that occasion, Sir Lomer Gouin, then Minister of Justice, had informed the House that the Hon. W. E. Raney ,at that time Attorney-General of Ontario, had never asked for an amendment to the Criminal Code abolishing race track gambling.

Mr. Good said that Mr. Raney had asked repeatedly for such an amendment, but had not done so in correspondence which Sir Lomer referred to.

Handbook Evil.

Alfred Stork (Liberal, Skeena) declared that he was unable to support the resolution now before the House. Information was being published daily in certain newspapers, giving particulars of races in Miami, Tia Juana ,and Tampa and also particulars of the entries in those distant places for the races to take place the following day. The publication of this news was only for the purpose of assisting in carrying on the handbook betting. He proposed to move an amendment which would attempt to correct this condition as the evil to-day was not the racing tracks, but the handbooks.

Horse racing was an honourable sport. In England, there was the Derby Day, and the House of Commons adjourned on that occasion to take in the Derby. Lord Roseberry, a former Prime Minister, had won this big event and also the late King Edward VII.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labour, Winnipeg Centre) asked if it were necessary to mention the conduct of members of the Royal Family in this debate and Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon intimated that in doing so ,it was getting near dangerous ground, but he did not think any objectionable ground had been covered.

Connaught Park, Woodbine, and other places filled a necessary place in the public life of Canada in the opinion of Mr. Stork. "I am putting up a defence of the king of sports in Canada," he stated. He desired to see the racing tracks in this country and good clean sport perpetuated. There was no reason why the race tracks in this country should not continue as they are. Men like Sir Adam Beck and Sir Clifford Sifton had good stables and jumpers. Commander J. K. L. Ross the Seagrams, and the Giddings also had excellent racing stables; and he was bound to come to the conclusion that these filled a very necessary place in Canada.

Amendment Proposed.

Mr. Stork moved an amendment, that in the opinion of the House, legislation should be introduced during this session, to prohibit the advertising, printing, publication or sale of information concerning any tips, selections, odds, or similar intelligence with respect to horse racing, within or outside of Canada.

Mr. Good stated that he could not accept this as an amendment to his own resolution. He maintained that it dealt with a different part of the Criminal Code.

Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon ruled that the amendment should be accepted as such, and Mr. Good said he challenged the ruling.

By a vote of 74 to 66, the House sustained the ruling of the Speaker.

Liberals, with the exception of J. J. Denis, Joliette, and L. H. Martell,

It is expected the King and Queen will start on their trip to the Mediterranean sometime within the next two weeks.

QUEBEC COUNTS TOLL OF QUAKE

Three Women Died of Fright From Tremors on Saturday Night.

CHURCH COLLAPSED

QUEBEC, March 3. — (Canadian Press).—Three dead from shock, a stone Catholic church at St. Hilarion shaken to the ground, numerous fires and general consternation as people felt their homes quiver as though about to fall, and general damages to residences and other buildings which aggregate thousands of dollars, were part of the toll in the Province of Quebec, especially in the vicinity of the Saguenay and down the St. Lawrence River, of the earthquake which shook the north-eastern part of the continent Saturday night. The earth has apparently not completely settled back to rest, for places in the vicinity of the Saguenay report that the shocks have been continuing since Saturday, but that they were scarcely perceptible yesterday.

The deaths were all due to shock. Mrs. Alphonse Auger, of Quebec, a young woman and expectant mother, fainted at the time of the 'quake and died Monday morning. Mrs. Edgar Harvey, of Tadousac, and Mrs. Eugene Bureau, of St. Anne De La Parade, were the other victims.

Property Loss.

The home and store of Rene Gagne, at Hebertville, were destroyed with a loss of $25,000. At St. Felicien, the property of Cyprien Gagnon was burned with a loss of $20,000, and the College at St. Anne De La Pocatiere suffered damage of $10,000, all from causes attributed to the earthquake, according to information reaching here. Disorganization of telephone services make the gathering of complete information difficult.

The Canadian Government icebreaker Mikula, coming up the St. Lawrence River Saturday night, was shocked from stem to stern, and it was believed that she had struck some object or that something had happened to the engines. There were 85 passengers on board in addition to her crew, but Catpain O'Hearn shortly diagnosed the cause and quieted any nervousness.

It is reported that a number of fissures appeared in the ground at Yamachiche.

Damages to buildings in various places included fallen walls and undermining of foundations and supports. Considerable breakage of fragile dishes and house furnishings took place Many convents and churches suffered.

HOBBS ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY

Prominent Figure in London Rajah Case, Put on Trial.

FRAUD CHARGED.

LONDON, Mar. 3. — William Cooper Hobbs, the solicitor's clerk who figured prominently in the Robinson suit involving an alleged plot to blackmail the Indian Rajah Sir Hari Singh, pleaded not guilty and was put on trial before a jury in the Old Bailey Monday on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the Rajah and of fraudlently obtaining two checks for £150,000 each.

In outlining the prosecution's case, Travers Humphrey, the Crown Counsel, said the crown would not rely solely on the testimony of Montagu Noel Newton, a witness in the Robinson case, who turned State's evidence but would introduce other reliable evidence in an effort to convict Hobbs.

"I have no hesitation, he added, 'in saying that it would be much more grateful to us to see Newton in the dock than in the witness box if it were possible to prove the case against him."

Newton, the first witness called, repeated much of the testimony he gave during the trial of the Robinson suit and at the preliminary hearing in the Hobbs case.

CHURCH UNION BILL UP AGAIN IN LEGISLATURE

One of Most Important Measures to be Dealt With This Session.

GOES TO COMMITTEE

Monday's Sitting Less Than an Hour—Several Bills Advanced.

TORONTO, March 3 (Canadian Press). — The Legislature sat less than an hour yesterday.

The most important feature was the introduction of the Church Union Bill, one of the most important measures which will be dealt with at this session.

The introduction was purely formost of the discussion wil centre.

It is unlikely that any debate on it will be heard in the House, as the matter will be thoroughly threshed out in the Private Bills' Committee to which it will be passed for consideration.

Beniah Bowman (U.F.O., Manitoulin) got second reading for his Bill giving counties the right to pass by-laws setting the width for sleigh runners.

The Premier said he did not like the Bill, but allowed it to pass to the Municipal Committee which has dealt with and killed a similar Bill for seven or eight years past.

Treatment of Indigents.

Second reading was also given to the Bill providing that inmates in Provincial institutions may be removed to hospitals without the written order of a county judge.

The Bill also passed through committee where Malcolm Lang (Cochrane) brought up the matter of districts bearing the hospital costs of a non-resident found sick without funds in its boundaries. He thought the Province should look after such cases.

Premier Ferguson could not see the obligation stating that in new districts there were bound to be such cases.

Mr. Lang pointed out that these sick people never suffered, as somebody was always willing to bear the cost, but declared it cast a burden on the municipalities and on individuals which the Province should assume.

Second reading was also given a Bill amending the Workmen's Compensation Act whereby a widow living with a man, or a prostitute, could not get compensation under the Act. The Board is given the right of investigation.

The Union Bill.

The Church Union Bill is identical with that of last year, except that it includes the present vote being taken by congregations, and leaves the right of congregational propery governed by the majority either for or against the union. All other clauses are merely bringing the United Church so that it may function with the privileges and the rights of all churches now established.

The clause on general church property will be the one around which most of the discussion wil centre.

The Bill states that Knox College, Queen's Theological College, and Ottawa Ladies 'College "shall have the same connection with and stand in the same relation to the United Church as they respectively had and stood with any of the negotiating churches prior to the passing of the Act of Incorporation," and that all rights, power ,authorities shall be vested in the General Council of the United Church.

The Act provides for no distribution of general church property to non-concurring members of the Presbyterian Church.

Other clauses are just as last year re the carrying on of the church, the right of marriage, and numerous other small details.

The point of debate will be on the general property of the church to a portion of which the anti-Unionists will lay claim.

There may also be battle over the division of congregational properties where majorities are small.

BOYCOTT HOME GOODS.

Irish Patronize Foreign Manufacturers Rather Than Buy Home Products.

DUBLIN, March 3.—The Irish people have been boycotting their own goods, it was declared at a meeting of the executives of the Cork Industrial Development Association. Some few years back customers used to insist on Irish manufactures, but this is now exceptional.

The secretary commented upon a recent statement of Professor Smiddy in America that "Ireland is a creditor country rather than a debtor country," and that "Irishmen have a billion dollar investment in foreign countries drawing an income of about $55,000,000 a year."

The secretary argued that this export of Irish capital was suicidal and it was suggested that the government should put an embargo on further capital export.

MUST OBEY THE LAW.

Premier of British Columbia Threatens Doukhobors With Deportation For Failure.

NELSON, B.C., March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Warning that the Doukhobors would either have to obey the laws of British Columbia or that he, as Premier, would initiate steps for the deportation of those who defied the law, was given by Premier John Oliver last night to representatives of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood. He recalled that the Doukhobors had burned eight schools and had no children going to school at all. This situation, he said, could not be tolerated any longer.

FOCH REPORT DISCUSSED BY ALLIED COUNCIL

Violations of Versailles Treaty by Germany Charged by Commission.

ASK SUGGESTIONS.

Council of Ambassadors Convinced Germany Must Be Forced to Comply.

PARIS, March 3. — (Canadian Press). — Diplomatic negotiations arising from the report of the Allied Military Mission of Control on Germany's violations of the disarmament clauses in the Treaty of Versailles, bringing sharply to the front the question of the future security of France and Belgium, entered an active phase to-day. It came with the presentation to the Council of Ambassadors of the Allied War Committee's report on the state of Germany's armaments and armed forces.

Marshal Foch, who presented the report, had a long talk with Premier Herriot before the Ambassadors met and the Marquis of Crewe, British Ambassador, called on the French Premier just after the Ambassadors adjourned. These visits gave added importance to the Council meeting which was one of the briefest the Ambassadors ever held.

After hearing Marshal Foch, the Council asked that the Allied War Committee "make suggestions which it believes will be capable of assuring the disarmament of Germany, according to the Treaty of Versailles." This is understood in diplomatic circles as showing that the Ambassadors were already convinced that something must be done to oblige Germany to keep her engagements.

The talks Marshal Foch and Lord Crewe had with the Premier were partly with reference to the disposition to be made of the Foch report and partly to consider the question of an interview between M. Herriot and Austin Chamberlain, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, when Mr. Chamberlain passes through France shortly, either on his way to the League of Nations Council meeting at Geneva or on his way back.

Sister Kills Rector Brother to End His Agony After He Shoots Himself in Trying to Suicide

LONDON, March 3. — The Rev. Bettinson, vicar of Hunderton, near Leicester, was found shot in his study after celebrating early communion. He had received two wounds in the head and a bullet through the heart.

A strange story of his death has been disclosed. The vicar's sister heard a shot and hurried into the room to find him wounded.

She quickly telephoned for a doctor, but then went into the study with her brother and locked the door, refusing admittance to the housekeeper and neighbors.

A short time later another shot was heard and the sister came out of the study and calmly announced: "I asked him whether he wished to live but he did not reply. I saw that he was in the agony of dying, and so I shot him again to put him out of his pain."

She is being held by the police.

The sister has been certified as insane and was taken to an asylum.

ALBERTA TO GET OWN RESOURCES

Terms of Agreement With Federal Government Are Being Negotiated.

OTTAWA, March 3. — Terms of the agreement for the transfer to Alberta of its natural resources are now being negotiated between the Federal Government of Alberta, it was announced in the House of Commons Monday.

When finally determined the agreement will be submitted for approval to the Parliament of Canada and to the Alberta Legislature, it was stated in the House of Commons to-day.

'Have the people of British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island interest in the natural resources of Alberta and if so what is the interest of each Province?" asked Brig.-General J. A. Clark of Burrard.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior: 'So long as subsidies continue to be paid to the Province of Alberta, in lieu of the transfer to that Province of its natural resources it is obvious that the people of British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have an interest therein."

'Whether such interest would continue after the transfer of the resources in lieu of subsidy payments, and the discontinuance of such subsidy payments, is a matter which has not been made the subject of judicial determination.

"In the event of a transfer of the natural resources being made on the above terms, if any Province should feel that it had a claim arising therefrom, such claim would have to be considered on its merits and should not be an obstacle to the settlement and to the control of natural resources between the Dominion Government and the Government of Alberta."

Gen. Clark was further informed that no agreeemnt had yet been reached for a transfer to Manitoba and Saskatchewan of their natural resources.

LOOK FOR LIBRARY HIDDEN BY IVAN

Soviet Government Starts Excavations Under Kremlin to Find Manuscripts.

MOSCOW, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—The Soviet Government today took steps to excavate under the towers of the Kremlin for the famous hidden library of Ivan the Terrible (1530-1584), said to include 800 volumes bound in pure gold and many Arabian, Persian, Assyrian and Byzantine manuscripts and parchments of priceless value.

The existence of such a library has been known for centuries, but its precise location has never been accurately determined. Peter the Great in 1721 made an effort to find the library, but the excavating work had to be abandoned because of physical difficulties. Similar efforts have since been made without success.

BAD FIRE AT SAULT.

Hotel Destroyed With Total Loss of $40,000 This Morning.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Mar. 3.—(Canadian Press).—The loss of $40,000 resulted from a fire which destroyed the Grandview Hotel here this morning. The fire started at 3 a.m. The structure is a frame one, and has been standing for many years. The origin of the fire is not known. The guests of the hotel were able to save most of their belongings.

WEALTHY COPPER MINE OWNER DEAD

Ex-Senator William Clark of United States Died at New York.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Former United States Senator William Andrews Clark, who built one of the great American fortunes on a foundation of copper, died of pneumonia at his residence last night. He was eighty-six years old and had been ill only a few days. Senator Clark, whose wealth is veriously estimated at from $75,500,000 to $100,000,000, had remained in active command of his extensive business interests almost to the last.

Born at Connellsville, Pa., he studied law after academic schooling but instead of entering the legal profession became a school teacher. The gold rush lured him to Colorado and then to Idaho. He arrived at Bannack, Idaho, in 1863 with a capital of $5 after a prairie schooner journey of 65 days.

There he became a successful teamster, miner, merchant, railway builder and capitalist. He made his first $1,000 sluicing gold, bought a mule team and freighted provisions for the miners.

At one time he took a government contract, carrying mails from Missoula, Montana, to Walla Walla, Washington, a journey of 400 miles.

FOLEY DEFENDS BANTAM TITLE

Vancouver Boy Beat Mayberry in Ten Round Bout Last Night.

OTHER BOUTS.

TORONTO, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Vic Foley, Canadian bantam weight champion, sucessfully defended his title for the second time since he lifted it from Howard Mayberry of Hamilton in Vancouver last December, at the Coliseum last night, when he accommodated Mayberry with a return bout over the ten-round route ,and the Vancouver boy demonstrated to a large crowd of fistic fans that he is entitled to wear the crown.

While there was not a great difference in points between the two at the end of the ten rounds, there was no doubt as to the winner.

Foley weighed 118 and Mayberry 115 1-2 pounds.

Other results: Cliff Graham, Toronto (138 1-2), won from George Smith, Toronto (135 3-4), a knock-out in the second round of a six-round bout.

Jimmie Britt ,Montreal (117 1-4) obtained the judges' decision over Elmer Wall, Toronto (119) after six rounds.

Chris. Newton, Toronto (134) obtained the judges' decision over Kid Belt, Denver, Colorado (130) after six rounds.

Art Weigand, Buffalo (160 1-4) won from Harry Henning, Toronto (160) by a knock-out in the fourth of a six-round bout.

Referees: Elwood Hughes, Toronto, for first three bouts; Lou E. Marsh for the last two bouts.

Judges: Major J. McGowan and W. Armstrong.

SHOOK BARBER'S RAZOR.

Montreal Man's Experience During the Earthquake.

MONTREAL, March 3 — Pierre Peaudry had a narrow escape from serious injury when Saturday night's quake shook Montreal, for Pierre was being shaved in a barber shop on St. Catherine by a nervous barber, who at the first shock, started violently while holding his razor over his customer's face. The keen blade just missed Pierre's ear, shaving a fair-sized portion of hair from behind it without drawing a drop of blood. To-day Pierre was proudly displaying the bare spot.

DEMANDS ANOTHER BOUT.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 3. — (Canadian Press).—Joe Dundee, Baltimore lightweight, demands another bout with Charlie O'Connell, of Cleveland, who was awarded the decision in their contest at the lightweight championship elimination tournament in New York last week. Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, insisting that his charge was robbed of his laurels, yesterday posted a forfeit of $1,000 for a fight with O'Connell in this city.

PLAYER REMANDED.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 3. — (Canadian Press).—Nelson Stuart, Cleveland, Ohio, hockey player, charged with assault and battery, failed to appear in Municipal Court here Monday, but declared in a letter that he would return at the close of the hockey season to answer the charges. He was granted a continuance to March 23.

Stuart was arrested Saturday on complaint of H. Kasten, a spectator, at last Tuesday's hockey game with St. Paul.

BRINGS HOME TWO MUMMIFIED HEADS

New York Man Brought Inca Indian Heads From Paraguay.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Arriving yesterday on the American Legion, which was eight hours late due to a storm of cyclonic proportions last Sunday, was Robert L. Ripley, New York artist. He brought two mummified Indian heads which he had obtained in Paraguay. Mr. Ripley said he paid $55 and $60 each for the heads which were of Inca Indians, preserved by filling them with sand. The hair continues to grow.

WANTS STRONGER ARMY.

Trotzky's Successor Advocates Preparedness For Nation.

MOSCOW, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Since taking over command of the Red Army from Trotzky, War Minister Frunze has been warning Russia against danger of attack from European Powers, and urging an increase in the Bolshevik forces.

Speaking before a conference of Communist members of the army, the new War Chief said the present strength of the organization, 562,500 men was insufficient for mobilization purposes in the event of attack. For the reason Russia must enlarge her territorial forces.

"Our Red Army must not be regarded as merely a regular army," he said, "but as an armed nation ready at any moment to take up arms and enter battle. We must make our army such that at a moment the command can send to the battlefield millions of well-trained fighters."

MUST BRING IN GAMBLING LAWS

Amendment Passed Requiring Introduction of Legislation on Racing Tips.

WOULD FORBID SALE.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—After an all day debate and four divisions the House of Commons, at half past twelve o'clock this morning approved, by a vote of 108 to 74, an amendment calling upon the government to introduce legislation this season "to prohibit advertising, publishing, broadcasting, printing or sale of information concerning any tips, selections, odds or any similar intelligence with respect to or applicable to horse racing, whether held within Canada or without, unless where supplied on a race track in Canada during the course of a race meeting legally held."

There was no division on the main motion, but a last minute amendment, moved by J. L. Brown (Progressive, Lisgar) designed to prohibit the publishing or distribution of racing odds or tips at any time was defeated by 92 to 77.

An earlier amendment moved by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox, Alberni) calling for the abolition of the pari mutuel machine had been lost by a vote of 97 to 86.

TWO YEARS IN PEN FOR JAIL BREAKER

Parry Sound Man Who Beat Up Turnkey, Goes to Kingston.

PARRY SOUND, March 3. — Clifford French, alias James Fraser who broke out of Parry Sound goal on February 24th and was re-captured the next day, was brought before Magistrate J. D. Broughton yesterday morning and after pleading guilty was sentenced to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary in addition to four months for breaking into an ice cream parlour at Barnesdale.

EVILS OF RACE TRACK BETTING

Hants, voted solidly for the Speaker's ruling.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and the majority of the Conservatives and Progressives, opposed the ruling.

The amendment having been declared in order, R. J. Woods (Progressive, Dufferin) pointed out that the resolution moved by Mr. Good did not interfere with horse racing. It merely interfered with the operation of pari-mutuel machines. It was an effort to safeguard the youth of Canada, and the vast majority of churches and organisations for moral reform stood behind the resolution. He believed in healthy sport, said Mr. Woods, but gambling developed none of the good qualities in human beings.

Creating Thieves.

"Gambling creates thieves," stated Mr. Woods; but he wanted to qualify that statement in this way. He did not wish to say that every individual who gambled ,either in gambling houses or on horse racing was, as a result, turned into a thief; but it did have the effect in a great number of cases.

Men had reached their hands into the tills of their employers and spent the money they had stolen on horse racing.

Horatio C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West) thought that the amendment was a "subterfuge." He intended to vote in favour of Mr. Good's resolution.

T. Findlay (Progressive, Bruce South) said there was no desire to prohibit good clean horse racing. A great moral issue was, however, at stake ,and the question was before stake, and the question now before the House had considerable to do with the formation of character.

Mr. Findlay said that should the Senate see fit to throw out the measure if passed this year ,they would have a great deal to answer for in the country districts.

A. W. Neall (Independent Comox-Alberni) moved an amendment to the amendment of Mr. Stork, which would prohibit the use of pari-mutuel machines on race tracks in Canada. Mr. Neill explained that he believed his amendment combined into one the best features of the resolution and the amendment.

Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon asked that his ruling be deferred until aftre the dinner recess.

A. F. MacLean (Liberal, Prince Edward Island) said it apepared that there were attempts to confuse the issue. The main matter should be dealt with, and the publication of racing news and other minor matters could be handled later.

E. J. Sexsmith (Progressive, Lennox and Addington) declared gambling was a disease which led to the abandonment of honest toil. He favoured the original resolution.

J. L. Brown (Progressive, Lisgar) was in favour of the sub-amendment of Mr. Neill, opposed to the amendment of Mr. Stork, and in favour of the original resolution.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL BY-LAW AIMS AT PURE MILK SUPPLY

License Fee is $5 and Penalty For Infringement Up To $25.

TO BE APPROVED.

Bill Will Be Submitted to Department of Agriculture For Approval.

1 CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 3.—The Town Council met for its regular meeting on Monday night in the Public Library.

Members present: Reeve Davidson, Councillors Abernethy, Cole, Moore, Kingston, Wiggins and Southworth.

In the absence of Mayor Meyers, Reeve Davidson took the chair and presided.

Accept Resignation.

A communication from R. T. Cowell handed in his written resignation as bandmaster of the Northumberland Regiment Band.

It was moved and seconded by Councillors Kingston and Abernethy that his resignation be accepted, dating from February 1st, 1925.

Though the Band Commitee a few weeks ago accepted Wm. Pearson's application as bandmaster, subject to the approval of the Council, nothing was done as the matter was not brought up at all during the evening.

A letter from the Firemen's Association of Ontario, asking that this Council pass a resolution to the effect that it will write a letter to the Provincial member, asking him to support a measure to come before the Legislature in the near future, providing for the volunteer fire force that it may come under the Compensation Board. On motion of Councillors Kingston and Abernethy the Clerk was instructed to write to Major Belford, asking him to support this measure. Carried.

A letter from London and Toronto Councils was read re the increase in price of gasoline and oil; a resolution that petitions be sent to the Attorney-General, asking him to investigate as to the cause and to endeavor to find out if there is a combine in these so that the prices are soaring. The Council was asked to co-operate with London and Toronto and endorse their resolutions.

On motion of Councillors Abernethy and Cole, the Clerk was to send, the required endorsation to both places. The matter of amending the inland revenue tax and exempt receipts, cheques and notes, was read from the Municipal World, asking that Councils take up the matter. After a short discussion, nothing was done in the matter.

A communication from S. F. Bidgood, asking that some lumber be paid for. The lumber, it was said, was taken from his premises and used on the corporation sewer work and the amount asked was forty dollars. On motion of Councillors Wiggins and Southworth, the matter was left in the hands of the road and bridge committee, to investigate and report at the next regular meeting.

Firemen's Request.

A petition was read from the members of the fire brigade of the the town, asking that some changes be made in the organization at Campbellford. Some of the suggestions were that there be a chief, assistant chief, and twelve firemen, and a schedule was given for their salaries. chief $75, assistant chief $60 and each fireman $50, and when their services were required for more than a stated time, they get paid by the hour. Another suggestion was that three more fire alarms be put in each ward and that some of these be put in the home of the firemen, so that the alarm might come in through the telephone office.

After discussion, Councillor Kingston moved, and Councillor Cole seconded, that a committee of three be appointed to take the matter up with Chief Davidson. Councillors Moore, Southworth and Wiggins were appointed the committee, with Councillor Moore as chairman.

Delegations.

Delegations were heard. The first once, Mr. W. H. Ashton, Mrs. A. Haig and Mrs. R. Weston, a committee from the Campbellford chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, waited on the council regarding the war memorial. Mrs. Ashton, the Regent, said, that the Order had nearly fifteen hundred dollars laid aside for this purpose, and with the thousand that the town had apportioned, she thought it was high time that something be done in the way of a memorial. The Daughters of the Empire on the whole favored a monument, and they were hoping that one would be erected this summer. Two sites were suggested for the monument, one on the government property at the corner of Front and Mill Streets, where the long looked-for post office will in the future be built, or else on the grounds of the government dock on the canal on the west side of the river. Mrs. Haig said a few words as to the site.

Moved and seconded by Councillors Wiggins and Cole, that the Mayor, Councillors Kingston and Southworth, be a committee to meet with the committee from the Daughters of the Empire, and bring suggestions and reports on the war memorial at the next meeting in March.—Carried.

A deputation from the Seymour Agricultural Society was present, composed of John Locke, the president, N. Stone, secretary, and T. J. Horkins, one of the directors.

Mr. Stone asked that the Council give them a grant as they did last year. He said the society had spent $3,000 during the past three years in new buildings on the grounds, and that now it is compulsory that separate sheds be built for those having tested cattle.

Mr. Locke said that the Fair at Campbellford is improving every year ,and that it is the desire of the officers and directors to make it one of the best.

Mr. Horkins suggested that if the merchants and manufacturers of Campbellford would send in a good exhibit, it would help the town, and that they should have a Campbellford building for the merchants needing it.

Moved and seconded by Councillors Kingston and Wiggins, that this Council give the usual grant of $250.

An amendment, moved by Councillors Moore and Southworth, that the amount granted be $300.

The votes were three for the amendment and three against, so that Reeve Davidson, in the chair, had the casting vote, deciding in favour of the $300 grant. .. ..The delegation were very pleased that they were granted $300, an increase of $50.00, and thanked the Council very heartily. ... ...

Mr. Horkins also brought up the matter of their field day on the 24th of May, but as that date is Sunday, the 25th was decided upon.

Mayor Meyers is one of the directors for the fair for this year.

Extend Drain.

J. W. Sweet was present with the request that the Council extend the water main and sewer on Concession Road up to his property, a distance of about 400 feet. He said that the property owners would do the excavating and filling in if the Council would do the rest.

Moved and seconded by Councillors Wiggins and Southworth that this extension from the main be made up Jane Street.—Carried.

Mrs. C. W. Turner and Miss N. M. Hoover, the auditors, brought in their report, and submitted it to the Council.

Moved by Councillor Kingston, and seconded by Councillor Abernethy, that this report be accepted and turned over to the Finance Committee to be reported on at the next meeting.—Carried.

Milk By-law.

Some considerable time was taken up with the milk by-law, which had ben prepared, governing the sale of milk, the care of it, the sanitary conditions of the stables where the cows are kept, getting the milk from tested cattle that are free from tuberculosis, and naming a license fee of five dollars to those who sell..

Councillors Kingston and Abernethy moved that the fee be five dollars, and Councillors Cole and Moore moved an amendment that it be one dollar.

The motion carried.

It was decided on motion that the penalty for breaking these rules in the by-law be a fine of from $2.00 to $25.00.

The by-law had its second reading, and will be sent to the Department of Agriculture for approval, and will be submited to the Minister of Agriculture.

Another by-law was brought before the council regarding Market Street and Oliver Road sewer. Councillors Southworth and Moore moved and seconded that this by-law be left over till next meeting, unless the mayor sees fit to call a special meeting. Mr. Kingston brought up the matter from Mr. Wood, the treasurer, suggesting that he be allowed one hundred dollars a month to tide him over in paying emergency cases and charity. Moved and seconded by Councillors Kingston and Cole that Mr. Wood be allowed this amount. Carried.

The pay sheet, which had been submitted to the finance committee was read.

Moved and seconded by Councillors Kingston and Wiggins and carried, that the following accounts be paid, and orders drawn on the treasurer for them:

D. J. Lynch, retainer's fees, $50; Harry Seaborn, police duty, $6; Ed. Henson, $3.90; Belle Telephone Company, $6.71; Howe and Hagerman, $1; Geo. O'Sullivan, charity, $13.12; J. C. MANY ATTACKS ON PRESIDENT

Fascists Circulate Anti-Ebert Pamphlets and Monarchist Press Continues Attacks.

REDS ALSO ATTACK.

(By Carl D. Groat — United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, March 3.—A street fight between the Fascist and members of the Reichsbanner, the Republican organization, occurred in the Potsdamer late to-day after the Fascists had refused to stop selling anti-Ebert pamphlets containing vile caricatures of the late President. The Government's School Board today began an investigation of reports that pupils at the Frederic William Gymnasium had a dirty handkerchief at half-mast on hearing of Ebert's death.

A section of the Monarchist and Communist press to-day continued attacks on the dead President.

The Communist party issued a proclamation, opening its Presidential campaign despite efforts of the Government to relegate politics to the background, pending Ebert's funeral. The proclamation was largely given over to a fiery denunciation of the late President, and included demands that the working people rally round the political flag of the Communists.

"Ebert is dead," the proclamation read. "Down with the Ebert party. Join the Communist party. Ebert's mass terrorized thousands of proletarians to be murdered and tens of thousands to be hurled into jails.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

The Ontario Good Roads Association has finally approved the proposed 3-cent tax on gasoline—an action that will strengthen the Government case in the imposition of this tax.

At present there is keen opposition from the Motor League and other organizations—opposition that is quite natural under the circumstances.

No tax is popular, and the advent of a new levy is always particularly obnoxious especially to those who are hardest hit.

In this particular instance the chief burden falls upon the motor car owner; the public generally may indirectly have to pay a portion, but the motorist bears the full brunt, and naturally he doesn't like it.

The man who doesn't own a car can see the wisdom of the tax at once; he has no difficulty in convincing himself that it is merely common sense and ordinary justice that if these million dollar roads are to be built and maintained for automobilists to go dashing around the country over, then the men who do the dashing should also foot the bill.

He cannot see why he, not using the highways at all, should be compelled to go down into his pocket for money to help build good roads for the other fellow, and so he welcomes the tax as a business-like and simple way of seeing that the roads are paid for by the people who use them the most.

A CHALLENGE.

The Examiner has frequently warned temperance organizations that they have been falling down in what should be one of their chief objectives, the education of the public, particularly of the new generation, as to the folly of intemperance.

Prohibitionists have made and are making the mistake of folding their arms and saying in effect, if not in actual words,

Ontario is dry, this I know;
The O. T. A. has made it so.

Yet it was announced in the Legislature the other day in answer to a question that the Government dispensaries had sold liquor to the value of $877,000 in this Province last year.

That represents a lot of liquor taken "for medicinal purposes," and if you add to that total the money paid for liquor sold by bootleggers and cap it with the expenditure for native wine, strong in alcoholic content, and the amount spent for the ingredients that keep the home breweries working, the grand total would run into a sum that would be entirely out of joint with the conception of a bone dry Ontario that some people seem to have.

The temperance forces should not expend all their ammunition on 4.40 beer; there is a consumption of liquor, obtained in one way or another in this Province, that challenges the dry cohorts to go back to the methods with which they fought their enemy in the days when there was no Ontario Temperance Act.

ALBERTA COAL.

Once more the question of Alberta coal is making itself prominent, and this time it is to be hoped that some definite action may be taken to make it possible for the Western fuel to be sold to the Ontario consumer at a price within reason.

Of the quality of the Alberta coal there is not the slightest doubt; those who have used it have been delighted with it.

The quantity is practically limitless.

The full wants of Ontario can be filled by the Western coal-fields for centuries.

The coal is of the best, the supply is endless—all that remains is to secure a sufficiently low freight rate to allow this Province to be stocked at a price comparing favourably with that paid for coal brought across the border.

It is estimated that the annual business that would be produced by a proper development of the situation would be in the neighbor of $20,000,000.

That money would stay in Canada; most of what we pay for coal in Ontario now goes out of the country.

At the same time it is estimated that work would be provided for 10,000 more men in the Alberta coal regions.

If Canada can render herself independent so far as her coal supply is concerned, keep $20,000,000 a year from getting out of the Dominion and provide employment for 10,000 more men, is it not time that this fuel question received more sincere attention?

A MEASURE OF RELIEF.

Mr. F. G. McBrien's bill to increase the exemption on assessments for municipal income tax purposes for each dependent of the taxpayer has received its second reading in the Legislature and will undoubtedly be carried.

It is a measure of relief for the class of citizen upon which the burden of taxation presses most heavily.

At present payers of municipal income tax are exempt from assessment to the extent of $200 for each dependent.

Mr. McBrien would have the exemption raised to $400, and while this figure may not be accepted as desirable, it is certain that there will be an increase in the exemption.

The man with a large family finds the task of carrying the heavy handicap of taxation, municipal and otherwise, a most arduous one, and will hail with delight the prospect of being relieved to a considerable extent of the income tax he has to pay to the municipality in which he lives.

Conditions are such as to cause any measure of assistance to be eagerly received, and Mr. McBrien's measure will find plenty of support, both in and out of the Legislature.

An exemption increase, by the way, is the only kind of an increase that has any chance to be popular these days—unless the increase in the strength of beer can be mentioned in that category.

The 4.40 beer is getting more advertising than the famous brands of other days—and getting it for nothing.

"EAST WANTS WEST TO BUY MORE."

Under the above title the Calgary Herald recently published an article which was, in effect, a complaint by Eastern business interests that the West was not giving preference to the manufactured products of Ontario and Quebec.

The letter, reproduced below, was written by A. H. Ingrey of Wayne, Alberta, in reply to this article. The attention of manufacturers, shippers and business men generally is directed to the statements contained in the letter. It presents arguments why it is to the advanage of Eastern Canada to support the West in any action that would facilitate the marketing of Alberta coal in Ontario. It may be taken for granted that every dollar diverted from the United States to Western Canada for coal would be returned to the East in payment for the manufactured products the West need and would readily buy—if it was in a position to do so.

Behind those few words lies a tragedy, and the East has the solving of the question in its own hands.

The West wants to be able to buy more from the East, but while the East persists in sending its good Canadian money to the States by the millions of dollars a year for coal, which they can buy in the West, then so long will the East be looking to the West for business—and not getting it.

The East has the majority in our Dominion House of Parliament. Let them unite and find the nigger in the wood pile.

Presuming that two million tons of coal were taken from the West, starting right now. Average price of coal, say, $4.50 ..... $ 9,000,000.00
Freight rate, $6.00 ..... 12,000,000.00

$21,000,000.00

Twenty-one million dollars coming West, or most of it anyway, instead of going to the States.

In the coal mining industry, about two-thirds of the proceeds goes to wages, and on the freight question, a large proportion also goes the same way.

Wages money is the quickest moving money in any country, and two million tons of coal is only a small quantity of the coal needed in the East. With the market assured, development of the Western coal fields would proceed apace, providing more work, more wages, more carloads of food, clothing, supplies, machinery, etc., from the East, more homes and contentment in the West, and the Canadian National would get a large proportion of the 12 millions in freight during the period of slackness.

The writer has seen many letters from large firms in the East, expressing great satisfaction with trial carloads of coal shipped under special freight rates of last year, and asking for more, in large quantities, as soon as a freight is established. Their customers want more. They use the coal, they pay for it, so they must be satisfied or they would not ask for more.

Yet—someone has been hiring experts to say to the world that Western coal is no good—WHY?

An expert is a strange animal. You can hire one to swear any way you want him to apparently. Look at the court cases. One will swear a man is insane, another that he is not—just according to the side that pays him.

Therefore, who is paying the experts to say that Western coal is no good, when the man who buys it, burns it, says it is good and wants some more? WHO?

That there is some political nigger in the coal pile somewhere is very plain. It is up to the majority of Parliament members to find him, and dig him out, so that our country is not bled white by Wall Street and other interests who bar American coal to Canada.

Ask yourself a few questions and write down the answers so that you can thoroughly digest them:

Would American politicians and citizens see millions of dollars going to Canada for coal while their mines were idle and men out of work? Ans. .....

Would America allow coke to be dumped without duty from Canada to compete with their own coal business? Ans. .....

The answers are not hard to fill it.

Look at duty on Canadian wheat.

Look at the duty on Canadian cattle.

Look at the various embargo clauses covering everything that remotely touches American manufacturers or their products in any way.

Where are our politicians—the men who are elected to look after our interests and paid in Canadian money for the work? It is a well-known fact that one of our Canadian railroads, whose stock can only be purchased in New York funds if bought by Canadians, since the days of the war, is equipped with boats and freight lines especially for hauling American coal and coke to Canada in immense quantities.

It is also well known that they are not in position to compete with the National line—the Canadian peoples' railroad—in hauling coal from the West to the East, owing to the National trunk line being built without grades, enabling the National to haul greater tonnage per train than their competitors.

These points are worth deep consideration, as they possibly have a great bearing on the question.

A threat of cutting at other points by other interests if the coal rate is given by the National would be a very serious matter, (that could be overcome by the Parliament—if they wished to do it) if such a threat were made. One cannot say it has been made, but, in looking for this nigger one must consider everything that might be done.

The National can haul Western coal East at $6.00 per ton and make a profit——Yet——

Today, after exactly three months' run, in spite of the extremely cold weather, the Western mines are closed for want of business. Hundreds of men are laid off for the season, millions of dollars' worth of equipment lying idle, millions of dollars of Eastern money going to America, and the East asking the West to buy!—Can anyone imagine a more tragic jest?

Right now is the time for this question to be settled, not by lobbying, not by political pull, not by the big interests whose interests are not Canada—but—by the citizens of Canada, East and West combined in one force. It would mean development, employment, immigration, beyond the ordinary man's dreams, if the people would only get down to brass tacks and work it out, and stay with it until the question is settled in the right way. Do not be talked out of it by experts. Let the people who burn the coal decide. If they do not want it, they will not buy it, but if they do want it, then let them have it.

A THOUGHT.

AND THERE YOU ARE

After you decide what you consider is success, then it will be less troublesome to tell you how to make it.

If "success" means to you plenty of money, there are plenty of ways to get it.

If "success" spells to you a more prominent position, you will find fewer routes.

If you consider good health, the respect and confidence of your neighbors, a comfortable income, considerable responsibility, a happy family, plenty of self-respect—if you call this "success," you are defining more than most of the successful men ever enjoy.

If it is your ambition to keep advancing, here are four short suggestions that may help: Integrity, first. Interest, second. Industry, third; then Thrift.

The man who is honest will be kind and fair. The individual who is interested in his work will be wanted. The one who is industrious will earn more. The one who is thrifty will save more. And there you are.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, March 2.—Strong active market in all sections, with prices 10c to 15c higher. There was rather keener competition among the exporters than usual, the two principal exporting firms taking over 1,000 cattle for New York, Liverpool and Glasgow.

The butcher trade was active and prices for anything of fair, decent quality, steady with last week's advance, to 10c to 20c higher for real choice quality.

Small meats steady to 50c higher.

Hogs strong and 25c higher.

Prices in the various sections are as follows:

Export cattle, choice and heavy steers, $7.50 to $8.40; bulls, $4.50 to $5.25; heifers, $6.50 to $7.25; stores, $6.00 to $7.

Choice butchers, $7 to $7.75; medium, $6 to $6.50; common, $4.50 to $5.50; baby beeves, $8.50 to $9.00.

Choice fat cows, $3.50 to $5.

Stockers and feeders, choice short-keep feeders, 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. $6.75 to $7.25; choice stockers, 850 to 950 lbs., $5.50 to $6; light western stock, $4.25 to $4.50; choice western, $6.25 to $6.75.

Calves firm.

Sheep and lambs firmer.

Hogs, higher at $11.50 f.o.b.; $12.50 off cars; selects, off cars, $2.22 per head premium.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press). — There was no improvement in the export business in Canadian grain here yesterday, and the demand from local buyers was also of a very limited character.

An easier feeling prevailed in oats and prices for some grades were lower, with Ontario No. 3 white quoted at 65 cents and No. 4 grade at 63 cents per bushel ex-store.

The trade in spring wheat grades of flour was quiet, and prices were unchanged. Little business was transacted in winter wheat flour.

Extreme dullness marked the trade in millfeed, but prices were steady.

The demand for rolled oats was quiet.

Owing to the continuing downward tendency of prices for eggs in the United States markets and the liberal offerings from that source, a further weakness prevailed in the Montreal market, and prices scored another decline of two cents per dozen.

The tone of the butter market continues strong, and prices were marked up another half-cent per pound.

The undertone to the cheese market was firm, but the trade was inactive.

Beans were quoted at $2.70 per bushel.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Prices are lower as a result of heavier receipts and lower prices in the United States. Ontario country shippers are paying extras 32, firsts 28, seconds 26, and making sales of extras 35, firsts 32, seconds 30 f.o.b.

It is reported that a Vancouver firm has an order for 1,500 cases of eggs for shipment to New Zealand, but owing to some difficulty in securing refrigerated space from the steamers, it is doubtful whether these eggs will go forward.

A trial shipment of 25 cases of fresh extras were shipped to New Zealand last May. These arrived in very fine condition, and gave such good satisfaction that the same firm placed this order for 1,500 cases.

Toronto jobbing specials 43, extras 41, firsts 38, seconds 34.

Montreal extras jobbing 43, firsts 40.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday, as follows:

Sterling demand—$4.75 3-8.
Sterling cables—$4.76 3-4.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 3 (Canadian Press). — In an erratic but active session of trading wheat prices yesterday closed on the bearish side, May having slumped two cents to $2.04 7-8, while July at $2.01 declined 1 5-8 cents.

The market opened firm and with a good class of buying in evidence, prices advanced to the peak mark of $2.09 1-2. On the bulge there was considerable liquidation, causing a fractional decline.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Wheat prices underwent a sharp break yesterday after the May delivery had reached as high as $2.02 a bushel, the first time prices have touched $2.00 or above since the recent tumble to $1.77 1-2. Yesterday's decline was associated with a dearth of new export business and with the fact that a decrease of the United States visible supply total proved to be less than had been looked for.

Wheat closed nervous at 3 1-4 cents net lower to 1-8 cent gain, May 195 5-8 to 197, and July 170 1-4 to 170 1-4 to 3-8.

Corn finished at 3-8 to 7-8 cent off.

Oats also were 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 cents down, and provisions showed 10c to 50c advance.

Big profit-taking sales accelerated the break in wheat values, but only after the market had given an impressive display of strength due largely to unofficial estimates that domestic farm stocks of wheat, 112,000,000 bushels are the smallest in twenty years, with one exception.

Other unofficial figures indicated only 52,000,000 bushels of wheat left for export from this country and for carryover at the end of the next four months after all owing for domestic milling and seed requirements.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

TUESDAY, MARCH 3—If today is your birthday, you will be known as a sincere and true friend. You will be inclined to be rather delicate, and your health will not always be the best. Despite this the chances are you will live longer than many other people who appear in robust health. This probably will be due to the fact that you will not worry about your health or anything else.

FLU BANS KISSING

LONDON, England, March 3.—(United Press).—The influenza kiss has come to Britain again. Rather, it is the influenza-non-kiss. Owing to the flu epidemic here, physicians all over England are urging a ban on kissing. A football match was called off the other day on account of flu.

GERMANS FEAR RACE SUICIDE.

BERLIN, Mar. 3—(United Press)—The German capital is concerned by a new trend in its vital statistics, which show that Berliners are marrying less, dying more, and bearing fewer children than hitherto.

In the last two years the births have been at the rate of ten per thousand while the deaths have been around twelve per thousand. In 1920 there were 53,000 marriages in Berlin, while last year there were only 30,341, or a decrease of 25 per cent.

BITTERNESS AT BIER OF EBERT

Political Hatreds, Quickly Aired, Presage Storm to Break With Funeral.

ABUSE THE DEAD.

BERLIN, March 3. — Even the majesty of death scarcely is able to hold in check the inter-party political hatreds for a few days while the nation is mourning at the bier of the dead first President of the Republic.

All signs indicate that the tolling of bells on Thursday throughout the country, marking the closing of the grave over Friederich Ebert, son of the people, will be the signal for the opening of the bitterest campaign of hate between political parties ever seen in Germany.

President Ebert, who, with marvelous tact, sagacity, impartiality and firm tenacity all these years managed somehow to keep the country's equilibrium, is gone. As yet there is no one in sight to fill his place.

Opposition Ugly.

Former Chancellor and now Prussion Premier Marx is being groomed as the candidate of the Moderate parties, while the Nationalist groups on one hand and the Radicals on the other have agreed thus far among themselves only on assailing any one who is put up by the Moderates.

The tactlessness and bad taste of a small part of the press of every party, in trying to make political capital out of the death of the President, reveal that political passions hardly can be held in leash until after Thursday.

The political and mental complex of Germany, in its present stage of transition, when the glories of the one-time monarchy still are unforgotten, with republicanism slowly taking deeper root, was shown. When all the world was sending messages of condolence and sympathy to the President's widow and the German people, many of the Nationalist papers cannot refrain from indirect mud-slinging and are harping that Ebert still stands accused of treason, and that high officials in his own Socialist party and in the regime under him are involved in gigantic graft and corruption, though nothing was proved against him personally.

"It is a cowardly maxim that one shall say only good of the dead."

So says the Rote Fahne, official Communist organ, adding:

"That does not count for us, particularly at this grave moment. Fritz Ebert was the personification of treason and counter revolution."

Then the Rote Fahne delivers a tirade of abuse of the dead President.

New Storms Forecast.

The Nationalist papers are much more restrained, presenting nothing to compare with the Communist attack, but they make it clear that the sound of earth upon the President's coffin as it sinks into the grave will be the beginning of the rumble of new political storms in Germany for the reins of power.

The Presidential Palace on Wilhelmstrasse in the centre of the city, formerly the royal palace of Prince August, the former Kaiser's fourth son, was the magnet which to-day drew a large part of Berlin's population of more than four millions. Beginning early this morning tens of thousands of people converged upon Brandenburger Gate, in Unter Den Linden, drawn by curiosity or to do homage to the dead President. Hour after hour a veritable stream of humanity flowed in both directions through the narrow Wilhelmstrasse.

No Cavalry Guard.

Within the German "White House" in the big diplomatic reception room banked with flowers and wreaths, Friederich Ebert lies in a simple dark casket with nickel trimmings. Four non-commissioned officers of the Reichswehr, Germany's National Army, relieved every half-hour, hold death watch.

ACCIDENTS TO TWEED PEOPLE

Wood Cutter Caught on the Flywheel and Badly Shaken and Cut.

FELL INTO LAKE.

TWEED, March 3.—On Saturday last a painful accident happened to one of our local boys, Mr. Daniel Benn, when he was sawing wood at his home in the village. The machine he had was one of the machines with the old-fashioned belt shift worked by a clutch on the main fly wheel. He was about to shift the belt when a portion of his clothing caught in the fly-wheel and he was lifted clear off his feet and whirled about on the fly-wheel. He sustained no internal injuries, but was severely cut about the face and body.

Another accident occurred on Saturday, when Mr. Felix Courneyea, who was driving his team from the village to Stoco, on the lake, had the misfortune to have his team get into the water along the shore, which was caused by the recent thaw. The water here was about five feet in depth. Neither Mr. Courneyea nor the team were hurt, the only damage being that one horse got a severe shaking up from its fall as it fell completely in, and was got out with considerable difficulty.

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up-stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RADIO IN ARGENTINE.

Now Hard to Find House Without Antennae on Roof.

BUENOS AIRES, March 3.—The radio craze has grown to such proportions in Argentina that one can hardly find a house without radio antennae on its roof. It is estimated that the country's population of only 9,000,000 is now buying radio outfits at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 annuallly. American manufacturers probably feel the majority, but there are also in the market German, English, French, Italian, Belgian and Argentine radio sets.

The Radio Club Argentino, organized about a year ago, by amateurs and experimenters, now has a membership of 900. In Buenos Aires, there are four broadcasting stations, one of which is mutually maintained by a group of importers, dealers and local manufacturers of radio material, who organized for the purpose the Association Argentina de Broadcasting.

A radio exposition to be held in Buenos Aires in May or June has been projected by the Radio Club Argentino in order to raise funds for a club house and experiment work. They are inviting exhibits from all countries.

MORE IDLE TONNAGE.

Many British Cargo Boats Unable to Find Any Employment.

LIVERPOOL, March 3. — The poor state of the shipping industry is shown by figures published regarding idle tonnage at some of the principal ports during the quarter ended December, 1924, as compared with the previous quarter. Liverpool shows the biggest increase with 50,000 tons more idle than in the October quarter; Hull increased by 39,000 tons, London 30,000, Glasgow 28,000, Bristol 19,000 and Leigh 10,000 tons.

While the general run of cargo boats are not able to find unemployment for the moment, shipping authorities here take pains to explain the big increase of idle shipping in the Mersey does not indicate that the industry is getting worse, but that during the quarter several big Atalntic liners were in dock undergoing repairs or overhaul preparatory to long pleasure cruises.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

OUR NEWSPRINT NOT USED HERE

United States Uses More Than Canada, Although Production Almost Equal.

LARGE EXPORTS.

Comparison of consumption of newsprint in Canada with that of the United States brings out some interesting information, and has a bearing upon the use being made of Canada's pulpwood forests, says the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior.

Last year Canada produced 1,352,994 tons of newsprint, of which 1,219,384 tons was exported principally to the United States. Canada used only 132,610 tons.

The United States produced 1,471,000 tons of newsprint, and imported 1,192,699 tons from Canada and 156,000 tons from European countries. Exports amounted to about 17,500 tons, making a total amount available for consumption of 2,800,000.

Canada has, according to the latest newspaper directory, 114 daily papers with total average daily circulation of 1,646,000 copies. With a population of 8,755,853, as shown by the last census, this gives a daily newspaper for ever 5.1 of the population.

The United States has 2,300 daily papers, with an estimated aggregate daily circulation of 33,000,000 copies. On the basis of the population figures of the 1920 census, 105,711,000, a daily newspaper is provided for every 3.2 of the population.

Per capital consumption of newsprint also shows a much higher ratio in the United States as compared with Canada. In 1924, using census figures of population, the Canadian consumption of newsprint was 30.3 pounds, compared with 53 pounds in the United States. This greater per capita consumption can be accounted for largely by the larger number of pages contained in the United States metropolitan dailies. United States newspapers with circulation in excess of 100,000 average 28 pages in daily editions and 103 pages in Sunday editions. In Canada the average size of daily papers would not exceed sixteen pages, although in the larger cities this is considerably exceeded.

Thus it will be seen that we have fewer daily paper per capital, our papers are of smaller size, and our consumption of newsprint is less, yet last year we came within 118,000 tons of equalling United States production. In addition to the 1,192,699 tons of newsprint we supplied to take care of their huge consumption, Canada's forests provided 1,330,250 cords of pulpwood and 691,443 tons of mechanical and chemical woodpulp.

WOMEN'S PRAYER DAY.

Annual Gathering at Campbellford Was Exceptional in Every Respect.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2. — The annual women's day of prayer for missions was held on Friday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The attendance was exceptionally good, despite the cold and windy day. Mrs. Robt. Bell, Queen Street, president of St. Andrew's Missionary Society, presided. In her opening remarks of welcome to the ladies of the other denominations, she spoke with regret of the absence of two ladies on account of illness, Mrs. J. P. Archer, president of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church, who sprained her ankle badly, and was absent on that account, and Mrs. Fred. Dinwoodie, one of the oldest members of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society, who is very will at her home on South Rear Street.

Among the platform company were the presidents of the church societies: Mrs. D. Mason (Baptist), Mrs. Jenkins (vice-president,, Anglican), Mrs. Arthur Cassan (Salvation Army), Mrs. George Oliver (Methodist).

After the Scripture lesson, prayers were offered for all ministers, officebearers and members; for mission boards, missionaries and mission fields; for the home; for educational work; for the Canadian school of missions and schools of missionary preparation; for those who influence public opinion; for King, country, and Empire; for world fellowship.

During the afternoon solos were rendered by Mrs. De Carroll, Miss N. H. Hoover and Miss H. Atkinson. Mr. Pearson, Miss Payne and Mrs. Turner were the accompanists.

A large number of ladies from Burnbrae and Rylstone, as well as others from Seymour, were expected, but on account of the storm they were unable to attend. The meeting was an inspiration, and very helpful to all present.

10,000 TEA PARTIES.

Thousands of Society Women Entertain to Aid Women's Hospital in London.

LONDON, March 3.—Ten thousand tea parties are to be given in London in celebration of the thirty-fifth birthday of the Elizabeth Garret Anderson Hospital, which is raising a fund of $375,000 for improvements. The institution was founded by a woman for women and is run by women.

The parties are to be held during March, April and May and many well-known hostesses have promised to entertain at their home to aid in collecting any amount from a farthing to as many pounds sterling as their guests care to give.

Fingerprint Babies Before 24 Hours Old

GENEVA Switzerland, March 3.—(United Press).—A law has been passed by the authorities of the Canton of Argovie that all babies must be weighed, measured and their fingerprints taken within 24 hours of birth.

Thus Swiss nurseries become a sort of gigantic rogue's gallery, with finger prints of babies and suckling infants all on record.

The law is in consequence of a case which was tried at Feldkirk, in the Tyrol, recently, when the magistrate gave a "Solomon's judgment." Two boys, both one year old, were placed by their mothers in a children's home, and one of them died while being bathed.

Both mother's claimed the surviving child. The judge compromised, after considerable difficulty, and though he did not follow the precept of Solomon, he gave the custody of the boy to the mother alternately.

When he becomes three years old, a group of medical experts will be called to settle the case definitely.

DEPARTMENT IS NOT NEGLIGENT

of an agreement between the Dominion and the Saskatchewan Governments in connection with seed grain advances to settlers. As repayments are made by the settlers to the Saskatchewan Government, the Dominion is, according to agreement, relieved to that extent. Your tabulation of arrears shows this as a live account and collections being made as per agreement. For instance, in 1922-23, you show $291,000 odd outstanding, and in 1923-24, $191,000 odd outstanding, so that some $100,000 must have been received by the Department.

"In glancing over the account set out in your statement of arrears as controlled by other departments of the Government, I especially notice under National Defence, an item of $638,808.45, being arrears due for aid given to civil power. This evidently refers to charges on municipalities, etc., calling for the aid of the militia in the matter of strikes. It may be that there are difficulties in the collection of such amounts, but I am convinced that it is not owing to negligence on the part of the Department of National Defence.

"There is also an amount of $399,999 odd appearing under the same department on account of arrears owing by the Imperial Government. My experience in handling Imperial Government accounts has been that no trouble will be incurred, and I am persuaded that your services in this connection could not have been advantageously made use of.

Other Active Accounts.

"With most of the other accounts there appears to me, on the face of them, to be no need for alarm, as they seem to be active accounts and may be taken as owing at the time the public accounts of Canada were closed at the end of the year, but good and likely recoverable.

"There are, I see, some few accounts, amounting in the total to a very small sum, that are probably not collectible, neither by the Department concerned, nor could you, so far as I can see, render any assistance as these are very old, outstanding, uncollectible accounts and should not be included in the list of arrears due.

"Substracting the amounts which I have dealt with from the total as set out in your report, without any modifying remarks, there will be found only a very small amount in comparison which is outstanding and not collectible.

Handling Securities.

"Second another prominently featured headline reads as follows: 'No examination of securities carried in by (Sic) Finance Department, the largest banking office in Canada.'

"This is a very damaging statement to be put out to the public, and I believe most uncalled for. The system of the handling of securities in the Department of Finance was closely examined a few years ago by one of the most outstanding accounting firms in Canada, Messrs. Edwards, Morgan and Company, of Toronto and other cities. At the conclusion of their audit and examination the present system of the Department was adopted, and I feel confident that it cannot be challenged successfully. The Department claim that they have the most up-to-date system for safeguarding the interests of the public in this connection.

"I do not mean to take the stand that the Department would not welcome any further suggestions, which would be gladly judged on their merits, but even though the Department has a high standing, both with our financial and other business institutions, such a criticism in one of our financial papers is rather disturbing.

"I have no reason to have anything but the fullest confidence in the Department of Finance.

Duty of Board.

"There is a further headline featured, 'No standard system accounting in Government offices.' This was rather feared by the Government and was the main reason for establishing the Board of Audit, of which you are the chairman, and the first duty of the Board, as called for by section 8 of the Board of Audit Act, was to 'inquire into, and report upon, the present system of audit as respects the public accounts of the various departments of the Dominion of Canada, and make such recommendations as may be deemed necessary or useful for the more effective control of the public revenue and expenditure.'

"It would appear to me that your first duty as chairman of that Board would have been to have had such an inquiry made and a report thereon furnished, and not to have set out in your report your view that the effective control of public revenues and expenditures can only be effected gradually, and after you, as Auditor-General, are in a position to inquire into the system of accounting followed in the various departments,' this was the duty imposed by Parliament upon the Board of Audit and not upon the Auditor-General.

"In view of the publicity given to these matters, I should like to have you write me a full explanation of the position you take in regard thereto."

STANDARD RAISED.

British Army Now Rejects 82 Per Cent of All Applicants.

LONDON, March 3.—Of every 100 young men who applied to join the British army during 1924, about 82 were rejected as physically unfit, it was announced recently by recruiting officers. This compares with 35 percent in 1912 and 58 percent in 1923.

Authorities disagree as to the cause, some contending the increase in the proportion of rejections was due to a raising of the standard when men come up for examination.

MILKMEN READ BETWEEN LINES

"Please" and "Thank You" on Notes Makes Cold Mornings Warmer.

LEARN OF PEOPLE.

Notes to the milkman are usually the height of epistolary informality. They are written, for the most part, with a stub of a pencil and on any scrap of paper that happens to be in the kitchen. Yet there is at least one milkman who maintains that he has learned about people from this careless correspondence.

"I don't look for love letters in the bottles," he said, "but a friendly word or two on the note makes me feel that the person who writes it knows that it is a human being who stumbles on the dark verandah at 4 on a zero morning and leaves filled bottles for empty ones.

"I have a fairly clear picture in my mind of the woman who writes, 'Dear Driver, please leave a half-pint of heavy cream and a pound of butter. Thank you. Apt. 3C.' I think I could also recognize the woman who scribbles 'Cream, butter' on a piece of brown wrapping paper. It often takes me a good minute to make out those two words. If more people would write 'please' and 'thanks' on their orders, it would make some of these bitter cold mornings seem warmer."

771 POSITIONS ARE ABOLISHED

Government Paying Nearly Million Annually in Gratuities to Retired List.

OTTAWA, March 3. — (Canadian Press).— The government has been enabled to abolish 771 positions through the public service retirement act (of Calder Act), according to the report of the Civil Service Co-operations of the Act, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday. The summary of the report shows the number of retirements, positions abolished, the cost of gratuities and annuities.

As a result of 2284 retirements the government has paid out in cash gratuities $413,165.64. This was a final payment made to employees who were not eligible to receive annuities. The sum of $575,731.85 covering the two month's salary gratuity, which is considered equivalent to the two month's leave of absence with pay usually granted to an employee who resigns from the service. The Treasury is now paying out in annuities approximately $945,460.85 annually. From the commissioners' report it appears that a saving of $471,376.76 has been effected by the operations of the Calder Act.

Retire at 70.

The report states: The new Civil Service Superannuation Act passed in 1924 aims primarily to continue the improvement in the public service commenced by the public service retirement act and the tendancy of clinging to the office is controlled by a compulsory age of retirement fixed at seventy, on March 31, 1924, there were in the service, 731 contributors to superannuation funds under the act of 1898. These have an opportunity, states the report, of coming under the new Act, and many have done so. "The comissioners hope that the service as a whole will avail itself of this new measure and by electing to come within its terms, indicate their appreciation of the action taken by parliament, after many years of agitation.'

In 1924, retirements effected under the Act which covers Civil Servants who are not contributors to any superannuation scheme, numbered 995, of which 307 were seventy years of age or over; 424 were between sixty and seventy, and 264 were under sixty years of age. Of the 995 vacancies created, 734 have been or are being filled, and the remaining 261 have been abolished. The salaries of the positions abolished by the operation of the Act, from July 1st, 1920, to November 1st, 1924, amounts to $1,186,126.89.

DEFEND SAXOPHONE.

London Critics Say Jazz Artists Brought Instrument to Disrepute.

LONDON, March 3 (Associated Press)—A good word at last has been said for the saxophone. Quite a number of letter writers to London newspapers have come to the defence of the instrument and by argument and facts have endeavored to shift the onus on to the jazz saxophonist—and not the instrument itself.

The saxophone was not an accident by any means, it is explained in the Star, having been invented by Antoine Joesph Sax, born at Dinant, Belgium, November 6, 1814, the son of a reed instrument maker. He studied at the Brussels Conservatoire of Music and his proficiency on both the flute and the clarinet became marked. There were many opportunities for Sax to become a musician of note, but he preferred to return to the bench.

Moving to Paris in 1824, Sax produced the first "saxhorn" in 1843. In 1846 a soprano saxophone was manufactured and patented, followed by the family of the alto, tenor and baritone saxophone. Sax, however, failed to profit by his work and at the age of 82 he died penniless and pretty well forgotten even in musical circles.

DRIVING FEAT RECALLED.

Race to Nome Reminds Alaska Doctor of Race to Iditrod in 1921.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 3. (Associated Press)—Establishment of a speed record for a relay run of 650 miles by dog team from Nenana on the Alaska Railroad to Nome, on the Bering Sea, recalled to Dr. J. B. Beeson of this city a trip he made in 1921 to Iditarod, a former Alaskan gold camp, 600 miles. Anti-toxin to fight a diphtheria epidemic was carried on each journey.

"One of the most marvelous bits of skill I ever saw was exhibited between Cripple and Iditarod, 120 miles apart," said Dr. Beeson. "One musher's team of half-wolves, unbroken, ran away. For 25 miles they sped through timbered country while the driver clung to the handle bars of his sled, avoiding an upset by quickly shifting his weight from runner to runner.

"One of the greatest dangers to drivers of fast dog teams in low temperatures is to be thrown from the runners. A driver keeps on trying to balance from runner to runner until the cold makes him so numb he cannot move. Then he may fall off and may be miles behind before an upset stops the team. It is very easy to freeze to death then."

CHURCH DESTROYED.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., March 3. — St Gertrude's Roman Catholic church was destroyed by fire here Monday morning. Defective electric wiring believed to have been the origin of the blaze. The loss is placed at $50,000 and is said to be not more than half covered by insurance.

MAN'S BRAIN IS GROWING SMALL

Scientist Says Men Will Not Develop Into Super-Intellectuals.

LESS NEEDED NOW

By JOHN GUNTHER

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, England, March 3 (United Press).—Sir Arthur Keith, like many other distinguished men of science, looks forward as well as back.

He is an anthropologist—the kind of scientist who searches the dim perspective behind man's life to discover the secrets of evolution.

Looking back in this fashion, Sir Arthur has made himself one of the greatest of British scientific careers.

When he looks forward he finds things almost as interesting.

Basing his surmises on these things he knows of the past, he prohecies about the future of man, with facts at the bottom of his predictions.

"The man of tomorrow," he said, "will in all probability not be a creature all intellect, as has often been suggested.

"Instead he will have a strong constitution and will retain a lot of the animal in him."

This was one of the statements made by Sir Arthur in his recent course of lectures before the Royal College of Surgeons here. Later he amplified it in an interview.

He pointed out that the hyper-intellect causes its owner more pain than pleasure, and suggested that if all human beings became hyper-intellectual, the end of the race might rapidly ensue.

It is the animal instincts, he said which kept men alive.

He scouted the theory of visionary novelists that we would have one day a superman composed all of intellect.

"Whatever may really happen in the future," he said, "I think we may take it as certain that man will never develop into a huge-brained fellow, living on pellets of energy and occupied only with abstruse mathematical problems.

"Man's brain through the ages has been getting smaller and smaller.

"We have grown upon the accumulated knowledge of our forefathers There are fewer and fewer problems to tackle. In each generation we need brain power less.

"Nature saw to it that if man's brain were to be all intellect he would make him too conscious of human frailty and weakness.

"When we were given the capacity to reason, we lost much of our animal powers of intuition. But one still finds intuition highly developed in some people, notably women.

"I mean it in no lerogatory sense when I say that women have been left a larger share of intuition than man, because they have a smaller intellectual capacity. I don't suppose we shall ever see a woman with the brain of a colossus.

"Neither a purely rational man or a purely rational woman would be able to exist—for long. As it is, we use only a small portion of our brains. The animal instinct is always strong and is getting stronger."

Sir Arthur Keith is the Conservator of the Museum and Hunterian Professor at the Royal College of Surgeons.

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are pleasant to take, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat. You can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet with fear of bad effects. Get a box and start getting slender now.

TRADING SUSPENDED.

Market in Rome Objects to Government's Decree.

ROME, March 3. —The Stock exchanges of Milan and Rome on Monday decided to suspend all trading as a protest against the government's Bourse decree which goes in effect to-day.

The new Bourse Decree was issued on Saturday by the Ministers of Finance and Economy. It requires brokers transacting business in futures to demand cash to the extent of one-quarter of the current price of the security dealt in.

LIFE OF TOMOFF, DICKSKI AND THE PROFITEERS IN MOSCOW

Correspondent Kuh, Returning to London From Moscow, Gives Inside View of the Life of the Citizen of Soviet Capital—May Uncover a Secret and Exclusive Story of How the Czar Met Death.

A CITY OF ASTOUNDING BEAUTY

By FREDERICK KUH.

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 3.—(United Press).—Most Americans expect some sensational disclosures from a correspondent who has just come from Moscow. They know that Soviet Russia is under censorship, and this whets their appetite for gossipy, creepy, startling revelations.

The enterprising correspondent may select his own "sensations." He may uncover a secret and exclusive story of how the Czar met death by having his imperial beard plucked out, hair by hair; or he may publish the purported letters of a romantic commissar to the daughter of the Grand Duke Ivan Itch, who should preferably be an international spy; or again, he may bare the satanic plot of the Red army to invade New York through a submarine tunnel from Leningrad, simultaneously instigating an uprising in the Bronx.

The titles, from which the imaginative correspondent may select at random, enjoy a wide range, such as: "The Kaiser of Bolshevia, or the Red Baby-Killer"; "The Scalps on Trotsky's Belt, or How Leo Got His Start in Life"; "From Errand Boy to Commissar, or the Red's Revenge."

As the market has recently been glutted with products of this particular school of Russian fiction, I am here devoting myself to disclosures of another sort. Let there be no disappointments! The reader who seeks these revelations the thrill that will lead him to glance timorously beneath his bed tonight, may put aside this story now.

It is the simple "How and Why" of life in Moscow under the Soviets on which I intend to throw some light. How do Tomoff, Dickski and Harrivitch live in Moscow? What are they thinking? What are their hopes? And how does their existence compare with that of our own Toms, Dicks, Harrys and Harrietz? These are a few of the questions that need illumination.

It may be said at the outset that the Moscow citizen's fate depends on whether he falls into the class of "worker" or "bourgeois." If he is a private business man and an employer of labor, he may live in comfort and luxury, though he can expect few favors from the Soviet authorities. His life is a pitched battle with the tax collector, who is prone to tax him upon what his income might have been, rather than what it is. Then, too, he is engaged in a perpetual struggle to obtain from the authorities the licenses and facilities necessary to his profit-seeking ventures. Soviet policy towards the private trader or manufacturer, ruthlessly repressive during the first four years of the revolution and malevolently neutral during the next three, has now assumed a new complexion. It has been found that state-owned or co-operative business grew too rapidly and artificially to be sound and efficient, and it has been decided that the private dealer and capitalist in Russia shall enjoy more freedom and opportunity to revive trade and commerce. The Government intends to keep its hold on foreign trade and on key industries at home. But beyond these, "bourgeois" shall have increased scope for his business enterprise.

Oddly enough, even during the period now drawing to a close, the Nepman, or profiteer, has frequently managed to amass ample profits to live in ease and luxury. Many of these Pariahs dwell in splendid apartments, retain governesses for their children, heap their dining-tables with luscious morsels and esoteric wines, and pass crimson nights around the card-table or dancing, in recondite gambling-rooms or "private" voluptuous cabarets. Such excesses are frowned upon by the communist "morals squad." Often a warning to the profligate "bourgeois," if disregarded, is followed by severe punishment, even banishment to some Siberian wasteland. But despite such handicaps, the jaunty Nepman continues to have his fling; and now that the Soviets are adopting greater leniency toward him, the Nepman is hopeful of "more and better" flings in days to come.

The worker does not enjoy these indulgences; his life is simple and often hard. But compared to his existence in the "good old days," it is freer, more comfortable and happier. He works six instead of ten or twelve hours a day. He has scores of outlets for his leisure, which were unknown to him formerly. His clubs have their libraries and reading-rooms, musical evenings, dancing and games. Through his trade union, he may buy tickets to theatres, movies and concerts at reduced prices. He finds cheap, healthy accommodations at a socialized summer resort. While the Nepman and foreigners pay fantastically high rents, he receives his room or two for a trifling pittance. Though his wages seem paltry, compared to the American scale, their purchasing power is enlarged through innumerable privileges, extending from low rent to curtailed prices at his co-operative store. While his life in the factory and at home affords him little variation and no extravagance, he has more chances to escape from humdrum routine than ever before.

To the foreigner in Moscow—unless he be a favored "fraternal delegate"—life is extremely expensive and often replete with annoying red-tape. The rent he pays usually depends upon what the traffic will bear. In private shops and at the bazaars, he is a lamb to be shorn until he retreats bleatingly; though in Government stores and co-operatives, the prices are fixed. In theatres and restaurants, too, he pays dearly for the privilege of carrying an outlandish passport. He must comply with rigid police regulations, reporting to the aliens' department at frequent intervals.

The fact that many foreigners in Moscow have abused their residence there for dubious political, military or economic "activities" causes the innocent visitor to atone for the culprits' transgressions.

But for all these restraints and inconveniences he may, if he will, find endless compensations. Moscow itself is a city of astounding beauty. The spectacle of golden today from Vladivostok, Russia. cupolas, jagged spires and bluish roofs of the Kremlin, silhouetted against the flaming skies at sunset, is unforgettable. The burly backdriver's bellowing cries of warning to careless pedestrians; the tinkling sleighs skimming along the snow-laden street on a sharp, wintry morning; the slouching peasant with his oxen-cart, trundling hay to the market, only to sell it in return for a pair of boots; the peel of a thousand church bells in the clear air of a Sunday at Yuletide; the processions and parades of red-scarfed children, singing revolutionary songs; the thud-thud-thud of the Red soldiers' tramp along the cobblestones, as they swing and sing their way to the garrison; the pleading melodies of a gypsy minstrel, sighing tunes of Romany to the students in the grey courtyard—these are indelible impressions, full of color and sheer romance, and the welter of everyday politics vanishes in this living Moscow kaleidoscope, like a drop of water on a hot stone.

EYE SCALDED BY ESCAPING STEAM

Geo. A. Charlton Suffered Painful Accident at Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, March 2. — On Friday morning Mr. Geo. A. Charlton, who is employed on the drill scow working below the locks, met with a very painful accident when his right eye was scalded by escaping steam from a pipe. At first it as feared that the sight was gone, but later developments proved that it was not as serious as was feared. Mr. Charlton, however, has a very sore eye, which is receiving medical attention.

Bible Society Annual.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society will be held in the Queen Street Theatre on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Rev. J. S. Harrington of Toronto will give an illustrated address on "China and Its Work."

Owing to the storm on Friday, the hockey match between Warsaw and the Firemen was postponed, as the roads were unsafe for the Warsaw team to make the trip. The game between the Business Men and the Girls' team will probably be played this week, having been postponed from last week owing to bad weather.

SNOW AIDS WOODSMEN.

Worth Thousands of Dollars To Quebec Industry.

SHERBROOKE, March 3. — The snowfall of Sunday and early Monday was worth thousands of dollars to the lumbermen in this district. Owing to the long thaw it was feared that the lumberjacks would be unable to get a great amount of cut lumber out of the woods before the Spring weather set in. However, the recent snow has made sleighing possible again.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through the hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

APSLEY HOUSE ROCKED.

Northern Hamlet in the Area of Disturbance.

APSLEY, March 3.—Several people here report having felt the earthquake on Saturday evening, the best account of the terrestrial disturbance being given by Dr Shepherd. He was lying on his bed reading when he felt a distinct tremor shake the bed, followed directly by a second, and he thinks there was a third, a very slight one. He looked at his watch and found the time to be 9.20. The doctor knew as soon as he felt the first tremor that it was an earthquake, he having had the experience before. He was in Trenton, Tennesee when the big earthquake practically destroyed Charleston in 1886. Several people in George Stevens' store felt it distinctly shaking the building, while a heavy chain over the door swung and rattled. Mrs. J. Downing, who was sitting at home, declares the house rocked, and she swayed in her chair.

End of Masculine Fashions Near, Modistes Decree—Wave of Reaction From Extreme Styles Has Set In.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—The eternal feminine has reasserted herself!

Slowly emerging from a period of boyish bobs, masculine silhouetted flat busts and all the rest, woman—Lovely Woman—is soon to blossom forth in all her pristine feminity, frills and ruffles and all. But with this difference, mark you, she'll be prettier than ever!

Thus will Madam Alla Ripley, modiste presiding over the spring fashion show and convention of the Fashion Art League of America at Chicago March 16 to 19, describe what she terms the "style reaction" which close students of fashion have been anxiously watching for more than a year.

Madam Ripley, in addition to being one of the leading modistes of America, is president of the Fashion Art League, comprising 2500 American modistes devoted to the development of distinctly American art in the fashioning of dress.

"Styles do not follow cycles," says Madam Ripley. "They follow spirals, and never quite touch the same spot twice. The present era of mannish styles was wholly without precedent and is directly attributable to the outburst from the restraint and discipline of war time.

"Styles reflect truly the state of the public mind. During a radical period of unrest, widespread law violation and freedom from conventions, our styles have reflected the prevailing spirit. Women have taken more liberties in dress in the past six years than they did in the preceding two hundred years.

Wave of Reaction

"And now a wave of reaction has set in all over the world. Conservatives are in power not only in America but in England, Italy and Spain. We are deciding that the good old ways were safer and more sensible after all.

"The trend of fashion follows the trend of the public mind. Style reaction has already set in. Long sleeves are the mode. For the first time in years the long skirt was worn last summer. It went out and the extreme short skirt is now the thing. But you will notice that the very short skirts are very full without the tendency to crawl about the knees that the old tight short skirt had. Before the end of the year the fashion will swing back again to the long skirt which will be very full.

"Women learned a great lesson by the style revolt which they have undergone. The have learned the inherent grace of unrestrained movement. Not again will a style remain for long which binds her movements.

"The free swinging stride of unhampered woman is here to stay. A reversion to the graceful flowing lines of the early Greeks is on the way."

MILLBROOK LADY BROKE HER HIP

Accident Somewhat Serious, as Victim, Mrs. J. Deyell, Is Over Eighty.

MILLBROOK NEWS.

MILLBROOK, March 2. — The many friends of Mrs. John Deyell will regret to learn that she had the misfortune to fall recently, fracturing her right hip. The accident occurred in her own home, though it is hardly known whether her accustomed chair, in which she was about to seat herself, or its cushion slipped from place, causing the fall which resulted so disastrously. The fact that Mrs. Deyell is over eighty years of age makes the accident somewhat more serious.

A Day of Prayer.

The international Day of Prayer observed all over the North American continent, received due recognition in Millbrook,a union service being held in Grace Presbyterian church on Friday at 3.30 p.m., representatives from the three Woman's Missionary Auxiliaries taking part.

This gathering for the purpose of intercession, the highest form of the prayer life, has become an annual event. It was established some years ago by the Federated Women's Missionary Boards of North America. Denominational lines fade into nothingness as all unite their supplications for the home, the church, the schools and colleges, the King and Empire, for world fellowship and international good will.

Mrs. (Rev). G. S. Gervan was to have presided at the local gathering but owing to the very serious illness of her little son, Russell, was unable to be present. Mrs. (Rev). F. H. Howard took the chair, at the request of the committee in charge, and led in the opening prayer when petition was specially made for the pastor's family in their time of deep trouble.

Mrs. W. T. A. Dowell read the Scripture lesson from Revelation 21-5, and [illegible] the absence of Miss Dixon, because of illness. Miss Dixon's Bible talks are always an inspiration, the touch of local color from personal experinece of travel in the Holy Land adding interest, and making the setting vivid in her hearer's minds.

The programme, furnished from head-quarters in Toronto, was follow throughout, the various divisions being alloted to the three Auxiliaries. The Anglican chuch was represented by Mrs. (Rev.) M. B. Williams, and Miss Rose Macnamara; Mrs. J. R. Eakins took the share of the Presbyterian Auxiliary, Mrs. L. S. Clary, who had prepared the material, being prevented by illness from attending; Mrs. M. McDowell, Misses S. Hetherington and P. Burnham, carried out the sections for which the Methodist church wsa responsible.

The hymns throughout were in harmony iwth the prayer spirit, the closing number, 'Breathe on Me, Breath of God,' being particularly appropriate.

The General Thanksgiving, with the Lord's Prayetr in unison, followed by the benediction, bought a very helpful service to a conclusion.

Though the extremely cold and unfavorable weather made the attendance much smaller than usual, the service lacked nothing from the inspirational standpoint, and did much to cement the bond of union which underlies all Christian organizations.

Motor Car vs. Horse.

The Junior Room in the Public School, Mr. B. J. Dawson, teacher, had an unusually interesting meeting under the auspices of the Literary Society, on Friday morning, the programme consisting of a debate, "Resolved, that the horse is of more benefit to mankind than the motor car."

The affirmative had three able supporters in Annie McMahon, Donald Henry, and Gerald Raper, while an excellent case for the negative was presented by Margaret Russell, Jean Stinson, and Grant Henry, the latter taking the place of Russell Gervan, who is seriously ill at Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital.

Eva Howson was in the chair, and Kate Donnelly and Eloise Lamb kept a list of the points made.

The affirmative won by one point, the score being 10 to 9.

In announcing the decision, and giving some kindly and helpful criticism on the material and its manner of presentation by the young debaters, the teacher had some special praise for those on the negative side, and stated that while he had listened to many debates by older folk, and taken the part of judge on some occasions, he had heard poorer arguments advanced, and less really good material presented than in the present instance.

Mr. Dawson is to be congratulated on the interest he has aroused along literary lines among his pupils. The organisation of a literary society and the holding of debates such as Friday's contest, are entirely new features among the junior scholars, the helpfulness of such activities being beyond question.

Doubtless a number of the parents would be glad to show their appreciation of what the teacher is doing by being present when another debate is arranged for in Mr. Dawson's room.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Miss Annie Kells, who passed away on Thursday, following a lingering illness, took place from St. Thomas' Church on Saturday, the service being held at 2 p.m.

Deceased was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kells, pioner settlers of Millbrook, and is survived by one sister, Miss Mary Kells, a niece Mrs. (Dr.) Brand, of Toronto, and a nephew Mr. Edward Kells, of Cleveland, Ohio. Three brothers, Thomas G., Edward, and Joseph predeceased their sister.

The late Miss Kells was born and brought up in Millbrook, spending practically her entire left here. A life-long member of St. Thomas' Church, interested in all its organisations ,deceased was personally associated with its various activities almost from childhood, regular in attendance at its services as long as health permitted, and always to be relied upon for practical assistance when appeal was made and the need became known.

The name Kells has been associated with the history of Millbrook for many years, and the passing of Miss Annie removes another member of a pioneer and highly respected family, which with other local connections bearing the same name, has been prominent in business and church life and intimately connected with public welfare as the years have wrought their inevitable, and at times surprising, changes in individual, social, and community conditions.

The large gathering at the church on Saturday, and the many beautiful floral offerings covering the casket as it rested at the right of the chancel railing, gave evidence of the affection and esteem in which the deceased was held, her wide circle of relatives and friends including not only those residing here, but extending to many outside points as well.

Th rector, Rev. Canon Allen, assisted by Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints', Peterborough, and Rev. M. G. B. Williams, had charge of the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. R. H. Kells and F. Armstrong, Toronto; W. T. Wood, A. A. Smith, G. Fowler, and H. B. Allen.

Interment took place in the family burial plot at St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

Among those from outside points who attended the funeral were Mr. A. H. and Miss Stratton, Mr. R. Fair, Rev. J. D. and Mrs. Paterson, Peterborough; Mr. R. H. Kells, Mr. F. Armstrong, Dr. and Mrs. Brand, Toronto; Miss Currie, Omemee; Mr. Edward Kells, nephew of the deceased, was unfortunately unable to make train conections from Cleveland to be here in time for the funeral, arriving on the five o'clock train on Saturday.

Wedding Bells.

At the Methodist Parsonage, Millbrook, on Saturday, 28th February, by Rev. F. H. Howard, S.T.L., Mae Donaldson, only daughter of Mr. Arthur Donaldson, Toronto, to Alex. Harkness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harkness, Millbrook.

'FLU AND MUMPS VISIT JANETVILLE

Making Headquarters at the Methodist Parsonage — Lectures on Orangeism.

JANETVILLE, March 3.—On Friday evening last Dr. Edwards, Grand Master of British American Orangemen, gave a masterly address in the Forresters' Hall, under the auspices of the Orange Order of Janetville. Dr. Edwards was accompanied from Toronto by Hon. Howard Nesbitt, who was also heard to advantage. There was a very large attendance and profit and pleasure resulted.

Influenza and Mumps.

Influenza is making a general and protracted call on many homes in this community. It is making its headquarters at the Methodist parsonage, where Rev. Mr. Ross has been under its influence for nearly four weeks. He has been compelled to remain in the house during the week, but though scarcely able to speak above a whisper, has occupied his pulpit at Janetville twice each Sabbath. The service at Mount Horeb was conducted last Sabbath by Rev. M. E. Wilson of Lindsay. Mr. Ross will not attempt any work outside of his pulpit for a week or two.

Local Team in Tourney.

The local senior hockey team played in the Fenelon Falls tournament, and suffered defeat at the hands of Toronto C.C., by 4-3.

Despite mild weather, the ice in the skating rink was in good shape and the tournament proceeded without a hitch. The attendance was large and the rooters enthusiastic.

Dunsford lined up as follows:

Goal, Wilson; defence, W. J. Thurston and W. Bryans; centre, W. Wetherup; wings, Jimmie Thurston and E. Reeves; sub., M. Board.

In the second game Red Rock defeated a combination team from Cameron and Cambray by 8 to 3.

M. Lansfield refereed both games satisfactorily.

FOR SHORTCAKE.

Canned fruit is almost as delicious as fresh for shortcake if you serve it with plain or whipped cream.

MANY QUEER IMPORTS.

Great Britain Buys Oddities From All Parts of the World.

LONDON, March 3—Many queer cargoes arrive in the ports of Great Britain during the course of a year, but perhaps the queerest was one from Mexico during December. This consisted of 13 tons of dried flies for use in the manufacture of paint. Dried flies also come from Brazil, but these are utilized in the mixing of food for poultry and pheasants.

Manifests of cargoes carried in steamers often make strange reading to anyone but the initiated, and the average man, seeing that a case of walrus whiskers was carried in a steamer would hardly imagine they were to be utilized for toothpicks at fashionable hotels. Frog skins are shipped from India for bookbinding purposes; "Tasmanian devils" often arrive, and from South Africa recently came a case of "diseases." These included cultures of germs of blackwater fever, malarial fevers and other kinds of tropical diseases for the purpose of scientific investigation.

Snails and frogs come into London for use at Soho restaurants, and twice each year a vessel from China brings Chinese dried foods for the Chinese population of England. Sea slug, shark fin, the nest of the sea swallow, and other strange luxuries are also imported in fairly large quantities.

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

CITY CLERK IS SUPERINTENDENT OF ALL OFFICES

Appointment Made Last Night Makes Him Responsible to Council.

NEW LIGHTING

Decision to Trim Salaries of Court of Revision is Reversed.

Last night's meeting of the City Council, lasting a fraction of five minutes past the regular time, was packed with the routine work that usually marks the February meeting.

Seven lengthy committee reports were read, discussed, and adopted; a dozen resolutions on minor matters were introduced and dealt with; by-laws were passed to put into effect several recommendations from committees; and the biggest file of correspondence in some months was read and disposed of.

It was a real business meeting, marked by none of the diversions that add spice to the average gathering and representing only hard work.

Probably the most outstanding feature was the appointment of S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, to the position of superintendent of city offices. He will have control of the following offices: City Clerk, City Treasurer, Tax Collector, City Engineer, Assessor, Plumbing Inspector, Relief Officer, and Sanitary Inspector, and no increase in salary is mentioned in the recommendation or by-law.

Full particulars of his duties are set out in the committee report in another column.

One alderman characterised the appointment as the first step toward commission government.

Popular Move.

That the City Council has made a popular move in asking the Legislature for greater safeguards for municipalities in accidents on streets is evidenced by the number of letters of approval received. Another proposal of Peterborough Council that has met general approval is that asking that work on suburban roads be halted for five years.

Changes Its Mind.

The City Council reversed its decision of a few days ago cutting the salaries of the members of the Court of Revision, W. F. Johnston, James Finnie, and W. F. Morrow from a total of $350 to $175, and the former payment will be continued.

An effort by Aldermen Stocker and Crowe to have the police appropriations trimmed to $24,00 was defeated.

Lighting System.

An offer made by the Utilities Commission to trim trees at their expense in order to improve the lighting of the city was referred to a special committee.

Chairman Robert Hicks and E. F. Mason of the Commission explained the proposition to the Council.

A proposal to relight East City on the same system as Water Street North was accepted by the Council.

Couldn't Hold Them.

In passing the recommendation of the Finance Committee, that $250 be accepted in full payment of a $750 lease owed by the Peterborough Baseball Club, the City Council learned last night that it was doubtful whether the Club could be recovered from in event of suit being entered. The man who signed the agreement signed on behalf of the club, and they not being an incorporate body, could not be held jointly liable. In view of this, it was reported, the Council agreed to accept $250 ,representing a total of 500 received on an account of $1,000.

By-laws.

Several by-laws were passed, putting into effect recommendations made in committee reports to Council.

Conventions.

Alderman Stocker was delegated to attend a convention regarding suburban roads and Plumbing Inspector A. G. Metheral was authorised to attend a plumbing convention.

GERMANY WILL CLEAN UP ARMY

Will See That Most Searching Fault-Finders Cannot Complain.

FRANCE TO CONFER.

BERLIN, March 3. —(Canadian Press)— Word has reached here indirectly that Premier Herriot of France has agreed to submit Marshall Fochs report on the findings of the Inter-Allied Military Commission to Berlin immediately and invite the Reich to participate in a projected conference for drawing up a security pact for Europe.

Whether the report is true or not, Chancellor Luther made the way easy for the French to compromise by instructing General Von Seeckt to clean up the Reichswher so that even to most searching of fault finders will discover no ground for complaint.

Further the Germans will remove the secret enlistment bureaus for 3 months volunteers and will do away with the "black Reichwher," secret adjuncts ot legal standing army.

SHE NOW ENJOYS GOOD HEALTH

Quebec Lady Sends Message of Hope to all Sick Women.

Dame E. Ouellet used Dodd's Kidney Pills for kidney trouble, headaches and indigestion with great success.

St. Joseph de Kamouraska, Que., March 2.—(Special).—"I must tell you that a treatment of six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a great deal of good," states Dame Ouelett, a well known resident of this place. "I was suffering from kidney trouble, headaches and indigestion. I am now in good health. Kindly publish my testimonial for the benefit of other sick women."

It is noticeable that people who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills are enthusiastic in recommending them to others. That is how Dodd's Kidney Pills have made and maintained their reputation.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a Kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys so they can do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Pure blood coursing through the body carries to the different organs the nourishment they need to keep them sound and healthy.

Property Committee

The Property Committee, Chairman McIntyre, reported as follows:

We recommend that the following paragraph be added to the plumbing by-law: "Where a single water closet is installed within two feet centre of the stack to centre of lead bend and the waste connected into a tee fitting with no waste connections above same, it shall not be necessary to back vent."

We recommend that the option received from E. A. Peck, for the Burnham Estate, dated July, 11th, 1924, on land on Hunter Street East and Maria Street, be taken up, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque to Mr. Peck for $2,500 to pay for the land upon receiving a conveyance of it approved of by the City Solicitor.

Your committee asked for tenders for the ashes from the incinerator the year beginning March 1st, 1925, and received one tender of fifty dollars, from Mrs. M. M. Stevens, which was accepted.

We recommend that the matter of H. B. Taylor and Son using part of the city yard at the Canadian Pacific Railway siding be referred to the chairman of this committee to deal with.

We recommend that the by-law regarding the parking of motor cars on the Market Square be amended to provide that there will be no charge for so parking there on Wednesdays.

Board of Works.

The Board of Works, Chairman J. O. Fife, reported and recommended as follows:

That the draft agreement submitted by the Canadian Pacific Railway in regard to the laying of a urin under their tracks on Townsend Street be returned to them with a copy of the standard agreement and that they be asked to accept the standard agreement, and if they do so the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to sign and seal it.

That the City Clerk of London be informed that this City will cooperate with the City Council of that city, as requested, in asking a reduction in the amount payable by cities for provincial suburban roads.

That notice be given of the intention of the council to construct a sewer as a local improvement on Bethune Street from Wolfe Street to a point 296 feet north, under section 9 of the Local Improvement ct.

That the chairman, the Mayor and the City Engineer interview Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Mr. D. Walker, Principal of the Normal School, in regard to the foot-bridge over the Canadian National right-of-way at the end of Conger Street.

That the City Engineer be authorized to procure licenses for the Board of Works motor cars and street sweeper and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue cheques for the license fees.

That the City Engineer ask for tenders for a new road roller and that the tenderers be asked to state what they will allow for the present roller, and that the Engineer also procure prices for repairing the present roller.

The chairman of this board be authorized to appoint W. Bromell caretaker of the land in the sewage disposal site.

That the enforcement of the contracts for the removal of snow and slush be left with the City Engineer.

That the City Engineer be authorized to have a catch basin put in on George Street South at the drug store south of Westcott Street.

That a catch basin be put in at the northeast corner of the intersection of Downie Street at Smith Street.

That the City Engineer be authorized to procure prices for the road oil that will be required this year.

That the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario be requested to pave between the rails of the street railway on Water Street, north of Smith Street and on George Street, south of the Canadian Pacific Railway and near Romaine Street, and that Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., be asked to support the request.

That the Board of Works purchase the gasoline required this year from the Fire Department if satisfactory arrangements can be made to do so.

Special Committee.

The special committee appointed to consider improvements in the city offices reported and recommended as follows:

That S. R. Armstrong be appointed superintendent of all the offices, namely, those of the City Clerk, City Treasurer, Tax Collector, City Engineer, Assessor, Plumbing Inspector, Relief Officer and Sanitary Inspector.

That it shall be the duty of the said superintendent to superintend the work in the offices, to regulate the hours of work, arrange for the necessary help for the various departments, and temporary help shall be paid on his certificate, purchase office supplies, follow instructions from the City Council to the various departments for reports and to see that they are made as requested with as little delay as possible, and to see that orders of the City Council are carried out, this, however, not to apply to outside work of the Engineer's department.

That the said superintendent shall have authority to engage and to discharge employees in the offices, except heads of departments, and to move them from one department to another, temporarily or otherwise, as may be required in order to have the work of the departments expeditiously carried out.

The superintendent shall make a report each month to the City Council and shall recommend to the Council any changes he thinks should be made in the positions of the offices, which shall be subject to the approval of the Council.

Railways and Parks Committee.

The Railways and Parks Committee, chairman, E. M. Turner, reported and recommended as follows:

That this committee be authorized to ask for tenders for the use of the athletic grounds in the James Stevenson Park from April 15th to November 15th, 1925.

That the Nicholls Park Trustees be requested to permit the Council to repair the drains at the dressing-room in Inverlea Park, to whitewash the building and put in a water service to it.

That the chairman be authorized to arrange for power from the Bell Telephone Company for the bathing beach signal system and use of their lines.

That the chairman be authorized to make such arrangements regarding the lockers in the Inverlea bathing beach dressing-room as he may deem advisable.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee, Chairman Jones, reported and recommended as follows:

That a request for lights on Reid Street, between Smith Street and Victoria Avenue, be referred to the chairman of this committee to look into and report, and also the need for more light on Park Street between Rink and Townsend Streets.

That the chairman of this committee have an advertisement inserted in The Examiner once each month during this year, asking citizens who know of a street light being out to notify the Utilities Commission.

That the letter from Assistant Fire Chief Ward, asking for an increase of salary, be received.

That an expression of the confidence of the Council be given to the Chief of the Fire Department and also the thanks of the Council for the efficient services he has given the city.

Legal Committee.

The Legal Committee, Chairman Denne, reported and recommended as follows:

That with reference to the letter from the Town Clerk of Lindsay with reference to asking for a change in the law regarding the liability of municipalities for accidents on streets, a reply be sent that this Council agrees with them that the law should be changed and that if they will arrange for a deputation to wait on the Government, this city will be represented on the deputation.

That if Joseph Longo does not accept the cheque offered to him, without prejudice, of $100 for his claim for injury to his property on Hunter Street on or before March 6th next, the offer be withdrawn.

TO SMOKE MEAT.

Instead of the old-fashioned smoke house method of smoking meat, a better way is to use Parke's Smoke Essence, a liquid. Just paint it on—keeps the meat sweet, tender, and free from insects, 35c and 75c bottles. At Bond's Drug Store corner George and Hunter Streets.

Let Tanlac restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor.

Tanlac Restored Her Health

"Typhoid fever reduced me to 95 lbs. and left me weak as a rag. Failing to get relief from other sources I tried Tanlac and after 6 bottles had gained 20 lbs. Now I enjoy a fine appetite and feel like a new woman. As a nurse I give Tanlac to all my patients."

HIS POEM HAS GIRDLED GLOBE

Hugh D'Arcy Tells How He Wrote "Face on Barroom Floor."

MERRY OLD MAN

Hugh Antoine D'Arcy, author of "The Face Upon the Floor," that famous bar-room poem of the '80's and still sold on the corners of New York ,will celebrate his eighty-second birthday on March 5 at the Green Room Club, of which he is a founder.

Hugh D'Arcy is a merry old man with wavy white hair like Mark Twain's and a smile for the one who dares ask if he wrote the popular poem to show the curse of drink. "The Face" was written thirty-six years ago and since then has been sung, recited and put into movies all over the world. Mr. D'Arcy is now retired, but for the last fifty years he has been connected with the theatre—as coach, manager, director and agent.

Aside from his theatrical work, Mr. D'Arcy has always been handy with the pen, as writer of narrative poems and character sketches and as caricaturist of himself. "The Face Upon the Floor" is his most popular poem; let Mr. D'Arcy tell how he happened to write it.

"I wrote 'The Face Upon the Floor' as an admonition to all to be kind to the poor derelict," he said. "It was written out of spite. On a Saturday night in August, 1877, we were all sitting around a table, some other managers and myself, in Joe Schmidt's bar-room at Fourth Avenue and Fourteenth Street, in the heart of Union Square, the Rialto of the '80's. Joe's was a respectable German saloon.

"Well, a shabbily dressed man entered the saloon and ambled up to the table. 'Gentlemen,' he said, 'I want a drink.' But Joe, behind the bar, yelled at him, 'Get out.' Then the waiters took hold of that poor unfortunite and pushed him down the steps. A few of us found him lying on the sidewalk, dirty, and with his face in the gutter. We brought him a drink and put some money in his pocket. I asked him what he did for a living and he said he was an artist.

"'Twas a Balmy Summer Evening.'

"I went back to the saloon in a rage and had a fine tiff with Joe Schmidt. I argued it wasn't right to throw a man out like that. Joe said he couldn't keep his place respectable if he gave a drink to every professional bum. I said he wasn't a professional bum but maybe a talented, educated fellow. Joe ended up by telling me to go to the hot lands, and I stormed out and on the way home the line, '"Twas a balmy Summer evening' kept ringing in my head. That night I wrote the first verse and the next day I finished the poem.

"I brought it to Joe and told him the vagabond was the fellow he had kicked out of his saloon. I sent the poem to The New York Dispatch and when it was published Joe ordered a hundred copies and sent twenty-five to Buffalo Bill's show, then doing London. My friends, Colonel Cody and Major Burke, spread the poem and in three months vaudeville actors were reciting it in music halls. A Bowery music seller had it put to music and in order to get away from my copyright changed the title by putting in 'bar-room,' and that changed title has held. But it's not my original title."

Mr. D'Arcy swung one leg nonchalantly over the other as the subject turned to prohibition.

"Prohibition? I could say some dreadful things about prohibition. If it was prohibited to take drugs or something that was really harmful there would be sense in making the law. But laying down any rule as to what one shall eat and drink—you might as well tell a person how to walk!"

Unlike many a stickler for the old regime, Mr. D'Arcy applauds present-day theatrical productions.

Mr. D'Arcy opened a slim book he had tucked under his arm. "The Face Upon the Floor" is a collection of some sixty poems which the author published for distribution among his friends. He pointed to a line on the title page—"I like sad stories—they make us human."

"That's my motto," he added. "That's why the incident at Joe's got me. You see I always have to have a theme or an idea or a real happening to start a poem. I spend more time on the first verse than on the whole poem. I have to get into the swing of the meter. But after that I can wind up a story in a short time."

AMERICANS CASH FORGED CHEQUES

Stung to the Tune of Half Million in Bogus C.P.R. Paper.

HUNDREDS OF THEM.

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Forged Canadian Pacific Railway travellers' cheques to the extent of approximately half a million dollars, have been cashed recently in the United States, it was learned here today.

Local banking institutions have during the past few days received hundreds of these forged cheques, passed on American firms and forwarded here for honoring.

Victims Were Easy.

It was pointed out at headquarters of the Canadian Pacific here that the company does not issue travellers' cheques, and never did. All these cheques cashed over the border, therefore must be forgeries, officials said.

LOCAL MUSICIANS HEARD AT OTTAWA

Big Audience Enthused Over Excellent Work of Peterboro Orchestra.

Every available space in the Salvation Army Citadel, Slater Street, was taken Saturday evening and yesterday afternoon to hear the Peterboro Saxophone Orchestra, which played here over the week-end under the direction of Bandmaster F. W. Robinson. Saturday evening Mayor Balharrie was to have occupied the chair, but was detained until a late hour. Major Layman acted as chairman in his absence. The programme was as follows:

March, "Across the Sea"; reverie, "The Golden Sunset"; march, "Inspiration," and other marches and musical selection by the saxophone party; vocal solo by Mrs. M. Shadgett; instrumental quartette composed of Bandmaster Robinson, Deputy Bandmaster Ben Smith and Bandsmen Smith and Shadgett; sextette composed of Bandsmen H. Wells, F. Wells, Shadgett, James, Jones and Moynes; selection by the Ottawa I. songsters and band; cornet solo, Bandmaster Robinson; vocal solo by Band Sergt. R. Hills, and saxophone solo by H. Wells.

After the concert the saxophone party broadcast four selections over the C.N.R.O. which were well received by the radio fans, there being many 'phone calls and telegrams of congratulations received afterwards.

Sunday afternoon the programme included many more selections by the saxophone party besides the following solos: Cornet solo by Bandmaster Robinson; vocal solo, Band Sergt. R. Hill; vocal solo by Mrs. Shadgett; saxophone solo by J. James; "Pilgrims' Chorus." by the sextette, Bandsmen H. Wells, Shadgett, James, F. Wells, Jones and Moynes; "Murmuring Breezes," by Messrs. Robinson, B. Smith, Bandsmen Smith and Shadgett; besides selections by the Ottawa I. songsters and band. Mr. Thomas H. Blair acted as chairman.

The saxophone orchestra composed of 12 members, is a part of the 45-piece Salvation Army brass band of Peterboro, under the direction of Bandmaster Robinson, who despite his youth shows an admirable understanding and command of musical expression and technique.

Commandant A. Smith, formerly of Ottawa, and at present attached to the Salvation Army in Peterboro, accompanied the orchestra to Ottawa.

To-day the members of the party are being entertained at dinner by G. N. Gordon, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons. The saxophone party will give its last concert to-night at the Citadel at 8 o'clock.—Ottawa Journal, March 2.

One shot was fired by a robber but no one was wounded. Robbers entered simultaneously from the front and two other doors of the bank

DAWN OF WOMANHOOD.

A Time of Difficulties When

Some girls upon the threshold of womanhood drift into a decline in spite of all care and attention. Even strong and usually lively girls become weak, depressed and irritable, and listless. It is the dawn of womanhood—most important in the life of every girl—and prompt measures should be taken to keep the blood rich and pure. If your blood is not in a healthy condition at this stage, the body becomes ill-nourished and other ailments develop. If the health is not maintained by a sufficiency of rich, red blood, all sorts of weaknesses are likely to arise. Remember this, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved thousands of girls and women from being life-long invalids, because of their wonderful blood-making properties.

The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to young women whose health was failing has been proved over and over again. These pills are the most reliable blood builder, fortifying weak nerves and creating the liberal supply of red health blood which a girl needs to sustain her strength.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRESTON TO TESTIFY.

Special Committee of Commons to Investigate Alleged Shipping Combine.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press). — When the proposed Government subsidy to the Petersen Line is before the House of Commons to-day, it is expected that an announcement will be made of the Special Committee of the House to investigate the whole question.

W. T. R. Preston, who made the report into the alleged North Atlantic shipping combine, will in all probability be called as a witness before the committee.

JAPAN WILL TAKE PART.

If United States Calls an Armament Conference Japs Will Attend.

TOKIO, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Baron Shidehara, Foreign Minister, replying to a question in the Upper House to-day said Japan was prepared to participate in an armament conference should the United States call one, but preferred that the agenda be discussed in advance.

AMERICAN WOMEN AGOG.

Making Much Ado Over What Mrs. Coolidge Will Wear.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3 —(United Press).— The most important womens question concerning the inauguaral remains unanswered on account of the w ther,

All Washington is wondering what Mrs. Coolidge will wear when she rides up the avenue with her husband to see him sworn in as President of the United States.

'Inquiries at the White House have been evaded with the explanation that Mrs. Coolidge will not be able to decide what she will wear until the nature of the inauguaration day weather is known.

TERRIFYING EXPERIENCE.

Tide Carried Port Nelson Caretaker Out to Sea on Ice.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Reports have reached the Department of Railways and Canals of the terrifying experience of one of the caretaking staff at Port Nelson on Hundson Bay.

The man, Fred Beschuck, a Russian, went out on the ice opposite the harbor works one afternoon to visit some traps. While on the ice a section of it, measuring about half a mile wide and three quarters of a mile in length, became detached and Beschunck was carried out to sea with the tide.

After being blown about all night he was wafted back by the incoming tide, and was able to reach the shore with frozen feet. He has been taken to Winnipeg Hospital.

Governor Nellie Ross To Make Nothing Of Her Sons

CHICAGO, March 3 (United Press). — "What are you going to make of your sons?" Governor Nellie Ross of Wyoming was asked as she passed through Chicago on Monday en route to Washington.

"Nothing," was her reply. "But I expect them to make something of themselves."

Governor Ross has two sons, 21-year-ld twins, who are attending the University of Wyoming.

ALL WOMEN SMUGGLERS.

TORONTO, March 3 — (Canadian Press.) — "All women are smugglers more or less," said counsel in a recent local smuggling case, where two women were on trial. The Judge was a woman, Magistrate Patterson, and in reply to the counsel's remark she merely commented: "All the more reason for stopping it." The assertion was made by the Crown that Toronto merchants were experiencing great difficulty owing to competition from smuggled goods. A fine of $50 or one month was imposed. The case will be appealed.

BARACA CLASS NEWS.

Flourishing Young Men's Class of Murray Street Entertained by Dr. Rose.

The Baraca Young Men's Class of Murray Street Church were the guests last evening at a supper given them by Dr. and Mrs. Rose. There were forty-five members present. The supper was a tribute to the class for having passed the membership of fifty members which was done a short time ago.

The spirit of the supper was that of good fellowship which was manifest throughout the evening. The courses were interspersed with songs under the able leadership of Graham Eastwood, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Dr. Rose expressed the pleasure it afforded him to entertain the class as it showed that advancement had been made, and he could see that still more would be made. He spoke of the small class of three that had first met and laid stress on the splendid work done by Mr. W. W. Richmond, the teacher. Credit was also due to the work of the executive, which had done much to carry on the work. Mr. Ronald Deyell, on behalf of the class, moved a vote of thanks, to Dr. and Mrs. Rose for the supper. He claimed that Mr. Rose's offer of a supper upon the class reaching the fifty mark, had been the added incentive which had been necessary for the class to go over the top. Mr. Lionel Browne seconded this motion.

Mr. Roy White, the president, presented Mrs. Rose and her daughter, Evelyn, with a bouquet of carnations as a mark of appreciation for their kindness.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

And God (Hebrew, Elohim, Trinity) said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness," Genesis 1 and 26. "So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him," verse 27. In these verses we have the Trinity speaking with themselves and acting together in the creation of man.

Here then, is the missing link, but it connects man up with the Triune God; with Jehovah Himself but not with the ape as educated fools affirm. But we might ask in what respect does man, as to his creation, bear the image of the Triune God? We believe Scripture supplies the answer, so we read in I Thess., 5 and 23, "And I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." Men reject the doctrine of the Trinity because their little minds cannot comprehend the great mystery; and all the while ignorant of the fact that they are a trinity in themselves.

Who will dare to explain to us the mystery of how my soul is linked up to my body, or how my spirit is linked up with my soul? But how is this tabernacle of clay to become inhabited by the soul and spirit? "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul," Genesis 2 and 7. Previous to this God spoke to the waters and to the earth and they obeyed His word and brought forth fishes, fowl and the beasts of the earth after their kind. But man, that masterpiece of God, it took the hand of God to form him, and the breath of God to impart a soul and spirit in order that he might come into being. So man bears the imprint of the eternal. He came forth from the eternal, the everlasting God and he is travelling across the brief stage of time back to the Eternal and Eternity again. But where wilt thou dwell, oh man?

In our next paper we will seek an answer from Scripture for this question.

I remain, yours very truly,
T. C. YOUNG.

DOESN'T LIKE VACCINE.

Peterborough, Feb. 28, 1925.
Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In reference to the spectacular rush that was made by dog team to Alaska to transport anti-toxin a short time ago for diphtheria, there is another side to this story not generally known. To quote Bernard McFadden in the New York Graphic:

"A month ago the press of the nation was swept off its feet by tales from the Far North of a dramatic dash of dog teams carrying in relays a precious quantity of 'super concentrated' anti-toxin to stop an epidemic of diphtheria which was said to be raging in Nome, Alaska.

So well was the news of the spectacular episode handled by the icy-fingered correspondents in the frozen regions that it seeped into the columns of every newspaper in this country and even in Europe.

Great press associations opened their wires for the daily developments until the affair had been built up as a legend of gigantic proportions.

The distance, which might have been bridged in a short time by an airplane carrying this indispensable anti-toxin to be injected into the handful of diphtheria patients at Nome, was covered by dogs and sledges.

The most spectacular and attention-holding method of transportation to carry this so-called cure-all was insisted upon, even if it took more time than air travel.

To the Graphic it looked like a cleverly engineered piece of publicity for the sale of anti-toxin. And this paper was not far from right in its diagnosis.

A letter was received at this office from an aviator, who pointed out that he had offered his services to high authorities to carry the anti-toxin by airplane. His offer was refused.

The question now arises: Why were dogs used instead of airplanes?

Using the aviator's letter as a basis to work on, the Graphic has made what is probably the first real investigation of the organised business of anti-toxin production.

It has established the fact that a great chemical corporation has plastered the country with thousands of letters to capitalise the Alaskan story.

The ramifications of this propaganda to inject pus-poison into the body under the slightest provocation have become world-wide.

The nation's health is being bartered for dollars and cents.

Officials of the anti-toxin trust hold responsible positions in medical bodies whose word is taken as "authority" in the dissemination of medicine.

Doctors and druggists who advertise and urge the use of these vaccines own stock in the company making them. Even medical encyclopedias contain articles written by staff employees of the vaccine trust. High health officials have gone so far as to twist facts in order to advocate vaccination.

The greatest propaganda machine ever organised is at work to saturate the nation with vaccine, and has extended its tentacles to every doctor, druggist, board of health, board of education ,and industrial centre in the country.

The future of the nation depends upon the health of its people. What will become of a nation whose citizens are being forced to poison themselves with animal pus? What will become of a people whose veins are filled with serums instead of healthy red blood?

The above, Mr. Editor, is a result of the investigation made by Bernard McFadden ,a great athlete and physical culturist, at 55 years of age, considered by many thousands of people to be one of the foremost authorities on health matters in the United States of America. Surely his investigation cannot be turned lightly aside. Why should we in Canada be contented to see our children inoculated with this poisonous stuff sold and manufactured by an American concern, who, looking for dividends ,care nothing for the destruction and damage they do to the health and lives of the people. —Yours truly, H. T. Millard.

GOLD ON UNIFORMS.

MONTREAL, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—The exhibition of a uniform made by a local tailor for a Lieutenant-Governor recalls the fact that exquisite workmanship goes into the gold embroidery upon such apparel. Six women worked steadily for three weeks to complete this embroidery which is of thread made of sterling silver wire, heavily plated with 24 carat gold. The uniform is identical with those worn on state occasions by Privy Councillors.

NOT THE WAY TO DISTRIBUTE MAIL

U. S. Writer Admits the Los Angeles Mustn't Drop Sacks on British.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Admiral Moffett looks forward confidently to the day, perhaps before the end of this year, when the Los Angeles will carry mail to England. It sounds good until you remember what happend in Bermuda last week There were rain and wind and fog. The big air liner couldn't make the post office flag pole, and so dropped her mailbags on the gardens at Government House.

Now, it may be progress and all that, to send a letter across the Atlantic in a few hours, beating the steamship time a week and letting the folk in London know that the family is well days sooner than they could get the information by written correspondence otherwise. But suppose they are having one of their famous fogs and it is necessary to repeat the Bermuda performance?

What about the English gardeners? Are they going to take it as a joyful sign of scientific advancement if one of our dirigibles delivers a couple of tons of first-class mail matter on their rose trellises or through the roofs of their greenhouses? Not if you can judge by the English gardeners employed in Amercia. They are a peculiar people If there is anything on earth they dislike it is for an American to walk on their hotbed frames. For one of our airships to behave so would take a lot of explaining back and forth between Mr. Kellogg and his friend Mr. Chamberlain.

Then, again, what about the British pedestrians if our flying Admiral and his crew should decide owing to the sinking barometer, to let go the mail a quarter of a mile in the zenith above some dinky seen open space like Trafalgar Square? There are always crowds of people in Trafalgar Square, and they would be in the way. It would be almost impossible to land a mail sack anywhere on the soil of Britain, in fact, without injuring somebody's sensibilities.'

Our air authorities seem to forget that the every-day British citizen has dignity and is careful of it. He doesn't want our country to drape a jag of parcel post on his person from somewhere in the welkin. It simply isnt done. The British may be our cousins, but such an informal way of delivering Uucle Sam's mail would lead to strained relations inevitably, if not, indeed, to the World Court If we have to demonstrate the arrival of the flying era, much better carry the mail out over the rum ships off our coast and demonstrate on them.

PETES TROUNCE NIAGARA FALLS, NEW CHAMPIONS OF SENIOR O.H.A., BY 2 TO 0, BUT LOSE ROUND 5 TO 3

Parker Scored Two Goals Early in First Period, But Rest Was a Blank.

PETES IN TOP FORM SURPRISED CROWD

Same Brand of Hockey in First Game Would Have Won Title.

DWYER UNBEATABLE

Last Effort Showed Petes at Best, But Was Too Late.

(By F. D. C.)

NIAGARA FALLS, March 3.—Battling grimly to make up for their disastrous night off in the first game of the series, the Peterboro Seniors had the satisfaction of trimming Niagara Falls on their own ice before 5,500 fans here last night, but fell two goals short of the total necessary to sew up the round.

The Petes won last night's game 2 goals to 0, and the Big Roar team are thus Senior champions with a total score on the round of 5 to 3 in their favor. The Petes passed out of the picture with their banner proudly unfurled. Had they displayed the same persistent checking, and had Goaler Joe Dwyer been in the form he showed last night in Toronto last Thursday the people of Peterboro would be busy in arranging a proper welcome for the Senior champions of 1925.

As far as that goes the reception should be held just the same for the blue and white crew covered themselves with glory in their final O.H.A. appearance of the season and their campaign should entitle them to plenty of honours.

Parker Scored Two.

The Petes last night carved two goals off their deficit in the first twenty minutes of play, two long drives from the right boards completely baffling "Wart" Mayo. Both were from the stick of Harold Parker who drilled them accurately from well out, and put his team back in the hunt with forty-seven minutes left to go. After the second of these long shots had beaten Mayo the Petes' chances of pulling the round out of the fire looked rosy, but try as they might they could not add another goal to their total although they had the better of the play in both the second and third periods.

It was a different looking Peterboro team last night. Dwyer was unbeatable and the checking of the whole crew was so effective that the Falls squad, who looked like a lot of Nurmis on skates in the first game, did not appear anything like as formidable on their home ice.

Surprise For Falls.

It was one of the biggest surprises of the season for the Big Roar fans, the majority of whom called Gene Fraser and his men to win handily. As it turned out the Falls did not win, and they were hard pressed all the way to the wire to hold their lead.

Everyone of the Petes turned in a good game, and the only regret that the handful of Peterboro fans who watched the game had was the consciousness that the same kind of playing last Thursday would have meant the championship.

Dwyer, mad clear through, because of the soft goals that beat him in Toronto rose to the top of his form ,and as one fan put it the Fraser outfit couldn't have scored on him in a year. He smothered long shots with cool confidence, and when the new champs got in close he out-guessed them all the way, having the satisfaction of giving a perfect performance. Parker and McLeod were very effective on the defence and both rushed with much success. Parker had the honour of scoring the only goals of the game and his poke check stopped the Falls' attackers repeatedly. McLeod was always dangerous and was given marked attention every time he secured possession. Up in front the whole five worked heroically. Collins skated miles and his checking mussed up attack after attack. Bailey, not yet recovered from the illness that handicapped him so much in the first game was going strong last night at all stages. Ranger gave one of his best performances of the season and Rose and Burgess have not shown to better advantage so far as determination and aggressiveness were concerned at any time during the race.

It takes a good team to beat the Falls at home at any time. It takes not only a good but a game team to go into "Roarville" with a four goal deficit and whitewash the Frasermen on their own ice.

The Petes were both good and game last night and their gallant effort against odds won the admiration of the most hardened Falls' rooters.

Checked to Standstill.

For the Niagara outfit Kelterborne was not nearly as spectacular as in Toronto because he was looked after well. Rice and Herrington were the most prominent while Kitchen was the best of the rear guard. Fraser was checked so closely that he had difficulty in getting started, and wound up nowhere when he did get under way. Mayo was beaten by two long shots, and very nearly beaten by three or four others that he did not see until they hit him, but he made up for it by some fine blocking of close in drives.

Seats were at a premium. Ten thousand people wanted to see the game and there was room for only a little over half that number. The whole Niagara Peninsula was represented while Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y., sent big contingents.

The Petes left this morning for London where they will play an exhibition game with the "75's." Burgess and McLeod are not making the trip to the Forest City and their places will be taken by Jack Cain and Jack Bond of the Aura Lee team.

Niagara Falls—Goal, Mayo; defence, Fraser, Kitchen; centre, Rice; right wing ,Herrington; left wing, Kelterborne; subs, Seibert and Molson.

Peterboro—Goal, Dwyer; defence, Parker and McLeod; centre, Collins; right wing, Bailey; left wing, Ranger; subs, Rose, Burgess.

Referee—M. J. Rodden.

Threatened From Start.

It was early seen that the Petes were going to make a battle for the round. They opened out fast and the manner in which the Falls puck carriers were checked opened the eyes of the Big Roar fans. Right off the reel Peterboro engineered a couple of dangerous attacks, Ranger nearly scoring on a side shot. Two minutes after the start Parker broke up a rush and went down the ice, and other organisations which right boards and let drive a long one which Mayo failed to see until the last moment, and could not move fast enough to save. McLeod came right back with a long rush but shot wide. Parker drew a penalty for tripping, but the Petes held their own until he came back. In fact Ranger came within an ace of scoring. Fraser made his most dangerous rush of the night shortly after, working in on top of Dwyer, but the sorrel top saved sensationally. After eleven minutes at close checking and fast hockey Parker repeated his performance, hugging the right rail and drilling one from near centre that completely fooled Mayo. It was the last goal of the night.

Other Chances Lost.

The Petes tried hard to cut down the margin before the end of the period and had a chance when Kelterborne was penalized but the Falls held them off and the first rest found the invaders in front 2 to 0. The pace in the second period was fast all the way with both teams checking effectively in mid-ice.

Early in the period the Petes missed a great chance when Ranger and Parker combined through the defence, and the left wing trying to pick the open side of the net missed by an inch with Mayo beaten cold. Bailey failed soon after on a similar chance, two very tough breaks on plays that might have tied up the round.

The close checking of the Petes was stopping Niagara effectively and when they did get into the scoring zone Dwyer was invincible. The only penalty of the period went to McLeod. The last period was a repetition of the second. The Petes had the edge, but the Falls checked closely and Mayo, unaffected by his early bad luck, performed nicely. The blue shirts fought to the last ditch, but had no luck around the nets. Once Mayo planned to save a quick shot from Rose, and Bailey, sweeping in, drove the rebound right back at the "Wart" as he lay on the ice. Ranger hit him twice on shots that he did not see but that dropped clear of the net. Seibert drew a penalty for tripping and the Petes pressed in vain while he was off. Then Bailey was off for dumping Kelterborne. Just before the end of the game Ranger and Kelterborne were penalized in quick succession and the teams finished five men a side with the Petes victors of the night but the Fraser clan champions. EAGLES BEAT AUBURNS.

Fast Game Between School Boys on Saturday Shows

The Eagles beat the Auburns 9-3 in an exciting game on Saturday which wound up in a little fistic argument. In the first two periods the Eagles were the whole works, scoring 7 goals and keeping the Auburns off the score sheet. A great deal of credit is due Mann in goal, who made a number of nice stops. In the third period the Auburns began to show better hockey and outscored the Eagles 3 to 2 but the lead was too long for them to overcome. The teams:

Auburn — Goal, Bell; defence, Montgomery and Heslop; centre, Long; wings, Curtis and Ephgrave.

Eagles—Goal, Mann; defence, G. Johnston and Butcher; centre, V. Johnston; wings, Horn and Rozel; sub., Tretheway.

SOCCE NOTES.

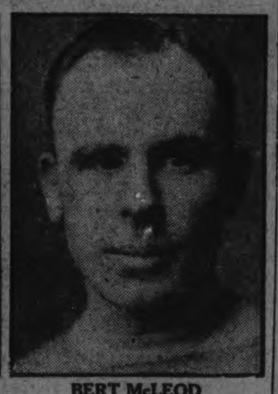
THE PETES' DEFENSE THE STRONGEST IN THE O. H. A.

JOE DWYER

The veteran goaler gave a perfect performance in the nets against Niagara Falls last night, and on his season's record ranks among the best guardians in the game.

HAROLD PARKER

To "Snap" Parker went the honor of scoring Peterboro's two goals in the final senior game. His rushes and checking this winter will linger long in the memory of the fans.



BERT McLEOD

A big factor in Peterboro's successes, Bert McLeod brought honor to the old blue and white colors, now furled after a gallant season. He gave his best and stood out as one of the foremost defense men in Ontario hockey.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR SOCCER ALALGAMATED

Two Executives Have Come to an Agreeable Settlement.

BOTH REPORT BACK

Both Associations Shall Co-operate to Foster Football in City.

"Accomplished at last."

Ever since soccer has been played in local circles, it was always suggested, "Why don't football authorities get together under the one head and cut out all the nonsense that has been going on for years." Well, this is now an accomplished fact, as the two associations came to an amicable agreement last evening, in the round-table talk on the course that may be adopted to foster soccer to advantage throughout district. The junior association shall report back to their members next Monday evening.

Departed From O. F. A.

This is the first year that the senior body has departed from the parent body and intend givin the present season a good work-out under their personal supervision.

The action of the junior association desiring the co-operation of the seniors to boost soccer in this district met the hearty approval of the P. and D. F. A. to have a conference on the subject, proved very successful, after hearing various discussions on how to encourage the universal game in the city and country.

Promotion and Relegation.

It has been suggested that the two local soccer organizations work under the same rules and regulations in the league but still the respective senior and junior bodies compete annually for their own cups and badges but promotion and relegation of a team was not approved, of course, a player may play as a senior but NOT to revert back to the junior.

Junior Executive.

The Junior Executive is composed of a President, Charles Lloyd; Secretary, Samuel Calladine; and Treasurer, James Ball. They have no elective body but have a collective representation from the various clubs associated with the organization.

Jumped One To Other!

During the last two seasons, many players who had played in the senior league reverted back to the junior league as soon as they had committed infringements detriment to the game, thus, becoming a farce when the players would jump from one to the other. However, this illegal movement can be stopped right away by adopting rules and regulations to satisfaction of both parties.

On behalf of the Junior Association the President gave an account of his stewardship in regards to making the game on a working basis and suggested that a select senior team and junior team open up the season which met with the hearty approval of all concerned. He also suggested that the senior body be first division and juniors be the second division; also, that a cup be obtained so as all teams compete in an injured players competition. Both bodies will have to report back to their own executives before any consolidated action can be formulated.

Kay Cup.

On the motion of Vincent Stewart, seconded by J. Menzies, 'That C. Lloyd and J. Cridland go and get the Alex. Kay Cup on the grounds that the School Sports Association had refused to play for the Kay cup for the season 1925 and perhaps, see their way to play for it or give it back for an injured players competition this season."

Meet Next Monday.

Both shall meet next week again in a round table talk to adopt rules and regulations. James Edwards was appointed as junior representative to senior body and Frank Burnton as senior representative to juniors.

Only Three Teams Entered.

The Canadian Woollens, Quaker Oats and Thistle are the only teams entered ,so far, in the senior league. All referees are requestd to make application as Knights of the Whistle or any person desiring to become an official. The registration forms were issued last evening and a number of officials were busy signing up players. No senior team can sign up or approach a junior player before next Monday evenings meeting.

LAKEFIELD SPORTS.

Girls Beat Business Men—Percy Spence Wins Bonspiel.

LAKEFIELD, March 3. — The local girls' hockey team, playing their first game of the season, defeated the Business Men by 6-4 last night. The teams were:

The Girls—Goal, W. Batten; defence, Mrs. Knox and Helen Burgess; centre, Skookie Elmsley; r. wing, Mary Mackenzie; l. wing, Florence Mackenzie; sub., L. Hamblin.

Business Men — Goal, Dr. Renwick; defence, C. S. Tanner and Dr. Smith; centre, J. W. Ridpath; r. wing, N. A. Moore; l. wing, T. R. Crawford; subs., A. B. Burrows and H. R. Wagar.

Referee—Rev. A. W. Mackenzie.

The score was 3-3 at the first rest, Florence Mackenzie getting two goals and Mary Mackenzie one; while Mr. Moore scored 2 and Mr. Ridpath one. Mr. Moore and Miss Burgess netted one each in the second, and Florence Mackenzie and Mrs. Knox added two more in the final.

Bonspiel Final.

Percy Spence's rink retain possession of the E. A. Tanner Trophy as a result of winning the vice-skips' Bonspiel in the finals last night. He defeated J. M. Simpson by 9 to 6, after Simpson had turned back H. G. Fitzgerald by 11-7 and Spence had beaten A. G. Lawless 13-3.

The earlier results were:

First Round.

H. G. Fitzgerald	8	R. J. Jory	7
J. M. Simpson	10	T. Braden	6
R. Murduff	12	G. H. Spence	4
P. Spence	14	W. G. Morrison	7
C. G. Connell defaulted to N. Payne.
S. Sutton	10	Geo. Charlton	6

Second Round.

H. G. Fitzgerald	11	N. Payne	7
J. M. Simpson	14	R. Murduff	3
P. Spence	13	S. Sutton	4
A. G. Lawless	8	E. W. Bailey	6

The semi-finals and finals will be played off on Monday night.

STRANGLER LEWIS ADMITS MUNN OUTSMARTED HIM

Collegian Played Part of "Sap" Until Big Moment Came—And Then, Bingo!

NEW YORK, March 3.—"The kid outsmarted me."

In this short, succinct sentence Ed. Strangler Lewis admitted to me he deserved to be beaten by Big Wayne Munn in the memorable wrestling match which cost the veteran headlock genius his heavyweight title.

Lewis has no alibis to present. Nor does he seek to belittle the former Nebraska football star's greatness as a wrestler.

"I was in pretty good condition that night, and I knew Munn was anything but a setup. I figured I knew more about the technique of the sport than he and I banked on my knowledge to offset his tremendous size.

"I knew, too, his best hold was a crotch and half Nelson. A man his size can murder anybody with that hold so I conceived a plan by which I hoped to evade it. The plan, in short, was to headlock him at every opportunity, and release the lock gradually whenever he seemed dangerous.

Munn Watched His Arm.

"This meant that I would trade him a headlock for a crotch, or rather, release the lock in order to escape the crotch. It worked well three or four times. I would release the hold with my left arm and turn my body in such a way as to keep Munn at a safe distance.

"But always he would come back apparently trying the same tactics without any variation whatever. I said to myself, 'This boy is simple. He knows but one way of doing things. He lacks craftiness.' While these thoughts were still running through my mind, Munn proceeded to convince me he was far from simple.

"The next time I released the headlock and dropped my left arm he reached clear around my back and pinned the arm to my body. In another instant he had gained a crotch and half Nelson and I felt myself being lifted suddenly from the floor by a pair of powerful arms. In another second I experienced the sensation of flying head foremost through space.

"I remember little else about the match. They tell me Munn picked me up bodily and threw me from the ring. I don't remember it. I don't remember coming back and wrestling a third fall at all, though it is recorded that I did. Nor do I even remember going to the hospital the next day where I remained for two weeks.

Return Match Inevitable.

"Looking back on the match I can see how smart Munn really was. He was watching the position of my left arm when I withdrew it from the headlock. He watched it just long enough to know when and where to reach for it and when his moment came he made the most of it. Don't let 'em tell you he isn't smart."

Lewis tells you he will not be tricked again when the two come together in a return match, which is inevitable. Lewis thinks Munn can be beaten if you keep away from his crotch and half Nelson, and he says this can be done rather easily if you keep your wits about you. "I'll make him come to me the next time and wear him down," promises the ex-champ.

This match will be staged in the summer, and will undoubtedly draw the biggest purse of any wrestling match in the history of the country. It may even double the figures of the Gotch-Hackenschmidt match at Chicago a dozen years ago when the "gate" passed $80,000.

Three promoters are after the match. Ultimately it will go either to Chicago, Kansas City or Michigan City, Ind. Floyd Fitzsimmons, who promoted the Carpentier-Gibbons fight last summer, has offered the grapplers a guarantee of $50,000 with a percentage cut of 60 to the winner and 40 to the loser.

BUILD A FENCE FOR MR. B. RUTH

Failure at Golf Overlooked, But Babe Must Have Right Field Boundary.

Babe Ruth, idol of the Harlem Valley, is starting the baseball season inauspiciously. First he had to go to Arkansas to boil off some surplus poundage in the hot springs they have there. Then he was defeated in three golf tournaments. Now he has been set at Spring practice in a Florida ball park that has no right-field fence.

Things like those pull down a man's morale.

It isn't so bad to be overweight, if you are philosophical along with it; and Mr. Ruth, on $50,000 a year for the last three years, and with two years more of that comfortable stipend in sight, ought to be a regular Ralph Waldo Emerson.

It is endurable also to be defeated three times hand-running in a game that looks as easy as golf. It may jar a man's faith in himself somewhat, but then he can always blame the earthworms.

The lack of a right-field fence, however, to a man of Mr. Ruth's experience and expectations, is really serious. Its effect on him might very well be an attack of inferiority complex that would last until the Washingtons cinched the championship again.

In a day when psychology is coming to be applied so scientifically in sport, Manager Huggins should perceive the wisdom of having a fence built for Mr. Ruth at any expense.

GREYS SWAMPED MIDLAND 14-2

Owen Sound Enters O.H.A. Junior Finals After Three-Game Series.

BEST TEAM WON.

TORONTO, March 3.—Setting a dizzy pace at the start and maintaining it throughout the entire sixty minutes of the sudden death game to break the tie in the O.H.A. Junior semi-final round, Owen Sound Grey, Memorial Cup holders, overwhelmed Midland 14 to 2 at the Arena last night and qualified to meet Aura Lee in the finals for the championship. The first game will be played in Owen Sound tomorrow night with the return at the Arena on Friday night. Midland, a small ice team with every player chasing the puck and checking like fiends, could not match their opponents in speed, combination and shooting and when the Greys pelted the puck by Thayer for four goals in the first period, they left little doubt as to the ultimate winner.

HOCKEY SCORES

Hockey games played last night resulted as follows:

Senior O.H.A.

Peterboro 2, Niagara Falls 0.
(Niagara Falls wins championship 5 to 3).

Junior O.H.A.

Owen Sound 14, Midland 2.
(Owen Sound qualifies for final.)

Junior N.O.H.A.

Sudbury 2, Cobalt 1.
(Sudbury wins round and title 5 to 4).

Intermediate O.H.A. Consolation.

Barrie 1, Parry Sound 1.
Guelph 6, Chesley 3.
(Parry Sound wins round 5 to 4).

33 PLAYERS ON INDIANS' LIST

Seventeen New Men Signed by Cleveland for 1925 Campaign.

START NEXT WEEK

A total of thirty-three players are now members of the Cleveland American League club, according to the Indians' roster for 1925, which has just been announced by W. H. McNichols, secretary and business manager of the club. The list consists of three catchers, thirteen pitchers, eight infielders and nine outfielders. Only sixteen of these players were with the club during the season of 1924, while three were with other major league teams. One of the most prominent among the absentees is Stanley Coveleskie, veteran pitcher, who was transferred to the Washington Senators since the close of the past season.

All three of the catchers, Mayatt, Sewell and Waters, were with the Indians last year. Of the thirteen pitchers only four were membes of the team in 1924. They are Uhle, Shaute, Sherrod Smith and Edwards. The newcomers are Emil H. Levsen, B. F. Speece, Benjamin J. Karr, Luther Roy, M. B. Mitchell, Carl C. Yowell, J. W. Miller, W. W. Clark and N. K. Lehr.

Levsen was obtained from the Terre Haute club of the Three-Eye League. Speece was acquired from the Senators in the trade that sent Coveleskie to the Washington club. Karr was purchased from the Atlanta club of the Southern Association. Roy was obtained from the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association. Mitchell was purchased from the Memphis club of the Southern Association. Yowell was with the Tyler club of the East Texas League during the past season. Miller formerly pitched for the Terre Haute team of the Three-Eye League. Clark was with the Peoria club of the same league in 1924. Lehr was obtained from the Greenville club of the South Atlantic League.

Of the eight infielders five were with the team last year. They are First Baseman George Burns, Second Baseman Chick Fewster, Second Baseman Riggs Stephenson, Shortstop Joe Sewell and Third Baseman Walter Lutzek. The newcomers are Robert K. Knode, a first baseman, who was purchased from the Birmingham Club of the Southern Association; J. Klugman, a second baseman, who was obtained from the Minneapolis team of the American Association, and Fred Spurgeon, a third baseman, who was acquired from the New Orleans Club of the Southern Association.

Of the nine outfielders now with the club four were with the Indians during the 1924 campaign. They are Tris Speaker, manager; Charles Jamieson, H. W. Summa and Pat McNulty. The newcomers are Cliff Lee, Harvey Hendrick, Carr E. Smith, L. J. Wyatt and F. Eichrodt. Lee was obtained from the St. Paul Club of the American Association. Hendrick was a member of the Yankees last season. Smith was with the Senators in 1924. Wyatt was purchased from the Terre Haute Club of the Three-Eye League. Eichrodt was acquired from the Spartanburg Club of the South Atlantic League.

The complete roster follows:

Catchers—Glen C. Myatt, Luke Sewell, Al Walters.

Pitchers—George E. Uhle, Joe B. Shaute, Sherrod M. Smith, James C. Edwards, Emil H. Levson, B. F. Speece, Benjamin J. Karr, Luther Roy, M. B. Mitchell, Carl C. Yowell, J. W. Miller, W. W. Clark, N. K. Lehr.

Infielders—George H. Burns, Robert H. Knode, W. L. Fewster, J. R. Stephenson, J. Klugman, Joe Sewell, Fred Spurgeon, Walter Lutzke.

Outfielders—Tris Speaker, Charles D. Jamieson, H. W. Summa, Pat H. McNulty, Cliff Lee, Harvey Hendrick, Carr E. Smith, L. J. Wyatt, F. Eichrodt.

The Indians will open their Spring training schedule on Mar. 13 when they clash with the Indianapolis team of Plant City, Fla. While in Florida they will also play at Lakeland, Sanford, Winter Haven, Orlando and St. Petersburg. On their way North they will appear in Savannah, Ga., Atlanta, Ga., Montgomery, Ala., New Orleans, and Tuscaloosa Ala. They will also play the Reds in Cincinnati on April 11 and 12 before going to St. Louis to open their regular season with the Browns on Tuesday April 14.

MARTIN McMANUS

FOUR DIE FROM NEW YORK FIRE

Mother and Two Children Among Victims of Apartment Blaze.

TWELVE INJURED.

NEW YORK, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Four persons, including a mother and her two children, are known to have lost their lives and a dozen others were injured in a fire that swept an apartment building in Brooklyn this morning. Three of the bodies recovered were identified as those of Mrs. Alese Carroll and her children, John, 8 years old, and Ruth, 6. The fourth victim was believed also to have been a child.

The four bodies were recovered after the fire had been extinguished and firemen were searching the ruins for the bodies of other possible victims. Two of the injured persons were not expected to live. Six firemen were overcome by smoke.

Women Are Concentrating On the Raising of Funds

EDMONTON, March 3 (Canadian Press)—Deploring the fact that many branches of the Women's Auxiliary to the Anglican Church have become mere financial bodies concentrating on the raising of funds, Ven. Archdeacon A. E. Burgett, archdeacon of the northern part of the province of Alberta, asked the Edmonton Diocesan board delegates in session to keep especially in mind the spiritual and missionary function of their organization. The archdeacon also felt strongly on the question of women being elected to act on vestries, as the churchmen he contended, thus relieved of these duties which had previously been particularly theirs, would be prone to throw more work on the women, and lose interest and touch themselves.

COLLINS' FATHER OUSTED AS CAVE ADMINISTRATOR

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky., March 3.—The Union Trust Co., of Glasgow, was appointed administrator of the estate of Floyd Collins by County Judge C. E. Nichols, following the filing of petitions in the Hart County Court alleging that Lee Collins, father of the cave man who met death when trapped by a boulder in Sand Cave, near here, was mentally incompetent to administer his son's estate.

The aged father was present in court, but did not testify. A half interest in Crystal Cave, which he discovered, is the major item of Floyd Collins' estate.

The petition alleging incompetency to administer the estate was filed by three brothers of the dead cave explorer, Andy Lee, Marshall and Homer. Floyd's half interest in Crystal Cave is said to be valued at $8,500.

LONDON TRAMS RUN AT A LOSS

3-Year Moratorium Planned to Relieve Debt Problem; Busses the Cause.

LONDON, March 3.—The London County Council tramway system has absorbed $98,920,272 of the taxpayers' money, and the Council is approaching the Imperial Treasury to authorize a three-year moratorium covering debt redemption.

If this be granted, present difficulties will no doubt be considerably modified, but it isn't going to solve the problem of running a tramway system at a profit.

Interest and redemption on the net debt of the undertaking, which stands at approximately $44,242,913, works out for the current year at $3,857,015, and it is pointed out that if the moratorium asked for is conceded, there will be an immediate annual saving for the period of $1,500,000. In addition, it is argued, there is $200,000 in the special reserve fund, and a further $900,000 that is being raised by a special county tax, which will facilitate liquidation of the deficiency estimated at $2,883,000.

The present situation has developed since the war. For the year 1919-1920, the taxpayers were called upon to make good a loss of $94,072. The following year the deficit reached $2,952,898. In 1921-1922 it came to $442,735. A profit was recorded for 1922-1923, but a record loss is in sight this year.

There is this much to be said for the trams as a municipal enterprise, they have forced the pace in the bringing down of rates for people travelling in the areas they cater to. They are up against the most formidable privately owned traffic combine in the world in the London 'buses. In the last two years there has been a 50 per cent. increase in the number of 'buses, and the keenness of the rivalry has resulted in congestion of all the most important centres south of the Thames.

Notwithstanding the competition, the tramway committee reckons it would hold its own were it not for high operational charges. The tramwaymen, like the railwaymen, are in a sheltered job, and have succeeded in forcing up pay rates.

The Council is reducing the rates in order to popularize the use of the street car system. It has issued what is called an all-day ticket. These are available over the week-end. A ticket costs 24 cents. It is possible with such a ticket to travel from 200 to 300 miles.

Prize-Winning Novelist Will Visit In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, March 3.— (Canadian Press.)—Miss Martha Ostenso, who won a $13,500 prize last fall for her first novel, will this spring visit in Winnipeg and in Northern Manitoba, where she gathered the material that went into her novel, "The Passionate Flight." For the present Miss Ostenso is making her home in New York, where she has a studio in the heart of the writer's section, Greenwhich Village, and is busy writing short stories, some of which deal with incidents of her life in Canada. Miss Ostenso will visit Winnipeg and the lake district north of Winnipeg this spring, where she hopes to gather more material for a book which she has planned, but not yet started. Later she will go abroad to study and write. The National Academy next winter will contain a portrait of the young authoress, which is being painted by Henry Hensche, winner of the recent Pulitzer prize.

LESS CRIME IN AFRICA.

Fewer Murders Among Savages in Year Than Chicago Has in Week.

CHICAGO, March 3. — (United Press.)—There are more murders in one week in Chicago than in one year among the 35,000,000 native populations of central Africa, William J. Yerby, United States consul for Portuguese, French British West Africa, declared in an address here. Yerby is a former Chicagoan.

"The savages are quiet and law-abiding," Yerby said. "I have traveled through the remotest portions of the continent nad never met with any dangerous experiences."

Yerby told of the historic port of Goree, east of Dakar, which was in the seventeenth century the greatest slave port of the west coast.

"The old dungeons fitted out with chains, cannon and torture instruments stand in the heart of a bustling fishing viluage," Yerby said.

"Goree was the farewell port of thousands of ancestors of present-day American negroes."

Foreign trade in West Africa amounted to half a billion dollars last year, the consul announced. Most of this was carried on through French, English and Belgian trading companies, he added.

Except for a number of tribes in the heart of the continent, practically all the blacks of Africa have been converted to the faith of Islam, according to Yerby.

"The old ones all know the Koran by heart," he declared.

TURK CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Serious Situation Arises Owing to Kurdish Demand For Autonomy.

PROCLAIM SELIM KING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 3 (Canadian Press).—The Turkish Government has resigned.

The Turkish cabinet formed last November with Fethi Bey as premier, was recently contronted with a serious situation due to the outbreak of rebellion in Kurdistan. Rebels under Shiek Saib not only demanded autonomy for their country, but announced their determination to restore the Caliphate, abolished by the Angora government.

To this end they are reported to have proclaimed Prince Selim, son of former Sultan Abdul Hamid, as King of Kurdistan. Nationalists took prompt military measures to quell the insurrection and some fighting has been reported.

OVERHAULING THE BODY.

Loose Bolts in Car Will Cause Damage—Same With Humans.

Mr. Mann of Anytown laid away his afternoon paper.

"I have come to the conclusion that every person should have a physical examination made at least once a year," he said.

"A mechanic looked over the car today, and he found some loose bolts, which, if ignored, would certainly have resulted in a big garage bill later."

"I am glad you have come around to that conclusion," replied Mrs. Mann. "I have argued for a long time that a physical examination should be made at least once a year.

"When are you going to see the doctor?"

"Oh, tomorrow, or maybe Saturday. I'll not forget it."

"No, I don't think you will," said Mrs. Mann. "Now that you have mentioned it, and agreed that it is a good thing, I'll not let you forget it.

"And what's more, when you see the doctor, make an appointment for me, will you?"

"Fine! I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll go down together Saturday afternoon," Mr. Mann agreed.

HART RE-ENTERS MOVIES ON INDEPENDENT BASIS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 3.—William S. Hart, two-gun man of the movies, will be his own financial backer when he returns to the screen, but will release his pictures through United Artists, it was announced by Joseph M. Schenck, business manager of the latter organization. Schenck also revealed plans for a project involving himself and Sid Grauman, Hollywood and Los Angeles exhibitor, in the erection of a nation-wide chain of motion picture theatres, and said that negotiations were under way for an alliance between United Artists and U.F.A. motion picture interests in Germany.

NEW PARIS FAD IS VEILED NOSE

Introduced By Moslem's Wife at Auteuil Race Track.

BI-COLORED HOSE.

PARIS, March 3.— Fashion and beauty presented an unusual turnout at Auteuil tracg Sunday where the first springlike day sent all Paris scurrying to the races.

If the day's parade is any indication, the parasol is destined to return to fashion this summer, while the Turkish influence is seen in the new "nose veils" which conceal the mouth, chin and nose but leave the eyes to gleam by contrast.

Princess Sabit Bey, formerly Mrs. Jean Nash, once called the "best dressed woman in Europe," is responsible for this latest innovation, explaining she acquired the idea in Cairo, where she became a Moslem in order to marry Prince Sabit.

Another really startling novelty was the launching of bi-colored stockings by a famous dressmaker as the logical continuation of the shading idea already dominant in spring gowns. A dozen mannequins wore the stockings, some definitely divided, half and half, between two colors, and others such as worn by the famous mannequin, Janine, shaded through the varying tones of one color until the stockings seemed to merge with the color scheme of the skirt.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

MAE EDWARDS PLAYERS

The first appearance of the Mae Edwards Players in this city was hailed at the Grand Opera House last evening, with real enthusiasm from a well-filled house. This aggregation is one of the best stock companies that has played in Peterboro in many years past. The cast is well balanced, clever and attractive. The settings and costumes are in keeping with the general atmosphere of a well set-up production, and there is a breezy orchestra that provides some snappy music between acts, with feature vaudeville acts that are extremely interesting. Altogether, the Mae Edwards Players are very worth while, and provide, at a low scale of prices really good entertainment, diversified and amusing. They offer an entirely new production each evening, and, if the quality of their opening night of their week's stand here is any guarantee, will prove to be a popular drawing card at the Grand Opera House for the balance of their stay in the city.

"Adam and Eva," the initial offering of the Mae Edwards Players is a play in four act. It tells the story of Eva King, younger daughter of James King, 'a rich man,' and of Adam Smith, his business manager. The elder King's family have involved him in so much trouble with their frivolity and extravagence that he decides to give them a lesson. Adam Smith, his right-hand man, informs the family that their parent had lost all his money and they depart to New Jersey in a body to start a bee farm. The trials of their lot are amusingly depicted in four acts of a clever little play, in which Miss Mae Edwards stars as the charming Eva, with Carleton J. Pinckney as her handsome lover, Adam. The supporting roles are taken in adequate and satisfying fashion. Arthur Hebert is the father, James King, Miss Leslye Thomas is his eldest daughter, Julie De Witt, married to Clinton De Witt, a role taken by Jack Farr, Uncle Horace Pilgrim is his cousin, played by Chas. T. Smith, Miss Peggy Adams is Corinthia, the parlor maid, and Lawrence Haynes is a neighbour, Dr. Jack Delamater, and Charles Downes takes the part of Lard Andrew Gordon, a fortune-hunter who aspires to Eva's hand during her wealthy days, and then decides to follow her into obscurity, having no money of his own, anyway.

The feature vaudeville between the acts includes a splendid exhibition of ventriloquial skill by Jack Farr, who performed in a manner that brought him renewed applause, a very well-played violin solo, 'When You and I Were Young Maggie," by Lawrence Hayes, and a comedy skit by Lawrence Hayes and Charlie Downs. Selections by the Mae Edwards orchestra added greatly to the attraction of the evening's excellent programme with Six players, Wm. Otis at the piano, Lawrence Hayes, violin, David Diffin, trumpet, Roy Mitchell, saxaphone, has. Smith, banjo, and Valmore Smith, drums, they played tuneful style 'Savannah' a novelty fox trot, "Follow the Swal low," a bit of jazz, and two fox trots in 'After the Storm" and "It had to be you."

To-night, the Mae Edwards players present "The Gutter Snipe," a three-act comedy drama. There will be a special matinee on Wednesday at half past two o'clock, with an entirely new change of programme.

AT THE ROYAL

CHORUS GIRL FILM A REAL PHOTOPLAY

Helene Chadwick's Latest Has Splendid Story and Fine Cast.

If you want an evening of real entertainment, put on your hat and hie yourself down to the Royal Theatre, where they're playing "Trouping with Ellen."

This picture made from Earl Derr Biggers' delightful story of the same name which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, has all the ingredients of a good picture-drama, a compelling love story and plenty of fun interspersed. It's a story of the chorus girl offstage— a story that lifts the curtain and reveals her life, far different from that audiences to her songs and dances imagine it to be. Here she is just a human being with joys and sorrows and a generous amount of good sense. The last keeps her from marrying a millionaire and aids her in making the man she loves achieve a goal which he never would have attained without her.

Helene Chadwick is splendid in the starring role. Gaston Glass is excellent as the poor orchestra conductor, and Basil Rathbone gives an adequate performance as the millionaire with the family tree. Others who do admirable work are Mary Thurman, as Ellen's roommate who has her own ideas of men and marriage; Esther Banks, as the millionaire's spry grandmother; Tyrone Power, Zena Keefe, Kate Blanke, John Tansey, Charles McDonald, Riley Hatch and Ernest Hilliard.

The production is beautifully executed and the titles are clever and diverting.

"GREAT FIRE SCENE."

"The greatest fire scene I ever saw. I wouldn't believe it was possible to make such a picture. It's simply marvellous!" So said. Fire Chief Hendricks grizzled old veteran of the Los Angeles Fire Department after viewing 'Pampered Youth,' the big production playing at the Royal Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Wonder what our own Chief Gimlett will think about it,

"Pampered Youth" is from the novel "The Magnificient Amberson" by Booth Tarkington and won the Pulitzer prize in the year it was published. The cast includes Ben Alexander, Alice Calhoun, Cullen Landis, etc.

It's at the ROYAL Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

AT THE REGENT

A PHOTOPLAY YOU SHOULD NOT MISS.

"So This Is Marriage" Has Big Bible Episode With Modern Story.

Now and then comes along one of those films of which it seems reasonable to say to everyone, "You can't afford to miss it." And that, as this reviewer believes, is most certainly the case with the Hobart Henley production "So This Is Marriage," which plays the Regent Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

This picture, from the original story by Carey Wilson, is an ultra-modern one, dealing with the marital difficulties of Peter Marsh (Conrad Nagel) and (Beth Marsh (Eleanor Boardman), and the influence of a bachelor student of books — and women— Daniel Rankin (Lew Cody).

The young wife is gay and frivolous. When Peter mildly protests against her extravagance, she retorts:

'Why don't you earn more money; other men do?"

She finds confort in the companionship of Rankin, and runs to his home for comfort when her husband has treated her roughly after hastily taking her from a restaurant where, after many previous experiences of the sort, he has heard her criticized for her extreme manner of dress, and her irresponsible ways.

Finding that Beth really loves her husband Rankin shows her the error of her ways by reading to her from the Bible the story of David and Bath-Sheba. Mr. Henley tells this on the screen in natural colors by the Technicolor process, using hundreds of vividly garbed extras in the pageant and feasting scenes which form the amazingly beautiful background for the tale. No one, whether he is a regular motion picture-goer or not, should fail to see this sequence. It makes one rejoice more than ever, if that's possible, for having eyes to see with.

AT THE CAPITOL.

MENJOU CAST IN "THE SWAN."

Cortez and Frances Howard in New Paramount.

A DOLPHE MENJOU had added a foreign touch to his screen philandering technique. In order to portray with his usual perfection the part of a suave prince in 'The Swan,' a Paramount picturization of Ferenc Molnar's stage success witch features Menjou, Ricardo Cortez and Frances Howard, Adolphe devoted every moment of his time away from the camera during the filming of the production to the serious business of manipulation a monocle.

'This prince fellow in the story uses his monocle as naturally as the average man breathes," explained Mr. Menjou. 'He drops it by raising his eyebrows slightly. It would be fatal to the correctness of my characterization of the role if I found it necessary to grimace each time I put the monocle to my eye or dropped it."

As Prince Albert, heir-apparent to one of the most powerful thrones in Europe, Menjou is claimed to have one of those roles that may be said to fit him like a glove. His role is one of an irresponsibl eson of royalty whose mother tries to arrange a match for him with beautiful Princess Alexandra of a neighooring principality. Miss Howard, Paramount's new star "find" plays the princess. It is Miss Howard's first screen appearance. Cortez has the role of the tutor of the prices, Alexandra's brothers. He is in love with the princess but realizes the great gulf that separates them and does not speak his mind.

Anyway, Albert shows no interest at all in Alexandra and is led away in disgust by his mother when he carries on a flirtation with one of the Ladies-in-waiting in the court. Helen Lee Worthing, Ziegfield Follies beauty, plays this part.

The Swan opens at the CAPITOL To-Morrow.

"A THIEF IN PARADISE."

There was plenty of interest and excitement for Capitol Theatre audiences yesterday in the big feature picture, "A Thief in Paradise," novel, "The Worldlings." The cast screened from Leonard Merrick's includes Aileen Pringle, Doris Kenyon and Ronald Colman, and the theme of the picture centers about one of those colorful triangles with two women in love with one man. Carmina, a dancer, urges Blake, who is living as a pearl fisher in the South Seas, to take the place of the son of Noel Jardine, a San Francisco millionaire. The son has died in the Southern archipelago, and Blake, accompanied by Carmina, arrive in 'Frisco, where the latter sets herself up in luxurious quarters.

Blake falls in love with the "other woman," a good woman, and then Carmina steps into the picture and proceeds to ball things up. The ending is as dramtaic as many of the scenes in the big picture, which shows, among other incidents, a tense battle under water with man-eating sharks waiting to devour the unlucky fighter, a polo match made up of bathing beauty teams, a runaway horse chase in which the heroine misses rushing trains and death over a mountainside by a hairsbreadth, a society function including an exotic Indo-Chinese dance divertissement, and a honeymoon in an airplane.

"A Thief in Paradise" is more than a thriller, however. It has romance and drama of the most intense kind. There is a love story of a man who feels he has no right to claim the girl he loves, but who fights out his supreme battle with himself, and finally triumphs.

With the feature is an added "Radio Mad" comedy, Artists' Model and British Canadian News.

VEGETABLES IMPORTANT

Women in Search of Beautiful Complexions Should Take Heed.

If women in their quest for beautiful complexion exercised as much care in the selection of vegetables for the table as they do in the selection of massages and face creams they would obtain more satisfactory returns.

This is the conclusion of Mrs. Mann of Anytown after studying foods for health's sake.

Many a doctor's prescription contains nothing more than the elements contained in vegetables the housewife may buy for a few cents at the corner grocery.

These elements are phosphates, calcium and iron, the very things to clear up a muddy complexion, build up resistance in the body and make work seem easier.

There are root vegetables, such as onions, carrots, turnips, beets and parsnips. There are leafy vegetables, such as spinach, cabbage, brussels sprouts, lettuce, kale, endive, escarole, dandelion greens, beets, turnip tops and chard.

All of these are especially valuable for iron and vitamin A, and some of these should be eaten every day.

Potatoes are an excellent food. In addition to mineral elements, they contain starch as well, which makes them high in energy, and one of the best and cheapest foods for children and people doing hard work.

FOR SUMMER DAYS

This summer frock illustrates the possibilities of printed and bordered silk. Such a dress requires very little sewing and is quite finished when it has an organdie collar and a sash. The colour scheme here is unusual. The material is black and white, and the sash is a lovely sapphire blue.

SHIP'S SURGEON SAYS DRINK ON THE INCREASE

Stewards Growing Bowlegged Carrying Liquor to Cabins on Big Liner.

WORSE THAN EVER

Young Folks of Both Sexes Conspicuous, Due to Spirit of Deviltry.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Drinking on Atlantic liners is more intensive than before the war, and is increasing among young people, according to Dr. A. V. Elder, surgeon of the White Star liner Cedric. Dr. Elder has written a thesis on the consumption of alcoholic beverages by ocean travellers, which soon will be published in a British medical journal.

"Prohibition has not made the slightest change in human nature," Dr. Elder says. "People want what they are told they cannot have. Denied alcohol part of the time, they drink more when they can obtain it legally than they would think of doing if left always to their own tastes.

"One effect of American prohibition on ocean travellers is to divide them into two classes, those who drink and those who do not. The latter are unaffected by prohibition, and, so far as my own observation goes, are not appreciably greater numerically than before its enactment. Whereas the former class includes not only those who drank before prohibition but also those who did not drink out of a spirit of resentment have acquired the habit."

Dr. Elder says that the younger generation, both sexes, figure greatly in the second group, and that young America today consumes much more liquor than before prohibition, "mainly out of a spirit of deviltry."

"The outcome of it all," he says, "is that while formerly the consumption of liquor at sea was usually temperate, nowadays it is the reverse."

Dr. Elder discussed the working of the law as it was applied a year ago to foreign ships. He said, "the temporary application of dry laws to foreign vessels last year resulted in numerous and pathetically comic attempts on the part of passengers to obtain liquor through the medium of the ship's temporary barkeeper, the surgeon, successful or otherwise, according to individual surgeons, but thoroughly disgraceful to both parties when successful.

"In the old days the hard drinker was met as an individual. He still exists among Americans, prohibition not preventing. At present, however, the rest of the drinking class must be considered intemperate.

"On eastbound voyages, once the pilot is dropped at Ambrose, and the bar is open, bells in the staterooms commence a mad carillon, stewards almost get bow-legged carrying drinks around. The general object appears to be the consumption of the greatest number of drinks in the shortest time. It is the first taste of alcoholic freedom.

"Westbound, the process is reversed, the hard drinking increasing as New York is neared. It is the case of the final fill-up with safety prior to entering the ostensibly dry country.

"The ship's surgeon finds that many cases of alleged seasickness occurring nowadays within a few hours of sailing west from England (quite regardless of weather conditions) are really nothing but shore sickness, alcoholic gastritis resulting from a farewell fling in Europe. A few of the sick admit the origin of their disorder when the surgeon is called. The majority, however, prevaricates.

"It is the surgeon's duty to treat these cases, but it is not within his province to prevent the victims from further excesses, unless they make themselves offensive to other passengers, even though they are endangering their own health. In his own stateroom a passenger may drink as much as he likes, and in these days that is an astonishing amount, when the time in which the consumption takes place is considered.

"Nor is the drinking confined to men. Respectable women nowadays include many hard drinkers and when the sex goes in for alcohol they can outstrip the men in capacity, as a rule."

SHED DAMAGED BY EARTHQUAKE

New Building of Quebec Harbor Commission Temporarily Condemned.

BEING INSPECTED.

QUEBEC, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Damage which may run into many thousands of dollars has been done to the property of the Quebec Harbor Commission by the earthquake of last Saturday night. Shed Nnmber 29, one of the newest and finest on the harbor front, and which was last year entirely renovated for the use of the Robert Reford Company, has been condemned for the time being at least, and it is considered unsafe uhtil such time as a decision can be made by the committee of engineers now making a survey of property.

CREATE STANDARDS FOR FARM PRODUCE

Dominion Wide Marketing Agencies For Canadians is the Obejctive.

TORONTO, March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—The creation of Dominion wide standards of produce, of Dominion wide marketing agencies for the produce of Canadian farmers and the enlargement of the scope of the Council formed subjects for discussion by the Canadian Council of Agriculture at its annual meeting continuing here to-day under the chairmanship of W. A. Amos.

A resolution was passed to appoint a special committee, consisting of one member from each province acting in conjunction with the Research Department of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, to consider ways and means of establishing national standards for farm products. The committee will also take up the question of the formation of Dominion wide, co-operative marketing agencies to market the produce of Canadian agriculturists.

The Council to-day reaffirmed its formerly expressed opposition to the ratification of the Australian-Canadian Trade Treaty, especially in so far as it concerns dried fruits.

Good Musical Programme By Young People's League

There was a large attendance in church, with the president, Mr. Osevening for a very successful entertainment given under the auspices of the Young People's League of the church, with the president, Mr. Osborne Smith, in the chair.

The musical programme added materially to the success of the entertainment, and included piano and violin numbers by Miss Marion Adams and Miss Katherine Taylor and readings by Miss Irene Wright, all given in their usual splendid style. Vocal selections were given by Mrs G. H. King, Mrs. R. A. Williamson, Miss Trucie Pearson and Miss Alma Blanchard, the different performers responding to encores in each instance. Miss Blanchard and Miss Margaret Cox also contributed a pianofore duett to the programme. Community singing was led by Mrs. King and dainty refreshments served at the conclusion of the programme.

PARISH—FREDERICKS.

WOODSIDE, Feb 18.— St. Alban's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening at 7 o'clock, when Miss Edna May Melissa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Fredericks, Cameron street, Dartmouth and Frederick Arthur Parish, of Peterborough, Ont., chief steward on the oil tanker Royalite, son of Mrs. G. F. Broadley, Peterborough, Ontario, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. C. A. Simpson. The bride looked charming in a dress of crepe de chine, with bridal veil, carrying a bouquet of roses and carnations. She was given in marriage by William Manley and was attended by Mrs. Vernon Conrod as matron of honor. The groomsman was Thomas DeWolf, of Imperoyal. The wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Taylor, the church organist. After the ceremony the happy couple motored to the Union Cafe, where a wedding supper was served, later repairing to the Carleton hotel.

RUM SHIPMENTS FOR IMPOSSIBLE DESTINATIONS MAY BE STOPPED BY TREATY WITH UNITED STATES

Anti-Smuggling Convention Ratified by Parliament—Special Squads of Excise Men.

TREATY NOW LAW.

Previously Adopted by United States' Senate—Co-operative Effort by Two Countries.

OTTAWA, March 4.—(Canadian Press).—A resolution proposing that the approval of the House of Commons be given to the treaty between Canada and the United States for the suppression of smuggling operations along the international border and for international co-operation in the suppression of the illegal drug traffic in both countries was adopted by the House yesterday.

Premier King indicated that the purpose of the resolution was to secure from the Commons approval of the treaty which was in the nature of an international co-operative agreement. The treaty had been negotiated and signed in accordance with procedure laid down at the Imperial Conference of 1923. At Ottawa in 1923, officials of the United States came to confer with Dominion Government officials on the question of the suppression of smuggling. A report was presented to the two countries, and a treaty signed on June 6 of last year by Secretary Hughes on behalf of the United States, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. The treaty had been submitted to the United States Senate, and was assented to. After the approval by Parliament, the treaty would be ratified and become law.

Refuse Clearance.

The Prime Minister explained that the treaty provided that where there was reason to believe that smuggling was likely to take place, an officer of the country from which the goods were being taken, could give information to the officers of the other country. In an instance in which a vessel was leaving Canadion ports for a destination in which it was impossible to make a voyage to, that vessel could be refused clearance papers. This was already being done by the officers of the Dominion Government, but the treaty would make it a matter of "treaty obligation."

The Prime Minister also stated that a provision in the treaty facilitated the giving of evidence by officials of one country in the court of the other. On request of the United States authorities, Canadian Customs officials would give evidence in the United States courts, and on request of the Canadian Government, officials of the United States Customs would give evidence in Canada. Provision for the importation through United States territory of liquor for the Yukon was made in the treaty, Premier King said. The provision was similar to that under which liquor was transported through the Panama Canal.

Approved By Meighen.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, said he regretted that there would be no opportunity for questioning the details of the treaty while the resolution was under discussion. He approved the purpose for which the treaty was negotiated. That smuggling had grown to alarming proportions was indicated by reports from a number of organizations. He was sorry that the Minister of Customs was not in his seat, because he would like the House to have first-hand information as to the extent to which smuggling was prevalent.

Smuggling into Canada extended to a large number of commodities, including liquor, tobacco, cotton, woollens, etc.

Mr. Meighen was disappointed that the terms of the treaty did not go farther than to put in an official form arrangements which had been in effect for some time between the Governments of the two countries.

All that was now provided, stated Mr. Meighen, was that if it appeared to the Customs authorities at some place, that any boat sailing from their shore, applying for clearance, was not likely because of its size, to reach its destination within the period specified in the application, clearance could be denied. The provision for the interchange of witnesses was a good one.

"All that can be done," declared Mr. Meighen, "is to wish well of the treaty, and to remark that its application depended about 90 per cent. upon the earnestness and determination of the Government and its officers."

A Serious Evil.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe pointed out that the evil of smuggling was a most serious one, and every means should be adopted to try and check it most effectively. "As far as the evil of smuggling is concerned," stated Mr. Lapointe, "I agree with

Only Table Cloth Taken From House By Armed Men

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press). — Posing as a collector for a large local firm, a well-dressed man yesterday was admitted by Mrs. Gilbert Matte to her home on Fourth Avenue, Rosemount.

Once inside the door ,the man produced a revolver, with which he threatened his victim while he secured a table cloth.

He made off with this article, valued at about three dollars, without touching anything else.

PET CROW PILFERED NEIGHBOR'S SILVER

Turned Criminal and Scattered Articles Around the Block.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., March 4.—Nocturnal protection was thrown to the winds and pedestrians, housewives and bluecoats of the law were disregarded entirely by "John M," hailed in Portage as the greatest of crows, when he turned criminal Sunday morning and broke into the apartment of Mrs. Thompson.

John is a pet crow owned by T. Preece, which since its adoption has behaved most properly. In Mrs. Thompson's apartment he discovered the silverware, toilet articles, pots and pans and ended with a visit to the pantry. Unable to eat the silverware, he carried it away, and it was found scattered around the block by Mrs. Thompson, who arrived just in time to see John disappear.

Whether civil or criminal proceedings will be taken against the crow is unknown.

CHAMPION DEBATERS.

Queens Win Final Round From Loyala College.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 4.—Queen's University now holds the Intercollegiate debating championship, having defeated Loyola College on points last night in the final round of the debating series. At Kingston, Messrs. G. A. Sisee and J. A. Ednison were successful in defeating Loyola College, upholding the negative side of the debate, having scored a total of ninety points more than their opponents. At Montreal, where Messrs. R. O. McFarlane, B.A., and E. R. Smith, B.A., of Queen's, met Loyola College debaters, taking the affirmative side of the question, the Queen's men lost by thirty-seven points. There is a provision in the constitution of the debating union that provides that in case of a tie as was experienced last night, the result is then decided by the marks given by the judges.

SNOW 30 FEET DEEP.

C.N.R. Cuts Piled Up With Great Drifts.

MONCTON, N. B., March 4. — (Canadian Press).—Snow thirty feet deep in railway cuttings south of Levis is seriously interfering with traffic on the Canadian National Railways. It is the second storm within a week, and the snow is piling in huge drifts, making it very difficut to get trains through. The maritime express, due here at 10.15 a.m. Tuesday, did not arrive until late in the afternoon, and the ocean limited was also several hours behind time.

BLINDS HUSBAND.

Married in September, the marital bliss of Mr. and Mrs. Darby A. Day, Jr., of Chicago, had a tragic ending. Mrs. Day hurled acid into her husband's eyes and then swallowed poison. Day will probably lose his sight. Mrs. Day will recover. He is the son of Darby A. Day, millionaire president of the Underwriters of America.

WIFE SUES HUBBY FOR CASH LOANED

Alleges Husband Encouraged Her Intimacy With British Military Officer.

COUPLE DIVORCED.

LONDON, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Details of her friendship and intimacy with Sir John Steven Cowans, former Quartermaster-General of the British Army, which she alleges her husband encouraged because of his desire for military preferment, were given the court here today by Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun, who is suing Lt.-Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun for £952, which she says she loaned him during their married life. They were divorced in 1921. Col. Dennistoun, who married the former Countess Carnarvon after the late Earl's death, denied the allegations, and set up an alternative defence in which he charged his former wife with misconduct with other men after their divorce.

Admitted Misconduct.

Mrs. Dennistoun, in her testimony today, admitted misconduct with the General in Paris. She declared their entire friendship had been revealed to her husband, who, she alleged replied, "Terrible as it seems, I suppose it must be done."

A number of letters were introduced in the trial, which Mrs. Dennistoun's counsel declared showed defendant's connivance and encouragment of his wife's affair. Mrs. Dennistoun testified that through her influence with General Cowans, her husband received advancement in the army and a number of posts which he coveted. Referring to Col. Dennistoun's marriage to Lady Carnarvon, Mrs. Dennistoun said he was a great friend of Carnarvon's, and after she had divorced Dennistoun in Paris in 1921, it was through her the latter met the Countess. The Countess and Dennistoun were married shortly after the Earl's death. General Cowans died in 1921 after the Dennistoun divorce.

STRONGER BEER IS ENDORSED BY THREE MEMBERS

Is Not Final Solution of Prohibition, Says Windsor Member in Legislature.

TWO WILSONS TALK.

All But One of Yesterday's Speakers Support Proposal to Change the O.T.A.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press). — With the exception of one Liberal member the debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday was carried on by Conservative members. All with the exception of Aaron Sweet (Conservative, Dundas) supported the proposal for stronger beer.

Mr. Sweet said he would vote against the amendments proposed by the Opposition, but left his attitude on the beer question open until the Bill is presented to the House.

A. Belanger (Liberal, Russell) would have gone further than the Government in relief from the Ontario Temperance Act, but spent most of his time on that question in criticism of the Government's methods of finding out what the people wanted.

W. G. Wilson (Niagara Falls) supported the Government measure, and F. W. Wilson (Windsor), while supporting it, said that 4.4 per cent. beer was no final solution of the Prohibition question. He said that if his motion calling for a system of Government control did not go through this year he would introduce it next year.

Says Hydro Saved.

Mr. Wilson (Niagara Falls) resuming the debate, said that the Ferguson Government had taken office in time to save the Ontario Hydro from attacks that might have ruined it. He declared that Niagara Falls was showing an example of real unselfishness in not wanting to retain the power developed there within its own district. As a a relief for unemployment he advocated an embargo on pulpwood.

The Prohibition situation in Ontario, he declared, had warranted the Government in increasing the strength of beer. If the critics could see what was going on under the O.T.A. he said they would support the Government in its present proposal. "The Government will be vindicated in the step it is taking," he declared.

"Medics" Become "Bacchics."

Mr. Belanger touching on the Ontario Temperance Act, said that its effect on the doctors of the Province had been to make the followers of Hippocrates the menials of sons of Bacchus. He condemned the Government for calling representatives of the Moderation League and the Prohibitionist Union into conference for deciding the questions in the last plebiscite instead of taking into consultation the elected representatives of the people in the Legislature. He declared that Parliament had been ignored and that with different questions asked there might have been a decisive majority one way or the other.

Mr. Belanger declared that by not listening to the advice of the Liberals last year the Government had run itself into huge expenditure in liquidation only to find that the Liberal attitude that the Ontario Government could not constitute the High Courts of the Province was right.

Mr. Belanger also demanded a further and complete investigation into the secret commission "which went in the direction of the Parliament Buildings" from the Home Bank before the advent of the Drury Government. He said it should be cleared up to vindicate the good name of the Province. He concluded by stating that as usual he expected that his criticism would be unheeded, his advice fall on unlistening ears, and his proposals turned down with great gusto.

Against Beer Amendments.

Mr. Sweet asked renewed efforts in the securing of coal for Ontario and the extension of Hydro to rural Ontario. Mr. Sweet resented the slighting remarks that had been made about the rural parts of the Province following the recent liquor vote.

"I intend to speak on the Beer Bill when it comes up," said Mr. Sweet. "While I don't agree with everything that the Government has done, I do not think that either of the amendments provides any alternative, and I will vote against them, and then consider the Beer Bill without fear or favour when it comes up."

Mr. Wilson (Windsor) expressed himself in favour of increased indemnities for members, being the first speaker in the debate to mention that subject at all. He corrected an impression left with the House that he was bringing in a Bill to do away with the garnishee of wages. He said his Bill simply proposed to put things in such a state that a man could not be put in jail

OCEAN COMBINE RATES HURTING CANADA'S TRADE

Nullify Preference Given by the Mother Country, Declares Hon. T. A. Low.

DEFENDS SUBSIDY.

Immigration Retarded and Canadian Shippers Burdened by Heavy Charges.

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced in the House of Commons yesterday that it was the intention of the government to refer the agreement to grant a subsidy to the Petersen Steamship Line to a special committee of the House, in order that anything anyone wished to say respecting the agreement might be heard. Mr. Low said he would endeavor to show that an ocean combination did exist, that Canadian ports were discriminated against in favor of American ports, and a preference given by the Mother Country was nullified by the ocean combine rates, and that nothing was retarding immigration to Canada today more than the action of "this gigantic combine."

The activities of this combine had been the subject of investigation on more than one occasion. The British Government had appointed a royal commission and another one headed by Sir Henry Drayton had also investigated this matter. As a result of a resolution passed at the Imperial conference in 1911, a Dominion royal commission was appointed by the British Government. It was composed of six nominees by the Imperial Government, and one each from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Newfoundland.

Time for Action.

A most thorough and exhaustive report had also been made two years ago by a committee appointed by the House, under the chairmanship of A. R. McMaster Liberal, Brome). The evidence then brought out convinced the government that the time had arrived for action.

An attack had been made in certain quarters through the author on the Preston report, but Mr. Low was much more concerned in the contents of reports, than in the authors.

The action of the combine was detrimental to immigration, and the cost of passage was keeping many farm laborers from coming here.

Mr. Low quoted letters from manufacing interests and others, in contention that there had been a tremendous increase in ocean freight rates since before the war. One letter, which he quoted, was from the Cockshutt Plow Company, stating that the rates on agricultural implements had almost quadrupled since that time. He quoted an editorial from The Manitoba Free Press advising the government to procure 10 or 11 vessels and put them in the business of transporting Canadian cattle to England. Manufacturers of Canada had complained to the government that the level of ocean rates was now unreasonable.

Newsprint Carriage.

It cost $7.50 to carry a ton of newsprint to South Africa and $10.08 to carry it to London. Mr. Low went on. In 1914, the cost of transporting newsprint to London was $3.04, while today it was $10.08. In contrast with that tremendous increase, the rate to Cape Town in 1914 on newsprint was $7.30, while today it was $7.50. Fortunately the Elder Dempster Line was not in the combine.

Last year Mr. Low had approached the steamship companies to make a slight reduction in their charge for carrying cattle.

"I received no encouragement in the matter," he continued. Further negotiations were equally unsuccessful.

"All I received from them, was a smile, and now they wonder why we didn't deal with them before approaching Sir William Petersen," said the minister.

Will Hear Companies.

Shipping companies complaining against the charges made in the Preston report would have an opportunity to appear before the special committee of the House, which would consider the Bill. Representations made to the Imperial Shipping Committee on behalf of Canada had not resulted in any material relief to Canadian shippers.

The Government looked upon the agreement as "a cast-iron contract," which was drawn up by "perhaps the foremost lawyer of the country." There was a clause in the contract which provided that not one dollar would be paid until services had been rendered.

Sir William Petersen was known to the Canadian people. In 1893 his ships had carried coal from Cape Breton to Montreal, and he was one of the first shipping men to carry grain from the head of the Lakes to

DISCUSS GENEVA SECURITY PACT

Austen Chamberlain Will Meet Premier Herriot of France With Plan.

CABINET UNDECIDED.

LONDON, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will stop over in Paris on his way to a meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva, long enough to discuss the proposed Geneva security pact with Premier Herroit, it was officially intimated today.

It is probable Mr. Chamberlain will not be able to lay the official British view before the French premier, as the British Cabinet has not yet arrived at a decision on the matter, although he may inform Premier Herriot that Great Britain cannot accept a protocol.

During the conversations, it is understood Mr. Chamberlain hopes to obtain French views on suggestions for a pact made by the British Foreign Office, and also on the new German proposals on the same subject.

DISPENSE LIQUOR BY THE BOTTLE

Control Sale Through Government Stores is Col. Currie's Proposal.

WET RIDINGS ONLY.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Details of proposals embodied in the Government control bill to be introduced in the Ontario Legislature by Col. J. A. Currie, Conservative member for South East Toronto, became available this morning.

The bill provides for the sale of liquor in bottles through Government stores to holders of permits, except in municipalities which voted dry in the last plebiscite.

The bill also provides for the appointment of a board of government controllers to regulate the whole liquor traffic, and would permit any resident or non-resident of Ontario to secure a permit to purchase liquor, at a cost of $2, such a permit to be in force for one year in both cases of residents and non-residents.

EXCEEDED OBJECTIVE.

Campaign of Ontario Work Boys' Board Proved a Success.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press). — At the offices of the Ontario Boys' Work Board, it was learned to-day that the campaign put on by Ontario Older Boys 'Parliament to raise money for promoting Canadian Standard Efficiency Training has been completely successful, the objective of $8,500 being exceeded by at least a thousand dollrs.

C.P.R. ENGINEER LEANING OUT OF HIS CAB KILLED BY STRIKING OVERHEAD BRIDGE

Was Observing Part of Running Gear of the Locomotive —Accident Between Montreal West and Westmount to Veteran Trainman.

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press)—M. J. Carmody, engineer in charge of Canadian Pacific Railway train No. 20 "The Canadian," was killed on his engine between Montreal West and Westmount last evening. Mr. Carmody, leaning out of the vestibule of the locomotive, came in contact with the overhead bridge at Grand Boulevard, and received injuries which proved almost immediately fatal.

A Canadian Pacific headquarters statement issued last night said:

"The fireman states he observed Engineer Carmody leaning out of the vestibule doorway of the engine, apparently endeavoring to observe some part of the urnning gear and in doing so he came in contact with the overhead bridge at Grand Boulevard, between Montreal West and Westmount.

"Engineer Carmody was one of the oldest and most highly respected locomotive engineers in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, having commenced as engineer in 1885, and for the greater part of the time had been running between Montreal and Smith's Falls."

NO REASON TO THINK PUPILS UNDER CLOUD

Dr. Neal Reports Premier's Final Stand on Stolen Examination Papers.

INQUIRY FAILED.

Officer Unable to Find Evidence Attaching Responsibility For Theft.

Dr. F. C. Neal reported, at the regular meeting of the Board of Education last night, that on his recent trip to Toronto to interview the Minister of Education, he had received every courtesy from the Minister and from the local member. He read a letter he had received from Mr. Ferguson about the stealing of papers from the Collegiate Institute before the examinations. The letter said:

"As a result of the exhaustive inquiry made by the officer, he was unable to find sufficient evidence to attach responsibility for the offence to any individual or pupil so that the citizens of Peterborough and the School Board have not the slightest reason to feel that any of their children rests under any cloud in connection with the matter."

Routine Reports.

The reports of the school medical, dental, and attendance officers and the school nurse were received.

A letter was read from Dr. Sinclair, inspector of auxiliary classes, commending the work of Miss Bonnycastle ,and advising the formation of a similar class for girls.

The annual convention of School Trustees will be held on 14th, 15th and 16th April, and it was decided that any member of the Board who was able to attend should do so.

TAXI DRIVER FINED.

Failure to Keep Engagement in Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 4.—In city police court yesterday a local taxi driver was fined the minimum of $1 and costs, for not keeping an engagement in neglecting to call for a passenger after making arrangements to do so. It appears that the driver made arrangements to have a passenger at the outer station in time to board a train for Montreal, but failed to be in time to catch the train, the passenger reporting the case to the chief of police

Local taxi drivers are governed by the taxi cab regulations compiled by the police commission and failure to keep an engagement made with a passenger is an offence punishable by fine or cancellation of the driver's license, on conviction before the police magistrate.

GERMANY MAKES NEW PROPOSALS

With Desire For Permanent Peace, Is Ready to Discuss Pact.

ALLIES CONSULT.

LONDON, March 4. — (United Press).— Germany has presented to Great Britain, France and Belgium with written communications containing a series of alternative propositions for a security pact, according to to-days Times.

Britain and France ..ve already replied that it will be necessary to consult the other Allies before action in the matter can be taken.

Germany's written proposals, the Times undertsands ,recognize the paramount importance of France, Belgium and Britain maintaining the status quo on the Rhine but state that no Rhine settlement excluding Germany could be in any wise permanent.

Because of this fact, Germany, with a desire for permanent peace, stands ready to discuss the possibility of forming a guarantee pact covering the Rhine in which all interested nations should be invited to parficipate.

The German communication, according to the Times, recommends that existing treaties be embedded in the proposed pact as corollaries providing arbitration settlement of all disputes between Germany Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

This latter suggestion is for the benefit of France, it is believed, as lack of this point was the main objection to the pact proposed in 1923 by Former Chancellor Cuno.

TWO POLICEMEN DIE BY BOOTLEGGER LAW

Kansas City Patrolman and Aid Are Slain in Cave Where They Filched Liquor.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 4. — A bootleggers' cache in the East Bottoms recently yielded the mutilated bodies of Bert G. Lovejoy, a patrolman of the Westport Station, and George Peters, former police chauffeur and motor-car salesman. The discovery ended a search of two days in the thickets by the police. Both bodies were badly burned, especially that of Peters.

Dr. Charles A. Nelson, Deputy Coroner, said that the skulls of both men evidently had been crushed. He said Lovejoy's throat had been cut and that Peters probably suffered likewise.

The chests of both men bore wounds, Dr. Nelson said, which might have been made with a shotgun. A further examination will be made.

Lovejoy, once regarded as one of the best patrolmen in the department, and his friend, Peters, dealt with north side bootleggers, exacting their price from the lawbreakers.

Police Chief Shreeve said that the bodies were found eight feet underground in the same cache from which Lovejoy and Peters had taken seventy-five one-gallon glass containers of whisky a week ago.

The men are believed to have been killed by bootleggers when they went back to the scene.

Ed Jodst, a laborer, who helped Lovejoy and Peters haul away the whisky called the attention of the police to the fact that the hole from which Lovejoy and Peters had taken the whisky had been filled with dirt. This information eventually led to the discovery of the bodies.

Jodst returned to the "Jungles" in search of Lovejoy and Peters with Mrs. Ruth Phillips, a friend of Lovejoy, and Miss Martha Clauder, a friend of Peters, who revealed that the men had been missing since February 17. Jodst said he saw that the hole was filled on Friday of that week, but thought nothing of it. All day February 21 Jodst and the women accompanied Chief William A. Shreeve and mounted police in a search of the brush.

Chief Streeve, Captain Toyne of the Motor Theft Bureau and A. L. Jeffries, Assistant Chief of Police, set out with four patrolmen and two negro hostlers and finally discovered the bootleggers' 'plant" on February 22.

A gasoline can found near by indicated that the slayers had soaked the pyre with its contents before setting the torch.

LEG FRACTURED.

B. A. Mitchell, of Hunter Street, Fell on Pavement —In Hospital.

As B. A. Mitchell, antique dealer, 197 Hunter Street West, was nearing his store this morning, half way between the establishment and Blewett's Livery, the cane which he has been using to assist him in progress along the snowy pavements, slipped, and he fell, fracturing his right leg three inches above the knee. Dr. A. W. McPherson was called and removed the injured man to Nicholls Hospital in Belleghem's ambulance.

Rev. D. B. Rogers, of Toronto, Tells of Educational Methods.

The Sunday School Teachers' and Workers' Association of the Anglican Churches of the city held one of their quarterly meetings last evening in St. John's Parish House, the president, Miss B. Dawson, in the chair. About fifty of the members were present, and listened with interest to an address given by Rev. D. B. Rogers, of Toronto, literature secretary of the General Board of Religious Education of the Church of England. Rev. Mr. Rogers spoke of the methods in use in the educational programme of the Church, the leaflet system for the Sunday schools, and went on to outline the principles of Christian teaching. At the conclusion of the address, refreshments were served.

GOOD YEAR'S WORK EMPIRE DAUGHTERS

Peter Robinson Chapter Hear Encouraging Report at Annual Meeting.

Miss Maida Conner, secretary of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., submitted her year's report at the ninth annual meeting of the Chapter, held on Saturday last, a summary of which is as follows:

The total number of members enrolled at the end of the year was 81. During the year 29 new members joined the Chapter.

In February, 1924, an Armenian boy was adopted, a ward of the Armenian Home at Georgetown, and was named Peter Robinson, after the Chapter. This was undertaken for five years, at a cost of $200 a year, one year being now pand. Pictures and letters have been received from Peter, and at Christmas a box was sent to him.

The Chapter again took charge of the dances at the Motor Show, and netted the sum of $110.45 for the work of the Peterboro Health Association.

A victory bond for $500, purchased in 1919, matured in 1924, the amount being re-invested in a Toronto Savings and Loan Company debenture.

The Chapter assisted the other local chapters of the Order in holding a tag day for the Blind, realizing a sum of $733 for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

In January, 1925, a box of clothing was collected and forwarded to residents of Apsley.

At Easter "the dansant" was held in the Peterboro Club, and a "snowball" in the G.W.V.A. Hall on December 26th, the latter realizing the sum of $200.

Financial Report.

The financial report showed a very creditable balance on hand at the close of the year, with a surplus in the general account of $560.75; in the special account of $27.62, and a debenture for $500. The balance in the general account on January 15th, 1924, was ....564.20, special $86.22, with a victory bond of $500. Receipts for the year amounted to $1,332.35, and expenditures to $1.394.40.

Receipts included: fees $45; ushering $436; bridges $23.50; dances $548.45; tag day for blind, $238.67.

Expenditures included in the list are donations as follows: Child Welfare Work $50; Englehart Hospital operating room $5; Navy League $25; Y.W.C.A. campaign fund $10; Childrens Aid Society $10; St. Vincent's Orphanage $10; G.W.V.A. Christmas fund $10; Salvation Army $10; Well Babies' Clinic $100; Christmas boxes $10; Purchase of three libraries for outlying districts in Ontario $30; Protestant Home Diet Kitchen $10; Books for convalescent soldiers $15; Local relief $25; for Peter Robinson's maintenance $200; Health Association $110.45; Institute for the Blind $238.67.

SLIGHT TREMORS STILL RECORDED

Registered By Seismograph at Ottawa—Alarm in Quebec.

OTTAWA, March 4. — (Canadian Press). — Indications that natural forces are still active and, although not apparent to the human body, the earth is still trembling, following Saturday night's violent earthquake, was recorded at the office of the Dominion Government Seismologist Tuesday.

The Government seismograph registered a very faint tremor at 10.12 o'clock Monday night. This may not have been a local 'quake, and its slightness makes it practically impossible to analyze its whereabouts and cause.

PEOPLE ANXIOUS.

MONTREAL, March 4. — The people of Baie St. Paul are living in daily terror of a cataclysm, for since Saturday night there has been no cessation of the earth tremors that brought chimneys tumbling about their ears.

A long distance 'phone message yesterday stated that since Saturday night there have been tremors every half hour, the most serious being at 11.15 Monday night, when the shock was very severe, causing many chimneys and parts of houses to fall while residents rushed into the streets. Few except children have had much sleep since last Saturday, congregating in the more substantial buildings and railway station to secure warmth. A farm house at Lamoth was destroyed when the chimney fell and the flames set fire to the house.

CHURCH STILL STANDS.

QUEBEC, March 4. — (Canadian Press).—It was established yesterday that the Roman Catholic Church at St. Hilarion, P.Q., which was reported to have been destroyed by Saturday's earthquake, is still standing. The report of the church's falling was received through a telephone message to an official of the Marine Department from the Mayor of St. Simeon. St. Hilarion is in the Baie St. Paul district, where considerable damage was done, and it is presumed that the church was confused with some other building.

ONLY SEVEN JURORS.

Chosen From First Panel For Hull Murder Trial.

MONTREAL, March 4.—(Canadian Press).—No evidence was heard at Sorel yesterday in the case of Henri Messier, Hermenegilde Dufaut and David Millette, accused of the murder of Emile Peletier, who was attacked and robbed on the road to Ste. Victoire on November 23 last, and died on December 14 at Montreal, owing to the full quota of jurymen not being selected. The first panel was exhausted with only seven jurors chosen, and Mr. Justice Demers adjourned the court to enable the calling of another.

SUICIDE IN CLUB.

Trust Company Executive Stabbed Himself.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Canadian Press).—Morris K. Parker, a vice-president of the Equitable Trust Company, committed suicide Tuesday at the University Club in Fifth Avenue. He stabbed himself through the heart with an ice pick, police reports said. He was 48 years old. University Club attendants declined to give any details of the tragedy.

PLAN PULP MILL.

Attempt to Finance Project By Winnipeg Citizens.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 4. — To determine the feasibility of the proposed construction of a pulp and paper mill in Manitoba by the J. D. McArthur interests, and the sale of a million dollars in preferred stock to the citizens of Winnipeg as a means of financing the project, a committee was yesterday appointed by Mayor R. H. Webb. This action was taken as the result of suggestions advanced at a recent banquet of Winnipeg business men.

CANADA LOSES HON. W. PUGSLEY

One of Best Known Public Men in Dominion Passes Away.

SERVED COUNTRY.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Hon. William Pugsley, one of the best known public men in Canada former Premier of New Brunswick, member of the Laurier Cabinet from 1907 to 1911, later Lieuteant-Governor of New Brunswick, and for the past two years Royal Commissioner investigating war reparation claims, died about eleven o'clock last night. He had been confined to his room in the King Edward Hotel for more than two weeks, suffering fom pneumonia. On Monday evening hope was felt of his recovery, but a relapse came last evening. Remains of the late Hon. Mr. Pugsley will leave Toronto for St. John, N.B., tonight.

Hon. William Pugsley was born at Sussex, N.B., on September 27, 1850, and education at the common school there. He graduated, B.A., at New Bunswick University in 1868, was gold medalist in his Junior year and took a number of scholaships. He was called to the New Brunswick Bar on June 27 1872, and was made a Q.C. in 1891.

His entry into the field of provincial politics took place in July, 1885, when Mr. Pugsley was returned to the New Brunswick Legislature on the death of the sitting member, Dr. Vail. In succeeding years he served his province as speaker, solicitor-general, attorney-general prime minister and lieutenant-governor. In August 29, 1907, he was sworn in as minister of public works in the Laurier Government.

Following the defeat of the Laurier Government, M. Pugsley remained in the Opposition for a number of years. At the beginning of the present year he was selected by the present Govenment for the post of royal commissioner investigating reparations claims resulting from the war, a position which he occupied at the time of his death.

EX-M.L.A. DROPS DEAD.

Alexander Ferguson Stricken While Walking on Street in Schomberg.

SCHOMBERG, Ont., March 4. — (Canadian Press.)—While walking on Schomberg street about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Alexander Ferguson, ex-M.L.A., was suddenly stricken with heart failure, falling to the sidewalk and dying before a doctor could be called.

Until the time of the seizure, Mr. Ferguson, who had come to the village from his farm about two miles away, had appeared to be in excellent health.

OBITUARY.

FUNERAL OF PATRICK RYAN.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 4.—The funeral of the late Patrick Ryan, who died very suddenly of heart failure in Peterboro on Sunday, was held on Tuesday morning in Campbellford. The remains were brought to town on Monday afternoon and taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Keenan, Rear Street. Requiem Mass was celebrated at nine o'clock in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Father Phelan, and interment took place in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The late Patrick Ryan was born in Rawdon 62 years ago. About 15 years ago he married Miss C. Hicks, of Campbellford, and they resided in town till about five years ago, when Mrs. Ryan died. He leaves no family, his nearest relatives being four brothers and two sisters: Thos. and John of Marmora, James of Stirling, Frank of Lindsay, Mrs. Keenan of Campbellford, and Mrs. Keohoe of Stirling.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. David Johnston, Will Cain, Joseph Hoey, Thos. Callery, Wm. Keating and Jas. McAvoy.

NEWS OF CAMPBELLFORD.

Young People Met.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4.—A very interesting meeting was held on Monday night by the Methodist Young People, Mr. S. A. Maguire presiding.

After the opening and business part, Miss Verna Sanders, first vice president, had charge of the programme.

The Bible reading and devotional topic were taken by Miss Sanders. Other items were: vocal solo, Mr. J. H. Bell; piano solo, Miss G. Payne. Mr. Fred Phillips gave a very interesting and helpful topic on "What Should Christians Believe About Miracles?"

The recreation period was taken up with a letter contest, and at the close, the color groups were given their marks. The Whites are ahead at present.

W.M.S. Day.

On Tuesday, the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church was held in the Church Parlor, Mrs. Robet Bell, president, presiding. After the business part of the meeting, a solo was given by Miss Lillian Hay and readings by Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn and Mrs. Garnet Curle. There was a fair attendance.

The Unionists of St. Andrew's held their missionary meeting in the Sunday School room of the Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was held for organization.

Methodist W. M. S.

The Methodist W. M. S. held their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Stillman, Rear Street, north. Mrs. Geo. Oliver, president presided, over thirty ladies were present. The devotional readings were given by Mrs Bakes and Mrs. Sperry followed by a reading "The Easter Thank offering," by Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Ashton gave a synopsis of the study chapter, 'Work in China."

Mrs. W. J. Stillman was appointed delegate for the branch meeting to be held in Oshawa in June. Mrs. W. Phillips was appointed alternate.

Committees were formed to distribute the Easter offering envelopes in the different wards. Miss Grace Payne favored the gathering with an instrumental solo. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ashton in April, when the mite boxes will be opened. A special social afternoon tea was arranged for the afternoon of St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, at the home of Mrs. G. A. Kingston, Frank Street.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and the St. Andrew's Unionists were invited and were present at the social hour.

Circle Meeting.

The Circle meeting was held on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hore, Grand Road, Miss Keir, president, in the chair. Miss Redden read the topic leaflet and Misses Ruth Plumpton, A. Simpson and G. Plumpton gave items on the Watch Tower. Miss Keir was appointed delegate to the branch meeting in Oshawa in June.

At the close, Mrs. Hore served refreshments, and a social hour was spent.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Hore for her hospitality.

Literary Society.

An excellent Literary Society meeting was held in the High School Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon, 3rd March. The programme was given by the Third Form, the president, Miss Dorothy Ackerman, in the chair.

Leslie Clegg was appointed critic for the afternoon's programme.

The following numbers were given:

Orchestra selection; Irving Clemens, piano, Ted Blute violin, and Kenneth Godden, Hawaiian guitar.

Piano solo, Irving Clemons.

Current events, Margaret Milne.

Instrumental selection, Bertha and William Blue, Hawaiian guitars and Grace Blue ukelele.

A debate: "Resolved, That electricity will take the place of steam as a locomotive power."

Affirmative by Agnes O'Sullivan and Alex. Little. Negative by Nettie Forde and Douglas McComb.

The arguments were well given, and showed preparation.

The judges were K. Bygott H. Thomas, and W. Kingston.

While the judges retired for their decision, there was another selection by Grace, Bertha and William Blue.

The judges gave their decision in favour of the affirmative. They in their remarks said there was not enough refutation.

Critics' report: The debate was well given and well prepared, but the debaters did not speak loudly enough for all to hear.

Violin solo, Ted Blute, accompanied by Irving Clemens.

Great interest is shown in these literary meetings, and enjoyed by all High School students.

Humpty-Dumpty Party.

A very enjoyable humpty-dumpty party was given to the members of the Mission Band of the Methodist Church by the president, Mrs. G. A. Kingston, at her home on Frank Street on Monday afternoon. A large number of boys and girls were present. Each one had to bring an egg for admission fee, and these were sold and the proceeds used for missions. Four dozen eggs were brought in.

A good programme of music, and songs and recitations were given, after which all were served to a dainty lunch.

Rebekah Lodge.

The Rebekah Loch Lomond Lodge held another progressive euchre party on Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phillips, Front Street. There were six tables playing. The winners for the evening were: Mr. F. Menzies—lone hands; Mr. R. Jarvis and Mrs. George Pearce—highest number of games; Miss Olive Hay and Mr. A. Hatfield—the booby prize.

There were over thirty present.

During the evening Mr. Geo. T. Salter favored those present with some music. Lunch was served at half-past eleven.

It is the intention of the Lodge to have these evenings every week or so. The next one will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pearce, Canrobert Street, on Friday night, March 13th.

Mr. Adam Outingdyke has bought the farm formerly owned by Jas. A. Clarke, and moved last week.

Mr. John Duff, who has been residing on Centre Street, has purchased the farm of Mr. Adam Outingdyke. This farm is Mr. Duff's old homestead farm, and he has bought it back again and moved on Tuesday.

Mr. James Clarke, who has purchased the farm of Mrs. George Dunham, in Seymour West, moved into his new home last week. Mrs. Dunham expects to build a new home at Healey Falls in the spring.

Captain T. E. Hyland, manager of the Regent Theatre, who has been living on Richard Street, moved on Tuesday to the house on Centre Street lately occupied by Mr. John Duff.

FIRE DESTROYED TORONTO CHURCH

First Avenue Baptists Lose Buildings in Bad Blaze This Morning.

TORONTO, March 4. —(Canadian Press).— The First Baptist Church and Sunday School were completely fire swept early this morning as a result of a blaze which sprang up in the basement of the church and spread with great rapidity. The loss is estimated at between $60,000 and $80,000 and the insurance on the church property is $60,000.

It is beleved that an overheated furnace was the origin of the fire. Rev. W. T. Graham has been pastor of the church since 17 years ago, last September. The church has a membership of 603.

TORONTO THUGS BEAT MERCHANT

Yonge Street Haberdasher Attacked in Store by Two Men.

NOTHING TAKEN.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press). — While scores of people were passing, a pair of desperadoes attacked Norman Rice, aged 39, in his haberdashery store on Yonge Street yesterday afternoon, and failing to obtain the cash they sought, beat Rice badly about the head.

With blood streaming from his wounds and shouting at the top of his voice for some one to stop the two as they fled east along Dundas Street, Rice followed the thugs to Church Stret, where he collapsed from weakness and loss of blood.

He is now in St. Michael's Hospital.

His condition is not serious.

Rice told the police that as the two men entered his store, one of them asked for a collar, and as he turned to get the article, one of the pair thrust a revolver into his back and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Rice grappled with the desperadoes, whereat the man with the revolver struck him on the head several times with it, bringing him to his knees.

The entrance of a customer frightened the robbers before they had robbed Rice.

NEGRO BURNED AT STAKE.

Victim Was Accused of Attack on Girl Near Rockyford, Ga.

ROCKYFORD, Ga., March 4.—An unidentified negro, who is said to have confessed to attacking a fourteen-year-old white girl near here Monday morning, was lynched the same day outside Rockyford. He was captured after a chase lasting nearly all day and was wounded in the back with a rifle shot.

The negro was brought back to the scene of his crime and identified by his victim. He was then carried into a field, where brush and wood were piled about his manacled form and, after gasoline had been applied to his clothing, the wood was set on fire.

The victim uttered but faint outcries and was stoical throughout his experience. There was little disorder.

Men well known in the community were in the mob. There was no attempt at concealment.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1925.

GOOD BUSINESS.

The action of the City Council in making City Clerk Armstrong superintendent over all the city offices, controlling the work of the staffs of the City Clerk, City Treasurer, Tax Collector, City Engineer, Assessor, Plumbing Inspector, Relief Officer and Sanitary Inspector, is the most business-like innovation that has been introduced for some time in the realm of civic affairs.

Making one official responsible for the work of the City Hall staff and giving him wide powers in arranging hours of work and other details, as well as authorizing him to purchase all office supplies, is a decided step in the direction of efficiency and economy.

If the overhead has been too high, if it is possible to effect a re-arrangement of the working forces that will allow economies to be inaugurated, the City Council has taken the right plan to get results, and City Clerk Armstrong is the logical man to act as superintendent.

The move has been described as being along the lines of commission government.

It is not that, of course, but it is the introduction of a policy that should in the field it covers bring about some of the benefits of government by commission.

The co-ordination of the City Hall staffs under one head responsible to the Council is good business.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

The Ottawa Journal reads the public a lesson that seems to be needed when it declares that taxation will never be reduced by clamor against taxation, and that what is needed is clamor against expenditure.

As a rule Governments spend money because the people want it spent, and they spend more than they should because of the incessant demands made upon them for money for public undertakings of all kinds.

As the Examiner has often pointed out, the Government can only obtain the money it spends from one source, the pockets of the people.

There is no other avenue of raising revenue than through taxation, and it is idle to wail about high taxes unless there is at the same time a clamor against the conditions that cause high taxes.

Cut down the expenditure and the burden of taxation will be lightened.

The first slash must be made in the appropriations; then it will be possible to do something about lowering taxes.

That is so obvious that the attitude of a large number of people toward this matter is difficult to explain; they are simply unable to distinguish between cause and effect, and the result is their efforts are wrongly directed and futile.

Once the public learns to protest against expenditures rather than against taxes we will begin to move along the road to retrenchment.

HAIL, THE "PETES"!

Although they failed by a very narrow margin to bring the senior championship of the Province to their home city, the members of the Peterboro hockey team deserve the heartiest thanks of their fellow-citizens for the splendid publicity they have given Peterboro by their fine record of achievement during the season.

In winning the S. P. A. Trophy, capturing the championship of their senior group and coming within an ace of the highest honours in the O. H. A., this year's team has lived up to the best traditions of Peterboro hockey history.

Winning like gentlemen, losing like sportsmen, the players wearing the blue and white have won the warmest praise wherever they have played—in Toronto where they have been in action ten times this season, in Sault Ste. Marie, in Hamilton, and even in Niagara Falls where they took the edge off the homesters' championship by defeating them in the final game—because of their clever hockey, and even more so because of the total absence of rough or unfair tactics.

In many respects it has been the most outstanding season in the history of Peterboro's long connection with the Ontario Hockey Association, and the players and officers of the club merit the greatest credit for the wonderful showing in senior company of a team that had not the slightest thought of anything but intermediate hockey when the season began.

It is a blow to have the title slip away when the honours were almost within Peterboro's grasp, but the Peterboro team of 1925 has won a place in the Hall of Fame such as is reserved for but few hockey organizations, and their home community should be proud of every man of them.

THE SYDNEY DISPUTE.

The Maritimes who visited Ottawa in force last week to plead for greater consideration from the Government and a wider sympathy from Canada as a whole will do a good deal to merit such sympathy if by tactful handling and conciliation they can set their own house in order at Sydney, says the Montreal Star. The situation that has been threatening there for weeks past is rapidly culminating in a crisis and the miners' officials warn Premier Armstrong in their letter that so serious are conditions that they "cannot safely predict that another week will pass without food riots and other disorders occurring."

The dispute between the British Empire Steel Company and their employes seems to be almost continuous. Few months go by without news reaching the outside world that some workers are striking or have given notice to strike owing to wage disputes. As a result of this, the output of the mines is curtailed and production seriously reduced. If the suffering among the miners and their families is one-half as bad as the miners' officials paint it—and there is no reason to suppose they have exaggerated conditions—there is an abnormal amount of distress and poverty in a section where employment should be regular and the community prosperous.

Premier Armstrong has taken a hand in the negotiations and his proposal that there should be an immediate return to work at the 1924 scale pending the holding of a commission of enquiry and that the new scale shall be retroactive from the date of the nomination of the commission, seems at least a method of staving off the evil day and securing a breathing space. It is unfortunate that the mine officials will not agree to accept the finding of such a commission. "It is neither our practise nor is it wisdom for us to bind ourselves in advance to the findings of a commission which in all probability, judging from past experiences, will be about as antagonistic to us as is the corporation itself." This is hardly the language of conciliation, and the miners will not gain much sympathy for their cause by the action of these leaders.

While the Dominion will be most anxious that everything shall be done to find some basis of settlement of this wasteful wage dispute and that the sufferings of the half-timers and the unemployed be relieved as speedily as possible, they will be inclined to withdraw sympathy from men who display such hostility towards the other parties to the dispute and who refuse to abide by the decision of an unbiased commission.

AN AMAZING INDISCRETION.

It is no unusual thing for rash utterances by some person who ought to know better to cause a temporary flurry in international affairs, says the Montreal Star. It would be difficult to cite a more deliberately provocative speech than that delivered by Rear-Admiral Phelps, U. S. N., before the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion in Washington yesterday. The gist of that speech was to the effect that only a strong navy in place of America's present sea force, which is "too weak to afford protection to American commerce," will prevent conflict with Great Britain, as the result of serious differences brewing over shipping policies.

Rear-Admiral Phelps is not only a ranking officer of the U. S. Navy, but a member of the Naval Policy and Strategy Board. He is also obviously an acute Anglophobe. That any man holding a responsible position in the councils of his country should go on record with such a statement that "one of the primary objectives of the League of Nations, under the leadership of England, is to devise some policy to destroy the American balance of trade" is amazing. The American Government has wisely lost no opportunity in issuing, through the Secretary of State's Department, a denial that there were any serious differences brewing.

The gallant Rear-Admiral may be an excellent naval strategist, but he evidently never learned in his cadet days the golden rule of national service—discretion or silence. It looks as if it were too late for him to learn it now. Fortunately, however, the common sense of people who think twice before they speak in public, on both sides of the Atlantic, will appraise his words at their true value, if indeed nothing to the nth power can be appraised.

RAILWAY COMPETITION.

Speaking in Parliament the other day, Mr. D. F. Kellner, of East Edmonton, gave utterance to what is a very common mistake. Referring to the fact that the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific were operating in the same territory throughout the West, he said:

"If we are going to have competition for lower rates—and that used to be the theory, that competition was the only way to lower them—we have the railroads now, we have the grade, and it seems to me now is the time to enforce competition. If that is not done, by all manner of means let us quit trying to deceive ourselves and admit that competition is not a factor in railway rates."

It is not a little discouraging that this statement should come from a member of Parliament, who was at the moment discussing, very seriously and energetically, a motion of tremendous importance. He was supporting Mr. Kennedy's proposition to abolish the mountain scale of freight rates as fixed by the Railway Commission. The motion did not come to a vote, and yet we must all see that, if it had prevailed, the effect would have been to assert political, rather than judicial, control over freight rates. Of course, the motion was merely meant to afford opportunity for a preliminary skirmish, looking ahead to the big battle which is to be staged a little further along in the session. Therefore the immediate verdict is of no consequence.

What must be said, however, of a member who talks about competition as a factor in railway rates? Of course, it is not. Mr. Kellner ought to have known that the Railway Act of 1903 not only took the fixing of rates out of the hands of the railways, but absolutely and for all time to come eliminated the factor of competition. The railways cannot compete with each other, so far as rates are concerned. The Railway Commission decides what the carrying charges shall be, and that is an end of the matter. The part of the carriers is practically automatic. They may compete for traffic, and in service, but they cannot vary the prescribed tariff in the slightest degree. That is inherent in the Act itself.

Nothing could be more rigid than the control of rates by the Railway Commission. If competition were permitted, it will be seen at once that state regulation would to that extent be imperfect. In order to bid against each other, the railways would require a certain leeway in their charges. That would be inconsistent not only with the letter of the Railway Act but would actually defeat its fundamental purpose. It was under the old system of competitive railroading that the worst evils of discrimination arose, and it was to do away with it that the Railway Commission was created.

It is with forebodings that one looks forward to what was announced as the main purpose of the current session of Parliament. That purpose is to consider transportation issues, and freight rates in particular. When we speak of carrying tolls, it must be understood that all questions in that regard are being raised solely by the Progressives. Other members of the House are not concerning themselves specially about the matter. In other words, it is the rates affecting the grain growers of the West which are being attacked. The one motion already made, and later allowed to lapse, shows very clearly that the aim of the Western members is no more to bring about lower charges than it is to take the whole matter of regulation out of the hands of the Railway Commission. If those who lead in this momentous struggle are not better informed than Mr. Kellner showed himself to be, the outlook is not reassuring.—Ottawa Journal.

Spring's coming. And then the ambition of most of us will be not to have any ambition.

A THOUGHT.

WHAT ABOUT CHANCE?

Many men seem to feel that they have about the same chance to win in this world as a lamb finds in a slaughter house.

The question of chance or opportunity furnishes the failure fellow with a good alibi. And we all have the makings of successful failures.

You probably feel that your chance in life has been about as good as the chance a hen has of hatching a hard-boiled egg. Thousands feel that their chance in life has been about as favorable as that of a man with a wooden leg in a forest fire.
